Teenagers Erupt in Anger in Forced Integration of Schools

NEW ORLEANS, (AP) — Teenage demonstrators running in packs of 100 and 200 broke the peaceful mixing of the races in New Orleans public schools Tuesday.

Forays by youngsters of both sexes melted away from the nervous feet of police horses in an abortive attempt to break police lines around McDonough 19 school.

POLICE ARRESTED at least 11 persons, including a blonde girl who hit the head of an arresting officer, and a deputy sheriff from neighboring St. Bernard parish.

The teenagers put into action the better-controlled anger of parents who shouted derisively as four six-year-old Negro girls entered two white schools for their second day of integrated education.

At William Frantz school, the other building integrated, police arrested a man for carrying a concealed weapon. The weapon turned out to be a toy pistol.

Police massed 125 patrolmen and mounted officers around McDonough and after the first attempt to crack their lines sealed off an area two blocks around the three-story gray building on busy St. Claude ave. They allowed only heavy trucks to pass and ranged for blocks around the neighborhood.

Thirty minutes later, roving police broke up a marching group of 200 placard and flag-carrying white teenagers, 10 blocks from the school, turning the procession toward downtown New Orleans.

The police meant business. Police Maj. Adolph Mayerhoffer said, "we'll be here as long as it is necessary."

His superior, police supt. Joseph Giarrusso, emphasized the police mission was solely to maintain order.

Integration was a two-day-old fact in New Orleans but education just about took a holiday. Nearly all schools reported light attendance and the two integrated schools had a total total of about two dozen white students.

THREE OF the four Negro students entered McDonough and a police sergeant described the integrated first-grade classroom thus:

The three little Negro girls huddled in one corner of the room with school books given them by the first-grade teacher. A white boy and a white girl sat in an opposite corner.

The teacher asked the Negroes questions, apparently to determine how far advanced their education was.

At William* Frantz, the one Negro girl integrated into the school's first grade sat by the side of one white girl, by the account of a mother, Mrs. Owen McManus, who entered the school to get her daughter's books.

With the two were a negro woman and a white woman, apparently the mothers of the two girls.

There was no teacher.

INDICATIONS were, Mrs. McManus said, that no classes were being held in Frantz school at all. Her sixth grade daughter, Deborah, said only two of 21 regular white students were in the building.

A Franciscan friar in the brown robes of his order showed up and Mrs. McManus said he came to comfort the school principal, Estelle Barkemeyer, who appeared upset.

John Stewart, 20-year-old principal of McDonough in his second year on the job, appeared to some eye witnesses to be fully as distraught.

Estimates—official in nature—placed today's attendance at 10 at McDonough and 13 at Frantz. Normal enrollment is slightly more than 1,000 for the two schools.

The situation was quieter at Frantz, where its residential location enabled police to effectively seal off a one block area without disrupting normal traffic. But, inside the school, teachers gather in grim seclusion in the kindergarten room.

AT THE HEIGHT of the trouble, a husky man wearing a tin helmet normally associated with construction workers struggled with police as they dragged him off to the police wagon.

The blonde girl who ran afoul of the police was carrying a sign reading:

"Go home, police. Your kids may sit with niggers."

The atmosphere was delectable. It was almost honey and gay with neighborhood bars and soda fountains doing a brisk business and small children dancing in play.

But, behind the pseudo-mardi gras appearance lurked deep resentments.

Cabinet Post Hinted

Ribicoff, Kennedy Meet To Discuss New Term

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Gov. William A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, prominently mentioned for a cabinet post, came to town Tuesday to lunch, golf and a conference with President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Ribicoff's arrival at the Kennedy vacation retreat on the Atlantic shore coincided with indications that the President-elect definitely sounded out Vice President Nixon on the possibility of bringing Republicans into a few key spots in a Democratic administration.

They hinted at a possibility that several Republicans might be tapped for key positions as a further demonstration of American unity.

Nixon reportedly did not reject this idea outright. But by reason of the closeness of his election loss to Kennedy, and from the standpoint of maintaining a vigorous, constructively critical Republican party, the vice president was understood to have doubts about the desirability of installing Republicans in top positions under Kennedy.

Nixon Gains in Votes As Count Continues

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Kennedy's vote total inched closer to President-elect John F. Kennedy's Tuesday as California's absentee ballots and a smattering of others were counted.

With 1,587 of 168,063 precincts missing from the election a week ago, the count stood:

KENNEDY—23,757,475.
NIXON—23,544,755.

The represented a difference of 212,720 out of a record 168,063.

Percentage of Kennedy had 59.3 per cent and Nixon 40.7 per cent.

Most of the still uncounted precincts are in the south and some in the west. In some of these areas, unofficial counting generally is halted when the result in the state is clearly determined.

KENNEDY apparently is interested in installing some of the opposition figures primarily in defense and foreign policy spots.

Both Kennedy and Nixon were represented as opposed to setting up an actual coalition government.

But during the campaign, Kennedy drew no party lines saying he wanted "a ministry of the best available talent." He said the whole nation was the beneficiary of the services of various Republicans in the Roosevelt and Truman administrations.

Peter Palmer to Be Featured for Coronation Ball

Peter Palmer, a coast-to-coast dance favorite, will play at the Coronation Ball Saturday night at Kelllogg Center from 8 to 12.

According to Bill Hart, local trumpeter who toured with Palmer's group over the summer, Palmer's aggregation consists of 14 instrumentalists and if vocalists, involving an unusual blend of voices and instruments. This has come to be known as the "Peter Palmer sound."

Palmer's group can be heard on Mercury records.

Factors contributing to the success of this new group are the coast-to-coast broadcasts they have done and last summer's tour, which included some of the nation's finest ball-rooms and a week at the Steel Pier in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

Palmer is a graduate of Northwestern University, where he led his own dance band. After graduation he served as an arranger for "name" bands, such as Ralph Marterie, in addition to working as a disc jockey.

2 Girls Abducted; One Returns Safe

SUPERIOR, WIS., (AP) — Search for a 17-year-old Minnesota girl and a 47-year-old hospital chaplain accused of kidnapping her spread throughout the Midwest Tuesday.

Dist. Atty. John Chisholm said he was "apprehensive" for the safety of Rosalie O'Connell, missing since she left St. Mary's hospital a week ago to "go for a ride" with the Rev. Lawrence Dudink.

Miss O'Connell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad O'Connell of Gilbert, Minn., had been admitted to St. Mary's at 5 a.m. The same day for treatment of a nervous condition. Father Dudink, a member of the Roman Catholic Divine Word Missionaries, was known as a friend of the family and received permission to take the girl for the ride.

Municipal Judge Claude Cooper signed the state kidnapping warrant naming Dudink Monday, after authorities were unable to locate either of the pair.

Chisholm said that preliminary investigation indicated that "this definitely is a kidnapping."

Chicago, (AP) — Chicago had its second girl abduction in four days Tuesday, but the latest target escaped unharmed as her assailant attempted to rip off her clothing in a forest preserve northwest of the city.

Police sought to determine if the latest snatching was linked with the slaying Saturday of 9-year-old Gloria Kowalewicz or the still unsolved killings of three Chicago boys five years ago.

The latest victim, Peggy McCarthy, 7, was pulled into a car near her home on the northwest side by a man who drove up and asked her for directions.

The girl, however, slipped out of his grasp in the forest and ran to a highway where she was spotted by a cab driver.

The cab driver, John Craig, took her to a police station and she later was examined in a hospital and pronounced unharmed except for a bruise on her thigh.

MHA Adopts New Plan For Campus Chest Fund

MHA gave its unanimous approval to plans for a new system of collecting donations to the Campus Chest fund drive at its meeting this week, according to Ed Gustavson, MHA president.

The new plan, as it was presented by the director of the drive, John Schauer, and Larry Campbell, executive vice-president of AUSG, calls for solicitors who will distribute and later collect envelopes for donations from each individual in all campus housing units.

Proposals have been submitted to MHA prior to this which would allow Campus Chest representatives to stage a door-to-door campaign but have been vetoed on the grounds that such a method causes mere competition than residents are willing to put up with," said Schauer in his report to the MHA.

He added, "By simply leaving the envelopes in the rooms, I am sure that any disturbances will be avoided."

One solicitor will be assigned from 20 to 25 students, and it will be his job to answer any questions relating to the drive.

Selection of solicitors will be done by the drive co-ordinators and living unit presidents.

Leadership orientation meetings will be held at a later date. Each solicitor will be required to attend one of these.

"We hope that the new system will make this year's Campus Chest drive the most successful one so far," said Schauer.

"There for this year's drive do not include the use of canvassers or the sponsoring of contests among housing units," he said.

HOW DO YOU DO! — Siri James, Grass Lake junior, is introduced to "Herman," by Dr. Rollin H. Baker, director of the university museum. Herman, a boa constrictor, was found in the jungle regions of southwest Mexico by a museum expedition last summer and served as a mascot on the rest of the trip. He was brought back to Michigan State and holds the honor of being the only live display in the museum. State News Photo.

Performers Threaten TV, Radio Strike

NEW YORK, (AP) — Peace talks continued Tuesday in the face of a midnight deadline for a strike of performers on the nation's major television and radio networks.

However, a strike of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists was by no means inevitable with the midnight expiration of their old contract. Two years ago, in a similar situation, a 72-hour armistice was agreed upon to reach a settlement without a strike.

AFTRA has about 16,000 members who work for ABC, CBS, and NBC radio-television, and Mutual radio network.

A performers' strike presumably would have any immediate effect as far as the nation's viewers were concerned. The networks piled up a backlog of filmed programs. However, the union claimed that in the long run 90 per cent of live TV and radio network shows would be knocked off the air.

The main issue was AFTRA's demand for higher pay for performers on "wild spots"—commercials return on individual stations, including those owned and operated by the networks.

ZORIN VOICED hope the Kennedy administration would "seriously ponder this" and at the spring session take steps to make agreement on disarmament possible.

Wadsworth replied that he behoves Mr. Zorin to talk about what the position of the next U. S. government might be.

"This is not the way to do business, and I regret that any such thing has been brought up in this committee."

The committee adjourned at 6:35 p.m. EST without taking any vote.

Tornado Hits Iowa Town; No Injuries

MANCHESTER, IOWA, (AP) — A tornado cut a narrow strip of destruction through this northeast Iowa community Tuesday. No injuries were reported.

The black twister hit the town of some 3,000 persons about 3:15 p.m., and Manchester press publisher Jim Goodwin said "the first people knew it was here was when they looked up and there was rubbish all through the air."

A three story frame warehouse owned by the Central Telephone Co. was demolished. Debris was flung about the area.

Two new houses had their roofs peeled off and several other houses were heavily damaged.

Goodwin said the tornado cut a strip about "one-house wide" from the southwest to the northeast part of town. Utility poles and wire were torn down.

He said there were reports that a farm south of here was badly damaged.

Philippine-U. S. Day Is Friday

Folk dances and slides on the Philippines will highlight the celebration of Philippine-American Day at MSU.

The program, sponsored by the Philippine Club, will be Friday at 8 p.m. in parlors A and B of the Union.

The proclamation of Philippine-American Day was made by Philippine President Ramon Mag-saysay in observance of the strong bond of friendship and mutual assistance that exists between the Philippine Republic and the U. S. Refreshments will be served.

Castro Is Subject of Union Forum Debate

The Contemporary Issues Forum will sponsor a debate on Fidel Castro and his policies tonight at 8:30 in 33 Union.

Dr. Charles Cumberland, professor of history, will oppose Castro. Samuel Shapiro, instructor at MSUO and writer for New Republic magazine, will defend the Cuban leader.

Reds Will Talk With Kennedy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union expressed willingness Tuesday to enter into negotiations with the new U.S. administration of John F. Kennedy in an effort to break the East-West disarmament deadlock.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin made the offer before the U.N. General Assembly's political committee, where he clashed with U.S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth—an appointee of the Eisenhower administration.

THE CLASH came after Zorin threw his country's support behind last ditch compromise resolution submitted by India's Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon, and co-sponsored by a group of smaller nations.

Wadsworth challenged Zorin to accept amendments to the resolution that would make it more of a balance between rival east-west proposals. He did not spell them out in detail. But Zorin rejected the idea of any amendments, saying the United States wants to destroy the resolution and establish "tropholes" that would enable it to acquire out of agreement on general and complete disarmament."

The Soviet delegate said that his view of Wadsworth's position in his country would look forward to a spring session of the assembly on disarmament, to be attended by heads of states. The Soviet Union has expressed a desire that the assembly be held in Europe or the Soviet Union.

ZORIN VOICED hope the Kennedy administration would "seriously ponder this" and at the spring session take steps to make agreement on disarmament possible.

Wadsworth replied that he behoves Mr. Zorin to talk about what the position of the next U. S. government might be.

"This is not the way to do business, and I regret that any such thing has been brought up in this committee."

The committee adjourned at 6:35 p.m. EST without taking any vote.

England Holds Election Soviet Revaluation of Currency Won't Affect West Says U.S.

LONDON, (AP)—Now that the U.S. presidential election has kindly got out of the way, Britons would like to be a little electing soon.

Labour, Liberal and Conservative have been campaigning like cats in what the papers call "one little general election" but money has been flowing.

Everbody was so fascinated with the presidential struggle between John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon across the Atlantic. At least, that's what the British candidates complained was happening.

And now Britons, if you will simply pay attention, the candidates want to make their final pitch for seven vacant seats in the House of Commons to be decided before the week is out.

Today voters will ballot in the districts of Carlisle, Luton, Middle Bedfordshire, Peterhead, Devon and Bolton East. On Thursday they will vote in Vale, the Welsh constituency of the late Anwar Bevan. The they left-winger, Michael Foot, is Labour's candidate there.

Prime Minister MacMillan's Conservatives have a 100-seat majority in the House of Commons. So they need not tremble at the outcome of this trial at the polls.

But the voting should give a clue to whether the Conservatives retain their popularity and whether the Socialists are committing suicide with their family feuds over nuclear weapons.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Treasury said Tuesday Russia's move to increase the gold content of the ruble "appears to have no international monetary significance in the free world."

In response to inquiries, the department issued a statement which said the Soviet move "can have little or no international importance in the trade of Russia with the free world which is conducted in the currencies of other countries—the dollar and the pound sterling."

Noting that the ruble is neither convertible into other currencies nor traded internationally, the treasury said.

"The gold content may be important only in the internal operations and administration of the Soviet system and possibly in some of the trade arrangements with the Soviet satellite countries."

Treasury officials said they saw nothing in the move to indicate that Russia plans to make the ruble convertible. They also said they would hesitate to characterize the Soviet action as a devaluation of the ruble.

Some experts felt that Russia's currency revaluation evidently is designed to prevent the ruble to be used as a more valuable monetary unit than the U.S. dollar.

Yet, they said, leaders of the government-controlled Soviet economy are obviously afraid to subject the ruble to the competition of the world's financial markets.

In international trade, the dollar dominates as a medium of exchange, with some other monetary units confidently employed—namely the British pound sterling.

The Soviet government announced last night that starting Jan. 1 its central unit of money will be a heavy ruble worth 10 of the present rubles. But in terms of dollars the revaluation is set at a little more than 4 to 1 instead of 10 to 1.

Americans with connections at the grass roots of Latin American affairs say that Cuba represents a Moscow-financed coup, but that Spanish refugee communists represent the real core of revolution in the area.

The Spanish communists have made Latin America their base ever since their defeat in the Spanish civil war. Their cultural ties have made them peculiarly effective agents of subversion in Latin America. Their ideological and financial ties with Moscow have been handed over 25 years of constant use. Some of them arrived with considerable money from Spain.

It has been easy for them to work themselves in with revolutionary elements in the Spanish-speaking countries.

The American sources say the great influx of Cuban and Chinese communists into Cuba will have to go on for a long time before it can offer a force comparable to those already at work through the Spaniards who have been present for years.

Latin America is now showing signs of fighting back.

GUATEMALAN AND NICARAGUAN governments both are claiming to have quelled new uprisings in which the communists—Castro-communists, the governments claim—sought to take advantage of local disaffections.

More significant, perhaps, is the positive move for democratic procedures made by three countries after the El Salvador coup last month. Failure of the junta to announce election plans has caused Brazil, Chile and Argentina, acting in concert, to withhold recognition.

These countries were reportedly nervous after what they saw as non-democratic tendencies and an early recognition by Cuba. They are trying to pressure the El Salvador junta into free elections.

IT CAN BE assumed that the Guatemalan disturbance is, as the government claims, communist-inspired or at least a local one on an international basis. The residue of communist power left after the 1954 revolution, which had the backing of the United States, has been showing its hand more and more frequently in the last year.

The situation in Nicaragua is more complex. There you have a long-standing dictatorship and an internal contest for power, complicated by the quickness of the communists to take advantage of every opportunity to promote local disturbances. Throughout Central America the refugee Spaniards and original supporters of the Castro movement are waiting for these opportunities—and creating them where they can.

HOW TO BEAT THE BEAT GENERATION

My cousin Herkie Nylet is a sturdy lad of nineteen summers who has, we all believed until recently, a lively intelligence and an assured future. Herkie's father, Walter O. Nylet, is as everyone knows, president of the First National Artificial Cherry Company, world's largest maker of artificial cherries for ladies' hats. Uncle Walter had great plans for Herkie. Last year he sent Herkie to the Maryland College of Humanities, Sciences, and Artificial Cherries, and he intended, upon Herkie's graduation, to find him a nice (st) wife and take him into the firm as a full partner.

Could a young man have more pleasing prospects? Of course not. But a couple of months ago, to everyone's consternation, Herkie announced that he was not going into the artificial cherry business. Nor was he going to stay in college. "I am," said Herkie, "a member of the Beat Generation. I am going to San Francisco and grow a beard."

Well sir, you can imagine the commotion in the family when Herkie went traipsing off to San Francisco! Uncle Walter would have gone after him and dragged him home, but unfortunately he was right in the middle of the artificial cherry season. Aunt Theima couldn't go either because of her old leg trouble. (One of her legs is older than the other.)

"Herkie, how do you?"

So I went. I searched San Francisco for weeks before I found Herkie living under the counter of a Pronto Pup stand. "Herkie, how are you?" I cried, looking distraughtly upon his tangled beard, his corduroy jacket, his stricken eyes.

"Best," said Herkie.

I offered him a Marlboro and felt instantly better when he took it because when one smokes Marlboros, one cannot be too far removed from the world. One still has, so to speak, a hold on the finer things of life—like good tobacco, like easy-drawing filtration, like settling back and getting comfortable and enjoying a full-flavored smoke. One is, despite all appearances, basically happiness-oriented, fulfillment-directed, pleasure-prone.

"Herkie, what are you doing with yourself?" I asked.

"I am finding myself," he replied. "I am writing a novel in the sand with a pointed stick. I am composing a fugue for clarinet and police whistle. I am sculpturing in experimental materials—like English muffins."

"And what do you do for fun?" I asked.

"Come," he said and took me to a dank little night club where men in beards and women in basic burlap sat on orange crates and drank espresso. On a tiny stage stood a poet reciting a free-form work of his own composition entitled 2000: The Story of a Boy while behind him a jazz trio played 200 choruses of Tin Roof Blues.

"Herkie," said I, "come home with me to the artificial cherries."

"No," said Herkie, so sadly I went home to tell Uncle Walter the bad news. He was less distressed than I had feared: It seems Uncle Walter has another son, a quiet boy named Edvorts, about whom he had completely forgotten, and today Edvorts is in business with Uncle Walter and Herkie is beat in San Francisco, and everyone is happy.

1960 Census Results Mirror Shifts

California Gains Most From Reapportionment

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Final results of the 1960 census were made public Tuesday by the Commerce Department, which said half of the 47 states will gain or lose seats in the House of Representatives because of population shifts.

Each state which took up or lost House seats will gain or lose the same number of votes in the electoral college, which normally selects the President. Each state vote in the electoral college is the sum of the senators and electors and House members.

The 1960 presidential vote would be affected, though changes will not be made until January 1961.

On the basis of final tabulations, the department said the 1960 census population was 152,213,000 on April 1. The rate of the population increase since the 1950 census was 14.5 per cent, the 1950 rate was 13.7 per cent.

THIS COUNT did not include Alaska, which was admitted to the Union in January 1959, and Hawaii, which was admitted in August 1959.

The principal purpose of the reapportionment is to determine how many House seats and electoral votes, each state shall have. These are allotted according to population.

On the basis of the 1960 census, House seats will be reapportioned starting with the 85th congress which will be elected in November 1961.

California will be the biggest gainer in the reapportionment, picking up eight seats. Florida will gain four seats and the following states will gain one each: Alaska, Hawaii, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey, Ohio and Texas.

North Carolina will lose three seats. New York, Massachusetts and Arkansas will lose two each. Dropping one seat apiece will be Alabama, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nevada, North Carolina and West Virginia.

THE NUMBER of House seats the number of seats because the House currently has 435 members. The total number of seats will revert to 435 after the reapportionment.

Census Bureau experts worked out the state-by-state reapportionment and sent their report to Secretary of Commerce Ernest B. Resnik. The committee has reported to the President Eisenhower, who will pass it along to the clerk of the House after Congress convenes in January.

From then the report will go to the 84 state governors, who will advise necessary, and then to the 50 members of the House of Representatives, who will vote on the report.

If a legislative fails to act before the 1962 election, all house members from that state will be elected at large in 1962 if the state has lost seats. If it has gained, the additional representatives will be elected at large.

U. S. Gold Slipping Away

The Orders Reduction of Deficit

AGUSTA, GA., (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday approved a decision ordering government departments and agencies to take new action to reduce the nation's mounting deficit in balance of payments.

Eisenhower made known his decision after a 2 1/2 hour conference at his vacation headquarters with his secretaries of the Treasury and Defense.

THE DEFICIT for 1960 now looks as if it could possibly approach last year's figures, said Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson after the meeting.

In 1959 this deficit totalled some $3.8 billion. The figure represents the gap between the amount of money the U.S. earns in overseas transactions and the amount it spends.

This gap is one of the key reasons there has been an increasing flow of gold out of the U.S. in the past two years.

Eisenhower did not spell-out the kind of action he would direct government departments and agencies to adopt to ease the problem. He said he would issue "a paper" outlining the problem.

"IT WILL contain directives to government departments and agencies for action which they can take within the sphere of US governmental activity to contribute to the reduction of the deficit in our balance of payments," Anderson said.

Eisenhower made it clear he expects the wealthy West German government to help stem the outflow of US gold by picking up some of the financial burden the US has been carrying out to help free nations.

Citation Awarded
Professor Leo Katz, head of the department of statistics, has received a citation from the office of Naval Research for his work as European Scientific Liaison officer during the past academic year.

Dr. Katz was on leave from August 1958 to September 1960 and spent his time visiting universities and other research centers in Europe and Asia where significant research is being done in the fields of Statistics and Probability Theory.

Locator Service Proposed

Student Congress will meet tonight to discuss the possibility of establishing a student locator service which would function during the first half of Fall term. This service would assist students in finding other students on the campus until the student directory is printed. The bill proposing the locator service was reported favorably from the congress business and state affairs committee, headed by Rep. D. Warner (East Shaw).

SHARON JONES DAN RIEDEL

Sharon and Dan Share Senior Honor

A woman judge is a rarity in any court, but how many chief justices are women? Sharon Jones can tell you there is at least one, because she holds this post in the Student Traffic Appeal court.

Sharon, a speech therapy major, is from Toledo, Ohio. She is known as one of the "girls from Toledo" to her Pi Beta Phi sorority sisters. Sharon is vice president of Pi Phi.

EVERYTHING is "cheery" to Sharon, including visits to the dentist. One of her favorite hobbies is counting the number of days until she goes home.

Sharon's other activities include recording the Senior Council minutes, in her role as senior class secretary. She is also a member of Union Board and secretary of Sigma Alpha Eta honor society.

Sharon was correspondence chairman of the 1959 Activities Carnival and publicity committee secretary of J-Hop.

A recipient of an outstanding junior award, Sharon plans to practice speech therapy in Toledo after graduation in June.

The president of All University Student Government, Dan Riedel was formerly student government public relations director.

Dan was vice president of his sophomore class and Green Helmet, sophomore men's honorary. He is a member of Excelsior, senior men's honorary.

In his home town of Brookville, Ohio, Dan played basketball and was active in other athletic endeavors. At Michigan State he is famed in Stoopid Gubernut football games.

DAN'S OTHER activities on campus include being recording secretary of his fraternity, Beta Theta Pi, and the Board of Student Publications. He received an outstanding junior award.

In his travels for AUSG, Dan attended the National Student association conference in Minnesota and the Big Ten Presidents' assembly.

When it comes to hobbies, Dan's fraternity brothers say he likes "normal things." One of his favorite pastimes is confusing people on whether he pronounces his last name Rie'del or Ree'del.

After graduation Dan plans to attend graduate school and continue his studies in personnel production administration.

Rumor of New Plot In Algeria

ALGIERS (AP) — The government sped 1200 trained riot police from France to Algeria Tuesday as this city was flooded with talk of a new plot against President De Gaulle's Algerian policies.

The police will reinforce a riot squad of 5,000 already stationed in this city where a 1958 rioting uprising brought down the fourth French Republic and boosted De Gaulle to power.

Numerous versions of a projected plot flow across the city. None could be confirmed but they seemed to converge on the same points.

This time the European press there will move only when they are sure of simultaneous and full support from their counterparts in France whose rallying cry is an Algeria forever French.

The rightists realize they were successful in 1958 only because there was help from France. One reason they failed this year was because premises of simultaneous action in France fell through.

Virus, Bad Teeth Blamed for Film Star's Mystery Illness

LONDON (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor's doctors Tuesday blamed a severe virus infection and bad teeth for the burning fever and headache that struck her down in agony Monday.

But her personal physician said she is making encouraging progress.

"There is no doubt now," said Miss Taylor's British physician, Dr. Carl Goldman, "that she has this severe virus infection accompanied by bad teeth."

Goldman disclosed this after examining Miss Taylor at the exclusive London clinic.

name, the star's personal physician who flew in from Los Angeles Monday, and Lord Evans, one of Queen Elizabeth's doctors.

The ailments that have kept Miss Taylor away from the waiting movie cameras for the past few months have up to now baffled her medical advisers.

She went down with a fever shortly after arriving in Britain Sept. 8 to make the epic movie "Cleopatra" for 20th Century Fox.

While the movie men waited, Miss Taylor's illness stubbornly refused to depart.

Rocket's Pictures Of Moon are Now In a USSR Atlas

MOSCOW (AP) — Publication of an atlas of the far side of the moon was announced Tuesday by the Soviet news agency TASS.

The atlas contains 30 pictures based on those taken by the Soviet moon rocket launched a year ago.

About 200 objects were identified on the moon's far side, which had never been viewed from earth. Tass said special deciphering devices were used to increase up to 100 times the contrast of pictures raised back by the satellite.

A. V. Topichev, vice president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, wrote in Izvestia that the moon's far side has none of the vast dark depressions seen on the side toward the earth and called "seas."

The twin-engine Albatross Amphibian, a Navy patrol plane had been taking the Springs back to Subic from a military dinner-dance in Manila when it flew into the side of a mountain.

Wreckage was found 2,700 feet up Mount Mariveles, on the Bataan peninsula overlooking Subic bay.

The plane had message once soon after taking off from Manila on the 30-minute flight. U.S. Navy spokesmen said the plane may have developed engine trouble or hit a downdraft.

Board Seeks Crash Cause

MANILA, Philippines. (AP) — An inquiry board of senior U.S. Navy officers was set up Tuesday to seek the cause of a plane crash that killed Rear Adm. Arthur F. Spring, his wife and four military men.

The death toll reached 10 when a U.S. Marine and three Philippine policemen died in the crash of a helicopter sent out to look for the missing plane.

Rear Adm. Joseph M. Carson, commander of U.S. Naval forces in the Philippines, designed Capt. Eugene Maher as acting commander of Subic naval base—the installation spring commanded.

Navy Launches Nuclear Sub; New Era in Warfare Opens

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—The Navy sent the nuclear-powered submarine George Washington into the Atlantic Ocean Tuesday armed with 16 thermonuclear-tipped missiles. The $110 million sub, carrying the most destructive war force in the history of man, opened a new era in warfare.

Before the powerful 380-foot sub slipped beneath the water, President Eisenhower, vacationing at Augusta, Ga., said:

"The George Washington and her following sister ships possess a power and relative invulnerability which will make suicidal any attempt by an aggressor to attack the free world by surprise."

THE SUBS, he said, "will perform a service to world peace worthy of the great American names they bear."

Capt. James B. Osborn, 42-year-old Stockton, Mo., native and skipper of the vessel, stood on the conning tower, calmly puffing a cigar as he directed the big sub down the Cooper river in calm waters.

About 85 miles from Charleston, the first Polaris missile submarine to be deployed by the Navy began to submerge. Her periscopes, snorkle equipment and antenna cut a wake briefly under the bright November sunshine, then she was down.

Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of Naval operations, told the crew of 100 in a radio message they will have proved the deterrent value of their task only "if the need to fire your missiles never arises."

HE ADDED that if the need to fire should arise, "your ship and the missile it carries will contribute to the salvation of civilization, for you man the most powerful weapons system ever devised."

In another message, Navy Secretary Gates said, "the sailing of the George Washington... opens a new era in naval warfare and greatly enhances the overall capabilities of our armed forces."

The Navy has said the 16 Polaris missiles in the George Washington equal in destructive power all of the bombs dropped during World War II.

The crew received the Navy unit citation and their salty Missouri skipper was awarded a legion of merit in gala ceremonies on the deck before sailing.

VICE ADM. Elton W. Grenfell, commander of submarine forces, Atlantic, noted that the ship will be at sea during the Christmas season, but expressed the hope that because of its mission the annual Christmas theme of peace this year "may really have a true significance."

While the Navy would not disclose the duration of the George Washington's mission, indications were that she is expected to meet her tender, the Protovis, in January or February. A new crew will be put aboard the submarine then.

The sub's submergence capability is limited only by crew endurance. Navy engineering officers expect her to be able to

John Scott Talked of Russian Farmers, Youth and Economy

By KATE CARSTENS
State News Feature Writer

Small, private plots belonging to tenant farmers produce half of the food for the population of the Soviet Union, John Scott, assistant publisher of Time magazine, said in a lecture in the Aud. Monday evening.

In Scott's discussion of collective farming in the USSR, he expressed an opinion that this agricultural method will be continued, although it has proven to be "the Soviet's Achilles heel" for another ten years or more because it is a part of the ideology of the country.

Scott's lecture, "Russia Revisited," was to be originally in Fairchild theater, but had to be changed to the Aud. when a larger than capacity crowd arrived.

When Scott was making his third trip through the Soviet Union this summer, a dozen young men entered the dining car of the train Scott was on.

They demanded to be allowed to purchase candy on the train, although they weren't passengers, because there was a shortage of sugar in that part of the Ukraine. "Here was a shortage of sugar in a part of the Soviet Union, where they grow sugar, in a season when there should have been sugar," said Scott. He blamed the shortage on poor services and commodity distribution in the USSR.

"The Soviet Union's gross national product is only 45 percent of the GNP in the United States," Scott said, "but much less of it goes for services and much more for commodities proportionately. There is virtually no taxi service and a hair cut is a home job."

Scott found the young people of the USSR quite willing to talk to foreigners and even to compare and criticize their institutions.

"The young people of the Soviet Union, who are graduating from colleges now, have a well rounded education and are beginning to acquire an appreciation for beauty and gracefulness," he said.

"They don't care about Communism, but about technology instead. The classical precepts of Marxism and Leninism have become a litany of background music that they learn by rote."

To illustrate the student's feelings about Communism, he quoted a story circulated among them. "Question: What is the difference between Communism and capitalism? Answer: Under capitalism man exploits man and under Communism it's just the opposite."

Scott concluded his address by saying that he would add to the Russian adage, "The Revolution devours its children," the words, "and the grandchildren may devour the Revolution."

Scott answered questions from the audience after concluding "Russia Revisited." He was introduced by Dr. Stanley Isaacs, dean of the Honors college.

New First Lady Reveals Views on Child-Rearing

NEW YORK (AP)—Jacqueline Kennedy, the next first lady, says "It's never too soon to help the child to an appreciation of good literature, music and art."

Mrs. Kennedy, who is the mother of a 2 1/2-year-old daughter, Caroline, and who is expecting another child, said that in an article she wrote for the Dec. 11 issue of the American Weekly.

In rearing a child, she writes, "most important, of course, is not to shut off the inquiring mind by being impatient with its questions. The seemingly endless chain of 'whys' mean something important to the child—his way of learning."

"Making the learning process part-game, part-work," says Mrs. Kennedy, "brings excitement to the child, an eagerness to do well with perhaps lessened tension about failure. The praise that comes from a parent encourages the child to do more."

Mrs. Kennedy also urges introduction of painting to a child, flower arranging or flower picking, the early introduction in the home of foreign languages—all as a stimulus to current enjoyment and future learning.

"Love of books," writes Mrs. Kennedy, "is the best of all."

Concerning her husband, President-elect John F. Kennedy, Jacqueline says: "My husband reads more than anyone I know..."

"A sense of history and ability to learn from the past is of prime importance in any man in a position of leadership today—and his was acquired through reading started as a child."

In concluding her discussion of child care, Mrs. Kennedy says:

"Maybe you can just throw away the theories when thinking about raising a child. The personality of the child seems to guide you. Maybe if you start with love, security and discipline and just work from there... the 'raising' would be more rewarding all around—and infinitely more fun."

Gina and Plot Fall Flat In Current Film Feature

By DAVE CUENY

A movie which is imported from Europe, billed as sensual and one that stars Gina Lollobrigida is bound to draw quite a crowd of sensation-seekers.

For these people, "Where the Hot Wind Blows" will be, for the most part, disappointing. An off-center combination of the elements of Cinderella with an unwilling Prince Charming, a bad man's demise, teenage gang, and musical comedy, the picture, nevertheless, presents these in a fairly appealing manner.

As usual, Gina is her busy, feeble-minded self and, amazingly enough, utilizes both to give the role of Marietta a somewhat decent work-out.

Her physical attributes are displayed in such apropos places as a death-bed scene, a sheep-washing incident and a brutal beating.

A particularly interesting feature of the movie was the game of "The Law." Usually played by the villagers in the local bar, the game was a test of a man's ability to take abuse and mental punishment. The "boss" was chosen from among the group and he, in turn, chose a deputy. Between them they would try to make the other players lose their collective tempers. This game was carried out into the village and made an essential part of the village society, with the losers going to jail or being socially ostracized.

Phouma Told Force Is Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department, in a strongly worded statement, Tuesday urged Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma of Laos not to use force to regain control of the royal capital.

The royal capital city of Luang Prabang was seized last Friday in bloodless takeover by royal Laotian troops who pledged their loyalty to Phouma's right-wing foe, Gen. Thounthou Nosavan.

Press Officer Lincoln White, in commenting on Phouma's announcement that military force will be used to regain control over the royal capital said:

"It is problematical whether Souvanna Phouma will resort to the use of force in this instance because one of the first tenets he laid down was that he wanted to put an end to the fighting of Laos with Laos."

"It also seems to us that such an open use of force would further exacerbate the situation, it would lead to further divisions and might facilitate additional communist gains."

U.S. officials have felt that since an Aug. 9 coup overthrew the pro-western government of Laos, the new neutralist regime has been subject to strong pressure from the communist-directed Pathet Lao.

State's Resources Topic of Discussion

Robert Kelly, research geologist from the Michigan state survey, will speak on the resources of Michigan at 8 tonight in 407 Natural Science.

The talk will follow the regular meeting of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, the earth science honorary, which starts at 7:15 p.m.

Sigma Gamma Epsilon is composed primarily of geologists, geophysicists and related physical science students of above average ability, according to vice president Jim Burns, Memphis grad. student.

Jim Wallington's Sneezing

The University of Detroit, cruising on a seven-game win streak, invades East Lansing Saturday for the first meeting between Michigan State and the Titans in 26 years.

The Titans will see a familiar name in the line-up that will make them doubly wary of the powerful Spartans.

That name is Art Brandstatter.

The last time the two schools met there was another Art Brandstatter in the MSU line-up who upset the Titans 1-6 with his extra point kick.

The Brandstatter that played in 1934 is the father of the Brandstatter who now plays for the Spartans.

Art, Jr., has inherited his father's placekicking talents and is the regular kicker (extra points, field goals and kicks) on the 1960 team.

His kicking has made him the top MSU scorer with 30 points, coming on three field goals, 15 of 16 extra point kicks and one touchdown on a pass play.

Art, Jr.'s three perfect place kicks gave Michigan State its three-point win, 21-18, over Northwestern last Saturday.

Art, Sr., who heads MSU's Police Administration and Public Safety departments, was a fullback with the 1931-35 Spartan teams. One of the team's top players, he led his team to a 26-13 win over Texas A&M to become a 1934 All-American candidate.

Art, Jr., has not followed his father's footsteps to fullback, though. Instead he is an offensive first string end where he has contributed to the Spartan attack with three pass receptions and powerful blocking.

His golden toe has given him six field goals in his first two seasons as a Spartan and 27 extra point kicks out of 32 attempts.

Playing for East Lansing High School, Art Jr. gathered such credentials as a two-year all-state high school gridler and All-American honors his senior year. He was the outstanding member of the school's basketball team that won the state class B title.

Since the last meeting between the two schools, when they were both also-rans, Michigan State has emerged as a national power. Detroit is still striving to climb out of the so-so ranks into the national limelight.

Saturday's game is the first step up for the Titans who have scheduled games with Army and Navy for next season.

They'll be rolling into Spartan Stadium with seven straight wins behind them, losing only to Iowa State.

But playing such teams as Dayton, Quantico Marines, Xavier and Villanova takes some luster off the U of D record.

But Detroit will be coming into the game with everything to gain (national prominence) and nothing to lose. While the Spartans might consider the contest in "ho-hum" fashion and as a game in which to give the reserves some practice.

ART BRANDSTATTER, SR., (left), who kicked the winning extra point in MSU's 7-6 win over Detroit in 1934, adjusts the ball with son, Art, Jr., MSU's leading scorer via his fine kicking toe. Incidentally, both Brandstatters kick leftfooted. Art, Jr., has kicked 15 of 16 extra point tries this fall, plus three field goals. He also has scored one TD.

Bellino Is Not Only Navy Star

NEW YORK (AP)—You've heard of Joe Bellino, Navy's hand-running halfback who has shattered all academy scoring records and is in line for all-anything honors this year. Every football fan has. But have you heard of John Hewitt?

Wayne Hardin, the Navy coach, not only has heard about Hewitt, but he wants everyone else to hear about him.

"He's the best 178-pound guard I've ever seen," Hardin said today as he paid his annual pre-Army game visit to the New York football writers. "He's in on 90 per cent of our tackles and he's the one who springs Bellino for most of his runs."

THE LAST recommendation enough in itself, Bellino has been "sprung" for runs up to 90 yards this season; he has scored 104 points and he's been chosen as the outstanding back in virtually every game Navy has played this season.

Hardin, who tabs Bellino as "an all America in anybody's book," has this to say about the blocker:

"Bellino needs to get a start as any back does. We've built our defense—and everything else—around him, but all we do is try to get him to the line of scrimmage and turn him loose. Hewitt is the one who gives him the start. He made the key block on that 90-yard run against Virginia last Saturday and on a good many of his long runs. He's also tremendous on defense. He just likes to hit people."

ON DEFENSE, Hewitt shares the liner backing duties with center Frank Visted and one of the other usually gets the press box vote as outstanding lineman in the game. Despite his lack of weight, he earned a starting position in the middle of his sophomore season and hasn't been out since.

MSU Soccer Team Not in Playoffs

By CURT RUSSELL
State News Sports Writer

The Michigan State soccer team will not be entered in the NCAA playoffs this December. They failed to receive the invitation necessary to enter into the competition.

It was known last week that St. Louis had received the berth made available for the Mid West section. They were undefeated in conference play.

STATE had a conference record of five wins and no losses; but, they were beaten when they traveled to St. Louis for a game outside of their division.

It was known before the Spartan-St. Louis game that the winner would probably receive the Mid West berth.

State, however, was left in contention when doubt occurred as to whether the West Coast Conference would send a team to represent its berth.

Due to the heavy expense involved in traveling from the west coast, it was doubtful that the winning school would agree to bear the cost.

TWO SCHOOLS are left in contention for the West Coast berth, Stanford and California. These teams will meet this week end to determine the winner of the berth. Both schools have agreed to pay the way of their teams should they win.

shut out. It was the third time they had been defeated.

Two of the three losses that State has suffered in five years of competition, have been at the hands of the St. Louis team.

Explaining the Spartan's loss to St. Louis, Gene Kenny, coach said that he thought his team wasn't up to its usual game and that St. Louis was at their sharpest.

"Where St. Louis was at their high ebb, we were at our lowest ebb," he said.

It is hoped by Kenny that next year an extra team from the Mid West will be selected. It appears that the competition, next year, will again be between St. Louis and Michigan State.

THE GAME was played five weeks ago. It was the Spartans third game of the season. They were defeated 4-0.

The game marked the first time in Michigan State's history that the team had ever been

Hockey Team Beats Western

By LENORE KROTMAN
State News Sports Writer

The Michigan State Hockey team won their first scrimmage of the season here Thursday when they handed the Western Michigan team a harsh beating.

Showing fine form the Spartans sent Western Michigan home to do some much needed practice.

ANDY LaCOSTE opened the scoring in the first few minutes of play with a slap shot that the Western Michigan goal tender had no chance on. Tom Mustonen assisted.

The other Spartan snipers were Art Thomas, Real Turcot, Marty Quirk, Gus Hendrickson, Chad Fournel, Dickie Johnson, Bob Doyle, and Al Checco.

THE STRENGTH of the Spartans gave Jim Wherly in the last little chance to prove his sparkling play potential.

Real Turcot, Tom Boucher, and Chad Fournel, composing the "French Line," expected by Coach Bessone to be tops in scoring ability, proved its potential strength in the early minutes of play.

Bob Doyle, a top prospect for center on the "French Line," displayed some fine offensive play.

Army Rifle Team Wins Match Against U of D

The MSU Army ROTC rifle team fired and won its first league match against the University of Detroit ROTC rifle team last Saturday at the indoor range of Demonstration hall at MSU. Final results showed MSU ahead with 1409 of possible 1500 points with Detroit scoring 1329 points.

The team coaches, Capt. Joe Y. Pope and M/Sgt. L. T. Stinnett, expressed great satisfaction with the results of the first match of the season.

Participants on the MSU team were Arkel Cook, of Grand Rapids, scoring a 286; Alfred Stockl, Detroit, 284; Fletcher Monningh, Lansing, 280; Roger Northrup, Wayne, Penn., 280; and Leo E. Polowy, of Buffalo, N.Y. with a 279 score.

The next matches are scheduled for Jan. 21, against Eastern Michigan University. The meet will be held at MSU, according to coach Pope.

However, Aussie Bob Hewitt, with a booming first service, eliminated Earl (Dutch) Buchholz of St. Louis 6-4, 6-3, 5-7, 5-7, 6-4.

In another quarter-final, 19-year-old Chuck McKinley of St. Louis was trounced 6-3, 6-3, 6-3 by Wimbledon champion Neale Fraser of Australia.

'Skiing in the Blood,' Says MSU Researcher

Skiing gets into people's blood and stays there, according to a tourist and resort researcher at Michigan State University.

Thomas Richards, a research assistant in hotel management, surveyed 300 skiers last winter at a resort near Harbor Springs. Robert McIntosh, MSU extension tourist and resort specialist, and Robert Furlong, director of the Michigan Tourist Council, helped design the study.

After analyzing the questionnaires, Richards painted this portrait of the average skier at Harbor Springs. Most features probably would apply throughout the state.

"He or she skis 17 to 18 days a year—mostly on weekends. Only about one fourth of the group skied during the week."

"HE SAVES money in summer. Estimated cost per trip was $35.50 per single person, $58.40 per married couple.

"He is willing to travel. Average round trip to Harbor Springs was 580 miles—quite a weekend jaunt. About 54 per cent of the skiers came from Detroit and Chicago areas, another 12 per cent from around Cincinnati, Dayton and Toledo.

"He usually continues skiing after marriage. About one third of those we interviewed were married. Over one fourth had children.

"He puts his youngsters on skis as soon as possible. More than half of the parents in the study said their children skied. Almost all said their youngsters would if facilities were available for very young children."

"HE COMES from any walk of life. Professional people made up about one third of the sample. White collar workers accounted for another one third. Teachers, housewives and salesmen each totaled over 5 per cent.

Fishing Licenses For Ice Fishing

The conservation department says fishermen who didn't get a license this summer, but plan to get into the swing for the winter ice-fishing season, can do it on their 1961 license.

The department mails 1,500,000 licenses to 4,200 dealers about mid-November, the licenses will be valid from Dec. 1, 1960 to Dec. 31, 1961.

cent were between 21 and 35. Richards found that about 80 per cent of the skiers had taken instruction at one time or another. Most were well pleased with certified instructors and available ski schools.

Many skiers pleaded for more timely, accurate snow reports.

Abbot Hall Coeds Win IM Swim; Bonnie Blackport Takes Honors

The Abbot hall coeds accumulated 54 points to win the final meet of the 1960 Women's Swimming Internurals, held Monday night. West Mayo trailed by 11 points with 43 to hold down second place. Third place went to Kappa Kappa Gamma with 33 points and Gilchrist took fourth with 31 points.

INDIVIDUAL honors went to Bonnie Blackport and Chris Kluter with 16 points each.

Martha Kurt had 11½ and Gretchen Lechner had 12.

Kluter broke two records. One in the 50 yard freestyle with a time of 26.3 and in the 25 yard backstroke, with her 13.1 time.

MARILY AITKEN shaved three tenths of a second off the old 25 yard butterfly mark with her 14.3 time and Abbot cut 3.7 tenths of a second from the 100 yard free style relay mark with 57.0.

West Mayo set a record in the medley relay with a 44.2 mark as compared with the old 44.3 mark.

The judges for the seasons meets were Miss Norma Stafford head judge, Miss Dorothy Kerth, Miss Jean McIntyre, Miss Virginia Schuenemann, Miss Jane Rider, Mrs. Anna Ganung and Miss Pauline Ellis.

Miss Helen Hughes and Bonnie Blackport were the chairmen of the intramural this year.

It's a wild time on the way down. Vic Plank, Boyne City freshman, Henry Tinkham, Parma sophomore, Keith Amstutz, Midland sophomore, and Jim King, Norfolk, Va., senior, share a few laughs.

The ride is long and you have to pass the time some way. Dale Thomas (1) Lansing junior, relaxes as Doug Smith, Troy freshman, Hal Polk, Denver, Colo., sophomore, and Harry Sedan, Northville junior, play a quiet game of cards.

There's no business like show business. The Marching band found this more than true this year as they traveled throughout the Midwest presenting their Patterns in Motion to football audiences.

They finished their season Saturday with a performance at the Northwestern game in Evanston, Ill. The 140-man squad has given star performance at Notre Dame in South Bend and Indiana in Bloomington this year.

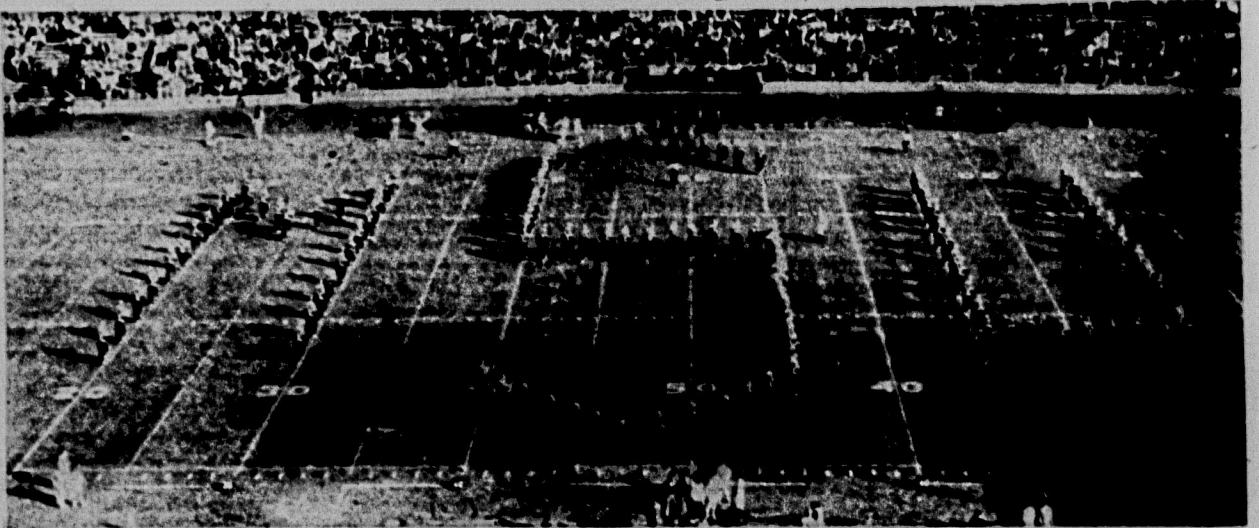

The band gave their Patterns in Motion, the constant moving of members, along with the more common fare of toe-tapping tunes.

In the true show business tradition, the band rode a special train. Oldsmobile Division of General Motors furnished four day coaches, two dining cars, a baggage car for instruments and two engines.

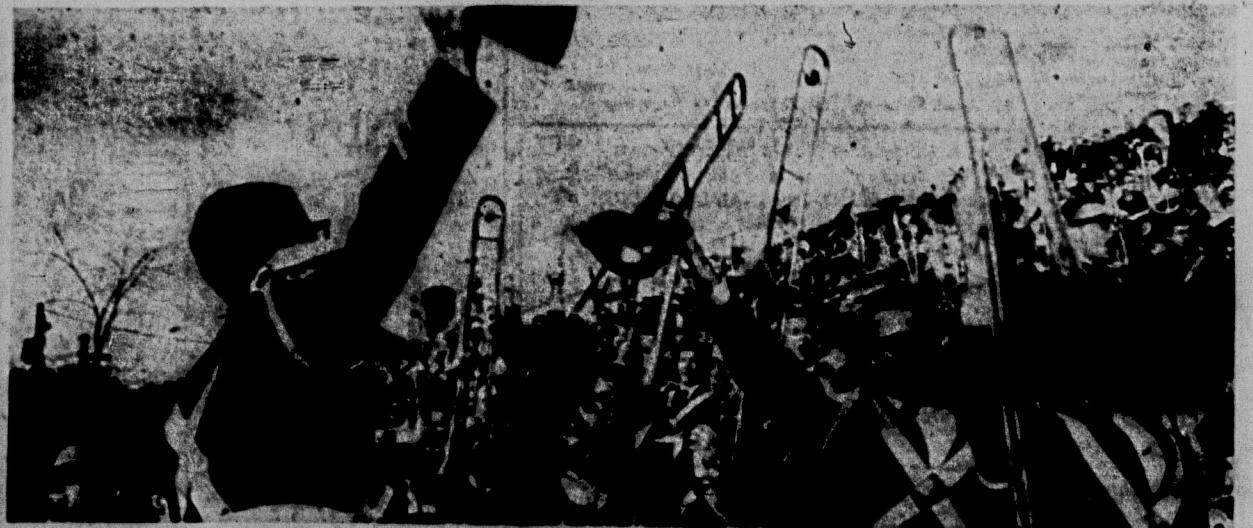

Professor Leonard Falcone, director, and Assistant Director William Moffitt traveled with the band.

Professor Leonard Falcone, director of bands.

The band forms the traditional MSU on the Northwestern field during their pre-game performance.

Band members not only stay in the day's show, they applaud their fellow performers. These men cheer an exciting football play.

Several band members talk shop with a Northwestern band member at the reception after the game.

The day is long and tired musicians catch some zzz's on the way back to East Lansing.
