'UN Plot' Foiled, Mobutu Charges

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo, (AP)—Col. Joseph Mobutu said Tuesday he foiled "A United Nations plot" to occupy the Congress Parliament during the night and bring deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba back to power.

Swainson Group Has Confidence

By DON PEMBER
State News Staff Writer

DETROIT — Detroit's Henrose hotel was the scene of enthusiasm and confident anticipation Tuesday night.

Swainson arrived at the Henrose just after 10 p.m. and went directly to a private suite.

After conferring with his campaign manager, Joe Collins, and other Democratic officials, Swainson left briefly for a TV appearance at Windsor in his native Canada.

RETURNING to the hotel, the youthful gubernatorial candidate met with Michigan and national newsmen.

The governor-elect spent election day touring Detroit suburban Oakland and Macomb counties more as a spectator than campaigner.

Later the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Swainson and their children and parents had a quiet dinner at Swainson's Plymouth home.

The Swainson organization had three floors of the 20-story hotel. Vote tallies were kept in the second floor ballroom, the press had the third floor, while Swainson and his staff waited for victory on the fourth floor.

DEMOCRATIC partisans spilled over into the first floor lobby and other areas of the hotel.

Early in the evening Joe Collins told the press that GOP Chairman Lawrence Lindemer's charges of Democratic election irregularities were not surprising.

Collins said similar reports concerning Republican irregularities had been arriving at Democratic headquarters since early Tuesday.

Undoubtedly precinct workers of both parties had become "overenthusiastic" under election pressure.

Early reports cut the project report total by 30,000 voters due to bad weather. Collins said this would "definitely hurt Swainson," but he seemed confident that this would not mean disaster.

EARLY pessimism about Wayne county was reversed when it appeared that 19,000 more votes would be cast than in 1956.

In the ballroom nerve-center attention centered on three TV sets bringing good news for Democrats from every section of the nation.

37 Die in Equador As Plane Crashes

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, (AP)—Thirty-seven persons were killed Monday in the crash of an Ecuadorian airliner against a mountain-side 30 miles south of Quito, the Ecuadorian capital.

Wreckage of the plane, a twin turboprop Fairchild Craft of the Ecuadoriana Aerea co., was found Tuesday morning on 14,623-foot Atacazo mountain. The plane, which disappeared Monday, apparently ran into the mountain-side while approaching Quito for a landing on a run from Ecuador to the capital.

The dead included Pedro Iznaga and Carlos Luis Perez, two deputies in Ecuador's congress, and two Italian businessmen, Renzo Cossi and Mario Bedeschi. All the rest were believed to be Ecuadorians.

Change Club Date

The History club will not meet November 7, as reported in the State News. It will meet November 14, 8-9:30 p.m., in 20 Union.

Mobutu told a hastily convened news conference the U.N. Congo command inspired the move to start fighting between Congolese army units for an excuse to disarm all his forces. U.N. officials described the charge as "sheer nonsense."

Mobutu was in a race over the alleged plot, and deliberately missed a meeting with the acting U.N. mission chief, Indian Brig. Indarjit Rikhye, to show his displeasure.

"THESE INDIANS who run the United Nations here are doing everything they can to bring Lumumba back to power and turn the Congo into a soviet state," he declared.

"I am an anti-Communist and proved it by expelling the Soviet and Czech missions. Never, never will they be permitted to return as long as I am alive."

Mobutu said he had broken off all relations with the Indian head of the U.N. Mission, Rajeshwar Dayal, at present in New York.

"I never want to meet this man again," he said. "He has proved his bad faith with his report to the general assembly."

MOBUTU CALLED newsmen to his fortified camp on the outskirts of Leopoldville to expose what he termed "A crime against the republic."

Shaking with anger, he showed them a truckload of more than 200 rifles, machine guns and other arms with scores of ammunition boxes. He said all had been taken from the "plotters" in the early hours of the morning.

He said Cleophas Kamitatu, pro-Lumumba president of the Leopoldville provincial government, was the United Nations' instrument in the plot. Mobutu gave this outline:

An army adjutant and a sergeant major of Kamitatu's Bamabala tribe brought a squad of infantry and the arms to the Parliament building at 1 a.m., pretending they had orders from Mobutu to take over the guard. The loyal troops guarding the building refused to be tricked, and disarmed the squad without a shot being fired.

KAMITATU disclaimed knowledge of the plot. But he has never made any secret of his devotion to Lumumba. He has repeatedly called on the United Nations to reconvene the Parliament, suspended by Mobutu nearly two months ago, in which a majority has consistently favored Lumumba.

"It is I, and not the U.N., who will decide when Parliament is to meet again," Mobutu declared. "Before that happens, the Parliament must become more representative than it is at present."

Mobutu said he learned that Lumumba, entrenched in the official premier's residence behind a double United Nations and Congolese guard was planning to fly secretly to Beirut later this week. "Just let him try," Mobutu added. "We'll take care of him."

Gamblers Favor Kennedy, 9 to 5

NEW YORK (AP)—Betting odds on the election were quoted in the professional gambling fraternity Tuesday as nine to five, favoring Sen. John F. Kennedy, in man-to-man wagering.

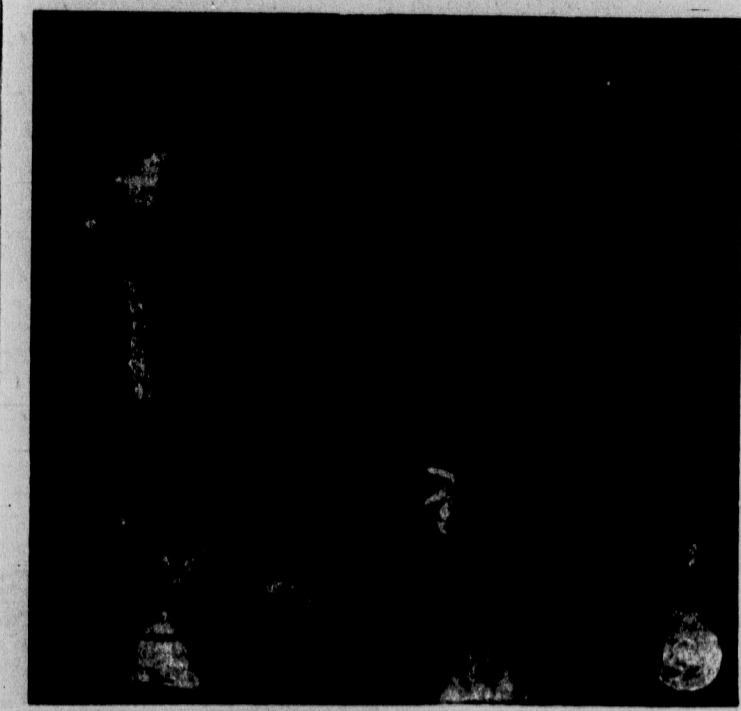

That means anyone betting on Kennedy would have to put up $9 against $5 from supporters for Vice President Nixon.

The odds in New York State alone were quoted as three to one in favor of Kennedy.

LONDON (AP)—John F. Kennedy reigned a hot 1 to 2 betting favorite with Britain's bookies when polling began Tuesday. Odds of 6 to 4 were available against Richard M. Nixon.

Temperatures in the Lansing-East Lansing area dipped to a low of 25 degrees last night. The weatherman warns that it will be mostly cloudy and windy today, with showers changing to light snow flurries. Temperatures will range in the low 40's.

Nixon Lunches In Mexico

TIJUANA, MEXICO, (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon, trying to unwind from the terrific tensions of the presidential campaign, slipped south of the border for lunch Tuesday during a long, private drive.

He astonished the mayor of this bustling biggest city of Baja California by calling him from a restaurant and inviting him over for lunch.

The Republican presidential candidate flew to Los Angeles early Tuesday after winding up his campaign, slept three hours, voted in his native Whittier, switched from a limousine to a white convertible and hit the road.

Apparently, crossing the border was a spur-of-the-moment decision, Nixon's aides said it was a surprise to them.

Mayor Nicotencal Leyva Aleman said later: "It was not a date. Word was sent to me in my office that the vice president of the United States was at the Heidelberg and would like to have me come over for lunch. It was a great honor."

A few on the streets in this city of 150,000 recognized the vice president, and waved.

The lunch was quick and by 12:45 Nixon—at the wheel himself, this time—was back across the border and en route to his Los Angeles hotel headquarters.

As Returns Trickle In

Hyannis Bustles on Voting Day

By KIT ERICKSON
State News Staff Writer

HYANNIS, Mass.—As election returns begin to trickle into the little resort town of Hyannis the town begins to bustle with even greater than summer resort activity.

Red, white and blue bunting covers the buildings and traffic jams the streets.

School children lost their bid to have classes cancelled for the day, although many were seen among the crowds that gathered on Main street to watch the influx of press and visitors.

Sen. Kennedy and his wife

Jack Waits At Home Confidently

BOSTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy waited quietly at home Tuesday for the verdict of the voters after closing one of the longest, hardest, and most beautifully engineered presidential campaigns in history.

He looked supremely confident, the picture of a man who felt he had won.

But the feeling in his camp is that he is heading for at least a substantial victory over Vice President Richard M. Nixon and at most a Roosevelt-type landslide.

He voted Tuesday at 8 a.m. Kennedy said he was "hopeful" as he emerged from a voting booth of the third precinct, 6th ward, located in the west end branch public library near the apartment he maintains in Boston.

His manner reflected outward confidence in the outcome although he looked a bit tired from his coast-to-coast, day-and-night campaigning.

"I suppose I am tired, but I just don't feel it," Kennedy told newsmen.

Jacqueline took only 15 seconds to vote, the candidate about 30.

took an early morning trip to Boston's west end where they maintain residence to cast their votes. Mrs. Kennedy was driven to Boston, but returned by plane with her husband.

On returning home a little after 10 a.m. the Kennedy family slipped behind the board fence erected after the Senator was nominated in July and into their white summer house to await the result of Tuesday's voting.

The road to the Hyannis Port home of the Senator, his brother Robert, and his father, Joe Kennedy, was sealed off to all, including the press.

A pool of three reporters traveled with him. Two represent press services and one is from the Chicago Sun. All of the Kennedy clan with the exception of the Senator and his wife and Bobby's children are staying at Joe Kennedy's house.

Mrs. Kennedy said the children couldn't come because there weren't enough bedrooms.

The Senator's daughter, Caroline, who will be three on Nov. 29, met her father in a blue sweater outfit and a knit cap and posed for photographers. Sen. Kennedy gave her a large stuffed toy animal and reported that she seemed pleased to have him home again.

Nominees Protected By Guards

WASHINGTON (AP)—While the nation awaited the outcome of the Presidential election, special Secret Service details were waiting too—ready to give the winner immediate around-the-clock protection.

The Service said last week it was setting up two detachments of about 15 men each which would go to work as soon as the election outcome was determined.

One detail was in Washington, where Vice President Richard Nixon awaited election returns at the Sheraton Park hotel. The other was in the area of Hyannisport, Mass., where Sen. John F. Kennedy spent election night.

U.S. Baughman, chief of the Secret Service, was not a member of either detail.

In 1948 the late James J. Maloney, as chief of the Service, took charge of the detail which was standing by with Republican nominee Thomas E. Dewey. After President Truman won re-election, Maloney was replaced by Baughman as chief of the Service.

He said the simultaneous attacks on Kontum, Pleiku and An Khê Oct. 21 were aimed at isolating a major part of the territory on the Vietnam-Laos border in an attempt to control that area and later move southward towards the densely populated coastal areas in central Vietnam.

"The enemy, with a strength of three regular battalions (100 to 500 men), attacked our border outposts at Kadru, Dakle, Bontal, Dakse and Dakrotah, coming from the Laotian border," Thuan said.

But he added, South Vietnam's troops repelled the attackers immediately and forced them to move back, leaving behind 34 dead and important military documents.

Continued Democratic control of the Senate in the 87th congress was assured tonight with reelection of eight democratic incumbents.

The eight democratic victories made it certain the party would have at least 51 senate seats, the minimum needed for control. There were 43 democratic holdovers.

The Republicans, meanwhile held two of their senate seats, those occupied by John S. Cooper (KY) and Clifford P. Case (NJ). Republicans had conceded they had no chance to capture senate control in the election, in the face of the 66-34 Democratic margin in the outgoing congress.

Dems Keep Control of Senate; Swainson Heading Gov. Race

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy rocketed to an impressive lead Tuesday night in his presidential contest with Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Kennedy, in his bid to return the Democratic party to the White House, captured New York State with its great block of 45 electoral votes. He made gains elsewhere that would spell a landslide electoral margin — if he could maintain the pace.

At midnight it still was too early to declare Kennedy a winner, but a number of signs pointed his way.

It states where the outcome was decided. Kennedy had 110 electoral votes to 43 for Nixon.

Only two Republicans in history have attained the presidency without New York's electoral votes. They were Ulysses S. Grant in 1868 and Rutherford B. Hayes in 1876.

Here's the way the popular vote picture looked at midnight: Kennedy 16,967,162 (52.3 per cent); Nixon 14,603,713 (47.5 per cent).

Seven of the first Democratic Senators to be elected were from the South.

These gave the Democrats a total of 55 seats, and they were leading in 16 of the other 15 on which returns were available.

The Republicans retained another seat with the victory in Massachusetts of the veteran Lawrenceitt Saltstonall despite John F. Kennedy's big vote in the state.

Republicans were making good on their claim that they would pick up house seats. They had gained three Democratic seats in Vermont, Connecticut and Indiana and had lost none of their own. Republicans were ahead in 10 other districts now represented by Democrats, while Democrats were leading in three Republican districts.

Thomas E. Dewey carried this state, where he once lived, by 35,000 in 1948. President Eisenhower rolled up a margin of 321,000 votes in 1952 and 354,000 in 1956.

PARTISAN LINES separate heavily Democratic Wayne county, where Detroit is located, and the other 82 counties in the state, most of which traditionally are Republican.

Compounding the problem of analyzing early returns in Michigan elections has been the slowness in tabulating the Wayne county and Detroit city vote.

Going into Tuesday's election the Democrats controlled every statewide elective office. When G. Mennen Williams first was elected governor in 1948 he was the lone Democrat in the state administration.

Williams, while lending support to Lt. Gov. John Swainson's bid for governor, spent most of the campaign working for the national democratic ticket.

The campaign in Michigan was in sharp contrast to the national picture. Here the republicans hammered on the theme that it is time for a change. Democratic candidates pointed to the record of their party's work while in office.

Resin Plant Blast Kills 3

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—An explosion blew the roof of a Resin products plant Tuesday, killing three workers. Two more were unaccounted for.

Four persons were pulled from the smoldering rubble and hospitalized in various condition.

The victims and the missing men were not identified immediately. Two apparently died outright. The other died shortly after rescuers reached him.

The explosion occurred in the front part of the two-story brick building which houses the Syvar Corp. An eyewitness said the blast lifted the roof off of the structure.

Immediately after the blast, which shook nearby houses, a fire broke out. Several other employees in another part of the building escaped. The fire threatened a nearby structure, and a polling place there had to be moved for safety.

Officials, fearing another explosion of resin products, ordered a three-block area evacuated.

Dog Rescues Blind Owner

Kelly, a leader dog, was the hero of the hour Monday at 215 S. Pennsylvania.

Kelly is credited with saving the life of her mistress, Mrs. Elizabeth Hooper, 40, when she was rescued from her room home early Monday morning.

When the fire broke out at 8:00 a.m., Mrs. Hooper was asleep in the back bedroom. Kelly grabbed her shoulder and dragged her outside to safety. Dennis Hooper, 18, met Mrs. Hooper and Kelly at the front hallway and helped them outside.

Two University students who rent an apartment on the second floor were awakened by an explosion. Phillip R. Woodledge, Chicago junior, phoned the fire department while Don Trzaska, St. Joseph junior, went to help Mrs. Hooper and her son.

Kelly, a German Shepherd, has been with Mrs. Hooper for over a year. She is blind and a victim of multiple sclerosis.

TINY MEMORY UNIT GUIDES GIANT ROCKETS INTO SPACE

On the top-right, easy-to-use and one-half inch in diameter, is recorded all the significant data needed to direct a rocket into space.

In the rocket itself, the electronic computer, which includes this small memory unit, begins to monitor the flight. The computer continually corrects data on flight progress with data in the memory unit and makes course corrections instantly.

The very small size and weight of this memory unit is an achievement in itself. Yet other difficult problems had to be overcome—shock, prolonged vibration and extremely high G forces. Only by using new materials and design techniques were these problems solved.

Coach Bessone Spots Leading Prospects

By LENOKE KROITMAN
State News Staff Writer

Arno Bessone, State hockey coach, said that practice sessions have shown the development of leading Spartan Hockey prospects for the coming season. Looking forward to a winning year, Bessone is driving the pucksters hard during early practice.

Goal keepers Jim Wearly and John Chandix are both displaying impressive showings in early practice. "Jim Wearly reminds me of All American Joe Selinger," said Bessone.

ON THE SPARTANS' first forward line, better known in practice as "The French Line," Bessone plans to use Claude Fournel, Tom Boucher, and Neal Turcot.

Neal Turcot, last year's impressive centerman, has been playing in mid season form. Returning letterman Tom Boucher and Claude Fournel will add great strength to what Bessone considers to be his top scoring line. Bob Taylor, who does not become eligible until winter term, figures to be a top prospect for center on the first forward line.

The second forward line will have Dick Johnstone at center, and Art Thomas and Tom Lackey at the flank positions. Showing great promise at early practice sessions, Bessone feels these youngsters will not suffer from their lack of experience.

THE TOP CHOICES for the third forward line are Tom Mustonen, Andy LaCoste, and Jim Atack. Practice shows that this line might prove to be the most exciting in college hockey competition.

Due to the fact that the Spartan defensemen are predominantly sophomores, experience is shown to be lacking. In order to remedy this situation Coach Bessone is experimenting with Marty Quirk, Bob Kempf, Dan Daily, Gus Hendrickson, Frank Silka, and Al Chocco for the formation of first, second, and third defensive units. "Practice shows sophomore Marty Quirk to be one of our top defensive prospects," said Bessone.

Sword Dancer Out of Race

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—Sword Dancer, 1959 U.S. horse of the year, was forced out of the International Washington, D.C. International today by a minor ankle injury and an immediate suspension will be made tomorrow.

KELSO is owned by Mrs. Richard C. Du Pont's Bohemia stable. This sudden development left the Cain Hoy stable's Bald Eagle, 1959 international winner, the only American contender unless Kelso's owner accepts an invitation extended 10 days ago. Nine other horses from five nations are in the $100,000 mile and one half race Friday.

Kelso, winner of six straight stakes including a victory over Bald Eagle in the $100,000 Jockey Club Gold cup recently at Aqueduct, in New York.

THERE was also a chance that a last-minute jockey change may have to be made aboard the defending champion.

Manuel Yeasa, who rode Bald Eagle to victory last year, was disqualified today at Aqueduct. A ruling on his possible suspension will be made tomorrow.

"It would be impossible to have Sword Dancer ready," said Burch, adding that the injury appeared minor.

"If Sword Dancer was a cheaper horse, we would have run in the race Friday. But I could not take chances with such a valuable horse," the trainer said. "He would have had to miss a workout scheduled for tomorrow and would have disrupted his entire training schedule."

RAID EAGLE was the early 2-1 favorite, with Sword Dancer at 3-1, and the French horse Puisseant Chef next at 6-1. Puisseant Chef won the recent Prix De L'Age De Triomphe, Europe's richest race worth more than $100,000.

Meanwhile the weather was coldest of the fall, in the 20's in early morning, as six foreign horses drilled over the firm grass course after sunup. Bald Eagle is to have a workout of half a mile tomorrow.

Puisseant Chef and the second French contender, Hautain, bred seven furlongs in 1:31 2/3, while Italy's Rio Marin and Santa Severa were clocked a mile in 1:49 2/5, easily. Russia's Zabeg was caught in 1:29 3/5 for the same route.

APOSTLE II and Prolife of England, and Farnley Fox of Ireland, who arrived by air only yesterday, rested and will be out for a gallop tomorrow.

Sword Dancer, winner of the 1959 Belmont and second in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, lost the Widener and Gulfstream Handicaps and the Metropolitan to Bald Eagle this year. But he later turned the tables by taking the Suburban and Woodward. All were $100,000 events.

The little chestnut colt, darling of the feminine fans, retired to the Darby Dan Farm in Kentucky as the seventh leading money winner in the world. He earned $323,055 this season, and in three years of racing collected $829,610, placing him behind Swaps' $848,900. The Dancer won 15 of 39 races, with seven seconds and four thirds.

His sudden withdrawal recalled the 1954 International when America's high gun was hurt in a workout—and another little scrapper, Fisherman, was a 48-hour substitute. Fisherman won in a thriller over France's Hanassa, the favorite—the first time the U.S. horse had ever raced on the grass.

As a social item, Sword Dancer's owner is on a mediterranean cruise, while Mrs. Du Pont was following the hounds on a fox hunt at her Chesapeake City, Md., estate when asked to fill in with Kelso.

Abbot 1st

Abbot coeds remained in first place by putting the Block II competitors with 73 points in their final meet of the season. They were followed by Kappa Kappa Gamma with 43 points and Van Housen hall with 22 points.

Individual honors went to Bonnie Blackport of Abbot with 18 points. Sheryl Luncke of west London, Martha Kurt of Abbot and Gretchen Lechner of Kappa Kappa Gamma also received honors.

At The Record!

By Curt Rundell

I made some statements regarding that were, at the time, considered rash and I said that I thought the Michigan State team was one of the best in the country. The team next game to St. Louis, 4-0.

However, the Spartans have racked up another win. They have won their last five games, in impressive style.

Next game over Wheaton 3-1. Then they over Ohio U. 10-0, Indiana Tech. 7-2, Calvin 17-0, Purdue 17-0. Was I so overly optimistic

Louis game State had defeated Earlham 10-0. This gives the Spartans an overall record of 10-0 and one loss for the season. They have allowed only nine against them.

They beat their opponents four times and have only once, the only time, incidentally, that they were in their history. Again I ask, was I so after all?

On another subject, I noticed a letter in the paper that was rather severe in its criticism of our soccer coach, Gene Kenney.

Some of our players have come from foreign lands. If the author of that letter ever won a foreign talent comes from. Does he think they should be recruited to Michigan State to stay? They don't. They are recruited, not to stay, but for the recruiting done at other points worth mentioning is the problem of a group of players who have diversified their talents.

Getting a team is no easy job. The fact that most of the teams State has had have also had many foreign players, all of which, and State has still managed to beat them, is a wonder. How justifiable such criticism

They Might Change About Rose Bowl

Like Armstrong, Minnesota athletic director stepped the question of whether the ranked Gophers would go to the Rose president of the University of Oregon. This acquiesces him with the Rose Bowl. In 1958, Oregon was beaten 10-7 by Ohio State, a two-touchdown favorite.

Armstrong praised Gopher coach Murray Warmath.

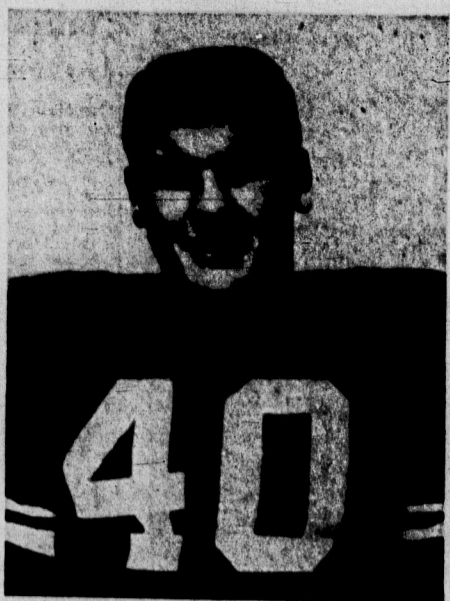

"I am very happy for him and his staff," he said. "After lean years, they are getting what they deserve this season."

ED KRAUSE, Notre Dame athletic director, told the group that they "are going to concentrate on recruiting in the Chicago area as never before."

We think this area has the finest high school players and coaches around," he added. We have eight of them on our varsity, nine on our freshman team and we hope to get about 15 next year.

"As for coach Joe Kuharich, he is very happy at Notre Dame and I am sure he will be happier a year from now."

Krause predicted a victory over Miami in Florida Saturday night. It would end a six-game losing streak—longest in Notre Dame history.

GEORGE SAINES ... promoted for play against Purdue ...

Prepare for Northwestern Gridgers Drill Indoors

Michigan State's football squad drilled inside Jenison Fieldhouse Tuesday in preparation for Saturday's game with Northwestern. The Spartans went through their plays against a dummy squad in a relatively light scrimmage session. This was in contrast to last week's heavy scrimmaging on both Monday and Tuesday by the first two units.

TUESDAY'S drills found the defensive unit backfield running plays with the offensive unit live. One major change in the backfield found George Saines at the fullback position and Carl Charon moving to left halfback slot. Don Stewart and Tom Wilson rounded out the backfield.

The injury list for State found Dave Manders out of the hospital, but still hobbled by an inflamed leg. Doubt was expressed whether or not Manders would be ready for Saturday. Also questionable is Jim Eaton, who strained his shoulder in last week's game against Purdue. George Azar was running with the squad, although his elbow was still heavily bandaged. Oscar Hahn, who sat out the Purdue game along with Manders, is also a doubtful player in the Northwestern game. Ed Ryan is nursing a broken nose that may keep him out of action.

ON THURSDAY of this week, coach Duffy Daugherty has called for a completely closed practice session. No one but the team and coaches will be allowed at the session.

Dave Behrman's 60-minute "iron man" performance against Purdue last Saturday was the first such stunt by a Spartan player since 1955 and is only the fifth in the past ten years. Behrman went all the way since offensive unit center Manders was unable to play due to his leg injury.

SAINES' promotion was apparently based on his performance against Purdue where he led the Spartans to their winning score in the waning moments of the game. Saines and quarterback Wilson drove 99 yards for the winning tally that erased a 13-11 Purdue lead with less than three minutes remaining in the ball game.

Herb Adlerly and Bob Suci will be alternating at the left halfback position now that Charon has also been moved to that backfield slot. The three players are the offensive and defensive units.

Coaches Will Convene to Discuss Basketball

Two of the Big Ten's top basketball coaches, Harry Combes of Illinois and Forddy Anderson of Michigan State, are the featured speakers at Coaches clinic on Nov. 11-12.

Strong interest in this year's clinic is evident. More than 325 state high school coaches have already registered for the two-day affair at Kellogg Center and the Men's Intramural building.

THIS YEAR'S guest coach, Harry Combes, has had 13 years of coaching experience with Illinois. His teams have an outstanding record of accomplishments, including three Big Ten championships and three third-place finishes in NCAA tournaments. Combes possesses a 217-80 won-lost record for a .731 record in Big Ten play.

Forddy Anderson, popular Spartan head coach, is beginning his seventh year at MSU. We cannot forget the 1958-59 team, led by the amazing Johnny Green. The team fought its way to the Big Ten title, and achieved the highest rating ever accorded a State basketball team.

In 15 years of coaching at Great Lakes, Drake, Bradley, and Michigan State, Anderson's teams have won 283 games, losing only 122.

ASSISTING Anderson will be Bruce Fossom and Tom Rand, members of the MSU basketball coaching staff.

The clinic opens at 9 a.m. Friday Nov. 11 with registration, a coffee hour, and a welcome by Dr. King J. McCristal, chairman of the department of health, physical recreation and education.

Morning sessions will feature Combes speaking on offensive style and philosophy, and Anderson speaking on the half shell offense.

SATURDAY morning will be devoted to a discussion of special situations by Combes, and a review by the clinic staff of topics of interest to the coaches.

Commenting on the pre-registration, Charles E. Forsythe, state director of athletics for the Michigan High School Athletic association, said that one of the reasons for the early interest in the clinic is due to the changes in high school and collegiate rules for the 1960-61 season, which will cause

VOYTS?

These are the silver wings of a U. S. Air Force Navigator. As a flying officer on the Aerospace team, he has chosen a career of leadership, a career that has meaning, rewards and executive opportunity.

The Aviation Cadet Program is the gateway to this career. To qualify for this rigorous and professional training, a high school diploma is required; however, two or more years of college are highly desirable. Upon completion of the program the Air Force encourages the new officer to earn his degree so he can better handle the responsibilities of his position. This includes full pay and allowances while taking off-duty courses under the Bootstrap education program. The Air Force will pay a substantial part of all tuition costs. After having attained enough credits so that he can complete course work and residence requirements for a college degree in 6 months or less, he is eligible to apply for temporary duty at the school of his choice.

If you think you have what it takes to earn the silver wings of an Air Force Navigator, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Ask him about Aviation Cadet Navigator training and the benefits which are available to a flying officer in the Air Force. Or fill-in and mail this coupon.

There's a place for tomorrow's leaders on the Aerospace Team.

Campaigns These Days Are Costly Projects

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democrats and Republicans call the 1960 election campaign probably the costliest in history.

But none seemed able to give a good estimate of the actual cost of raising and spending in the presidential and congressional elections.

Each side pictured the other as spending as if they thought money was going out of style.

The Senate Elections Subcommittee, after investigating the 1956 presidential and congressional campaigns, estimated the cost reached at least $2,150,000. It said the total must have been far higher, but that it was impossible to trace the rest of it.

The subcommittee had heard unconfirmed estimates that the federal elections might have cost something closer to $100 million, and that state, county and local election costs might run the figure up to around $150 million.

The subcommittee said federal election laws requiring public disclosure of campaign contributions and spending are so full of loopholes that an accurate picture of either was impossible, even with the broad powers at its command.

Why would the 1960 campaign be the costliest? Both sides said there has been more television advertising, extensive tag stamping tours by the candidates in jet planes and by other means, the addition of the new states of Alaska and Hawaii, and higher costs of goods and services.

At GOP headquarters, an aide noted that Vice President Richard M. Nixon in a single day had flown from St. Louis, Mo., to Atlantic City, N. J., Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City to deliver speeches.

Dems Aim To Swing Virginia

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A heavy turnout marked Virginia voters Tuesday giving weight to forecasts the total cost of the campaign would eclipse the 1956 record by as much as 100 per cent.

Virginia went Republican in the last two national elections by losing the margins for President Eisenhower. This time the Democratic campaign organization—headed by Sen. Harry F. Byrd and a few other notable absentees—made a strong bid to reverse the trend.

Amidst the Democrats' bid to pull right against the all-out efforts of the Republicans and their big brother allies, the Democrats for Nixon-Lodge.

In addition to choosing between Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon for president, Virginia elected a U. S. Senator and 11 Congressmen. Sen. A. Willis Robertson had no major party support and there were contests in six out of the 11 congressional districts.

Virginia's 1960 voting record was 488,000 Eisenhower voters, 400,000 in that election by 18,000. A sharp increase in registrations and a campaign that caught fire in the final month swung the state this time.

The Democratic campaigners had a difficult task all the way without the help of the leader of the state party organization, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, who declined again this time to endorse the national party ticket.

Byrd had supported Sen. Lyndon Johnson for the presidential nomination but did not transfer his support to Johnson when he emerged as the 2 man.

Republican efforts in a state that would elect President Eisenhower to succeed Kennedy in both 1962 and 1966 were overshadowed by the work done for the Nixon-Lodge ticket by Democrats for Nixon-Lodge. This well-financed group included most of the prominent figures that worked under the Democrats for Eisenhower last year.

Kennedy's crew was led in the state by William C. Battle, a conservative state PT-head days in the South Pacific. Battle, son of former Gov. John S. Battle, had the all-out support of Virginia's present Governor, J. Lindsay Alford, Jr., as well as that of his father and another former Governor, Colgate W. Dierkes.

The Democrats' campaign on public conservative Virginia back to the Democratic side by a more intensive campaign than the state has seen at the presidential level in the past 24 years.

They knew they would have to overcome Eisenhower's appeal to the degree that it could be transferred to Nixon plus the constant campaign fire from the other side that the Democratic platform was by the more liberal and ethical, if enacted, by a great stride on the road to socialism.

The normal big rural vote in which the Democrats could count in pre-Eisenhower years was something of an unknown quantity this time because of the migration here in heavily Protestant Virginia.

Why would the 1960 campaign be the costliest? Both sides said there has been more television advertising, extensive tag stamping tours by the candidates in jet planes and by other means, the addition of the new states of Alaska and Hawaii, and higher costs of goods and services.

At GOP headquarters, an aide noted that Vice President Richard M. Nixon in a single day had flown from St. Louis, Mo., to Atlantic City, N. J., Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City to deliver speeches.

It cost nearly $100,000 for that sort of "detour trip," he said. He estimated the cost of the Vice President's one-day trip to Alaska at $30,000.

Democratic headquarters spokesmen had much the same story. They said the speed of jet plane travel is a help and a handicap, too. For one thing they said, it makes it more difficult to reject speech invitations requiring costly tag-stamp tours.

Some of them thought more than the usual number of general-campaign buttons, stickers, literature, costume jewelry, campaign hats, etc., had been sold in the year with 100 vendors traveling them out for both parties.

Nationwide in the nation is there any central place to receive all campaign financial records and make them public. Campaign organizations whose activities cross state lines are required to report to Congress. The others report to their state governments or not at all. The Elections Subcommittee report contained a lot of spending never is reported to anyone.

Four Million Ohio Voters Swarm Polls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An estimated four million Ohioans swarmed to the polls Tuesday in what may be an extremely close race for the state's prize of 25 electoral votes.

Neither Democratic nominee John F. Kennedy nor Republican Richard M. Nixon could claim a clear-cut advantage in Ohio, although both waged serious campaigns in the state.

Traditionally, Ohio is a swing state in national elections. Only once in this century—1944—did Ohioans go en masse to the national settlement in electing a president. That was when Republican Thomas E. Dewey, with mounting John W. Bricker as his running mate—re-elected Democrat Franklin D. Roosevelt's bid for a fourth term, as the Ohio was concerned by a more liberal policy.

Ohio had its Senatorial contest because Democratic senators Frank J. Lausche and Stephen M. Young are in the middle of their terms.

Ike Casts Vote For V. P. Nixon

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower showed up for the final vote Tuesday to cast for Richard M. Nixon. An election judge told him he had to wait for the polls to open—and he did.

The President made a quick round trip by helicopter from the White House to Gettysburg, his voting residence, to cast a ballot for the Vice President against Democratic-Republican candidate John F. Kennedy.

Eisenhower spent 15 seconds in the sustained voting booth.

When reporters asked how he voted, Eisenhower held up his wrist watch with figures of his four grandchildren on the crystal, and said:

"That's who I voted for."

Despite the early hour, about 20 persons were on hand to greet Eisenhower when his helicopter set down on the 17th house lawn.

Among them was H. Earl Pitzer, Adams county Republican Chairman. Pitzer predicted Nixon and his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, would carry the county "by a nice majority—at least 1,500." The county normally is Republican, but by a somewhat smaller margin.

VICE PRESIDENT Richard M. Nixon, Republican candidate for president, was reunited with his and daughters at their home in Whittier, California following the conclusion of the campaign.

Nixon Votes In California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Richard M. Nixon and millions of fellow Californians flocked to the polls Tuesday to choose between the vice President and Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Nixon showed up at his East Whittier precinct with his wife at 7:20 a.m., 20 minutes after opening time.

There—in Los Angeles county—and elsewhere, voting started as early as 6 a.m. Spot checks indicated it would approach and might even top the 85.5 per cent record turnout of 1952.

THE RESPONSE to an especially active campaign indicated by 6.3 million of the 7.6 million registrars—3 to 2 Democratic. Generally clear weather greeted the election.

California, with a three-hour time differential from the East, began its trek to the polls last among the big states, and nobody expected an early decision on its 32 electoral votes.

The number of ballots was certain to hit a record high. And there were a heap of other contests to tabulate—including 13 initiative measures, 30 congressional races and the election of 100 state legislators, in addition to local issues.

EACH PARTY went into the election publicly confident that its candidate would capture the state.

Partisan predictions ranged all the way from 150,000 for either man, to one million for Kennedy and 750,000 for Nixon. Pollsters gave Kennedy an edge, but with a critical base of undecided voters a decisive factor.

Democratic leaders pointed to their 14 million edge in registration and declared they feared only the hard-to-organize reaction to the religious issue.

REPUBLICANS based their hopes on getting a solid Republican vote and perhaps 20 per cent of the Democratic. They noted that President Eisenhower overcame the 3-2 Democratic margin in both 1952 and 1956, carrying the state each time by more than 500,000.

KILLI Stevenson, national Eisenhower in only 11 of the 50 counties four years ago. In 1956, however, Californians climaxed a steady buildup toward party-line voting by sweeping out every Republican state official except one.

The Democrats, moving to solidify their gains, drew 418,000 new registrants since the June, 1956 primary, as against 286,000 for the Republicans.

ALL BUT three counties, two of them extremely tiny, went Democratic in registration. The largest, Los Angeles alone rose to 57,288. The statewide 3-2 ratio, however, remained about the same.

Former President Harry Truman beat out Thomas E. Dewey in 1948 by 17,000. Usually, however, California signifies its choice by a wide margin—at least 475,000.

Italian National Election Shows Big Gain By Communist Party

ROME (AP)—Communists bagged one-fourth of the votes this week for their biggest margin yet in the post-World War II Italian National Election. Although the contests were local, the nationwide trend could spell trouble for Italy's Christian Democratic Government.

Complete returns yesterday showed the communists won 24.5 per cent of the total vote Sunday and Monday in the balloting for provincial councils, continuing an almost uninterrupted gain from the 19 per cent they posted in the first postwar elections of 1948.

In the 1958 national election, the Reds polled 23 per cent, compared to 22.4 per cent for the Christian Democrats. This year the Reds gained 1.1 per cent and the Christian Democrats lost 2.1 per cent.

In all, 80 per cent of 22,033,309 voters cast ballots for offices in 28 provinces and 6,919 cities and towns.

A good many of them apparently intended their votes as a protest against the government party. For, in addition to the extreme left, the extreme right Fascist Italian Social movement (MSI) scored gains, especially in Rome. It got 1,478,000 votes, up 275,000 from 1958.

The Christian Democrats, total in provincial contests was 49.3 per cent, still leaving them Italy's most powerful party. They did slightly better in city council elections—41.4 per cent of the ballots or 3.3 per cent better than city elections of 1956.

But the Christian Democratic margin is deceptive. Although the ruling party is split by factions, the communists often work hand in glove with Pietro Nenni's leftwing socialists. Together, the socialists and communists polled 38.9 per cent.

Premier Amintore Fanfani, who took office after communists inspired rioting toppled his predecessor this summer, showed concern at the result. He said in a statement: "It is necessary to make the advantage of democratic life better known and spread."

The communist victories were viewed despite Italy's alliance with the West, the nation's boom in the standard of living and a warning by Italy's Roman Catholic Bishops against voting for Marxist parties.

As in past campaigns, Palmiro Togliatti bore the brunt of campaigning for the communists. The 56-year-old Moscow-trained leader traveled up and down Italy.

His chief speechmaker, Gian Carlo Pajetta, was 33. Luigi Longo, the party's No. 2 man and leader of its wartime partisan organization, also was active.

In Bologna, the Communists continued the control they have held since the war. They boosted their percentage from 42.7 to 44.9 at Reggio Emilia, scene of communist-led rioting this summer.

In Genoa, another place where the communists ruled, communist-socialist votes won 59 seats in the 80-member council, two more than the Christian Democrats.

Dem Show Gain In Thumb District

POINTE AUX BARQUES, Mich. (AP)—Democrats scored a gain over 1956 in Michigan's first precinct to report in Tuesday's election.

The presidential vote in this tiny community at the top of the Michigan thumb, reaching into Lake Huron, gave Republican Richard M. Nixon 11 votes to 4 for Democrat John F. Kennedy.

In 1956, President Eisenhower scored a 13-9 vote here over Adlai Stevenson.

The 11-4 GOP advantage held through the governor's and all other state races, except for state treasurer, where the Democratic incumbent, Sanford A. Brown, got 6 votes to 3 for his Republican opponent.

Brown lives in this county.

In the 1956 race for governor, Republicans led 12-3, compared with 11-4 this time.

Pointe Aux Barques traditionally is Michigan's first precinct to report. When its 13 votes are all in they are counted immediately.

Kennedy Goes Home to Wait

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy returned to his summer home at Hyannis Port Tuesday to await the climactic moment of his life, the return of his great drive toward the presidency of the United States.

He flew to Hyannis Port with his wife, Jacqueline, after voting in Boston.

AS THIS longest day of his life began, Kennedy was still cool and apparently unconcerned in the dawn, every sign of complete confidence in the outcome.

Asked if he was tired, Kennedy grinned and said "I suppose I am but I just don't feel it." Mrs. Kennedy, who is expecting a child in three weeks, walked 25 miles from Hyannis Port to get to the polls with him.

Earlier, she had taken out an absentee ballot against the possibility of not being able to vote there Hyannis Port home. She returned the ballot and went this morning to the west end branch of the Boston Public Library, the Kennedy's precinct voting place.

Kennedy was hatless and coolish in the chill November sunshine. His wife wore a loose-fitting purple winter coat and a black leather hat.

THE VOTING machines were in the basement of the library.

As they entered, they were questioned—like any other precinct voters—by Mrs. Evelyn Hill. She asked Kennedy's name with a slight smile, soberly, he replied "John F. Kennedy." Mrs. Hill privileged to search the voters list in front of her and then handed him a ballot.

The same rite was performed by Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Kennedy. The Senator's wife replied simply, "Jacqueline."

Kennedy whispered a few words to his wife before she entered the polling booth and pulled the curtain.

He told reporters later, "I just explained to her how to use the machines."

They then motored to Logan International airport for the half hour flight to Hyannis Port.

KENNEDY LOOKED completely relaxed. He leafed through newspapers, commenting on election day columns and editorials.

Nearly 500 telegrams, delivered Monday night, had been brought to the airplane for him. The great majority congratulated him on his campaign, commented on his television appearances on election eve, and wished him luck Tuesday.

A typical one came from a man who signed himself "Former Captain of the Soviet Army." It said:

"While listening to your last campaign speech

Nation Wondered Who'd Be Governor in Three States

Michigan, Illinois and Kansas were three states that held the chief national interest in gubernatorial elections Tuesday.

In Kansas, George Docking, who in 1956 became the first Democrat ever to be elected governor of that state, was seeking a third two-year term. His Republican opponent was State Atty. Gen. John Anderson. Prohibitionist J. J. Steele also was running.

For the first time in 12 years, G. Mennen Williams was running for governor of Michigan.

After an unprecedented six consecutive two-year terms as governor, Williams called it quits and shifted his political home to a possible place in the United States in the event of a national Democratic victory.

Paul D. Bagwell, who made a strong race against Williams two years ago again was the Republican nominee. His Democratic opponent was Lt. Gov. John R. Swainson, who has powerful supporters in organized labor.

Bagwell has been on the faculty of MSU since 1948.

In Illinois, Otto Kerner, a Chicago judge, was given a good chance of thwarting the long term ambitions of Republican Gov. William G. Stratton.

Stratton took over the Illinois statehouse in 1952 when Adlai E. Stevenson quit to run for president on the Democratic ticket.

Although the Republicans are hopeful of fating better than they have in recent elections, the Democrats scored a net gain of seven in the last two elections involving governorships.

Gubernatorial elections are of prime interest to political parties because of the patronage jobs for the party faithful that goes with victory.

It's Over; Now They Can Rest

It's over. The American people have gone to the polls and selected the 35th President of the United States.

But this campaign will be remembered long hence for the many thousands of miles traveled by both candidates and millions of words which were spoken.

Never before have so few said so much to so many—in so many different places.

When speaking on prestige Sen. John Kennedy told the people American strength relative to that of the Soviet bloc has been slipping and that of communism has been advancing steadily.

Vice-President Nixon took the stand that we should avoid statements which tend to divide America and which tend to disparage America and encourage world dictators that this nation is weak of will, indecisive, and hesitant to use her vast power.

In the United States strength the Massachusetts Democrat said, "I think the United States is now strong, certainly, as the Soviet Union, and stronger economically. What's stronger is that they are getting stronger and we are standing still."

Nixon said, "We're not perfect but this is just the best country in the world, that's all. It is the strongest militarily... (economically) they aren't going to catch up with us in 70 years."

The vice-president called it a sorry spectacle when a man tries to get elected President by running down the United States all over the world.

Kennedy answered by saying it is those who are satisfied with things as they are—those who think we have reached our limit—the American people for greater effort and sacrifice—who are really selling America short.

The Republican nominee described Kennedy as a well-intentioned man who doesn't know the situation—a kind of man Khrushchev will make mince-meat out of in a debate.

"The real issue is not who can best stand up to Khrushchev or who can best swap threats and insults," Kennedy said. "The real issue is who can stand up and summon America's vast resources to the defense of freedom."

Both candidates agreed that we should not go to a summit meeting unless negotiations have reached a point that we have a reasonable assurance that something is going to come out of it.

This, in 1956, was a near miracle.

Record Vote Predicted In Penn's Wood

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Pennsylvanians surged to the polls Tuesday to elect their 35th President.

Clear weather and the effect of some 30 campaign appearances in this state with its big pool of 62 electoral votes contributed to the outpouring that was expected to reach five million by 8 p.m. (EST) poll closing.

The turnout would represent about 88 per cent of the 1,647,000 eligible to vote and surpass the previous record of about 4.7 million who cast ballots in 1956 and the 85.7 per cent who turned out in 1952. President Eisenhower took the state from Democrat Adlai Stevenson in both years.

The huge vote gave no indication of the outcome, which was expected to be close. Democrats held a registration edge of about 300,000. The heavy turnout occurred in every section of the state.

By noon, 50 per cent of those eligible had voted in some sections.

Three statewide offices also were being contested as were 16 seats in the state house of representatives, 25 seats in the state senate, and all 30 Congressional seats.

Eisenhower, a Gettysburg resident, was among the first to vote.

There were indications the Philadelphia turnout would be about 90 per cent. It was hoped the Democrats hoped to mount an unshakable lead. But in Republican suburbs, where the GOP hopes to match or surpass the Philadelphia margin, the polls also were commencing mass turnouts.

Democratic presidential nominee carried Pennsylvania only three years ago. The election (Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1908-1912-1916). This year, for the first time since before the Civil War, Democrats had an edge in Pennsylvania, by about 1,000 out of 1,647,000 voters.

Nixon Votes, Relaxes by Taking Drive

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Richard M. Nixon cast his ballot a half hour after the polls opened Tuesday in his nearby home town of Whittier and then took a drive along the Pacific ocean.

A Secret Service agent telephoned Robert Finch, Nixon's campaign manager, that Nixon just wanted to drive along the beach "to get away from it all for a little while."

He was expected to come back to the Ambassador hotel headquarters later this afternoon and await the nation's verdict on his bid for the Presidency.

At the polling place Nixon told newsmen he believed John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate, "is strongest in the East but I'm not conceding any state. We must await returns from the Midwest and the South. Those are the crucial areas."

After leaving the polling place, Nixon switched from his black limousine to a white convertible. He drove off with a Secret Service agent, a military aide and a driver.

Herbert Klein, his press secretary, said the drive "is just a lull, meandering trip," adding that the party will eat lunch some place along the beach.

Mrs. Nixon was not along. She returned to the hotel in the limousine.

SENATOR JOHN F. KENNEDY

It's Nixon 23-12

MOUNT WASHINGTON, Mass. (AP)—This Berkshire hills town Tuesday gave 23 votes to Vice President Richard M. Nixon and 12 to his Democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy.

In 1956 Mount Washington gave President Eisenhower 22 votes and Adlai Stevenson 22.
