Spartans Test Strength Against Iowa Saturday

By BEN BURNS
State News Sports Editor

The football squad will have a real test of strength when they meet Iowa Saturday afternoon at 1:30.

Spartan fans are wondering what new tricks Coach Duffy Daugherty will come up with after practicing behind closed gates Wednesday afternoon.

Evidently the Hawkeyes are planning on coming up with some surprises of their own because reports from Iowa City say Coach Forest Evashevski has also gone behind closed doors for the first time this year.

After Daugherty caught the Michigan team by surprise with his belly series of offensive plays, Evashevski will be doubly wary.

After reading accounts of the Iowa-Northwestern game, 42-7, in favor of the Hawkeyes, Daugherty said his team would have to improve tremendously this week.

This will be the first time an Iowa team has played at State. It will also be the first and last time for former Spartan assistant Forest Evashevski to return to Spartan stadium as a coach.

He will retire at the end of the present season to the athletic directorship at Iowa. Both State and Iowa came through last week's contests in good condition.

Herb Adderly and Gary Ballman should be working together for the first time this fall. Injuries have hampered the two half-backs.

The two clubs are also tied for first place in the Big 10 with their lone conference win, so possession of the league lead is a possible added incentive for victory.

The winner is also sure to become a strong choice for the conference title as Iowa is presently rated third and MSU 13th in the Associated Press poll.

Saturday will be band day and some 35 high school bands numbering 2,600 players will join the marching band in a huge halftime show.

Guest director will be Col. William Santelmann, retired leader of the U.S. Marine Band.

This will be the fourth meeting between Iowa and MSU. State won the first contest in 1953, but Iowa won the last two games.

Both Daugherty and Evashevski have made comments on the explosiveness of the Iowa backfield, but it would seem that it is hardly possible to be any more explosive than the U of M backfield last Saturday.

Castro: 'Very Little Importance' Cites U. S. As Military Supplier

HAVANA, (AP)—Fidel Castro's government claimed Thursday its armed forces are in hot pursuit of 24 survivors of a 27-man invasion force from the United States which landed near the eastern tip of Cuba. U.S. policy directors were blamed for the incursion.

Campus UN Gets $400 For Confab

Student congress voted Wednesday night to appropriate $400 to help pay expenses of the Campus United Nations which will hold its annual conference on campus this February.

The Model United Nations will consist of delegates who have been invited from the major universities and colleges from all over the United States, Canada, Mexico, and Cuba.

Representatives to the United Nations in New York have been invited to speak or advise at the MSU Model UN Conference.

A RESOLUTION that students of MSU and AUSG support the action of President Hillberry of Wayne State University in lifting the ban on Communist speakers was referred to the Academic Affairs committee.

Congress passed a motion concerning the redistribution of football tickets. President Dan Ridge is to ask Athletic Director Biggie Munn to employ additional police, lock side doors, or to use any other method that will prevent over anxious students from pushing their way into Jensen in front of those who have waited patiently for their tickets.

Bill Hartwig, married housing, Bruce Lassman, East Shaw, and Mike Pachter, Evans Scholars, were elected as representatives to congress. Other appointments were: Jim Gilson, vice chairman of Finance; Bill Hartwig, chairman; Janet Ross, vice chairman of Student Rights and Welfare; Marjorie Christ, chairman; and Darrell Votik, vice chairman of Organizations.

UNOFFICIAL reports of substantial counterrevolutionary activity in various Oriente areas coincided with the government's announcement of the Navas Bay landing.

The invasion party—believed to be the first to reach Cuban shores despite months of predictions by Castro that an invasion was coming—apparently aimed to reinforce insurgents fighting in central Cuba. It is estimated up to 1,000 rebels are battling Castro's troops.

FROMM, one of the world's outstanding figures in psychology and psychoanalysis, was born in Frankfurt, Germany. He studied at the University of Frankfurt, and later served as a lecturer at the university's Psychanalytic Institute and Institute for Social Research.

He divides his time as director of psychoanalysis at the Medical School of the National University of Mexico, and as professor of psychology at State. He has written a number of important books, including "Escape From Freedom," "The Art of Loving" and "Sigmund Freud's Mission."

ADDRESSING the luncheon session will be Dr. Melvyn D. Hardee, of Florida State University. Two panel groups will examine the problems of "College Admissions Today."

Joining to sponsor this continuing education event are the MSU Office of the Dean of Students and the Michigan Association of Counselors.

Dr. Fromm will interview authorities drawn from the university's faculty on such state issues as the constitutional convention, reapportionment and the question of taxation on the first three programs.

The fourth program will deal with the international scene and the last one, two days before election day, will survey national issues.

UN Wrangles Again On Red China Question

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly plunged Thursday into a wrangle over the Red China membership issue. The United States, aware that it had aroused resentment in the powerful Asian-African bloc, was confident of barring action.

The Soviet bloc opened the debate with a new attack on the United States keyed to the theme of discrimination against Negroes in the United States, already raised in the assembly by Premier Khrushchev Saturday.

The Communist bloc was making a determined bid to impress the new African nations whose votes could mean the difference on the China issue. Red bloc delegates displayed an attitude of triumph over the turn of events at this session. Western delegations were worried by bitterness of Africans and Asians over U.S. maneuvering which defeated a neutralist expression of hope for a U.S.-Soviet summit.

In a new gesture to the African nations, Soviet White Russia's Delegate, K. T. Mazurov, accused the United States of "disgraceful" discrimination which he said deprives millions of Negroes of voting rights. This was in reply to the U.S. contention that Red China's suppression of human rights makes the Peiping regime unfit for membership.

In the midst of its continuing policy debate, the assembly decided to take up the question whether Communist China's claim to U.N. membership should be placed on the agenda for full debate.

Some U.N. circles speculated that the United States maneuvers against the neutralist summit resolution would cut down the U.S. majority on its proposal to shelve the China debate.

U.S. spokesmen conceded that the vote might be closer than before. But they said despite Asian and African disappointment, they expected a majority to hold firm behind the American stand that Red China does not meet the requirements to apply for membership.

The specific question under debate was whether the assembly would place the China representation question on its agenda or approve a U.S.-backed plan to postpone action for another year.

No Curfew Troubles Here, Says Mason

Mason hall, sister dormitory to Abbot, has found it unnecessary to force all men out of the living unit at 10:30 p.m. According to Lois Sanders, Tekonsha sr., Mason hall has encountered none of the problems which developed in Abbot as a result of the new AWS ruling, which extends curfew to 11:30 for upperclassmen and 10:30 for freshmen.

Abbot hall President Mary Jo Lindsey, Detroit jr., said that three problems developed in her living unit when the new ruling went into effect.

First, while the dates of the freshmen women had to leave the dorm by 10:30, it was difficult to distinguish these men from the dates of the upperclassmen, who were allowed to remain another hour. Freshmen girls began taking advantage of this fact, Miss Lindsey said.

A problem of embarrassment arose because many of the girls, already in pajamas, had to pass through the lobby to reach the dorm grill, which closes at 11:00. Many upperclassmen were still entertaining their dates in the lobby when the girls came through.

THE SWITCHBOARD STAFF in Abbot found it impossible to handle the flood of phone calls after 10:30 p.m. in addition to buzzing the rooms for male callers.

Because of these problems, all males must be out of Abbot by 10:30 p.m. Miss Lindsey said.

Two of these problems reported by Abbot are nonexistent in Mason, although the two units are of similar size and structure.

According to Miss Sanders, there is no added switchboard problem in Mason since the new ruling. While there are as many phone calls at 10:30 as at 7, there are less male callers at the later hour. Therefore, the switchboard staff actually has less to handle at 10:30 than during the rush at 7.

It is not necessary for pajamaed freshmen to pass through the lobby in order to reach the grill. There are five entrances to the grill in addition to that through the lounge, Miss Sanders said.

WHILE upperclassmen's dates may remain in the living unit until 11:30, lights are flashed at 10:25 to remind freshmen, women that their dates must leave. The housemother is not responsible for checking the lounge for any freshmen remaining after 10:30, Miss Sanders said.

All checking is done by the RA's who come to the lobby at 10:30 and report any freshmen who have not signed in.

Activity Carnival Honors Union Board 'Beatniks' Win

Nearly 70 campus organizations went Bohemian Wednesday night at the 13th annual Activities carnival. Based upon a beatnik "Activities Express" theme, groups displayed their talents and handed out information in a giant membership drive and public relations event.

Union Board captured first place in the display contest for the second year in a row with its "UB presents Hungary U." Using the beatnik theme, UB presented the U-Bettes and Norm Duffy as a ragtime piano player.

FLORICULTURE FORUM placed second in the judging. Popular with the audience, the members handed out free corsages to viewers.

The American Veterinary Medical Association won the third place trophy with their display of live "cool" cats, colored mice, and other animals.

Judging was based upon drawing attraction and popularity, use of theme and construction.

Many organizations provided movies, slides and "way out" music.

THE PROMENADERS put on a square dancing display, while the Aerobatic Club set up a trampoline on which to perform their tricks.

Both political parties were represented as members of the Young Democrats and Young Republicans clubs were on hand to campaign for their state and national candidates.

Buddy Spangler and his combo provided music to set a carnival mood.

Hannah Tells Educators: Resist 'Elite' Pressures

SPECIAL TO THE STATE NEWS—President John A. Hannah Thursday told a meeting of American educators to resist pressures which would create an educational elite in the United States.

In a keynote address at a meeting of the American Council on Education in Chicago, President Hannah said that yielding to such pressures "would result in an abandonment of one of our most precious and priceless traditions—that educational opportunity must be available to all who can benefit from study at a college or university."

"American education, . . ." Dr. Hannah said, "is still seeking to balance itself between itself being two opposing forces, to find a comfortable accommodation for all legitimate points of view."

Dr. Hannah pointed out that the pressures to which education responds are pressures peculiar to the United States and its social and political system.

"They are not to be feared, nor resented," he said, "but to be understood, appreciated and accommodated where they do no violence to our fundamental concepts of educational propriety."

L-C Series To Present Ballet Stars

One of the finest artists in the world of ballet, Dame Margot Fonteyn, will dance Tuesday with London's Royal Ballet in the first musical presentation of the Lecture-Concert series.

Dame Margot, under her new title as guest artist of the Royal Ballet, will be featured in the popular Romantic ballet, "Giselle," first performed in 1841 at the Paris Academie Royale de Musique.

At the age of 16, Dame Margot danced her first leading role with the Royal Ballet (then called the Sadler's Wells Ballet). She was trained by Dame Ninette de Valois, director of the company.

THE ROYAL BALLET is currently performing at the Metropolitan Opera where it has been since Sept. 11. Dame Margot has had the title roles there in "Sleeping Beauty," "Ondine" and "Giselle."

"As for Margot Fonteyn," wrote New York Times critic John Martin, after seeing the prima ballerina at the Met, "she never comes on stage without creating a role anew, no matter how long she has performed it."

Another reviewer hailed her "Sleeping Beauty" performance as a "radiant enshrinement" and a "matchless characterization."

The Royal Ballet's tour is its sixth in the United States. Brought to this country by E. Hurok, the company from London's Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, first toured America in 1949.

In addition to the Tuesday (Series A) presentation, the company will perform "Le Lac des Cygnes" on Wednesday in Series B. A special performance to inaugurate the series will be given on Thursday. All performances are in the auditorium and begin at 7:15 p.m.

FROMM, one of the world's outstanding figures in psychology and psychoanalysis, was born in Frankfurt, Germany. He studied at the University of Frankfurt, and later served as a lecturer at the university's Psychanalytic Institute and Institute for Social Research.

He divides his time as director of psychoanalysis at the Medical School of the National University of Mexico, and as professor of psychology at State. He has written a number of important books, including "Escape From Freedom," "The Art of Loving" and "Sigmund Freud's Mission."

Be Careful If You Peddle And Police Won't Meddle

By DON K. PEMBER
State News Police Reporter

Long before the horseless carriage was even conceived by man, human beings were peddling themselves all over the country on two-wheeled contraptions called bicycles.

But with the coming of the tin-buzzies, bikes were pushed to the background—except for three kinds of people.

Children, college students, and eccentric professors.

And this leads us to the problems of bikes on the campus, a perennial difficulty here at the university.

From the Bicycle Regulation Bill-Lights we have gleaned these bits of information for student riders.

FIRST, ALL BIKES must be registered. Starting October 11 registration will begin at the campus police headquarters on south campus. There is no charge for this service, but students will be ticketed if they do not get the reflectorized stickers.

A bicycle must be equipped with a light and a rear reflector if it is ridden at night and each bike must also have a horn or a bell.

A cyclist must obey all vehicle traffic laws, must yield the right-of-way to pedestrians, must not ride on sidewalks, and must not ride more than two abreast.

To top off all the must-nots there is a must. When a bike is parked, it must be parked in a bicycle rack.

IF A STUDENT could get a good look at the number of stolen bike reports the police make out each day, a reminder to get a lock would be totally unnecessary.

Police anticipate a record number of bike registrations, but hope that all students will follow the rules and eliminate the usual congestion.

I hope so too . . . I'm a pedestrian.

Jack-Dick to Debate Tonight

WASHINGTON, (AP)—If their tactics of the past week are any indication, the rival Democratic and Republican presidential candidates will peel off the kid gloves and slug in tonight's second round of their national televised debate.

But Democrat John F. Kennedy and Republican Richard M. Nixon will have to seek their openings from questions thrown at them by a panel of newsmen. Unlike their first confrontation Sept. 26, there will be no formal statements.

The questions will cover both foreign and domestic issues. Under an agreement by both sides, 2 1/2 minutes will be allowed for a direct reply to a question and 1 1/2 minutes for rebuttal comment.

THE HOUR-LONG DEBATE will begin at 7:30 p.m. (EDT) and will be carried by the three TV networks and four major radio nets.

In the wake of the first meeting, many viewers said Nixon appeared wan and tired. Republican national headquarters said this was because of the lighting and makeup.

Nixon's camp said Wednesday the man who applied the Vice President's makeup in Chicago will not be on hand. A spokesman for the Republican national committee said both the lighting and makeup will be changed this time.

Kennedy's camp has said he used no makeup last time around, relying on a heavy tan. There was no word on whether Kennedy would do otherwise tonight.

Both candidates have pointed for these debates, mindful they may bear heavily on the decisions of millions of voters in what is shaping up as a very close election. It has been estimated more than 70 million persons tuned in on the September opening. NBC said.

THE LAST DISCUSSION was a pretty polite affair, but since then both men have been hitting harder on their stumping tours around the country.

Kennedy this week called Nixon a "say-nothing" candidate, and has accused him of being indifferent to unemployment and related problems.

Nixon suggested Wednesday, among other things, that Kennedy doesn't have the courage to speak out on civil rights in the South as he does in the North.

The questioners will be Edward P. Morgan of ABC, Paul Niven of the United Press International, and Hal Levy, Washington correspondent for the Long Island Newsday. Each will question the candidates in turn, one question at a time.

Kennedy Thursday Blamed Nixon and the Eisenhower administration for policy failures which he said led to establishment of a militant Communist satellite in Cuba.

"It is the party in power which must accept full responsibility for this disaster," the Democratic presidential nominee declared in a speech at a $100 a plate fund raising dinner.

As for Nixon's role, Kennedy said the Republican White House candidate has admitted that a strong program of U.S. aid for Latin American development might have produced enough Cuban economic progress to prevent Fidel Castro's takeover.

The Massachusetts Senator said Castro overthrew a "brutal, bloody and despotic dictatorship" in ousting the Batista regime.

BUT CASTRO has broken his promises to give individual liberty and free elections to the Cuban people and to end police state tactics there.

Bringing up Civil Rights, Nixon repeated his charge that Kennedy ducks talking on this subject in the South. Nixon said he himself talks the same way north, east, south and west.

At Cleveland, Nixon gave this assessment of the medical care performance of Kennedy:

"The program he talks of now was rejected earlier this year, 17, to 8, by the committee in the House of Representatives. This committee was controlled, 15 to to, by his own party. The plan was defeated, 12 to 5, by the Senate committee.

Kennedy said that for the present "Cuba is gone" and that he knows no magic formula to bring it back from behind the iron curtain.

"I have no basic disagreement with the President's policies of recent months," he said, "for the time to save Cuba was some time ago."

But he declared that the U.S. must make it clear to Castro the Guantanamo naval base will be defended at all costs.

Nixon Thursday charged his opponent's record on medical care for the aged is "up to bat three times, struck out three times."

Nixon emphasized his own voluntary state-operated program for medical care in a speech at an evening rally in this great lake city.

Earlier Nixon made a quick dash to Nashville, Tenn., for another try at capturing some of the Southern states. The frequency of Nixon's Southern visits gives some indication of the hopes he and his supporters have for pulling off this trick in what once was the solid Democratic South.

THE NASHVILLE CROWD was not as demonstrative as those Nixon drew in New Jersey and the through he attracted in Philadelphia Wednesday. But they let loose a cheer when he said of Kennedy:

"I say if he wants to be equated with the record of Harry Truman he can have it because the American people don't want that record."

Seminar Investigates University Faculties

The need for evaluation of college faculties, the methods used, and the problems involved were the topics of discussion at Tuesday's session of the Seminar on Institutional Research (IR) at Kellogg Center.

Under the leadership of Dr. James Doi, director of IR at the University of Colorado and Dr. James Sauppe, assistant Professor of IR at MSU, the 20 members exchanged views on the problem.

The three types of research which can be made on faculty input and output are types A, B and C. Sauppe said. Class A includes the routine records which are kept on the faculty, while class B is research into a specific problem. Class C denotes research on general problems. Sauppe noted that the first two are the most often used and that the group would spend most of its time on them.

Most of Tuesday was devoted to studies on the faculty member's ability and the amount of work that he does. Sauppe distributed standardized forms which are used to collect data. He explained many of these forms and indicated that methods would vary according to the size and type of institutions.

MANY OF THESE forms require the faculty member to indicate the number of hours which he spends in class preparation, in research, and administration. Many members of the group voiced concern over faculty resistance to the plan and its effect upon faculty morale.

Dr. James Strauss of Grinnell, Iowa, said that in small colleges the dean should know their faculty and this should make questionnaires unnecessary. Many others in the group frankly stated that they had not adequately filled out the forms when they were confronted with them.

THE DEGREE of cooperation would depend upon faculty traditions, Doi said, but he doubted that any trouble would be encountered if the dean and president backed the plan.

Dr. John Fadenrecht of Wheaton, Illinois, suggested that the faculty be informed of the plan and its purpose before it is undertaken.

This conference is being attended by 20 officials from liberal arts colleges throughout the Middle West. It is devoted to all phases of planning in the liberal arts colleges, from building utilization to staff planning. The seminar is scheduled from Oct. 2 to 14.

The entire session was made possible by a grant from the Lilly Endowment, Inc. It is sponsored by the office of Institutional Research at MSU. Dr. Paul Dressel, director.

Concert Will Feature Trio

The Beaux Arts Trio of New York will be featured in the music department's concert series Sunday at 4 p.m. in the music auditorium.

The Beaux Arts Trio is composed of three famed concert artists. Menahem Pressler is pianist, Daniel Guller, violinist, and Bernard Greenhouse, cellist.

The trio first appeared at the Berkshire Festival in 1955, where it was an immediate success. Since that time it has been in demand in Europe and America.

Beethoven's movements will be featured along with compositions from the Impressionist and Romantic periods.

Palace Workers Threaten Strike

LONDON, (AP)—The men who collect the garbage from Buckingham Palace and the Houses of Parliament threatened today to strike.

Their grievance is that Westminster city council, their employer, has promoted a Jamaican immigrant from dustman (garbage collector) to dustman-driver. All other drivers in the city cleaning service are white.

Councillor Arthur Burton told a council meeting "It is intolerable that a man should be promoted by his color from driving one of our refuse vehicles."

Officials said the drivers will meet Saturday to decide whether to put their strike threat into action.

MSU Hosts 34 Bands Sat.

The Marching band will play host to 34 visiting high school bands Saturday in its sixth annual Band Day at Spartan stadium. The massed bands, consisting of some 2,500 musicians, will present a half-time program of three numbers—"Might and Majesty," "Marines Hymn" and the MSU Fight song.

Lt. Col. William Santelmann, former director of the U. S. Marine Band in Washington, will conduct the "Marines Hymn."

At 11:30 the "Parade of Bands" will begin as each unit marches into the stadium to present a two-minute performance.

At 1:15 the MSU Band will step onto the field to put on a special pre-game show. It will include new drills and dance steps to "Yes, Sir, That's My Baby," "Begin the Beguine" and "Mississippi Mud."

Counsel in McCarthy Hearings Lawyer-Actor Welch Dies

HYANNIS, Mass., (AP)—Joseph N. Welch, the Boston lawyer whose dry wit and keen legal mind gained him nationwide prominence in the televised Army-McCarthy hearings six years ago, died yesterday. He would have been 70 Oct. 22.

Living in retirement in his secluded Cape Cod home, he was hospitalized early last month for a heart condition. His wife was at his bedside when death came unexpectedly in Cape Cod hospital.

Until the Army-McCarthy hearings put his face and ever-present bow tie on the nation's TV screens he was little known outside legal circles—but was considered a lawyer's lawyer.

In 1959 he moved from the courtroom to the movie lot, and portrayed a judge in a film called "Anatomy of a Murder." His acting earned him a nomination for an academy award.

Record Number Lose Licenses

A record number of habitually irresponsible Michigan motorists had their driver licenses cancelled, revoked, or suspended last month.

At the monthly meeting of the Michigan State Safety Commission, James M. Hare, secretary of state, announced that 3,090 drivers were "grounded" during September having "long and recurring" conviction records for reckless driving, operating a vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, speeding, improper passing and other moving violations.

According to Hare, 21,152 erring motorists have lost their driving privilege so far this year compared with 11,920 during the first nine months of last year.

"Accident and conviction-prone motorists who commit moving violations month after month are largely responsible for highway fatalities," Hare said. "Most citizens and nearly all safety experts believe that suspensions and revocations are the only way to convince careless motorists that driving is a privilege which must be earned through responsible behavior on the highways."

Bentley Warns of 'Fat Little Man'

That fat little man is here to cause trouble, said Alvin M. Bentley, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate in a speech Wednesday at West Junior High School.

"I believe that Khrushchev wants to impress the new nations with some prestige he lost in the Congo and get something from the candidates that he can't get from Eisenhower," said Bentley to the Lansing World Affairs Council.

He explained that Eisenhower will continue refusing to meet with Khrushchev until certain conditions are met. Most notable of these is the return of the situation is definite proof that something can be accomplished.

KHRUSHCHEV will stay in Manhattan as long as he can get some mileage out of his visit, but I think he will be leaving before Christmas," said Bentley. He said that it is important that our country doesn't back down to Khrushchev. He used World War II to demonstrate his point. "In 1916 Wilson was elected on the promise he would keep the country out of war. The Germans took advantage of this promise and continued their submarine warfare. Finally the United States had to fight," he said.

Roosevelt promised he would never "send a boy to be in a foreign grave," said Bentley. Once again, our enemies didn't think we would go to war. This might have been the reason we had Pearl Harbor.

This is why we must warn our enemies of massive retaliation if we should be attacked, he added.

When asked about our base in Guantanamo, Cuba, which is being threatened by Castro, Bentley replied:

"CASTRO PROMISED to honor the lease which has been renewed from time-to-time since 1904. I think if any violent action was taken against the base, he would meet more than he bargained for."

As far as both parties are concerned, Bentley said that "they are more united than they are dis-united."

Both parties are against Red China being politically recognized at this time, he said. Each party favors technical assistance to countries rather than our tight loans. Both agree on supporting the UN fully and stopping the Communist threat in Latin America.

"The average American doesn't know very much about foreign policy is good. If we get into a war, it's bad," he said. We've got to get people interested in foreign policy.

Howard King, Typographer, To be at MSU

An analysis of effective magazines, newspapers and other publications will be made by one of the nation's top typographers Oct. 22 at Kellogg Center.

HOWARD KING, typographic counselor for the Harris-Intertype Corp. and vice-president of the Maple Press Co., will make this publication's critique at a Typographic and Design workshop.

The first of three workshop sessions, all conducted by King, will be devoted to a discussion of type faces—what makes a type face popular and the most effective utilization of type on coated and uncoated stock.

The second session will consider typographic design, including the use of the type faces discussed in the first session as an integral part of design.

THE FINAL session will highlight a discussion of magazine and news publication design, ending with a question-and-answer period covering the three sessions.

Expected at this day-long program sponsored by the MSU School of Journalism, department of advertising, design, art, photo, layout, men, newspaper people and others connected with publications, from the mid-west.

Respected refugees from the Communist-dominated countries of East Europe broadcast Radio Free Europe's programs to their countrymen still living behind the Iron Curtain.

In addition to its members' photographic efforts for the State News, the co-educational fraternity co-sponsors Homecoming Weekend with the senior class. Pictures of the queens and general publicity shots of the weekend are handled by members. Photographing of campus dances is another duty of the honorary.

Membership in the honorary is open to all students who have a special aptitude for photography, are of sophomore status and have a 2.0 all college average. According to Norman Hines, club president, applicants must have published some of their work in acceptable publications.

Projected plans for this fall include assisting in the instruction of photojournalism at the High School Journalism day to be held at MSU, Oct. 15. A club picnic at Grand Ledge is also planned.

SHOW ON WORTH! CHEVROLET

NEW '61 CHEVY CORVAIR

More space . . . more spunk and wagons, too!

The newest car in America: the CORVAIR 700 LAKE WOOD 4-DOOR STATION WAGON.

CORVAIR 700 CLUB COUPE. Like all coupes and sedans, it has a longer range fuel tank.

CORVAIR 700 4-DOOR SEDAN. Precisions for handling ducts are built right into its body by Fisher.

Here's the new Chevy Corvair for '61 with a complete line of complete trim cars.

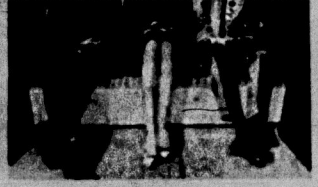

To start with, every Corvair has a budget-pleasing price tag. And Corvair goes on from there to save you even more. With extra miles per gallon . . . quicker-than-ever cold-start warmup so you start saving sooner . . . a new extra-cost optional heater that warms everyone evenly. Riding along with this extra economy: more room inside for you, more room up front for your luggage (sedans and coupes have almost 12% more usable trunk space).

And our new wagons? You'll love them—they think they're the greatest thing for families since houses. The Lakewood Station Wagon does a man-sized job with cargo, up to 68 cubic feet of it. The Greenbrier Sports Wagon* you're going to have to see—it gives you up to 175.5 cubic feet of space for you and your things.

Corvair's whole thrifty lineup gets its pep from a spunkier 145-cu.-in. air-cooled rear engine. Same rear-engine traction, same smooth 4-wheel independent-suspension ride. See the polished and refined 1961 Corvair first chance you get at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Spare tire is in the rear in coupes and sedans—leaving more luggage space up front.

Even middle-seat passengers sit pretty, thanks to Corvair's practically flat floor.

Now in production—the GREENBRIER SPORTS WAGON with up to twice as much room as ordinary wagons (third seat optional at extra cost).

See the new Chevrolet cars, Chevy Corvairs and the new Corvair at your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's

Engineers Plan Move To New Building in '62

A portion of the College of Engineering will probably have a new $3,200,000 home by the summer of 1962, according to Donald O. Ross, MSU supervising architect.

The building to be completed by 1962 will be the beginning of an engineering complex, Ross said.

The three-story building will contain approximately 20 laboratories, 23 classrooms, and an air-conditioned auditorium which will seat about 350. These rooms will be used by mechanical, electrical, civil engineering and applied mechanics, Ross said.

Facilities for electrical and chemical engineering will have to be added on later, he said.

To be financed by state funds, the building will be handled through Michigan's capital outlay program. The estimated construction cost is $3,200,000.

The new structure will be located on the south side of Shaw Lane, between Anthony Hall and the water reservoir west of Anthony Hall, Ross said.

Administrative offices of the college of engineering, including the dean's office, will be located in the new building.

Plans for the building started approximately six years ago with bids first made in February, 1957.

Universities Waste Space In Classrooms

A large number of the smaller liberal arts colleges utilize only about 25 per cent of their classroom space, Dr. Harold Dahrke and Dr. James D. remarked lecturing at the Seminar of Institutional Research, Thursday at Kellogg center.

In order to make maximum use of the classroom space, each area should be utilized about 14 hours weekly. This does not require the addition of more classes, but many colleges might increase their enrollment threefold without building additional classrooms, it was pointed out.

Larger universities tend to utilize space better than small colleges, it was reported.

Space utilization of faculty offices was also discussed. Many professors do not spend sufficient time in their offices because of the requirement that they share the space available. A more efficient use of the presently wasted classroom space would provide teachers with single offices, the lecturer said.

Basic, Kenton Play at Civic

Count Basie's band and the Stan Kenton orchestra will perform at the Lansing Civic Center Monday night at 8.

The jazz octet has been invited to play at the concert.

The octet, under the direction of Dr. Gene Hall, of the music department, will play several jazz selections during the intermission.

Cold Bug Invades Campus

The campus is experiencing an annual siege of the common cold, according to Dr. James S. Feurig, director of Olin Memorial hospital.

Each year, he said, about one week after registration a large percentage of students contract colds. The siege this fall should probably last about 10 more days.

This infection is the common cold, he said, and is not a flu epidemic.

Olin, though busy, is no busier than is normal for this time of year, he said.

The siege of colds which yearly infects the campus at this time is due to community living, he said.

The common cold is prevalent throughout the United States. According to a report issued by the Health Insurance Institute, in a year's time there were 115 million colds in the United States severe enough to involve a restriction of activity or to require medical attention.

The 115 million relatively severe colds, said the Institute, made up a large portion of the 368 million acute conditions which were reported among the nation's civilian population during the one-year period ending in June, 1959.

In addition to colds, 27 million cases of infections such as tonsillitis, were reported making a total of 142 million upper respiratory conditions a year.

Almost half of the upper respiratory conditions occurred to children under the age of 15, the Institute reported, and in general, to women more than men.

Education Series Set By WKAR

Thoughts of distinguished Americans on education will be presented in a newly completed radio series, "Oral Essays on Education."

Each of sixteen programs has a topic exploring some facet of education and its relation to problems of our times. Among the contributors to the series are recognized experts on literature, foreign affairs, education, and politics.

Moderator for the series is Dr. James B. Tipton, of the college of Education.

"Oral Essays on Education" was produced at WKAR radio, and is available for use by other stations.

In the first program, Dr. Margaret Mead explores the relationship of our culture to our educational structure. Mr. Chester Bowles, former Ambassador to India, speaks of the universal application of education in a later program.

The series includes talks by Minnesota Senator Hubert Humphrey; Charles A. Stepien, Professor of Education at New York University; and Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review of Literature.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Arthur S. Flemming; Dr. George S. Counts, distinguished visiting professor in the College of Education at MSU; and Dr. Ernest O. Melby, also of the College of Education, will be featured.

The NAEB Radio Network is the distributor for the program, produced under a grant from the National Educational Television and Radio center.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Arthur S. Flemming; Dr. George S. Counts, distinguished visiting professor in the College of Education at MSU; and Dr. Ernest O. Melby, also of the College of Education, will be featured.

Middle Ages Expert Back

Prof. Urban T. Holmes Jr., middle ages expert and distinguished visiting professor here last fall, will return to MSU Oct. 24 for a week of special lectures and film making. Dr. Stanley R. Townsend, head of the foreign language department, said Holmes will talk to various French classes, probably on French literature, and to a class in Chaucer. Holmes is professor of romance philology at the University of North Carolina, the author of 13 books and the editor of five other publications. He recently was Fulbright lecturer at the University of Melbourne, Australia. MSU intends to bring Holmes back to the campus every fall and spring for a few days of lectures. Townsend said.

Yankees Clobber Pittsburgh With 16-3 Record Breaker

Mantle Punches Two To Star in Slaughter

37,308 See Series Evened As Turley Controls Game

PITTSBURGH, (AP)—Mickey Mantle drove in five runs with two homers — one an awesome 160-foot smash over the center field wall — in a 16-3 New York Yankees romp over the shell-shocked Pittsburgh Pirates Thursday.

Squaring the series at one game each with this second game out before 37,308 fans, the Yankees sent the press box tenants scrambling to the record books to find anything to match this debacle.

Way back, coming on Oct. 2, 1936 the Yankees beat the old New York Giants 16-4. The 14-run margin that day was the greatest ever.

Bob Turley walked the tight-rope through the early innings, barely skating disaster in the second, fourth and fifth until the American League champions burst through with seven runs in the sixth. Although struck for 13 hits, Turley struck around until the ninth for his fourth series victory.

TURLEY LEFT with one out in the ninth and little Bobby Shantz came in and fed Don Hoak a double play ball to end the game.

The 32 hits picked up by both broke the series record of 29 set by the St. Louis Cardinals and Boston Red Sox in Oct. 10, 1946. The Cards that day got 20, equalling the record set by the New York Giants against the Yankees on Oct. 7, 1921.

The Yanks' 19 blow Thursday fell just one short of the mark.

Twelve Yanks went to bat in the goosy sixth inning against Fred Green, Glenn Labine and George Witt before the Pirates finally got them out to the accompaniment of some mocking cheers from the populace.

Mantle passed Los Angeles' Duke Snider as the only challenger to the all-time series homer record of 15 held by the late Babe Ruth. Mantle's two blasts gave him a total of 13.

Mickey, called out on strikes twice Wednesday, struck out in the first inning Thursday and walked in the third. His first homer, a 390-foot drive into the lower stands in a night, came with two men on.

MANTLE STRUCK out again in the big sixth inning but got Roger Maris on base in the fifth. His revenge in the seventh with his tremendous blast over the ivy-covered center field wall with two men on.

Forbes field historians claimed Mantle, a switch-hitter bating right-handed against both Green in the fifth and Joe Gibbon in the seventh, was the first right-handed batter ever to clear the center field wall at that point in this spacious park. For a few hours in the morning it appeared that rain might interfere with this contest. In fact, it rained briefly during in-field practice and they had to cover the infield quickly, unfortunately for the Pirates, the sun came out and the cover came off.

Every Yankee starter had at least one hit and even the two infield replacements—Clete Boyer and Joe Donatelli—each had a hit. Bobby Shantz, who finished up for Turley in the ninth, never got advance at the plate. Kubek and Richardson each had three hits and the rest were well divided.

RECORDS were crashing all over the place. Mantle tied one by driving in five runs in one game.

Before the Pirates finally got the side out in the sixth, 12 men batted of whom seven had hits—five singles, a double and a triple. One was safe on an error and another advanced on a passed ball.

Elston Howard, catching in the lineup shakeup that saw Yogi Berra in left, contributed a triple and a single in the big inning and Richardson doubled and singled.

Stengel announced in the clubhouse that Whitey Ford (12-9), his veteran left-hander, would start against the Pirates in the third game Saturday at Yankee stadium. There will be no game today, an open date, Vinegar Bend Mizell (14-8), also a southpaw, will pitch for Pittsburgh.

When the Pirates started to pick away at Turley in the ninth for their second and third runs, Stengel said he took him out "because he was tired." He didn't say whether he was tired of

Crew Squad To Hold Practice On Grand River

The crew team is initiating fall practice sessions on the Grand River for the first time in its five year history.

The crew will be preparing for a Regatta at Detroit Oct. 22, in which the Spartans will compete against Wayne State University and a crew representing Canada.

Ten members of last year's team are returning, including coxswain Bruce Nichols and strokeman Pete Lova and Frank Ertel. Rowers are Joe LeBeau, Mike Wilson, Dean Abbott and Bruce Hunt while Stu Crossland and Dennis Collette share the bow position. The team is captained by Hap Joy.

The first practice session is scheduled for today at 3:15 p.m. All freshman and upperclassmen interested in rowing should contact Frank Beeman at the IM office by noon, today.

Irish Want Comeback For Saturday

Coach Joe Kuharich and his Notre Dame football team will be interested in only one statistic, come Saturday afternoon, when they meet the University of North Carolina, at Kenan stadium, in Chapel Hill, N.C.

Kickoff time for the contest is set for 2 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, and a crowd of 40,000 is expected to be in attendance for the 11th meeting of the inter-sectional rivals.

The statistic that Kuharich and company will be interested in is the one that will be on the scoreboard at the end of the game.

The Irish edged the Boilermakers in first downs, 17-7 and both teams gained the same amount of yards, from rushing and passing attempts—338 yards. But the final score was Purdue 21, Notre Dame 19.

At the game's end, the Irish were hurting elsewhere than on the scoreboard. Bill (Red) Mack, senior left end, and John Powers, junior right end, both suffered torn ligaments, and are through for the season.

The game will be nationally broadcast by the American Broadcasting company.

Loudermilk Joins Team At Colorado University

Leroy Loudermilk, who quit football at MSU last week, has enrolled at Colorado University.

The ex-Spartan quarterback from Wilkesburg, Pa., will play for Sunny Grandelius, a former State assistant coach who recruited the signal caller while he was Duffy Daugherty's assistant.

Apparently angered by his failure to play against Pitt, Loudermilk withdrew from MSU last week.

Loudermilk will be forced to sit out this year, his junior year, but will be eligible to play next fall.

IN FAILING TO USE Loudermilk, Coach Daugherty was severely criticized in a letter to the Detroit Times by Mrs. John Loudermilk.

"Why does a football coach build up a boy in his own home town and not play him, he said in the papers (that) Leroy was the greatest quarterback he had for years even better than (Al) Duroy, (Earl) Morrill and others."

"The boy suffered great humiliation and his pride was hurt in front of all the fans from Wilkesburg and western Pennsylvania."

"A lot of folks closed up their stores so they could see Leroy play."

Informed of Mrs. Loudermilk's letter by the Times, Daugherty said:

I'M SORRY about Leroy. He was a fine youngster and never gave us any trouble. Against Pittsburgh I just never had a chance to use him. Tom Wilson started and we were never ahead so I had no chance to experiment.

"These things happen, no coach wants to hurt a boy on his squad. If he had stayed, Leroy would have had his chance to play. It just wasn't possible to use him against Pitt."

"I hope that Leroy does well at Colorado. I still think he is a fine quarterback."

"I said he was a fine quarterback and I told his home town papers that because I believed it. But Wilson had experience and that's what we needed."

IM Sports Season to Begin Monday With Touch Football

Each division champion and unnerup team receives trophies. The 1960-61 intramural sports season will literally be kicked off Monday evening when grabs begin for the touch football awards.

Harris F. Beeman, chairman of the intramural program, expects upwards of 100 teams to vie for honors this year. The exact number won't be known until later today, Beeman noted, because many potential teams haven't submitted their entries yet.

New York Return to NL Not Expected

PITTSBURGH, (AP)—New York is not a catch to return to the National League when the league finally goes through with its plan for expansion, Warren Giles, head of the circuit, said Thursday.

"It is my understanding from what took place at the expansion committee meeting in Chicago Aug. 2 that we would accept two of the cities from the continental league group," said Giles. "That doesn't necessarily mean New York or any other specific city."

The American League met last month and approved expansion to 10 teams but did not identify the cities it had under consideration.

Giles declined to identify which cities he felt might have the inside track. He did not even specify the nature of the progress because it might give a clue to the city or cities he had in mind.

getting the large trophy. Each member of the all-university champion team receives a sweater.

This fall, besides football, there will be six other team events: bowling, paddleball, badminton, table tennis, volleyball and the annual Turkey Trot.

Last year's 126 teams participated in the fall sport. All-university honors were taken last year by the fraternity champions, Delta Tau Delta.

Besides the fraternity division in the touch football program, the dormitories and independent organizations have their own leagues.

Last year Uncle Tom's Veterans, all-university runners-up, took down the independent league trophy. East Shaw was the dormitory champion.

Touch football at MSU is limited to all men who do not participate in organized intercollegiate football. Players cannot wear any football equipment and must wear gym shoes.

Teams within the three leagues will participate among themselves until champions of each division are determined. Then, the champions engage in playoffs to determine the all-university champion with the all-university champion.

The NL president said a meeting would be held in two weeks, probably in Chicago, to discuss the cities to be added as the ninth and tenth clubs. It is believed the meeting will take place Oct. 17.

Heron, Kemmerling To Do Double Duty

Will Alternate Kickoff Chores After A.M. Job As Booters

Coach Duffy Daugherty will attempt to put the foot back in football Saturday against Iowa by importing two MSU soccer players for the game.

Cecil Heron, an All-American center forward and Reinier (Dutch) Kemmerling, a sophomore halfback, will be in uniform for the game and will alternate the kickoff chores for the Spartans.

Both Heron and Kemmerling have been working with the graders this week on kickoffs and field goals. Daugherty, apparently pleased with their abilities, stated that they would alternate the kickoff chores. Daugherty did not commit himself on whether or not either one of them would see field goal booting activities.

Both of the booters will employ the standard soccer kick by using the side of the foot instead of the toe in contact with the ball. The majority of their kickoffs reached the end zone by using this method.

HERON AND KEMMERLING think that this innovation would be a challenge, although both stated that the soccer team comes first.

"We belong to the soccer team and we intend to stay with it," said Kemmerling.

Asked concerning their eligibility, Heron stated that "I think we are already on the eligibility list. That's what Duffy told us."

For Saturday's game, five members of the defensive team will be sophomores, Lonnie Sanders and Ernie Clark will be at ends on the defensive squad, Tom Winicki and Jim Kanicki at tackles, and Dave Behrman at center and will bear the burden of stopping Iowa's vaunted speedsters.

Coach Daugherty put the squad through a short light drill Thursday as he finished preparations for Iowa.

TEAMING WITH Heron and Kemmerling on the kickoff team will be the Spartan "Fly Boys," a group of some of the fastest backs on the team. Included in this group are seven sophomores: Herb Paterra, Bill Wendorf, George Nyvenson, Jeff Abrecht, Jim Eaton, Jim Roe and Ken Jones. Rounding out the speedster group are backs Bob Suci, Don Stewart and Carl Charon.

The soccer players will be imported in two games on Saturday. Both are first stringers on the Heron, the All-American, All-Midwest senior from the Bahamas, set a single game scoring record last week by scoring all six goals in last week's game.

He also holds the individual season scoring record of 18, set last year. The 5' 8" forward is not built for his new role as a football player, as he weighs only 160 pounds. Kemmerling, at 6' 1" and 175 pounds played some football in the service.

Knorr Leaves DeWitt's Status in Cloudy Terms

PITTSBURGH, (AP)—Fire Knorr, a member of the board of directors and former resident of the Detroit club, declined Thursday to either confirm or deny that a decision has been reached to fire Bill DeWitt as president of the Tigers.

There have been reports that the Tigers were ready to dismiss the 54-year-old executive they signed to a three-year contract a year ago and pay him off for the balance of the agreement. Based on DeWitt's $50,000 salary, the Tigers would have to pay him $100,000.

"This is the first time I've heard about it," said Knorr. "I don't know how this rumor started. We did discuss club policy at our meeting here but I am not at liberty to give out the details."

Knorr was referring to the board of directors' meeting held here Tuesday in which Harvey Hansen and John Fetzer, other members of the board, reportedly read a bill of particulars against DeWitt, criticizing his handling of the managerial situation.

Hansen and Fetzer are said to have been unhappy over the bizarre trade last August which sent manager Jimmie Dykes to Cleveland in exchange for Joe Gordon.

The Tiger's board of directors have scheduled another meeting on Wednesday in Detroit where the matter will probably come to a head. Among the order of business will be the naming of a new manager to succeed Gordon who Wednesday signed a two-year contract to manage the Kansas City Athletics.

Bootsmen to Play Pitt

The MSU bootsmen will clash with Pittsburgh, a team that always proves rough, Saturday at East Lansing. Gametime is 10 a.m.

These two teams have met twice before, in 1958 and in 1959. Both times MSU was managed to pull the game through by one point, 2-1 and 1-0.

Last week the Pitt team was upset by Ohio University by a score of 2-1. This week Pitt should show up looking to clear their record.

Coach Gene Kenney, Spartan "brains behind the game" coach, expects the Pitt team to come up here, "full of fire". He intends to meet them with the same starting team he used against Earlham last week when the Spartans romped to a 6-2 victory.

The only change will come within the starting team itself. Ventura will switch to outside left and Lohri will move over to the inside right slot.

"Pittsburgh has a good strong ball club though," said Kenney. "They have a great goalie in George Zanicopoulos, an honorable mention on last year's Reinier Kemmerling and Rutgers All-American team, and two fine fullbacks in McNulty and Ron Prada."

Regarding last week's win, he said, "Our club looked pretty good considering that it was our first game." He added that he was more than pleased with the halfback line of Ken Graham, stable mention on last year's Reinier Kemmerling and Rutgers All-American team, and two fine fullbacks in McNulty and Ron Prada.

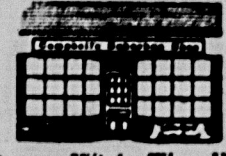

The man to watch again this week is Cecil Heron. Even though he is looking for more scoring from his teammates, he will still be the power player on the MSU squad. That is, if he's not too tired from practicing field goals.

5 Arcs of Education Assistance

Extension's Goal: Better Life for All

The Cooperative Extension Service helps provide the answers to the various problems of Michigan residents in subjects related to agriculture and home economics.

There are five areas in which the Extension Service gives people in Michigan the opportunity to receive education and assistance they would otherwise not usually obtain, according to Associate Director George Assin.

1. Agriculture, often termed agribusiness, is one area which the Extension Service serves. To promote a prosperous agriculture for Michigan, the Extension Service works for more efficient farm production of higher quality food products.

It works for a higher farm income for each family, for greater efficiency in processing and marketing farm supplies and products, and for a better understanding of farm problems that affect everybody's life.

2. Youth development is the main goal of Extension's youth program. The Extension Service helps local leaders organize 4-H Clubs which provide an educational program to stimulate and guide youth in becoming better citizens.

Livestock, clothing, gardening, handicrafts and foods are among the more than fifty projects that teach 4-H members useful skills.

3. Family living is the area in which Extension Service is concerned with creating a more satisfying family life for Michigan residents.

Extension agents help people learn how to manage their time.

4. Better food preparation and ways to make the home more beautiful and efficient through such organizations as home economics clubs.

They help family members to understand and appreciate such other and encourage people to take part in community affairs.

4. Community Resource development is the broad area in the Extension Service which handles problems ranging from local planning and zoning to forest, game and fish management.

Resource development agents help promote better parks, conservation of soil and water, well-planned communities and the development of more job opportunities in industry.

Michigan's tourist and resort owners are counseled by extension agents and the proper management, protection, harvesting, processing and marketing of forest products in an Extension goal.

5. Marketing information is provided by extension agents. The main purpose of the Extension marketing program is to help farmers, managers of marketing firms and consumers understand the rapid changes in the economy and to adjust to these changes. The Extension Service was created in 1914 by the Federal Smith-Lever Act and involves the federal, state and local governments, hence the name cooperative.

The federal office of the Cooperative Extension Service coordinates and gives leadership to the Extension Service in every state.

Because it is a part of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and receives 30 percent of its funds from the federal government, extension workers are federal employees.

An agreement between the U.S. Department of Agriculture and MSU provides for a Cooperative Extension Service in the College of Agriculture. Accordingly the Director of Extension, Dr. Noel P. Ralston, is responsible to both the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture and MSU.

All Extension workers are faculty members of MSU. There are 79 Cooperative Extension Service offices in the state with about 300 Extension agents working fulltime in the surrounding community.

These agents are assisted by Extension specialists: trained individuals who specialize in a certain field such as horticulture and work not only with county agents but involve themselves in research on campus related to their area of specialization.

Extension agents are provided with the information obtained from research done on campus and with the services supplied by Information Services, the Audio-Visual Center, the Radio and TV stations and other campus departments.

To be eligible for extension work an applicant must hold a Bachelor's degree and advanced training is required for many extension positions.

Typography Lab Gives Experience

MSU is noted for giving students practical experience along with lecture and text material.

In the school of Journalism, we find an outstanding example of this.

Tucked away in the basement of the Journalism building is the typography laboratory.

HEAVY METAL tables and cabinets are placed around the room. They form the nucleus of the laboratory.

Elwin McCray guardian of this equipment and instructor in typography, explained the function of this phase of Journalism and how the laboratory is used.

When a student enrolls in typography, he will learn the history of type, the three major printing processes, plus type classification.

THE CABINETS in the laboratory contain over thirty varieties of type.

On the work banks, which look like small metal draftsmen's tables over the cabinets, the students prepare type.

They learn to select the proper type for advertisements, headlines, and the body of the newspaper.

There are over 110 cases of type and McCray says the department has new type valued at $500 on the way.

When the student has made up his type, he then puts it on one of the two proof presses. These reproduce the type on newspaper so the student can visualize his work.

The student prepares a notebook from these samples.

A field trip is taken during the term to Spaulding & Thomson in Lansing, one of the largest independent printing firms in Michigan. This gives the students a look at a professional printing set up and gives him more practical experience.
