UN Commission May Go to the Congo

To Talk Peace Among Rival Political Leaders

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The head of the U. N. conciliation commission for the Congo said Sunday nothing would keep the commission from going there to seek peace among rival political leaders.

Jaja Wachuku of Nigeria, newly elected chairman of the 15-nation Asian-African Commission, thus defied a Congolese official's threat that 3,000 troops would bar its members from Leopoldville airport, where they are scheduled to arrive this week.

Milton Adams Speaks

Water-Limited Resource

Water is a limited resource which must be used carefully, according to Milton P. Adams, executive secretary of the Michigan Water Resources Commission.

Speaking before a Thursday dinner meeting of the Community Services Council in Lansing, Adams said that at the present rate of growth, both industrial and in population, the U.S. water resources will reach their limit between 1980 and 2000.

Lansing is the largest city in Michigan using an underground water source and the day may come when Lansing will have to look for a supplementary water source, Adams said.

The LOCAL WATER supply may have to be supplemented by the Grand River, which is now used for sewage disposal, Adams said. Following the lead of other Michigan cities, Lansing may have to turn to the Great Lakes as a supplement to its well water, he said.

Industries also add to the low dilution problem by putting waste and water back into the water which is warmer than the water source, Adams pointed out. The warmer materials also lessen the oxygen content of the water, Adams said.

Plans for the 1961 Water Carnival are under way, according to Arnie Roberts, general chairman. Roberts announced the appointment of carnival chairmen and sub-chairmen Friday.

Production chairman is Gerry Blanke. Bonnie Meade will act as secretary. Sub-chairmen are: Paul Burbage, police and securities; Bob Dall, rules and regulations; and Ted DeGroot, staging.

Co-chairmen of theme and continuity are Jody Howard and Gary Blowers. Connie Zekit is in charge of programs and publicity will be directed by Jack Pyle.

Wachuku, who is Nigerian minister of economic development, said the commission would hold one more meeting here tomorrow before gathering in Leopoldville next Saturday. The members will fly down individually, most of them Tuesday and Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the Assembly today (10:30 a.m. EST) will continue debate on a recommendation of its credentials committee that it seat a Congolese delegation headed by President Kasavubu and backed by the United States and allies.

It is expected to seat the delegation, today or Tuesday, over the opposition of the Soviet bloc and part of the Asian-African group.

Guinea and Mali, which favor seating a rival delegation sent by deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba, have said privately they will quit the commission if Kasavubu is seated.

They and others argue that if the assembly recognizes Kasavubu, their group then will become a commission to bring Lumumba and others to Kasavubu, rather than to get them all together on an equal basis.

Some moderates on the commission have suggested that, unless every member goes to the Congo, none should go. Otherwise, they say, its report will be open to question.

Others contend the commission should tackle its job even though some members are absent. They argue that so long as it has a quorum, its report cannot be challenged.

MSU's Canadian students will elect officers at an organization meeting for the new Canadian Students association tonight at 7 in 32 Union.

The association, which will unite the largest single national group among MSU's foreign students, has a potential membership of 125 Canadians, and will be open to interested students from the United States and other countries.

At the group's first meeting last Wednesday, various program possibilities were discussed. These included a reception for the Canadian Players when they present "Julius Caesar" on Jan. 9, participation in the MSU Canada seminars on Canadian folk music and U.S.-Canadian defense integration later winter term.

Spring term, the group would participate in the International Festival and entertain the National Ballet of Canada when it performs here on May 9.

Dr. Alvin C. Glueck, assistant professor of history and director of the Canada seminar program, will act as advisor for the Canadian Students association.

MSU faculty members of Canadian origin will be invited to address the organization on questions of interest in U.S.-Canadian relations.

Ray Iwanick, Manitoba freshman, June McDonald, Ontario sophomore, assumed responsibility for contacting other MSU Canadians at last Wednesday's meeting.

Among subjects discussed at the first meeting was the lack of information about their northern neighbors which Americans seem to have. Although Canadians are generally mistaken for Americans here and are more readily accepted than some foreign students, they questioned general ignorance of Canada's form of government, its geography, and its varied cultural life.

Canadian men students suggested forming a curling team, to show MSU this vigorous sport which rivals hockey in popularity north of the border.

The preliminary arrangements for formation of the Canadian group have been a service project of the pledges of Delta Phi Epsilon, national professional fraternity for the Foreign Service and international trade.

Cumberland, Shapiro Debate Latin America

"The United States is waging a Cold War against Latin America," Dr. Samuel Shapiro, instructor at MSU-O and writer for the New Republic magazine announced during a discussion with Dr. Charles Cumberland, professor of history, before the Contemporary Issues Forum on Thursday.

Shapiro said he felt that the present U.S. economic policies toward Latin America are arousing widespread hatred of the United States. He said most people who visit Latin America do not see the extreme poverty that exists there.

He said that there is poverty in the United States, but the poor here can get relief and usually obtain enough food. While in Cuba when sugar is not harvested many people starve.

Cumberland and Shapiro agreed that the reforms Castro had instituted in Cuba were long overdue, but Cumberland felt that free thought is discouraged by Castro's police-state methods.

FREE DISCUSSION is not prohibited for the farmers co-operatives spend many hours discussing the administration of the co-op and electing officers, according to Shapiro.

The United States, not Castro, should be blamed for arousing the hatred of the Cuban people against the U.S. Shapiro said.

The first step in patching up the Cuban relations must be taken by the U.S., Shapiro said. The only one who benefits by the present situation is Krushchev, he said. The United States should at least have an ambassador in Havana to report what is happening there, Shapiro proposed.

In the present world situation a small group can effectively defy a large one, according to

Carnival Chairmen Announced

Plans for the 1961 Water Carnival are under way, according to Arnie Roberts, general chairman. Roberts announced the appointment of carnival chairmen and sub-chairmen Friday.

Production chairman is Gerry Blanke. Bonnie Meade will act as secretary. Sub-chairmen are: Paul Burbage, police and securities; Bob Dall, rules and regulations; and Ted DeGroot, staging.

Co-chairmen of theme and continuity are Jody Howard and Gary Blowers. Connie Zekit is in charge of programs and publicity will be directed by Jack Pyle.

Lloyd Wexler is chairman of the midway and concessions. This year's midway will include games of skill and entertainment.

Public relations will be supervised by Jerry Lundy. Sub-chairmen are: Larry Pontius, radio and television; Linda Baumer, newspapers; Myke Roberts, magazines; and Patti Coleman, speech.

LOVELY CHUCK PFAFF, Detroit junior of Delta Tau Delta, is crowned Queen of the Powder Puff Bowl by Arlyn Greifendorf, Chicago freshman and Delta Gamma. Watching is Joe Day, Saginaw junior, Queen Charlie's escort. The Deltas have won the event six out of the last seven years.

In Powder Puff Bowl Gamma Phi's Over DG's, 13-12

Gamma Phi Beta defeated Delta Gamma sorority in the annual Powder Puff Bowl touch football game played Saturday on Old College field.

A large crowd of spectators, comprised primarily of Greeks and parents who were on hand for the annual Dad's Day festivities, saw Gamma Phi overcome a 12-0 half-time deficit to squeeze out a scant 13-12 victory over their rivals.

Gamma Phi's winning margin came in the final minutes of play on an extra point following the last touchdown of a game which produced only one first down, also by the winning team.

THE WIN EXTENDED Gamma Phi Beta's bowl record to three consecutive wins. Sharon Smith, Chicago senior and Lynn Carter, Grand Rapids Jr. scored the touchdowns for Gamma Phi. Liz Mueller, exchange student from Switzerland and Glenda Simpkins Milan senior scored for Delta Gamma.

The winning point came on a pass from Sally Phinney, Michigan senior to Sharon Smith. DELTA TAU DELTA hosted an impromptu pep rally early Friday evening in their front yard. The Deltas had invited the Gamma Phi Betas over for a TGIF party when the Delta Gammass rolled up in a caravan of convertibles across the street from the Delt house and began their cheer.

Meredith Sketches 'Special'

An evening of intimate conversation and drama awaits the students and public of East Lansing when Burgess Meredith performs at the auditorium tonight.

Meredith, born and raised in the Midwest, is an "open door" for a tremendous opportunity for the students of MSU to see a great actor performing in great contemporary plays, Dr. Wilson Paul, director of the Lecture-Concert series, said.

Although a "special" in the Lecture-Concert series billing, this performance is within the means of all because of a $1 deduction on all reserved seats for students.

Beginning Sept., 1961 MSU-O to Use Three Semester System

Michigan State University-Oakland will operate on a trimester system beginning Sept. 1, 1961. Each trimester will include 75 teaching days, or approximately 15 teaching weeks.

The plan, approved by the Board of Trustees Friday, will enable students to earn bachelor's degrees in less than three years. The full program, covering 2 years and eight months, will include eight trimesters.

Other advantages of the plan, Varner pointed out, are: greater utilization of library facilities; increase in faculty income, through greater utilization of faculty; and gain of a full year for students in beginning professional careers or moving into graduate studies.

The first trimester will begin Tuesday after Labor day and end Dec. 20; the second will run from Jan. 2 until April 15; and the third from April 22 until Aug. 5. The month from Aug. 5 until Labor day will be vacation for faculty and students.

Faculty will be appointed for the third trimester on the basis of teaching needs and will be paid on the same basis as faculty in East Lansing. The faculty on campus here receive 3 per cent extra for teaching during summer school.

Varner said students now enrolled at MSU-O will not be expected to enroll during the 1962 spring term, but will attend only fall and winter. They will graduate in four years. Students who enter next fall, will however, be expected to attend year-round.

Professors To Discuss Aid Programs

Dr. Walter Adams, professor of education and Dr. Ralph Schuchler, associate dean of International Programs, will discuss the merits and defects of aid programs in underdeveloped nations before the International Relations Club tonight at 7:30 in 32 Union. The debate will be moderated by Dr. Wesley Fisher, professor of political science.

Dr. Adams is co-author of the recently published "Is the World Our Campus?" Dr. Schuchler was formerly chief of MSU's Vietnam Project at Saigon.

Welfare State Charge False

Michigan's ultra-conservative legislators have made much political hay in the past year by alleging that the state's executive branch is trying to construct a welfare state.

They have also said the state's "overspending" has led to an oppressive tax load that is driving business out of the state and creating fiscal chaos.

A STUDY conducted in 1959 by William Haber of the University of Michigan, sponsored by the Upton Institute for Employment Research, has turned up information that not only belies some of those fiscal falsehoods, but also points up the need, we think, for overall tax revision.

If, to determine the degree of the asserted tax overburdening, we measure the level of state-local tax receipts as a percentage of personal income received in the state—one of the more meaningful measures of gross tax "burden"—we find that Michigan ranked thirty-first among the states according to 1957 tax figures.

However, Michigan ranked twelfth among the states in per capita tax receipts. From where does the difference come? From business, obviously. This, however, should not necessarily be considered bad.

There is good reason to believe that taxes paid by business firms in Michigan are somewhat higher than they are in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, states in which there is no major business tax comparable to Michigan's business activities tax or annual corporate privilege fee. Michigan's taxes are higher than the income taxes of New York or Wisconsin, or the income and franchise taxes of Pennsylvania.

TAXES MUST be paid either by individuals or business and industry. The question becomes one, then, of whether we in Michigan are saddling industry with an undue proportion of the tax load and thus driving business out of the state.

The weight of evidence suggests that in most cases taxes are not the major consideration in the location of industry, but that they are an important consideration, all other things being equal.

Thus, today, as we look at Michigan, we find taxes on business substantially higher than they are, for example, in Ohio. However, when we consider our state as a place to live, we may note with pride the outstanding attention we have given to our needs for higher education, local schools, and health and hospitals. The question of whether this thinking is correct or not depends upon one's viewpoint.

We must also remember that sooner or later the population in our neighboring states is going to demand services on a par with those in Michigan. The longer their consideration is delayed, the more their will cost and the greater will be their tax impact.

IN MICHIGAN, in the future, if we want a fair distribution of the tax load, then it would seem that the only answer to the need for increased state revenue would be a graduated income tax, thus insuring taxing of those with the greatest ability to pay.

Some will say, though, that taxes in this state are too high already. Where, then, shall we reduce expenditures? The ultra-conservatives will immediately point to public welfare expenditures, and it is a mistake.

Welfare expenditures in Michigan account for only six per cent of the budget. Per capita expenditures for welfare rank the state thirty-fourth in the nation. This hardly places Michigan in the welfare state category. In fact, it may point out the need for greater rather than less expenditures in this area.

Letters to the Editor

Hits Anti-NAACP Letter

To the Editor:

I have noticed a strong correlation between the maligned and bigoted letters printed in this section and the letters with the signature, "Name Withheld." I wonder why the paper placed enough stock in these letters to merit their printing when even the author lacks the courage of his convictions.

In regard to the latest of these unclaimed letters I would like to voice my complete and utter disgust. The letter dealt with the NAACP's claim that approximately three million negro citizens were not permitted to vote. The mystery writer goes on to claim that the main reason for negroes not being able to vote in the South is that they are illiterate. He concludes that the NAACP should spend more time in educating negroes than in protesting prejudice.

In response to the ludicrous claims let me say that it is the responsibility of state and national government to provide education for its citizens. It is not the job of the NAACP to educate negroes just as it is not the job of the United Mine Workers to provide education for miners.

If it is only a question of education, which I seriously doubt, then why is it that the figure of negro citizens unable to vote is so astronomical? Could this be a result of discrimination in education? If so, then the NAACP is perfectly justified in uncovering this shameful state of affairs. This attempt to remove blame from the South for the huge number of American citizens unable to vote is an attempt to place the blame on the negro population as a whole. As such it is as disgraceful as it is fraudulent.

Letters of this nature should not be printed as reading matter for a large public. I am sure there are many more worthwhile and provocative items that could fill the space wasted on this poorly disguised piece of bigotry.

Michael Alexander

Corrects Pember

To the Editor:

I should like to correct certain misapprehensions of your columnist, Mr. Pember (November 14) concerning the British electoral system. Contrary to Mr. Pember's statements it is not necessary for the winning party to achieve a majority of the popular vote, and in fact, of the 50

Governments formed since 1945, only one—the Conservative Government of 1951—has obtained a majority of the total vote over the combined opposition.

In 1951 the Conservatives, who won the election, actually polled fewer votes than the Labour Party, but the former were able to form a perfectly viable Government as they had an overall majority of Members elected to Parliament.

Praises Prorot

To the Editor:

With regard to the issue of a Communist speaker on Campus let me remind our readers that Thomas Jefferson said in this country every man should have the chance to speak, no matter what his belief the majority is sure to make their decision based on reason. Mind you this comes from the same man who wrote the Declaration of Independence.

As far as Mr. Murphy's letter goes my only comment is this: Just how many Americans will Communism win over if they were to hear Communist speakers? It seems, sir, that you do not put much faith in we Americans' ability to sift truth from lies. Mr. Miller and the President of Wayne are to be commended.

Facts on Traffic

To the Editor:

I would like to bring some facts concerning the traffic-pedestrian problem on Harrison Road in front of the Brody Group, before the students and faculty of MSU.

At the rather Hall General Council meeting on October 20, 1966, Mr. Dick Deibel, Brody's AUSE representative, made a report concerning this problem. He reported that AUSE passed a resolution suggesting a caution light or some other safety device be installed on Harrison Road at the Brody crosswalk. Mr. Deibel further reported that until such an installation was made, AUSE was suggesting that a police officer be stationed at this point during the rush hours (8:00 a.m., 12:00 noon, 5:00 p.m.). I was informed November 14, 1966, that AUSE had made an agreement with the Campus Police Department that an officer would be stationed at the Brody crosswalk during the above-mentioned hours.

During the past few weeks I have noted several times that the officer was not present during the 8:00 a.m. rush. Perhaps this was due to other duties which were more important.

This morning, November 14, 1966, I found a disturbing situation existing. There was no officer at the Brody cross walk at 8:00 a.m. However, there were two officers, one in uniform and one in plain clothes, giving out tickets to bicycle riders who had ridden their bicycles across the footbridge at Kellogg Center.

Perhaps our Department of Public Safety feels it is more important to give out bike tickets than to prevent automobile-pedestrian accidents. I certainly hope not.

It is my opinion and the opinion of many Brody residents that the Campus Police should do "first things first." This opinion further states that the police should make certain that the residents of the Brody Group can safely and conveniently cross Harrison Road.

Support S'News

To the Editor:

The State News editorial on the population explosion in higher education pinpoints the issue that should be a major concern of administrators, faculty, and students. One cannot dismiss lightly the staggering problems faced by a society rightly committed to the idea of accommodating all those who qualify for advanced education.

But the understated voice of a strong "amen" to the assertion that the line must be held in regard to student-teacher ratios. Otherwise we will have failed in the attempt to provide Michigan State's students with a quality education.

YOU CAN WIN A TRIP TO BERMUDA!

REMINGTON TYPEWRITER CONDUCTING CAMPUS CONTEST

Michigan State University students are being given the opportunity to win an expense-paid trip to Bermuda during College Week (Easter vacation) via Eagle Airways plus $100.00 in spree-money by entering Remington Rand's Campus Contest.

This contest is part of a program being conducted at ten colleges in different parts of the country to introduce college students to Remington's new "Suburbanite" Portable Typewriter, the first and only portable typewriter designed specifically for college students. Jim Schneider, 41 class, Marketing course, has been appointed Campus Representative for Remington Rand Portable Typewriter at Michigan State University by Student Marketing Institute Inc., New York and will be in charge of conducting the program and contest here under the supervision of Mr. Bonds, Faculty Supervisor.

As Campus Representative, Jim Schneider will demonstrate the "Suburbanite" to student and faculty organizations and will supervise the contest headquarters located at Campus Book Store where the "Suburbanite" is on display and sale.

In addition to the Bermuda jaunt, four monthly prizes are being presented at each participating school. Just watch a "Suburbanite" demonstration, fill out and deposit your entry blank at any one of the above mentioned contest spots and you, too, may win a $25.00 gift certificate and possibly the Bermuda vacation.

It Seems to Me

By DON R. PEMBER

Most people are well acquainted with the story of Anne Frank, the little Dutch girl who hid for more than a year from the Nazis in an attic with her family.

And everyone who knows the story will remember what Anne wrote in her diary while the Gestapo broke down the door to their secret refuge.

"I still think people are good." Anne's people even included the Germans who later caused her death in a concentration camp.

As the holiday season, the traditional time for goodwill, approaches we Americans might take a lesson from little Anne. We might do well to re-evaluate our ideas about people, people in other lands, people in this land and even ourselves.

Too many Americans have fallen into the vat of "labels," there is too much hate in America, and too many times a difference in ideas leads to a deep-rooted dislike.

Why must we so often label a person who is slightly radical, or has ever once had radical tendencies, a communist?

Or why must a union organizer, who is working for what he thinks is right, be called a labor agitator?

"She's a socialist," or "he's a bigot." This is the prevalent today. And after we label people—we hate them.

We hate the communists. We hate Castro and the Cubans. We hate rich people. We hate Democrats or Republicans.

Certainly, much of the time hate isn't what a person really feels or means. But I am afraid many times it is.

We weren't put on this earth to hate. We weren't put on this earth to judge our fellow man. We can disagree, we can protest, we can even tell another person to go jump in the lake—but let's not push him off.

Americans have become a nation of egoists. We think we are the only ones who are ever right about anything.

But we aren't always right, individually or as a nation. No one ever is.

Why are we becoming like this? Do we have a feeling of insecurity? Is it a case of ignorance on our part? This is a difficult question, and any person would be quite presumptuous to try and answer it without real study.

But might I suggest this: a general inventory of our thinking, a critical analysis of ourselves.

The Christmas season is almost upon us and the spirit of brotherhood will be running high throughout the world. This is an opportune time for us Americans to get in the act.

Let's stop calling names and condemning people we often don't understand. It is much easier to hate than love our fellow man, and it is hard sometimes to accept ideas contrary to our own.

But if a little Dutch girl, in the face of death can say people are basically good, we can at least try to find out if she was right.

U.S., Europe Should Unite-Scott

By JUDITH PEASLEE
State News Feature Writer

"Americans should encourage a United States of Europe," according to John Scott, special assistant to the publisher of Time magazine.

Scott, an authority on world affairs, spoke on "The United States of Europe" Tuesday evening at Fairchild theater. The speech was in connection with the 1960-61 Lecture Concert series.

Scott pointed out that all through history countries have tried to unite Europe. Rome started in the second century. After the fall of Rome, the Arabs, France, Spain, England, and later Germany in the twentieth century, tried to unite Europe. All these countries tried to unite Europe by force. After conquering the country they set up a dictatorship. All failed.

Scott said Western Europe is now economically booming. West Germany has more job vacancies than it can fill. Workers are being imported from Spain and northern Italy to work in German factories.

On his last trip to Europe Scott observed that all currencies of the various countries are about equal in value.

According to Scott the population at large has an increased standard of living as compared with the war time standard. There are several things which point the way to a united Europe, said Scott.

They are, The Treaty of Rome, which provided for the Common Market. The European free trade area, the inter-country traveling of the population of the various European countries, and the lack of restrictions on the use of passports between European countries. All these, said Scott, are making for a united Europe.

Scott pointed out that a united Europe will be good for America.

Scott said our goal should be world government under world law. He said it has to come if we are to survive.

European Trip Payments Due

People interested in taking the Union Board chartered airplane trip to Europe and back may pay the first installment of the $275 initial fee, announced by Bob Keavy, UB president.

The first installment, $125, may be paid Nov. 28 and 29 in the Union Board office, second floor, Union from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Acceptance will be first come, first served, according to Keavy, regardless if they signed up for the "interest query" or not.

PEOPLE ELIGIBLE for the trip must be connected with the university as student, faculty member or staff at least six months prior to the trip. This will include graduating seniors. Also eligible will be spouses, dependent children and parents of university-connected persons.

The chartered British Overseas Airline Corp. jet-propelled plane will leave New York City June 11 and will return from Paris to New York City Aug. 27.

Identification connecting the person to the university must be presented upon first payment, said Keavy.

THERE WILL be a seating capacity of 86 passengers. Children under the age of 2 will be able to go without charge.

The trip will be first class, at about half the price of a regular flight, with first class meals.

Luggage limitations will be set at 40 pounds until the total weight of the persons going is known, said Keavy. If they weigh less than an average load, this amount may be increased.

WHEN THE FIRST installment is paid, applicants may also pick up applications for a passport and for a small pox vaccination (which is necessary for re-entering the United States). Anyone who has had a smallpox vaccination within the past two years will be exempt.

Brochures on planned tours of Europe will later this term be handed out. Union Board will provide only for the ride to and from Europe. Persons going must provide for their own plans upon arriving there.

There is a possibility of renting a second plane, said Keavy, if there is enough demand.

Major Stewart in ROTC Here

Major Douglas D. Stewart, USAF, is now assigned to the Michigan State University air force ROTC detachment.

Major Stewart, flew sixty-two missions against the North Korean communists in the well-known F-86 Sabrejet. Earlier in his career, during WW II, Stewart flew P-53 Lockheed "Lightnings" from Attu, in the Aleutian Islands.

He recently completed a tour of duty as a staff operations officer in South Ruislip, England. He earned a BA from the University of Pittsburgh.

His wife Joyce and son Douglas, Jr. live with him in East Lansing. Their home is in Gladstone, Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

Maintenance Men Clear Winter Ice

About 25,000 people depend on the grounds maintenance department for the protection and safety of life and property. The campus would be paralyzed with ice and snow without this department.

"I think we are headed for heavy snow this winter," Bert D. Ferris, superintendent of grounds maintenance, said. Ferris said that an expected heavy snow anytime after Thanksgiving.

The maintenance department clears over 34 miles of roads, 52 miles of sidewalks, and 84 acres of parking lots of snow after each heavy snowfall.

This year, an estimated $25,000 will be spent on snow removal and labor according to Ferris. About 40 people are concerned with clearing snow during emergencies. Twenty-eight units of power snow equipment are available during heavy snowfall.

Approximately 200 tons of salt were used last year to melt snow and ice on roads and sidewalks. The use of salt and chloride will be held to a minimum in an effort to eliminate damage to lawns and plants.

Spartans Trample Titans in Finale, 43-15

Titans Bow After First Half Scare

The Spartans football team... with a 43-15 victory over the outmanned but spirited, University of Detroit team.

The win gave Michigan State a 6-21 record overall and they finished the year with a 3-2 record in conference play.

Iowa and Minnesota finished in a tie for first place and Ohio State's 5-6 triumph over Michigan gave them undisputed control of third place.

The Spartans stopped U of D cold on the first series of downs and then Wilson proceeded to direct his squad in for their first score as soon as they got the ball.

George Simek ran off left tackle for the first six points and Wilson executed the take kick and pass conversion perfectly with a toss to Emil Clark for two points.

The Titans managed to get to the Spartans 18 before running out of downs and then kicker Tom Shanahan booted it into the end zone.

The Michigan State sound ground back up the field under the direction of Don Stewart, who was scoring his first career as quarterback, to score in 14 plays.

Larry Ballman ended left end for four yards and the touchdown. Art Brandstatter kicked the extra point.

A personal foul after the touchdown forced Brandstatter to kick off from his own 25 and U of D took the ball from their own 36 to score in 8 plays on a drive over the right side by Titan halfback, Jim Shorter. Shanahan booted the extra point to bring the score to 15-7.

State bogged down the next time they got the ball and Bob Sully's kick carried only 16 yards to the Titan 45.

Detroit took 9 plays to cover the 57 yards and score on a 16 yard run over the right side by quarterback Dick Gross.

In an attempt to pass for the two point conversion, Gross was forced to run with it around the right end again and down over the corner flag to tie the game at 15 all.

The teams exchanged kicks and then Wilson began passing and missed a long toss to Carl Charon, who was open deep in U of D territory.

Back to pass on the next play, Wilson was forced to run and he scored 15 yards to the Detroit 16. He then passed to Fred Arbanas for the score.

A trucky behind the line pass to Herb Adderly for the two point conversion made the score 23-15 at the half.

Michigan State noted for being a second half ball club, proved true to form Saturday as they pushed Detroit all over the field.

The Titans had gotten 77 yards net rushing on the ground in the first half and in the second they lost 22 for a negative average in that period.

Wilson hit Brandstatter early in the third quarter for the next score. Ballman made a spectacular one handed catch of Wilson's conversion pass and the score was 23-15 for State.

Neither team managed to do much for the rest of the third quarter and it was two thirds of the way through the fourth period before Pete Smith tossed to Arbanas for 27 yards and another score.

Brandstatter had his first legitimate miss at an extra point attempt. His kick was wide to the right. The other Brandstatter miss was blocked.

Jim Conquist broke up the next U of D series with an interception. Stewart directed the squad in to score on Mitch Newman's plunge through the center. It was Newman's first score in a collegiate game.

Stewart attempted to pass for the conversion but his toss to Hudak, which was batted up in the air, was incomplete.

The game ended with the score 43-15.

TOMMY WILSON SHOWS why he is called one of the most underrated quarterbacks in the Big Ten. Here he waits until he is actually tackled before he laterals to Herb Adderly who moved for an 11 yard gain as the Spartans walloped the University of Detroit 43-15. Frosh Green and White Game Today in Stadium

The annual Green-White football game, featuring the varsity hopefuls of the future, the freshmen, will be held today at 3 p.m. at Spartan Stadium.

The contest, which will feature two evenly matched squads, will be open to the public at no admission charge.

The Freshman coaching staff will also be divided for the game, with Dean Look, George Perles and Randy Schrockengost with the White team and Ed Green, Ed McClucas and Drumgold with the Green team.

The frosh team this fall is the smallest in many years, with only 28 scholarship tenders distributed. Last year's squad, one of the largest, produced many outstanding players that competed on this year's varsity, including many linemen.

Several backs are outstanding. The Badminton Club wishes on this year's squad that will help bolster next year's varsity. Among the outstanding players on the squad are Doug Miller and Bob Rupp, both from East Lansing.

Also playing in today's game will be Bruce Look, the younger brother of Dean Look, an All-American quarterback on the 1955 team.

Ten End College Gridiron Careers

By IVANHOE DONALDSON State News Sports Writer

A crowd of 45,000 people saw ten Spartans end their collegiate football careers Saturday in the MSU victory over the University of Detroit.

The seniors received their final tribute from the crowd at the start of the game. Receiving their final honors were Fred Arbanas, Jim Boyler, Herb Adderly, Tom Wilson, Jason Hirsman, Ike Grimsley, Mickey Walker, Oscar Bahn, Jim Cheney and Santa Pasquale, who didn't dress for the game.

These men who are leaving many Spartan fans with wonderful memories, really did things with a bang in Saturday's slaughter of U of D.

Tommy Wilson playing in the quarterback slot first passed to Emil Clark for a two point conversion after Simek scored early in the first quarter. He then went on to three touch down passes to Arbanas and Art Brandstatter, and two point conversion passes to Adderly and Gary Ballman, to end his fine career.

Tri Captains Boyler, Arbanas and Adderly left the crowds with much to remember. Arbanas a high school All-American, caught his first collegiate pass as a sophomore against California for a touch down, and caught his last pass Saturday from Don Stewart for a touch down.

Boyer an extremely aggressive player ended his career with several key blocks to aid the Spartans in their victory.

Herb Adderly's hard running half back caught a pass conversion.

Seniors Dick Beaudry of South Gate, Marge Robs of Kalamazoo, Kitty Paul of North Carolina and Sue Geckman of Lansing, made their last appearance at Spartan stadium as cheerleaders. The group will make their last appearance during the basketball season.

Cheney, the defensive backfield specialist, has not been able to break into the lineup very often, but saw action Saturday. He will be remembered according to Duffy Dougherty for his first collegiate letter.

Ike Grimsley, one of the teams popular players and a favorite with the crowd, recovered the fumble and was one of the key reasons why the Detroit squad received negative yardage in the fourth quarter. Grimsley, a defensive specialist, intercepted a pass during the Notre Dame game to score his first collegiate touchdown. He was a high school All-American at Canton, Ohio.

Jason Hirsman, an end, has aided the Spartans a great deal with his ability and speed to get down field and receive the long pass.

A regular at tackle, hard hitting Mickey Walker, from Detroit, will be missed on next year's line. Injuries have kept Oscar Bahn from participating in the last few games, however he has been a steady performer all the way. He lettered as a sophomore and a junior.

This game also saw the last performance of a few other seniors. Drum major Ray Stewart from Ohio made his last performance with the MSU marching band.

Intra-Mural Football Needs Rules Changed

Evans Scholars lost a football game to the Tiny Tigers in Independent semi-finals competition last week.

According to varying reports the Scholars were using as many as four players that were not on their roster.

An alert Tiger player had reported to an official that he had seen one of the Evans boys playing on another team and the official also recognized the illegal player.

Now it seems silly to use players that are definitely ineligible or ones that are not signed up on your roster, but in one sense you can't blame the Scholars.

Everyone wants to win and some teams don't mind a little illegality provided it gets them the desired victory.

I have no particular facts to back up this statement, but rumors, from disgruntled players, from many teams claim that a great deal of ineligible players and such goes on in the intramural program.

As far as I am concerned I feel Harris F. Boeman director of the program is doing a great job. He is really behind the IM's and works hard to give the students the largest possible program.

However, I feel the teams and students themselves have abused the privilege of participating in this program to the extent that something should be changed.

Fraternalism have been warned because of excessively rough play and I have heard Dr. James Feurig, who is in charge of Olin Memorial hospital, had to attend one night's games in order to ascertain why so many injuries were occurring.

I think there should be some clarification of rules and eligibility concerning players. There are too many loop holes in the present system. I am not sure whether there is any concrete method of checking players, but I do feel one should be established.

Another thing is eligibility rules concerning members of varsity teams. There should be a distinction between major sports and minor sports.

There may be some carry over value from being a gymnast to playing basketball, but the carry over value is concerned with the contestant's being in condition and this means he is less likely to be injured than the student, who isn't.

If the participants of swimming, gymnastics, and others want to play very badly in the other IM sports then they are liable to attempt to find a way around the rule that makes them ineligible.

Another BIG problem in the intramural sports is the referees. They are completely prejudiced in many cases and have cost victories with their fumbblings and personally liberal interpretation of rules.

One reporter told me of a pass play in which the intended receiver couldn't quite hold onto a pass. He batted it up in the air and the referee blew his whistle.

Another player from the opposition intercepted the deflected pass and ran for a touchdown.

But it didn't count because of, our friend, the ref's quick whistle.

In another more recent case the Delta Tau Delta team started a play in the semi-finals against Sigma Nu. The referee blew the whistle mid-way through the play, according to the Delts and even though the play went for a touchdown it didn't count—and the Delts lost 13-8.

The ref said he dropped his whistle and hadn't been able to pick it up to blow it for the end of the game until the play already started.

Other complaints include cutting games short in order to get the ref's home earlier.

These cases may be the exception, but I doubt it and Evans Scholars ineligible players may be an exception, but I doubt that, too.

4-Mile Championship Sought by 38 Schools

Michigan State today plays host to the nation's top cross country runners as it stages the 22nd annual NCAA championship meet on the Forest Akers Golf course at 11:30.

There will be almost 200 runners representing over 33 colleges and universities taking part in the gruelling four-mile run.

Fran Dittrich the Spartans cross country coach will be seeking his third NCAA title and the ninth won by Spartan handlers.

State has won more NCAA Championships than any other school is counting on the squad

Al Lawrence of Houston will be defending his individual title. He is the favorite for winning another title.

John Macy of Houston runner up in this meet last year is also a possible winner along with Jerry Young Big Ten champ, Bob Lowe the IC4A champ of Brown University, Jerry Ashmore the Central Collegiate champ of Western, and Billy Mills the Big Eight champ of Kansas. Billy Reynolds captain of the Spartan squad also ranks as a high contender.

The biggest fight however will be for the team title, with Houston University as the meet favorite. Western Michigan could grab the title from the popular Texans. Defending champions MSU and also Big Ten winner MSU can not be counted out, nor can IC4A champs Penn State or Army the Hexagonal winners.

The meet record of 19:23 was set by Max Truex running for the University of Southern California in 1957.

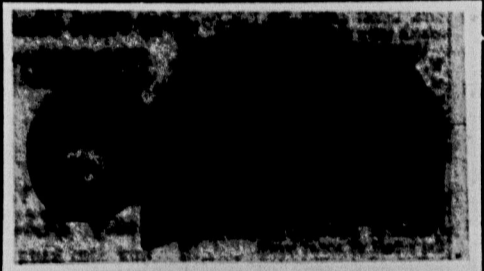

No. 1 Spot Unlucky

(AP)—After 10 weeks of struggle, the National Championship of major college football still is up for grabs now that the No. 1 team in the Associated Press ranking has been thumped—and thumped good—for the third consecutive Saturday.

Missouri went the way of first Iowa and then Minnesota this past weekend. Three days after Missouri was named No. 1 in the weekly AP poll—which determines the national champion in the final balloting—Kansas made good on the third try in a "big game" and tagged the Tigers 23-7.

That upset not only left the No. 1 spot wide-open, with Iowa (8-1), Mississippi (8-0-1), Minnesota (8-1), Navy (8-1) and Missouri (9-1) all possible choices, but coupled with Utah State's surprise 6-0 defeat by Utah it left New Mexico (9-0) and Yale (9-0) the only unbeaten-untied teams in major college play.

Mississippi and Navy, both idle this past week end, wrap up their regular seasons in classic clashes this Saturday.

"FIND THE ANSWER, JIM—AND BRING IT BACK"

When Jim Boardman took his B.S. in Electrical Engineering at Colorado State, there was one idea uppermost in his mind. He wanted a job in which he could work his way into management via the engineering route. As he puts it, "I didn't want to stick with straight engineering all my life."

After talking to eight other organizations Jim joined The Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph Company. He soon got the kind of action he was looking for.

His first assignment: How best to improve widely scattered rural telephone service all over Colorado—a sticky engineering challenge. He was given a free hand to work out his own procedures. His boss simply said, "Find the answer, Jim—and bring it back."

Six months later, Jim turned in his recommendations. His plan was accepted.

Next stop: Colorado Springs. Here Jim worked out a plan to expand telephone facilities for this burgeoning community. This plan, too, is now in operation.

Today, at 24, Jim has an important role in planning where, how much, and what kind of telephone service is needed in the Denver area.

Here's how Jim puts it: "We get tough assignments—but we also have the freedom to take hold and do a job. I think the future here is unlimited. If a man wants to do it—it's there to be done."

If you're a guy who can "Find the answer—and bring it back"—you'll want to get with a company where you have the chance. Visit your Placement Office for literature and additional information.

"Our number one aim is to have in all management jobs the most vital, intelligent, positive and imaginative men we can possibly find."

FREDERICK R. KAPPELL, President
American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Seniors of the Week

A "gourmet" from Rocky Eye, Ohio, Bill Mitchell, is a hotel administration major. After graduation Mitchell plans to go into business on the West coast to do out of California hotel empire.

From Ohio Wesleyan, is president of Inter-Fraternity council, His IFC duties before becoming president included editing the rush brochure and taking care of other IFC publications.

While at Ohio Wesleyan, Bill was active in club and student government. Sports were another interest and he was named a "college all-star" Mid-west selection.

Bill is a member of Union Union, All University Student Government Executive Board, Student Spirit board of directors and Student Roundtable.

Bill was recently tapped into Executive senior men's honor society. He is also a member of Blue Key, national junior-senior men's honor society.

In keeping with his major, Bill spent the past summer working in Ohio. After as social director of the "Interfraternity"...

THE VICE PRESIDENT of the University Press, Jane Dennison, is also editor of the 1961 Yearbook. Last year Jane, who is from East Lansing, was vice-president.

Jane is communication chairman of Senior council and Member Board. She is also on the Student Organizations council of AUSA and the Student Advisory council of the College of Communication Arts. Other activities include the Editor of Student Publications and Student Roundtable.

Jane transferred from Ohio Wesleyan to Michigan State University. There is still some question as to whether she really founded the university before she went there or if "Daddy bought it for her."

JANE IS A member of Phi Beta Kappa, a national honor society. During the recent election Jane was an active Republican. She will be, and wishes to promote the election.

She has traveled from Ohio to work and home to go to Europe next summer as full time newspaper work in some shade of Journalism.

Gifts, Grants Total $413,784

Gifts and grants of $413,784, including funds for a program to improve general science teaching in the secondary schools, were accepted Friday by the Board of Trustees.

Michigan State, for the second year, will conduct an institute for teachers of general science under a $288,806 grant from the National Science Foundation.

The institute will be operated during the 1961-62 academic year in conjunction with the activities of the science and mathematics teaching center.

The funds will support 45 general science teachers from secondary schools during the institute and will also provide a related summer program for a limited number of the participants.

Directing the institute is Dr. John M. Mason, associate professor in the science and mathematics teaching center. He explains that the program is designed to help teachers improve their subject-matter knowledge through a year of advanced study on a full-time basis.

Michigan State scientists in veterinary pathology and microbiology and public health will continue their research program concerning tuberculosis in cattle under a $52,900 grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Initial grants for this research were received last year.

Under the direction of Dean W. W. Armstrong of the College of Veterinary Medicine, the researchers are evaluating the effectiveness of diagnostic procedures.

The National Institute of Mental Health granted $25,700 for the training of graduate students as psychiatric social workers, a program under the direction of Dr. Gordon J. Aldridge, director of the school of social work.

Two other grants were made by the National Institutes of Health. These included $10,550 to the highway traffic safety center to continue its study of the driving behavior of young drivers. The study concerns the detrimental effects of driving at high but campus character:

PSAMUEL PSYCHE
A thinking man's thinking man, Samuel finds that thoughts come easiest when he is most comfortable. That's why he always wears Jockey brand T-shirts. He likes the way the fine combed cotton feels next to his skin. He likes the way the twin-stitched, open-collared collar keeps its shape. And he likes the full-proportioned body and extra long tail that never droops. You, too, will like yourself better when you wear the comfort of Jockey brand T-shirts. Your favorite campus man has them. $1.50
