Ike Says U.S. Will Defend Guantanamo Naval Base

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Eisenhower Tuesday bluntly warned Cuba—and Fidel Castro's Russian and Chinese friends—that the United States has no intention of yielding the Guantanamo Naval Base in Cuba "and will take whatever steps may be appropriate to defend" the base.

In a special statement issued by the White House, Eisenhower declared:

"Because of its importance to the defense of the entire hemisphere, particularly in the light of the intimate relations which now exist between the present government of Cuba and the Soviet bloc, it is essential that our position in Guantanamo be clearly understood."

The essence of that position, as Eisenhower spelled it out, is that U.S. rights of full control over the base are rooted in agreements with Cuba, that they can be modified or ended only by agreement between the two governments, and that the United States "has no intention of agreeing to the modification or abrogation of these agreements."

At the same time, the president offered assurances that the U.S. presence in Guantanamo and use of that base "pose no threat whatever to the sovereignty of Cuba, to the peace and security of its people" or the independence of any American countries.

This new move underscored a stiffening U.S. attitude toward the Yankee-baiting Castro regime in Havana.

Last weekend, 1,450 marines were landed at Guantanamo for the stated purpose of relaxing after maneuvers elsewhere. They embarked again in Monday. Although the United States avoided calling it that, the marine landing served as a show of force that might give the Castro regime second thoughts about trying to seize the base.

Agression Claims False

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States Tuesday branded Cuban and Soviet bloc charges of U.S. aggression against Cuba as "monstrous distortions and downright falsehoods," but welcomed debate on them in the United Nations.

James J. Wadsworth, U.S. delegation chief, took the rostrum in the U.N. General Assembly to say that airing of the accusations will show up Cuba and its Soviet supporters.

He argued for a complete discussion of the charges in the assembly's political committee, even giving it priority for the widest possible debate there.

The Assembly's steering committee had recommended over Soviet opposition to send the question to the 99-nation assembly committee first. Every country in the Assembly is represented on the committee, often by its delegation chief.

Valeriy A. Zorin, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister and head of the delegation, opened today's debate with an accusation that "the United States seeks to delay the discussion which would expose its aims. It tries to gain time it needs to carry out measures planned by the Pentagon to prepare and commit direct armed intervention in Cuba."

600 Pints Donated; Phi Sigs Give 100%

Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity reached 100 percent contribution Tuesday, to contribute to the second largest day on record for the Alpha Phi Omega blood drive, in the fourth floor of the Union.

A total of 287 pints were donated Tuesday, 110 more than the same time last year. This makes a two day total of 600 pints, leaving 1,441 needed to complete the Alpha Phi Omega goal of 2,041 pints.

means we should have a rush on Friday," he added.

A man-to-man campaign was begun in the fraternity houses Tuesday, according to Hartman. Each fraternity man is asked to contact one brother, and urge him to donate, said Hartman.

"The faculty and staff really did a terrific job Monday," said Hartman. "They seemed really enthused. We only wish the students would do as well. If they would only get mad about the Jackson prison challenge—However, they are certainly doing much better than last year," he added.

"What is the biggest factor in getting students to donate," was asked of John Hartman, APO spokesman. "Overcoming the psychological feeling," he said. "This is the biggest reason that they don't donate. Girls especially seem to think they'd be weak afterward. So they're just plain afraid," he said.

"Or, lots of them will wait until the last day, Friday," he said. "They feel that they will have the weekend to recover. This

The hours for the blood drive today and Thursday are 2 p.m. to 8 p.m., and Friday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Students are reminded by Hartman that if they will come in earlier, they won't have to wait in line, as happened late Monday and Tuesday.

Nixon Slams Purse Issue

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon, hitting hard at the pocketbook issue, declared Tuesday that Sen. John F. Kennedy's program would mean "a retreat to the unchecked price increases in the Truman administration."

As he arrived in normally Republican upstate New York for his final rallies there, Nixon said in a statement that under President Eisenhower "runaway inflation has been stopped and the rise in the cost of living has been brought under control."

"IN THE LAST 2½ years the value of the dollar has been virtually steady—a stability it certainly never knew under the opposition."

"As a result, the greatest increase in the average family real income in recent history—15 percent—has taken place under the Eisenhower-Nixon administration."

Collegians Elect Nixon President In Mock Contest

Vice President Richard M. Nixon captured the voting appeal of 21,034 students in six Big Ten schools Tuesday as he outdistanced his democratic rival for the presidency Sen. John F. Kennedy by 5,979 votes in a mock Big Ten election. Kennedy received 15,055 votes.

MICHIGAN STATE'S election was called off Tuesday because it could not obtain enough ballot counters to tabulate its votes.

The University of Wisconsin reported 3,940 votes cast for Nixon and 3,057 for Kennedy.

Ohio State's 4,055 votes for Nixon and 2,303 for Kennedy were cast two weeks ago but were added to Monday results to show the participation of the university.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY gave Nixon his greatest margin of victory Tuesday night of 1,101 votes. Students cast 2,761 votes for Nixon and 1,660 for Kennedy.

Nixon received 2,372 votes at the University of Michigan and Kennedy 2,048.

Purdue's administration opposed any polling places on campus which caused the Boll-weaver to cancel its election.

Northwestern University gave Nixon 2,083 votes and Kennedy 1,058.

Illinois had the greatest number of students vote. Nixon received 1,898 Illinois votes and Kennedy 1,319.

Iowa counted 1,946 votes for Nixon and 1,412 for Kennedy.

NIXON CAMPAIGNED Tuesday in two of the most vital states in the Nov. 8 election—Pennsylvania with 32 electoral votes and New York with 35, tops in the nation.

The GOP nominee said there was an average 48 per cent boost in the cost of living under former President Harry Truman and that some items went up much more than this.

If it happened again, he said, it could shoot the cost of a pair of children's shoes from $6 to $10.37, a man's shirt from $4 to $6.40, and a woman's cotton dress from $12 to $16.08.

THE FEDERAL government's cost of living index has risen to new highs under Eisenhower, but the total increase has not been as much as in the Truman years, Nixon said.

CLOSING REMARKS IN BID FOR PENNSYLVANIA—Senator John F. Kennedy, Democratic presidential candidate, knows he has one real supporter behind him who will "bet his house" as he addressed 6,700 rooters who paid $100 for their dinner and 3,500 who came but did not eat. Kennedy Bids In California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy flew into California Tuesday for a two-day bid to win its 32 electoral votes from native son Richard M. Nixon—and got a wild welcome.

The state, a key one, is still regarded as up for grabs by either presidential candidate.

Kennedy made an overnight flight from Philadelphia, started a day-long tour by jabbing at the Vice President as a stand-patter in a revolutionary era, then was engulfed in a huge demonstration during a noon hour motorcade through the heart of the city.

Police estimated the crowd at 200,000, the same figure they gave when Nixon got a similar welcome during a visit here last month.

THOUSANDS UPON thousands of cheering people lined Kennedy's route and pelted him with bits of confetti and paper strips. One policeman's over-heated motorcycle caught fire and the gas tank exploded.

A sheet of flame shot up as the paper littered the street. Five fire engines came with their sirens screaming and apparently the blaze was put out without anyone being injured. A pall of smoke hung over the area as Kennedy moved on.

KENNEDY'S ARRIVAL was delayed for an hour and a half while his plane circled because of a dense ground fog. He sped to the University of Southern California campus for his first appearance, moved on to a rally in a negro area, and then into the garment district before his noon procession.

At the university, addressing a crowd of around 6,000, Kennedy said that Nixon is a conservative and a "conservative believes in the status quo."

"I can't believe the people will choose the status quo," the Senator said, adding:

"I see either going to drop back or move ahead." The country cannot stay on dead center, he said.

The Weather

The weather forecast for today is partly cloudy and continued cooler. No rain is expected. High today will be 47 with a low in the middle 30's. Low for Tuesday night was 35.

Abu-Diab to Talk at Union

U.S. foreign policy and the Middle East will be the topic for a talk tonight by Fawzi Abu-Diab, director of the Midwest Arab information center at Chicago.

The address is open to interested students and faculty, at 7:30 p.m. in Room 34 Union, and is sponsored by the International Relations club.

Abu-Diab, who is only 30, holds a B.S. degree from the University of Michigan in mechanical engineering and a Ph.D. in international relations from the University of Pennsylvania.

Since coming to the United States, he has been active in local and national organizations of Arab students, and has served with the Lebanese delegation to the United Nations.

Abu-Diab will be on campus through the weekend as part of the Arab club's celebration of Algeria Week, which is being observed throughout the world October 21-November 7. He will address the International club Friday at 8 in the Union Ballroom, on Algerian independence.

The 600 college Association of International Relations clubs and its affiliate World University Service have been active in fund raising and support of Algerian refugee scholars in universities throughout Europe and North Africa, according to John Chimenti, Lansing senior and president of the MSU International Relations club.

Bulletin for Nixon

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Bulletin Tuesday endorsed Vice President Richard M. Nixon for president.

The Bulletin, largest afternoon newspaper in the country, said that on the campaign's major issues the Vice President, a Republican, "offers more rational programs and displays deeper understanding of the means to further them."

Visiting Professor To Discuss Genetics

Dr. William C. Boyd, professor of medicine at Boston University, will speak on "Genetics and the Human Race" Thursday in conjunction with the official opening of a new $610,000 biology research center here.

He will speak at 8 p.m. in 204 Natural Science.

THE RESEARCH center which has been in use since June will officially open for public inspection Wednesday, according to Dr. Lloyd C. Ferguson, dean of the College of Science and Arts.

Guided tours will be provided Wednesday from 2 to 4 p.m. and on Thursday from 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The new center is located just off Farm lane near the Agricultural Engineering building.

"THE COMPLETION of this building," Ferguson said, "has made it possible for some of our faculty members along with their graduate students to have a modern well equipped laboratory to carry out their research programs."

"The building will house," he added, "an electron microscope, an air conditioned animal room and other specially equipped laboratories."

Serving as resident director for the research center is Dr. John Shaver, professor of zoology.

THE TOTAL COST of the center, $610,000, included the building and equipment, Ferguson said. The money was provided in part by a grant from the National Institute of Health.

Previous to the construction of the research center, biological experiments were conducted in the Natural Science building and in the experimental zoology laboratory located on South campus, according to Ferguson.

British Sub Base to U. S.

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons Tuesday Britain will furnish the United States a base for serving nuclear submarines armed with Polaris missiles.

The site is in Scotland, in the Firth of Clyde.

The planned date for the opening of a submarine tender berth on a floating dock will come later.

Macmillan's announcement, made with hostility by the opposition labor members, came after Queen Elizabeth II opened a new session of Parliament in royal splendor.

The Queen outlined, in a speech written for her by Macmillan's cabinet, an extensive legislative program.

Macmillan said the submarine agreement will "serve and strengthen" the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO)—an alliance the Queen herself characterized as vital to peace.

Labor party members in Commons immediately attacked the Macmillan plan, saying the people of Scotland would resent ex-posure to destruction. But the Prime Minister retorted that a Polaris sub base would be less an enemy target than would bomber bases.

Macmillan emphasized that U.S. submarines operating from the base will be on "routine patrol in peacetime" and that their real home ports will still be across the Atlantic in the United States.

Of the decision to conclude such an agreement with the United States, he said:

"It is in the tradition of Anglo-American cooperation in joint defense carried by successive British governments."

Macmillan withheld details of the arrangements at the Scottish anchorage. But other sources said the agreement calls for U.S. personnel to be stationed there to serve submarine units of the American Fleet Ballistic Missile (FBM) task force, now coming into being.

Two Polaris-armed submarines of the force will start patrolling the northern seas within the next three months. Eventually a force of 45 nuclear-powered submarines is planned by the United States. Each sub carries 16 missiles.

It is believed here that Washington is hoping to obtain similar facilities on a global scale, with a base in the Mediterranean and one in the Pacific.

Training Teachers College of Education Aids Latin Schools

By VIC BAUGH

American schools in Mexico and Central America are being helped by a training program developed by the MSU College of Education, said James W. Costar, assistant professor of education in an in-service program.

Three years ago, the American College of Mexico City asked MSU to help them develop in-service training programs for their teachers," said Costar.

SINCE THEN, said Costar, other American schools have joined in the program.

The in-service training program works to furnish consultants and provide seminars for teachers in the member schools.

In November, the eight schools of the Association of American Schools in Mexico.

"We are cooperating with them on various types of cross-cultural research projects," said Costar.

In addition to helping conduct educational surveys, the in-service training program provides for teaching credit courses, he said.

AS A RESULT of what's been done in Mexico, interest has spread to Central America," said Costar, who just returned from Guatemala in connection with the project.

"In the three years since the program started, 20 staff members of the College of Education have worked in Mexico and Central America."

Three staff members from the college have been invited as consultants in Guatemala by American schools there, said Costar.

According to Costar, the training program set up with the help of MSU is the first of its kind in Mexico.

Monterrey has two American schools which joined the association. Other member schools are located in Torreon, Guadaluajara, Puebla, Pachuca, and Durango.

COSTAR SAID THAT American schools were begun originally by the joint effort of Americans living in Mexico and interested Mexican citizens on a "bi-national" basis.

"In setting up these schools," he said, "what they had in mind was offering an American educational system for children of Americans on assignment in Mexico and for Mexican children interested in attending such a school.

The American School of Mexico City has children of many nationalities because of the foreign representatives living there, said Costar.

DR. KARL T. HEREFORD, associate professor of education at MSU is working with the staff of the Association of American Schools in Mexico.

At the present time, a credit course is being taught in Mexico City and Guadaluajara by Dr. Carl H. Gross, professor of education.

American Schools in Mexico include grades kindergarten through high school on the same basis as schools in the United States.

Faculty Members to Appear On 'Problems of Peace' Program

Two faculty members will appear on a "Problems of Peace" program scheduled by the Democratic women of Ingham county today at 1:15 p.m. in parlors B, C and D of the Lansing Civic Center.

Dr. Stanley Andrews, consultant to international programs, and Mrs. Bruce Smith, lecturer in social science, will review the foreign policy record of both parties, according to Mrs. Kulervo Louhi, chairman.

Andrews came to MSU in 1953 after directing the nation's Point Four program for 16 months. He served for seven years as director of the National Project in Agricultural Communications.

Today's program is designed to attract undecided or independent women voters, Mrs. Louhi said.

"We're breaking up into small groups so that everybody gets a chance to talk about the problems of peace," she said.

Militia Directs Heavy Weapons

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's growing workers militia took over a heavy weapons sector of Cuba's defense Tuesday.

The Prime Minister appealed for volunteers to handle anti-aircraft and antitank guns, a job normally performed by regular army batteries.

The bearded leader told a concentration of militiamen he needed volunteers under 30 to take over these heavy guns.

EXPANSION of the militia into the specialized artillery fields raised the question of how soon the regular Cuban army would find itself absorbed by citizen-soldiers loyal to Castro.

There have been frequent reports of conflicts between the authority of the militiamen and regular troops, as well as between militiamen and the national police. In most cases the militia appeared to have won.

THOSE WHO answered Castro's appeal were ordered to appear Tuesday to prepare for two weeks' intensive training with what are believed to be newly delivered Czech anti-aircraft and antitank guns. If the gunners already have regular jobs, their employers must pay half their salaries during the training period and the state will pay the rest, Castro said.

Reporting this, the government-controlled newspaper El Mundo said: "All militiamen will receive automatic rifles and machine guns this week."

MASS DISTRIBUTION of new weapons shipped here from Communist countries had been predicted for last Sunday when thousands gathered to register for a reorganization of the militia in the face of what Castro has called a coming invasion.

But only a few select groups got new weapons then.

Castro told his militiamen the new weapons are not to be carried home—ostensibly for safety reasons. He promised the volunteers would also receive instructions in firing bazookas, mortars and other heavy infantry weapons, thus indicating that the workers militia soon will take over many other functions of his regular "rebel army," the nucleus of which comes from the days of mountain fighting against the Fulgencio Batista dictatorship.

SNEZZING Good, But Not Great

By Jim Wallington

"Michigan State is a good football team, but not a great one." That's what Duffy Dougherty believes of his 1960 Spartans. Statistics seem to prove him right. The team has won the battle of statistics in every game—the mark of a good ball club. Over the season Spartan opponents have been outgained 1,260 yards to 1,025. The Spartans have rung up an average of 315.6 yards a game while the enemy has a "38.8 average."

Yet the Spartans have a "so-so" and disappointing mark of three wins, two losses and one tie for the season. What is lacking from this ball club? Perhaps it is a super-star; a take-charge player; a leader who could have provided the spark to turn the Pittsburgh tie into victory with a long run or pass at the right moment.

Someone is missing from the Michigan State line-up who would have led a second comeback against Iowa, or would have helped stop Ohio State advances at critical points.

In the past this crucial leader has been around, especially in Michigan State's two Rose Bowl seasons.

Quarterback Earl Morrall, now of the Detroit Lions, threw the right pass at the right time in sparking the 1955 Spartans to the Rose Bowl. Forty-two of his 68 passes were completed, and for a whopping 941 yards.

When his long passes didn't get the Spartans out of a hole, Morrall faked the ball under his arm 47 times and legged it 106 yards.

Morrall averaged 13.8 yards gained everytime he threw the ball, a team record he holds with another former Spartan sparkplug, Tom Yewcic.

A man of 155 pounds was the spark that triggered the Spartans into the 1954 Rose Bowl. Flint's Leroy Bolden singlehandedly won three touchdowns in each of the wins over Minnesota (21-0) and Ohio State (28-13).

For the season Bolden, Michigan State's most famous pony-back, ran 691 yards and scored eight TD's.

The 1959 season holds another example of a sparkplug carrying the ball club. All-American Dean Look, who wasn't a great signal-caller, almost led a mediocre team into the 1960 Rose Bowl with his great leadership qualities.

The current Spartan squad has a number of good personnel and a good and talented coaching staff. But it has no sparkplug, and NO Big 10 championship.

Al Royce, Traverse City junior and State News photo editor, made it to the big time, or at least one of his photographs did.

Sports Illustrated printed Al's photograph of a soccer player Dutch Kemeling kicking off in the MSU-Iowa football game. Al took the shot for United Press International, which he works for part-time.

Fred Boylen, a great all-round athlete in high school, was UPI lineman of the week last year after the Michigan game. In high school, he was "All State" in Boxing and swimming, and an All American in Football.

Tri-Capt. Fred Boylen

Tri-Captain Freddy Boylen, senior from Grand Rapids, Michigan, is one of the most valuable guards and linebackers on the team this year.

Boylen, who is tough, durable and an extremely aggressive player, is always in the thick of things. Lettered in his sophomore year, he saw 162 minutes of action.

LAST YEAR Fred was one of the defensive stalwarts with Cundiff's Crew. He played an important part in stopping Notre Dame and Indiana goal drives on the MSU one yard line. Boylen saw 223 minutes of action last year, second for any lineman on the squad.

So far this year Freddy has been playing excellent ball. His best game up to date this year is probably the MSU-U of M game where he made five key tackles, and broke up three pass plays of the Wolverines.

Man Too Soon Old And Too Late Rich

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—An 80-year-old Melbourne junk collector, Huntly Gordon Elliott, won 120,000 pounds ($280,000) Tuesday in the Centenary Melbourne Cup sweepstakes with a ticket he forgot he had bought.

After rummaging through drawers full of old lottery tickets to find the winning one, the widowed pensioner said: "What can I do with the money? I am too old."

Meitas Invited to Speak in Sweden

Dr. Joseph Meitas, professor of physiology, recently received an invitation to address the first international Pharmacological Meeting at Stockholm, Sweden in August.

Meitas reported that he is preparing a half hour paper on "The Pharmacological Control of Protein Secretion."

His paper will be included in a book composed of all the papers presented at the meeting.

Rickey Blasts Amer. League

NEW YORK (AP)—Branch Rickey Tuesday accused the American League of a "breach of good faith" for failing to accept the personnel of two Continental League groups in its expansion program.

Rickey, president of the defunct Continental League, called upon congress to "protest major league expansion" less the high minor leagues and any chances of a third major league in the future be doomed.

Iowa, Gophers to Clash

By The Associated Press
Iowa's rating as the No. 1 college football team of the nation will be challenged Saturday at Minneapolis when it meets the strong Minnesota team which is ranked No. 3 in the weekly Associated Press poll of a 48-man panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

The Iowa team, which has rolled over Oregon State, Northwestern, Michigan State, Wisconsin, Purdue and Kansas for six straight victories, was a near-unanimous choice in this week's poll.

Minnesota also takes impressive credentials into this vital clash for the Big Ten lead.

B-B Shots Homecoming

By BEN BURNS

SPORTS ILLUSTRATED had a French cartoonist on campus this weekend to sketch scenes connected with Homecoming for an upcoming spread in their magazine. The Frenchman, who had never seen a football game taken with the atmosphere of MSU.

He was confused by the American form of football and wondered if possibly there was more action in the usual game and Saturday's was out of the ordinary.

I COMPLETELY agreed with him on this score and hastened to assure him that generally there is a lot more spirit exhibited, but no one likes losing at their homecoming game.

Commenting on the American people as a whole the artist-cartoonist said he didn't think they were any noisier than the French, but that they had sudden bursts of frantic noise or motion.

He was quite taken with garb some of our coeds go around campus in. He even went so far as to sketch one, who was sporting a red kilt with black leotards, and asked if a Scot would recognize his tartan.

WHILE HE was sketching the homecoming display outside South Williams hall he overheard some slightly tipsy alumni discussing "good ole MSC" and made the remark:

"You know, I get tired around four in the afternoon, but my English wears out, I can't understand a thing one people are saying."

The Frenchman wasn't alone because I couldn't either I they were speaking "inebriated English."

DISCUSSING the American political situation he said he had watched the last debate and thought they were both good men, but he liked Senator Kennedy better.

He said in France they don't think very much about the American political scene and considered it remote and of minor interest.

Displays which he sketched included: South Williams, Butterfield and Armstrong and several of the fraternities. American coeds seem very bitter about life to him and he wondered if they weren't striving awfully hard.

He also wondered how much interest the American people have in foreign happenings, and we decided that people about the same on this issue in both France and the U.S. It depends on the locality and the background of the person in question, but as a whole we are not overly excited by foreign affairs.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT representatives are up in arms over the Shovel Bowl Classic football game Saturday. They claim one of our staff writers, Luther Ardfarb, misrepresented the facts and wrote a faintly colored version of the game.

They claimed they really could tell the difference between a football and a pumpkin because pumpkins aren't really stitched down one side.

The only answer that Lushwell could muster to this charge was that Student Government had the referee and Lushwell had Ardfarb.

Rocket Plans Moved Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government moved Tuesday to speed development of a nuclear-powered interplanetary rocket by taking a preliminary step.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, working through project Rover, requested a preliminary design contract for the nuclear rocket engine. They will ask manufacturers for actual research and development proposals instead.

Officials of the AEC have said it would be possible to use a nuclear rocket engine by 1965 to launch heavier payloads in interplanetary and lunar missions.

Soccer Team to Face Calvin; NCAA Berth Still At Stake

By CURT RUNDLELL
State News Sports Writer

East Lansing will be the scene of the Michigan State-Calvin College soccer game today. The game will start at 2 p.m.

This will be the Spartans' last home game of the season. They are going into the game with a five wins and one loss record for the season.

STATE IS still in contention for a berth in the NCAA championship playoffs. They must, however, win their three remaining games to maintain their eligibility.

Last week they met and defeated two undefeated teams in Ohio University and Indiana Tech. They beat Ohio U. 10-0 and beat Indiana Tech. 7-2.

The Spartans' win over Ohio U. served to virtually eliminate the Ohio squad from competition for the NCAA berth.

This, according to a bulletin from the National Collegiate Soccer Championship Association, leaves only four teams left in contention for the berth.

THESE FOUR teams are: Michigan State, Akron, Oberlin and St. Louis.

Stover Parry, chairman of the committee in charge of the selection, said that the team will be picked by November 13.

"We want to make the selection as early as we can," said Parry, "so plans can be made for the first round game with the Far West representative."

CALVIN COMES into the game with a four win, one loss, and one tie record for the season. They suffered their one loss at the hands of Indiana Tech. two weeks ago.

It takes 1,200,000 gallons of water to fill Michigan State's outdoor and indoor Men's Intramural Building swimming pools.

The two outstanding players on the Calvin team are center forward John DeVies and Casey TerHean, the goalie. Most of their team is made up of Canadian players.

Gene Kenney, Spartan coach, said he thinks that Calvin should be a good game. He said he intends to start the same eleven he has started in the past two games. "If we play our regular game," he said, "we should do all right."

Corgiat Back, Azar Injured

Jim Corgiat, absent from practice on Monday and reported to have started dropout procedures, returned to practice Tuesday and worked out with the team.

Corgiat, apparently disappointed that he could not help the team during the first six games of the season because of an injured heel that kept him from operating at full strength, talked over his decision with coach Duffy Daugherty Tuesday. He reconsidered and stopped the dropout procedures.

For the second straight day, the gridgers were drilled hard and long with Tuesday's practice ending up under the lights on the field behind Jensen Field house.

One injury of undetermined seriousness resulted from Tuesday's practice when offensive unit right guard George Azar twisted his elbow. He was taken to the hospital for x-rays of the injury.

Michigan State Athletic Director Biggie Munn was the Big Ten's "Most Valuable" football player in 1951.

Modern 'Rags-to-Riches' Story Centers Around MSU Student

By OWEN KING
State News Staff Writer

When Arthur Harger, 17 years old and just out of high school, decided that door-to-door selling was for the birds, he established a one-horse mail order business. That was two years ago, and things have changed.

Harger is now BIG business, and only two and a half terms away from a bachelor's degree at Michigan State.

He is published in the "Harvard Business Review," and trade publications.

He owns the mail order company, an advertising firm, and slices of other businesses.

He is active in the functions of the Direct Mail Advertisers' association, the American Management association, the American Marketing association, and the National Better Business Bureau.

He devised a power-economic graph which is used by Columbia university's Political Science academy.

He already has chosen not charities to support, including the Michigan Colleges foundation.

And he was given a key to the Playboy clubs by "Playboy" editor Hugh Hefner.

Arthur J. Harger has had a busy two years.

The 19-year-old senior and budding tycoon, who still lives with his parents at 120 Shepard St., Lansing, is a hard man to talk to.

He's not just reluctant to say how much money he's making, he downright refuses to discuss it. He did say he'd just traded his Mercedes for a Cadillac.

But hedge as he does about specifics, Harger is quite willing to discuss his philosophy of business.

"What counts today is capital, not income. The way to make money is to go into business for yourself," he said.

Harger is a harsh critic of the organization man, and the business doctors—or consultants, as they call themselves.

"If an executive can't solve his problems himself, then he isn't a very good executive," he said.

Harger, black haired and medium size, wears expensive clothes and an apologetic facade which he controls tightly; it drops away when he starts selling—whether a product, an idea, or himself.

The mail order company, Halberstadt & Company—the name chosen from a map of Germany for its dignified and established sound, deals mainly in imported goods for the luxury market, from $99 tape recorders to $2,500 clocks.

Harger recently closed a deal which will cross Halberstadt almost two and a half million dollars.

He purchased 16,000 framed copies of the Constitution which the Chicago Institute of Art appraised at $150 each. Aiming primarily at the institutional market, Harger plans to sell all 16,000 at the price set by the Chicago Institute.

Halberstadt & Company operates through media advertising, and the logical outgrowth of the operation is a separately managed advertising concern.

When the need arose, Harger formed Bernadino Advertising. The firm handles mainly Halberstadt, but occasionally places ads for other businesses. St. Bernadino, incidentally, is the official patron saint of advertisers.

Harger was active in the successful 1958 campaign of U.S. Senator Hart, but is a lukewarm Democrat. He does not feel that loyalty to the Democratic party is inconsistent with his financial role.

"I feel the Democratic party is actually more favorable for capitalism than the Republican party—although it really doesn't make much difference," he said.

Arthur J. Harger is a lesson, fellow students.

Granted he's rather extraordinary; his is not a story which can be tagged—"How to Succeed Without Trying," or "You Can Do This Too."

This guy is a whiz, and he's sharp. But he's not a genius, and his success is not a product of mystic powers.

He's a driver, a pusher, and a person with the ability to choose the right gimmick.

Perhaps the days of rags-to-riches stories aren't gone forever after all.

Reds Ship Weapons To Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—New Communist weapons shipments to Cuba are reported to have more than doubled the amount of Red-made weapons available to Premier Fidel Castro for his armed forces.

Western diplomatic officials who reported this today said shipments in the past two months alone—including light tanks, field artillery, mortars, troop carrier trucks, rifles and machine guns—are far beyond Cuba's defensive needs.

THE VALUE of the arms, almost all Czech-made, is estimated to total more than $200 million. Previously, authorities watching these shipments had estimated the value of $150 million.

Some 300 or more Czech military technicians and instructors are understood to have accompanied the arms, presumably to train the Cubans in their use. Before Sept. 1, when the new shipments began, the number of such technicians was believed to be 35 to 40.

Some Chinese in civilian clothes have been seen, too, but it is not known whether they are military technicians or are involved in trade and cultural programs set up to help the Castro regime.

PARTICULARLY disturbing in the newest batch of weapons, diplomatic sources say, is the vast quantity of modern Czech 20 mm rifles and machine guns. Castro forces could use such light weapons in guerrilla-type attacks and invasions against other Caribbean countries.

The State Department is understood to have a detailed report on the arms deliveries, and may make public its findings in the next few days to demonstrate the mounting Castro reliance on Communist nations.

CASTRO has sought to keep the arms deliveries secret, docking ships in out-of-the-way port areas after sealing off the docks from outsiders. Most of the equipment has come in big crates, some weighing up to 30 tons. Thus far, no Soviet MIG fighters have been spotted, but it is believed some of these will be provided along with Czech flying instructors.

Some Czech flying instructors are already reported on the scene to train Cuban pilots in the use of Soviet-made helicopters.

Navy Researchers Reveal Frozen Blood Experiments

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's possible that in the future doctors may take some of your blood, store it for several years and then give it back to you when you need a transfusion, Navy researchers reported Tuesday.

They said this possibility stems from a newly announced technique for preserving and storing blood for as long as four years. This compares with only 21 days under the best previous methods.

The advantages of a person being his own blood donor were detailed by Capt. William C. Turville and Lewis L. Haynes of Chelsea (Mass.) naval hospital at the convention of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States.

The doctors made it clear, however, that the new preservation technique is by no means limited to storing a person's blood for use by himself.

The technique involves freezing either red blood cells or plasma at low temperature and then reconstituting them after long storage.

The ability to store a person's blood in large volume for self use, the doctors said, would eliminate any possibility of incompatible reactions, such as can occur if you accidentally receive the wrong blood type in a transfusion.
