

Mr. K Demands Independence For All Colonies; Britain Injects Issue of Soviet Control to UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain injected the issue of Soviet colonialism Monday into the General Assembly debate over Premier Nikita Khrushchev's demand for immediate independence of all peoples living under colonial and UN trusteeship systems.

The move brought angry Soviet charges that Britain was seeking to divide the world into spheres of influence and resorting to cold war tactics. The debate marked the opening of a session expected to last for more than a week.

SOVIET DEPUTY Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin assailed the UN trusteeship system as an outmoded and an ineffective instrument of the colonial powers and declared it must be scrapped.

Together with the infamous system of colonialism, the various forms of the trusteeship system, has outlived itself," he declared.

The United Nations established the trusteeship system to replace League of Nations mandates. It has served as a watchdog for all the world's dependent territories, receiving reports from administrators and listening to complaints from the people themselves.

Zorin called on all peace-loving nations to "render every assistance, moral and material, to the peoples fighting for their independence."

DAVID ORMSBY-GORE, British minister of state for foreign affairs, accused Zorin of using the assembly debate simply as another occasion for vilifying my country and its allies, and for carrying the cold war into Africa, in the hope that perhaps it can be hotted up to its advantage.

Ormsby-Gore said that since 1939 about 500 million people, formerly under British rule, had achieved freedom and independence.

In that same period, he added, the whole or part of six countries, with a population of 22 million, have been forcibly incorporated into the Soviet Union. They include the world's three newest colonies—Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia.

He charged that in provinces of the Soviet Union itself nearly a million people were uprooted from their homes and deported.

ZORIN AND TWO other members of the Soviet delegation thumped their desks to interrupt Ormsby-Gore and gain recognition from Frederick Boland of Ireland, the assembly president.

Zorin protested that Ormsby-Gore was discussing internal affairs of the Soviet Union. He called this inadmissible, and said if the speaker wanted to use cold war terminology he would reply in kind.

Boland said he could not rule on each charge and counter-charge, but appealed to all speakers to avoid inflammatory language.

Ormsby-Gore replied that his country had been accused of robbery and carnage by Zorin, but that he would go along with Boland's ruling. The British delegate added it was obvious the Soviet Union did not like discussion in the United Nations of its kind of colonialism.

Lumumba in Flight From Congo Army

Threat of Civil War Raised By Escape to Stanleyville

LEOPOLDVILLE, THE CONGO, (AP)—The Congolese army Monday was ordered to pursue and capture fugitive Premier Patrice Lumumba before he can reach his political stronghold of Stanleyville. His flight raised the threat of civil war in this troubled nation.

Lumumba drove past sleepy Congolese soldiers watching his villa Sunday night, leaving behind a statement saying he was going to Stanleyville for the funeral of his infant daughter.

But his political foes, President Joseph Kasavubu and Col. Joseph Mobutu, the army chief, seemed far from reassured by his promise to return within a conference. Kasavubu has promised to call a conference of all factions shortly.

KASAVUBU and Mobutu were astounded when the news of Lumumba's flight reached them at Brazzaville, capital of the Congo Republic across the river from Leopoldville.

Kasavubu and Mobutu had gone to Brazzaville for that Republic's independence celebrations. But they took advantage of the occasion to discuss Congo unity with two dissident leaders, President Moise Tshombe of Katanga province and President Joseph Kalani of the so-called mining state in Kasai province.

Kasavubu remained in Brazzaville, but Mobutu hurried back to Leopoldville after ordering his army to try to head off Lumumba.

Disquieting to the two pro-western Congolese leaders was the knowledge that Lumumba's top lieutenants already are in Stanleyville, capital of oriental province. They are said to be organizing an anti-western regime designed to restore Lumumba to power.

STANLEYVILLE has been cut off from the outside world in recent days and there were no communications with the city Monday.

Awaiting Lumumba in Stanleyville are his brother, Louis, Antoine Gizenga, deputy premier in the regime ousted by Mobutu in September, and Gen. Victor Lundula, who commanded the Congo army when Lumumba was in power.

The Inter-Cooperative council will hold their last meeting of the term tonight at 7:30 at Hedrick house. The main business will be revision of the ICC constitution, according to Jerry Spangler, council president.

Extra Study Areas Open Before Finals
Four thousand additional study areas will be available to students preparing for final exams, Dan Riedel, AUSG president, announced Monday.

The spaces will be available from 5 to 10:30 p.m. today through Thursday, from noon to 10:30 p.m. Sunday, and from 5 to 10:30 p.m. next Monday and Tuesday.

Only Berkeley will be open Sunday, but Berkeley, Olds, Electrical Engineering, A-3 and A-6 will be open the other nights. All rooms not otherwise occupied by regular classes will be available.

The classrooms have been opened because library study facilities have been over-crowded recently, according to Riedel. Many of the students have been using the library purely as a study area, rather than for research, he said.

"This is real evidence the university is interested in providing the best possible facilities for study purposes," Riedel said. "It's now up to all of us who use these extra spaces to see to it they are left in good condition for the next day's classes."

Arrangements for the rooms were made through the cooperation of Registrar Kenneth Smith and Kenneth Richards of the buildings and utilities department.

CARACAS, VENEZUELA, (AP)—Crack army troops poured into the battle-strewn streets of Caracas Monday night to smash bloody and destructive rioting against the government.

Parents Boycott Schools

NEW ORLEANS, (AP)—Angry white parents boycotted two integrated public schools Monday, condemning four Negro first-graders to virtual segregation once again.

"You've got the whole school to yourself now," yelled a woman as three of the six-year-old pioneers in Deep South school integration entered McDonough No. 19 school.

Seven U. S. marshals ushered the trio into McDonough and three others accompanied the lone Negro girl who went into William Franz.

Hoisting and jeering spectators numbered about 100 at McDonough, but only about 15 women at William Franz, the quietest school opening since integration began two weeks ago.

A week's holiday from the city's 93,000 public school students watered down the heat of those who demonstrated violently week before last.

Truancy and absence in the rest of the city's white schools dropped to nearly normal for a Monday, only 11 per cent including the 99.9 per cent boycott of William Franz and McDonough No. 19.

Normal absenteeism for a comparable day, the board said, is 10 per cent.

School officials said 3,079 of 36,726 white public school pupils failed to report Monday morning.

Police cut down the number of men assigned to the two schools. Quiet hours noticeably reduced public tension.

Holiday Traffic Takes 608 Lives

Accidents killed 608 Americans during the four-day Thanksgiving weekend—442 in traffic tragedies.

Michigan had 32 deaths. Four were miscellaneous and 28 traffic deaths.

The nation's toll was just a shade below Thanksgiving holiday fatalities of the last two years. This is how they compared:

Fire deaths	51	70	54

Owners of Lee Home Say: 'Stay Off'n This Here Property'

SHREWSBURY, England (AP)—Supper of the Southern Confederacy Monday face one of their bitterest moments since Appomattox.

It concerns the ancestral home of the Lee family—Gen. Robert E. Lee's family.

The occupants of the house said in an interview they don't want the place overrun by Southerners celebrating next year's centennial of the outbreak of the War Between the States.

"This is quite a small house," said Mrs. F. F. Mayall, wife of the present occupant, "and the thought of hordes of people tramping about is absolutely frightful."

Located near here is Lea Hall, built in 1844 and, according to some historians, the earliest known home of the ancestors of the courtly general who led the army of northern Virginia.

U. S. Says W. Germany To Get Troops Free

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The White House disclosed Monday the United States will press no further its proposal that West Germany pay $600 million annually on the cost of maintaining American troops there.

Press Secretary James Hagerty, in reply to a question at his news conference, said the matter would not be taken up again because "the Germans are not prepared to discuss it."

On a recent visit to Bonn, Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson and under Secretary of State Douglas Dillon brought to the matter of West Germany bearing the cost of keeping troops stationed there. This proposal was rejected.

First UB Plane Flight Payment Due

IN A FORMAL statement Monday, President Eisenhower said that, despite this rejection, the discussion contributed to a greater understanding of this country's unfavorable balance of payments problem. Designed to lead to the betterment of the U. S. balance of payments position.

Among German proposals was one to pay that government's U. S. debt ahead of schedule.

Eisenhower issued his formal statement after a long conference Monday morning with Anderson and Dillon.

Eisenhower said "I believe that the discussions were most useful."

"AS A RESULT" of these talks there is a greater acceptance of the United States view that there must be a basic improvement in the United States balance of payments position as an essential part of maintaining the free world's financial system, depending as it does upon the dollar as a cornerstone.

Eisenhower said Anderson and Dillon, both in substance and in presentation, carried out his instructions.

Portland State Youth Knifed In Parked Car

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Police made routine check of a lover's lane in the Portland west hills and came upon an automobile with the stab punctured body of a 19-year-old youth inside. A pretty girl companion, who police believe was with him at the time of the slaying, has vanished and may be a kidnap victim.

The body of Larry Ralph Peyton, a student at Portland State college, was found Sunday night curled upon the blood-soaked front seat. There were 14 stab wounds in the chest and nine in the back—all made by a four-inch-long blade. The youth also suffered a blow on the head which caused a skull fracture.

Peyton had spent Saturday evening with Beverly Allen, 19, of Port Townsend, Wash., a student at Washington State University at Pullman, Wash. They had dinner that night at Peyton's home with his parents and then went out for the evening.

The coroner's office said it had not yet determined the exact time of Peyton's death. But police believe the attack on the youth occurred sometime Saturday night. The youth may have been alive but unconscious for several hours after the attack.

Sheriff's deputies, FBI agents and police fanned through the timber and brush covered hills Monday in search of some trace of Miss Allen.

Miss Allen had come to Portland to spend the Thanksgiving holiday with the Peyton family. Sheriff's Capt. Gordon Auburn said.

Auburn said "all we know for sure is that the boy is dead and the girl is missing."

Peyton's body was clad only in mud and blood smeared jeans and T-shirt. Miss Allen's blood-stained coat was found inside the car, indicating there may have been a fight there.

Catholics Claim Cuba Communist

HAVANA, (AP)—Two Roman Catholic prelates have met Fidel Castro's renewed attacks on the church with declarations implying his revolution is more Communist than Christian.

Auxiliary Bishop Eduardo Baza Masvidal of Havana and Archbishop Enrique Perez Serantes of Santiago assailed the revolution in statements read or distributed in two provinces Sunday.

Then the prime minister in a Sunday speech that ran into the early hours Monday accused some priests of preaching counter-revolution for pay.

Two noise bombs exploded nearby as Castro addressed a rally at Havana University—part of a series of 19 or 20 counter-revolutionary demonstrations yet in Havana. Neither casualties nor injuries were reported.

A statement from Archbishop Perez Serantes was critical of Cubans who try to halt the reading in churches of his pastoral letters assailing communist influence in the Castro regime. He said such attempts were "shameful and insolent."

"We are happy when we suffer abuse in the name of Jesus," said the archbishop's circular, read in all churches in Santiago and surrounding Oriente province.

"However, we protest energetically and with every dignity against aggressive and unjust proceedings."

This was a reference to the attacks by Castro sympathizers on Santiago Cathedral when one of his pastoral letters was being read two weeks ago.

Kennedy's Visit With Policy Aides Renews Guessing On Secretary of State

What License? Asks Bridegroom
LONDON, Oct. (AP)—"The license? What license?" These words Robert Kazantzides managed to utter as the minister asked him a question before the altar where Bob was in the process of wedding Beta Mifanis.

The words stopped the wedding Saturday. The groom had forgotten one little detail—the wedding license. All efforts to get one Saturday night were in vain. But they had the wedding reception. Then Beta went home and Bob went home.

This morning they got the license, a benevolent official—during the weekend of waiting—renewed the three-day waiting period and Bob and Beta were married.

They had not planned a honeymoon, but they went on one.

Everyone is invited to join in staging many of the Yule season favorites.

PIERRE SALINGER, Kennedy's news secretary, announced the two meetings but left it up to reporters to speculate on the significance.

Salinger told a news briefing Acheson "is a man who has had considerable experience, and I think the senator (Kennedy) wants to seek out his advice and counsel."

Asked if the appointment with Bowles meant Bowles might be named secretary of state, Salinger said he "wouldn't want to draw any conclusions."

IN THE PAST, Salinger has stressed to newsmen that people Kennedy has been talking to were not being considered for appointment but were being asked for advice.

Salinger also announced that Kennedy will confer at his home today with Democratic Governor-elect Terry Sanford of North Carolina. Without elaborating, he said Kennedy wants to discuss several matters with Sanford.

Sanford will be accompanied by Bert Bennett of Winston-Sale, chairman of the state Democratic executive committee.

Barracks Removal Marks End of Era

By BERNICE GIELDA
State News Staff Writer

The last of the old barracks apartments was relocated here shortly after World War II when returning GIs sent enrollment figures skyrocketing.

The barracks were erected as temporary housing for veterans and their families. Their purpose was to supplement Trailer Village, an even earlier attempt to solve the housing problem.

Something of the color and flavor of living conditions in this area at the time is contained in a novel by Alma Roussing entitled "A Gradual Joy."

THE BOOK is about the marriage of a former WAVE and Marine, their adjustment to married life, their days as students at MSU, and the arrival of their first child.

The book was published in 1933. That same year a few experimental apartment buildings were constructed to replace the trailers and to find permanent housing for married students.

According to a recent edition of MSU's Quarterly Record, the apartments erected in 1933 had been started with the help of a fund accumulated with income from married housing. Since then, loans for new apartments have been repaid through MSU's self-liquidating program, using student fees.

MARRIED STUDENTS housing continued to improve and expand on campus and by the end of 1954 there were 144 student families living in the barracks.

Couples continued to move into the new brick apartments through the summer of 1959 when the last of the old barracks dwellings was vacated.

This year about one-third of MSU's student body consists of married students.

According to housing director Tom Dutton, many of these students live on campus in University Village, which has 436 units, Spartan Village, 1,300 units, and Cherry Lane apartments, with 178 units.

The old barracks apartments were sold to independent firms or moved to other locations for varied uses on campus, Dutch said.

Food Science, New Area Of Discussion

Men from different areas of agriculture are brought together in a new department this year, the food science department. Working together, members of the department are able to discuss and exchange ideas.

Former members of the dairy, meats, poultry and horticulture departments are working together in the new department.

Dr. B. S. Schweigert, a biochemist, heads the department. Training undergraduate and graduate students to supply the great demand of the food industry, universities, and government for outstanding leaders in the field of food science is the main purpose of the department, Schweigert says.

The area of food science provides excellent opportunities for students trained in the science of processing dairy products, fruits, vegetables, meats and poultry products, Schweigert says.

Present research in food science includes studies on flavor factors in meat, poultry, milk and apple sauce; the chemistry of milk proteins; ways to cut down the bacterial spoilage of foods; and the chemistry of color changes in cherries and meat.

The food science department is located in the old dairy building across from Kedzie.

'Just Think—Some Day He Might Become All-American Quarterback'

'Practitioner of Year' Wary Of Care-for-Aged Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP)—America's "General Practitioner of the Year" Monday saw "a form of blackmail" in the legislation endorsed by the American Medical Association to finance medical care for aged persons unable to pay for it.

But he doesn't like the broad, social security approach favored by President elect John F. Kennedy, either, and thinks the states and the doctors should do the job.

DR. JAMES T. COOK, 44, of Marianna, Fla., made his comments at a news conference shortly after the AMA had named him the 14th recipient of its annual award to a general practitioner "who has made an outstanding contribution to his community."

Cook was asked his view of recently enacted legislation under which medical care for the aged unable to pay for it would be provided by federal grants matched by state funds.

"That's a form of blackmail—I don't approve of it," he said, explaining that he meant that such a system forces a state to put up equal money in order to get a grant from the Federal government.

But, almost in the same breath, he said he is strongly opposed, as is the AMA, to proposals by Kennedy and others that medical care for all the aged be financed through social security taxes.

COOK TOLD reporters he believes it's the responsibility of states and local communities to take care of the hospitals while doctors should provide their services for the indigent, aged or otherwise.

If a state finds it cannot do so, he said, it could then appeal to the Federal government for aid. But he stressed that he is against the Federal government taking the initiative and the states accepting "anything that was offered" because "this makes it a political football."

For those not indigent, but still unable to meet medical care bills in full, Cook said states and local communities should pay for hospital and certain other services and that doctors should give their services free "as they are already widely doing."

"There are medical bills I couldn't take care of myself," he said. "Any doctor worth his salt will take care of those people who are busted."

ASKED WHETHER such a procedure doesn't leave a doctor open to giving free care to people who might lie about their financial circumstances, Cook said with a smile: "I'm fooled every day. But, on the other hand, I occasionally get paid when I thought I wouldn't."

Cook said extending social security to cover medical care for the aged "would have provided this only to people drawing a social security check."

And he added that "a great majority of them already are covered by some form of (pre-paid) health insurance."

Alfred Meyer to Speak On Rumanian University

Alfred G. Meyer, professor of political science, will describe his experiences as MSU's representative to the centennial celebration of a leading communist university tonight at 7:30 at 31 Union.

Meyer went to Rumania this fall for the 100th birthday of the University of Asia, a liberal arts and professional institution on the European model.

During his two weeks in that country, Meyer traveled extensively. With an U.S. embassy adviser, he went into Rumanian, Yugoslavia, Bucharest, Rumania's capital and formerly one of Europe's most cosmopolitan cities, was another of his stops.

Among 50 delegates from schools on both sides of the Iron Curtain, Meyer was one of only two Americans at the centennial celebration. A University of Michigan professor arrived after the program was already in progress.

Meyer presented the Asia administration with official greetings from MSU and a collection of books printed by the MSU Press.

According to John Chimenti, Lansing senior and president of the MSU International Relations club, sponsor of tonight's talk, the most unusual features of Meyer's trip were his opportunities to meet outstanding communist educators and to observe a university which has made the transition from totalitarian control.

Branton Kills Own Resolution

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Rep. Percy Branton, facing overwhelming opposition, Monday killed his own House resolution which sought to knock out Louisiana's 10 presidential electors for John F. Kennedy.

He acted about an hour and a half after a closed conference with Gov. James H. Davis, administration and segregation leaders.

Earlier, Rep. T. T. Fields, a Davis floor leader, had predicted the Branton resolution would fail.

Branton simply told the House the official election returns for presidential electors had been promulgated Monday.

The Webster Parish representatives, from north Louisiana, said Sunday night when he introduced his stormy proposal he had voted for the states rights unpledged electors.

Ag Engineering Research Lowers Cost

Agricultural engineering research is helping attack the problems of American agriculture through lowered costs of production, processing, handling and distribution.

According to Dr. A. W. Farrall, head of the department of agricultural engineering, an example of such agricultural engineering help to the industry lies in the bulk handling processes for onions, potatoes and cherries in Michigan.

Farrall, speaking recently to members of the National Academy of Science in Washington, D.C., also mentioned development of the mechanical tomato harvester as another example. It shows promise of reducing the cost of harvesting this crop in Michigan by 50 per cent.

Agricultural engineering research has also reduced the cost of producing livestock on Michigan farms through development of automatic feeding systems, Farrall pointed out. This equipment now makes it possible for one man to feed several thousand animals by merely pushing some buttons and letting the system do the work.

Another example of combined research work between agricultural engineers and horticulturists at MSU is the controlled atmosphere storage of apples and other products. In this state alone, 600,000 bushels of apples were stored in controlled atmosphere rooms during the past year. The result is a better product for the consumer later in the spring at reasonable prices, and more income for the producers.

Other opportunities for agricultural engineering research making agricultural products economically attractive for widespread use. Engineers can help develop new processing methods of heating, cooling, grinding or sorting.

Guess Weight Of AOCs Club And Win Stereo

Are you any good at guessing weight? If so, here is your chance to show off your talent.

The Association of Off-Campus Students is sponsoring a contest involving guessing the weight, not of one person, but of the entire membership of the AOCs, said Jack Miller, Lansing senior and president of the AOCs.

To the person entering the contest guess will go a four-speed stereo-radio combination, Miller said.

The weight will be judged from the membership list as of Oct. 25, 1960. At that time, there were 73 members including 47 men and 26 women, he said.

Tickets are on sale at the Union ticket desk, and cost 25 cents each. A person may enter as many guesses as he wishes, but only one guess to a ticket, Miller said.

A list of the members of AOCs is available in room 313 Student Services building for those wishing to make special calculations in guessing, he added.

Business Professor Decides Discount Stores Here to Stay

"Discount stores have been with us a long time and they'll be with us for a long time to come," according to Dr. Stanley Hollander, professor of business.

Hollander has made studies of discount selling in relation to shopper patronization of a particular store. The discount stores forego all frills and concentrates on merchandising, pricing and efficient service thus attracting the steady customers, he said.

Discount houses flourish because basic economic forces in our highly complicated economy will usually defeat attempts at long-run retail price control.

Inherent qualities of certain lines of goods make them unattractive to discounters, Hollander said.

"Drug store services, for example, are in good part a convenience demand and to that extent are quite unresponsive to small price differences," he said.

"Electrical appliances, on the other hand, are purchases of an optional nature or can be postponed," Hollander added. "Price cuts may influence the decision on the TV or percolator, but are not likely to have the same effect on our buying behavior in the drugstore."

Hollander's doctoral dissertation of 1954 was written on "Deviation from the One Price System in American Retailing" and was published in the Journal of Retailing in 1955.

Since then he has written several articles on discounting for the American Marketing Association and other business organizations.

Pitt fanned his cards after a deal and discovered to his astonishment he held all 30 clubs from the double deck.

Spartans Eye Cage Opener

By PAUL SCHNITT
State News Sports Writer

The Michigan State cagers—young, spirited, and anxious—have their eye on Saturday, for that night they open their season against Butler University in Jenison Fieldhouse.

Only Two Lettermen Returning

Michigan State will be very fortunate to show much of any improvement over last season when its basketball team won ten, lost eleven and finished eighth in the Big Ten.

There are six of the eight letter-winners via graduation, including such fine players as Horace Walker, Lance Olson and Dave Scott. This was the regular front line last winter, with Olson and Scott at the forwards and Walker at center.

The only returning letter-winners are the regular guards of last season, five foot nine inch senior Dave Fahs of Monroe, Wis., and six foot one inch junior Art Schwarm of Evanston, Ill.

One non-letter-winner out of the 1959-60 team, six foot two inch junior forward Bob Sparvery, also is back on the squad.

THIS IS THE FULL roster of 16 men, including four who will not be eligible until the winter term starts early in January, is composed of 13 sophomores, two juniors and one senior.

The four who will become eligible in January barring any academic mishap in fall term are sophomores. They are six feet guard Harold Brookens, of Tulsa, Okla.; six feet one inch Bill Cuthbertson of Carlisle, Ill.; six feet seven inch center-forward Gene Jewett of Washington, D. C., and six feet five inch center-forward John Schwenn of Aurora, Ill.

Best bets among the sophomores to succeed, partly because of their abilities and partly because of the urgent need for front line men, are six feet two inch forward Lonnie Sanders of Detroit; six feet four inch forward Dick Hall of Manitowish, Wis., and six feet seven center Ted Williams of Stroudsburg, Pa.

This season, then, is a very real way is the start of a new era in Michigan State basketball.

"We're going to try to build Michigan State back into the title picture with sophs carrying the major load," says Head Coach Freddy Anderson.

BUILDING THIS "new era" will take a lot of hard work and good breaks. We have high hopes of accomplishing this objective, and maybe sooner than most of our followers think possible.

Prior to last year's eighth-place finish, the Spartans had been in the thick of three straight Big Ten championship runs. They won one title outright (in 1959), shared another (in 1957) and finished in a second place tie the other time (in 1955).

Fahs—the squad's only senior, figures to be the team leader, the key play maker and possibly the top scorer. Fahs scored 252 points in 21 games last season for an average of 12.0 per game. Schwarm scored 143 for an average of 6.8 points per game.

Fahs is as quick and deceptive as ever but much stronger physically after working diligently at lifting weights during the off-season.

THE REST of the newcomers could well be Sanders. He has a fine jump shot, good natural moves and surprising rebounding abilities for a 6-2 specimen. But Coach Anderson feels that Hall, Jewett, Sabo, Williams-Lamers, Kilbride and others have the makings of good varsity men.

Sanders may take some time to shape up inasmuch as he was a member of the varsity football team in the fall and missed more than a month of cage practice.

The biggest weakness of the team obviously will be lack of experience. Especially grim is the fact that there isn't a single "big man" in the upper class group.

"We'll have to try to compensate for inexperience with youth and enthusiasm," says Anderson. "This club will play its heart out and just may surprise some people."

NELS MARIN, Lansing freshman (c) won first place in the intramural foil fencing championships held last week. Dick Beaudry, Wyandotte senior took second place and Eduardo Granda, Quito, Ecuador sophomore placed third. The three ended in a tie for first and settled the placing with a fence off. Coach Duffy Says:

'Excellent Year for State'

It has been a good year for Michigan State," says Spartan Head Coach Duffy Daugherty of the season just completed.

"We'd like to have won them all, but even so we are happy with the way things came out. The kids bounced back well after losing the tough one to Iowa. The Spartans always had unity, hustle, desire and spirit."

The season's results of six wins, two losses and one tie plus a fourth place Big 10 finish on three league wins and two losses exactly bore out the analysis of team prospects made in the press brochure prior to the season.

"Michigan State last season zoomed out of the Big 10 basement when it occupied in 1958 and finished with a fair overall record of five wins, four losses and a respectable second place position in the league with four wins, two losses," this statement said.

"DESPITE THE loss of a strong group of 17 letter-winners, the hope for 1960 is to show continued improvement, if not in final conference ranking at least in total won-lost record."

The high spots of the campaign undoubtedly were the solid victories over arch-rivals Michigan (24-17) and Notre Dame (21-0) and the late surge which brought three straight wins at the season's end over Purdue (17-13), Northwestern (21-13) and Detroit (43-15).

The Purdue and Northwestern wins send the Spartans into the 1961 season as the only Big 10 club with a five two-game winning streak over league foes.

The absolute nadir of the season was the stunning last minute reversal in the Iowa game which snatched apparent victory from Spartan hands.

A DISAPPOINTMENT to IM Schedule
The intramural wrestling championships begin at 7 tonight. All contestants who have signed up or who want to enter this tournament will weigh on and the draw will be made at this time. No entries will be accepted after 7:15 p.m.

THE PROBABLE starting line-up for Michigan State includes Art Schwarm and Dave Fahs at guard, Ted Williams at center, and Dick Hall and either Duane Kilbride or Lonnie Sanders at forward.

Sanders joined the squad following the last football game. According to Anderson, Jack Lamers will be one of State's key men in regard to depth at the guard spot.

Intramural Schedules

The second round of the dormitory paddleball tournament will be held at 8 p.m. All teams should report to the IM office to pick up match report and reservation cards. The winner of each match should fill out and return the match report card to IM office immediately after the match.

Washington Drafts First Two Players

LOUISVILLE (AP)—The new Washington club of the American League acquired its first players Monday—Pitcher John Gabler and Ray Semproch—as the majors drafted 21 men from the minors for $447,000.

A 22nd man also was picked in a delayed draft by Bill Veck president of the Chicago White Sox but Commissioner Ford Frick ruled the club already had the maximum 40 men on its roster. Frick said the roster was frozen Nov. 7 with 36 players and Monday's four drafts filled it out, Veck dissented.

Washington permitted two selections after the close of the regular draft. It will get special priority in American League waivers. This indicated Washington definitely expected to operate in 1961.

Doherty's drafts emphasized the knotty problem facing the majors in their expansion moves.

The American League has nine clubs and wants to go to 10 by taking in Los Angeles, also for 1961. Commissioner Frick won't approve a second club in Los Angeles until baseball's territorial rule has a "fair and equitable" amendment.

Frick has called league presidents Joe Cronin of the American and Warren Giles of the National to meet with him in New York Wednesday to try to draw up a suitable amendment. Baseball men see little possibility of the National league's accepting the proposal of the American that each expand to nine clubs in 1961 and play an inter-league schedule. The National has voted to expand to 10 clubs in 1962 by taking in Houston and New York and having no part of a compromise. American leaguers appear determined to push ahead with 10 clubs by taking in Los Angeles. However, the outcome of the summit meeting with Frick on Wednesday can shape the future of baseball.

Court Dismisses Charges Against Apalachin Delegates

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal appeals court Monday upset the prison sentences of 20 delegates to the 1957 underworld convention at Apalachin, N.Y. The government, which had boasted of the convictions, was soundly criticized for its handling of the case from start to finish.

The three-man U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, unanimously dismissing the convictions, called the government's case "a boot-strap operation," based on "crash methods."

The opinion, in effect, accused the government of setting up a series of unproven assumptions, and then belaboring the defendants because they refused to go along with them. The prosecution never should have been started at all, the opinion held, adding:

"IN AMERICA, we still respect the dignity of the individual, and even an unsavory character is not to be imprisoned except on definite proof of specific crime."

Actually, the 20 defendants have not been imprisoned. They have been free on bail pending the appeal since they were sentenced last January to federal sentences ranging from three to five years on conspiracy charges.

There was no immediate word from Washington on whether the government will seek to carry the reversal of the convictions to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The 20 were convicted a year ago under a conspiracy indictment which the government hailed as a strong, new lever against organized crime in this country. The justice department at the time forecast that "syndicated crime may soon have its death knell."

THE GOVERNMENT offered a unique argument during the trial here. First, it assumed that the gathering at Apalachin had a sinister motive—such as carving up gangland territory and rackets. But the appeals court said:

"Perhaps the most curious feature of this strange case is the fact that after all these years there is not a shred of legal evidence that the Apalachin gathering was illegal or even improper in either purpose or fact."

Secondly, the government assumed—and the jury agreed—that the Apalachin delegates, knowing their gathering was illegal, put their heads together to cook up a story that would deceive future federal and state investigators—a story that they gathered Nov. 14, 1957, at the upstate New York home of the late Joseph Barbara Sr. only because he was ill and they wished to pay him their respects. Barbara died June 17, 1959.

Worst Storm of Season Hits Midwest With Snow

CHICAGO (AP)—The worst storm of the season hit the Midwest with numbing cold, drifting snow and violent winds Monday.

The stricken area had been softened up for the Sunday-Monday punch by some of the most balmy Thanksgiving holiday weather on record.

The Dakotas, Nebraska, Minnesota, Kansas, Iowa and upper Michigan fell victim to snow and ice with its attendant hazards, slippery or snow-drafted roads, snapped utility lines and dangerous blowing.

All the Great Lakes were given gale warnings. The worst winds were churning Lake Superior.

Huge waves pounded the harbor area of the twin cities of Duluth, Minn., and Superior, Wis., and the Lake Superior north shore. Gusts of 72 mph broke windows in the Duluth ship canal lighthouse 40 feet above the normal water line. The wind also knocked out the radio direction finder and the foghorn.

Highway 61 running along the Lake Superior shore from Duluth to Grand Marais, Minn., a stretch of about 100 miles, was closed.

Two traffic deaths in Minnesota and North Dakota, were blamed on blowing, drifting snow. The death of an airplane pilot in a Nebraska crash also was laid to the storm.

At noon the storm was centered in southern Minnesota and was expected to continue raging north-northeastward. As it moved along the weather was expected to improve in its wake.

The U.S. weather bureau posted heavy snow warnings with local blizzard conditions for northern Minnesota and eastern parts of the Dakotas.

Six inches or more of new snow appeared likely to accumulate over the area, drifting under north to northwest winds 30 to 60 mph.

The drop in temperatures seemed sufficiently sharp to account for cold wave conditions in Iowa. A hard freeze was forecast through Oklahoma and into northern Texas and north-west Arkansas.

Air Force Closes Down Three Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force announced Monday the complete closing of three major bases, the reduction to a fourth base to a reserve status and a change of mission for another base.

The three bases scheduled to be shut down by June are: Mitchell Long Island, N.Y.; Grennault at Lake Charles, La.; and MacDill at Tampa, Fla.

Donaldson Air Force Base, Greenville, S.C., will cease functioning as a regular Air Force facility by June; thereafter it will be used for reserve units.

Hunter Air Force Base at Savannah, Ga., will lose its strategic air command mission in the spring, when it will be transferred to the military air transport command.

The Air Force said the study which brought about these major changes was made necessary by the transition from manned aircraft to a mixed force of missiles and piloted airplanes.

Some 19 additional unit moves and conversions were also ordered.

Air Force personnel at the major bases to be closed will be transferred to other active units or activities.

The number of civilians who will lose their jobs was estimated at 1,300 at Mitchell; Grennault 260; MacDill 400, and Donaldson 500.

The new first lady, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, has been advised by her doctor to curtail her social activities in the White House and to take things easy for the next six months.

Dr. John Walsh explained Monday that Mrs. Kennedy will have to "cut down—not eliminate—some of the White House social activities."

He said "there is nothing abnormal or alarming about her condition."

She is recovering normally from delivery of her son by a Caesarean section, "but extraordinary demands are made on the first lady," Walsh added.

The doctor, who attended Mrs. Kennedy through the Caesarean birth early Friday, noted that it takes any woman time to recover from having a baby.

"The first lady has 10,000 more duties than the ordinary Mrs. Smith," he pointed out.

So Dr. Walsh has advised Mrs. Kennedy to eliminate non-essentials when she moves into the White House—"to attend the major, necessary functions and try to curtail the lesser things—until she can handle them."

He said that period should be about six months.

Between East and West

Language Barriers Breaking

Michigan schools are making great strides to break down the language barriers between East and West, reports the president of the Michigan chapter of the American Assn. of Teachers of Slavic and East European Languages.

The Michigan chapter, formed a year ago, recently appraised the state's language programs at the first working meeting held here.

Re-elected to head the organization for another year was Dr. Nikolaj P. Poltoratzky, associate professor of foreign languages. Teachers from high schools, colleges and universities throughout Michigan, according to Poltoratzky, reported increased interest and emphasis on Russian and similar languages.

ONE OF THE MOST spectacular general increases in the Russian program, he notes, is on campus.

Although many students still consider Russian to be a difficult language, he points out that there are more than 10 times as many students here taking Russian courses today as there were four years ago.

Dr. Stanley R. Townsend, head of the department of foreign languages, described to the teachers the basic principles underlying the university's language program.

TOWNSEND INDICATED that the startling scientific advances of the Russians and the improved teaching techniques in foreign language departments are two reasons why students are showing an increased interest in Russian.

It is now possible, Townsend reports, to study Russian as a major subject at Michigan State and steps are being taken to develop a master's program in the near future. He adds that 13 new courses will be graduated by introduced in the Russian language field during the next two years.

Students are acquiring fluency in Russian much quicker than previously, says Poltoratzky, pointing out that emphasis is now being placed on conversation. Important tools in this approach, he stresses, are facilities such as the recently expanded language laboratories at Michigan State.

The director of the language laboratories, Sergey N. Andreev, and Prof. Vera Dunham of Wayne State university delivered papers at the Michigan State meeting.

MSU Gets New Film Series

A new film series, "Horizons of Science," has been placed in MSU's audio visual center library and will be made available to schools, civic groups and other interested organizations.

The set of 10 different 16 mm scientific films were placed in 66 major audio-visual centers throughout the country under a grant from the United States Steel foundation, Inc.

The color films will be made available on a loan basis on request, reports Dr. James L. Page, assistant director of the MSU audio-visual center.

Produced by Educational Testing Service and supported by an initial grant from the National Science Foundation, they enable the viewers to embark on a 20-minute trip with top ranking scientists as they go about their work.

Anthropologist Margaret Mead discusses the potentialities of man, an Air Force balloonist describes a 100,000-foot trip into space, and other films are concerned with such fields as atomic research, computers, history of the earth, and the universe.

While the films are of special interest to high school students, Dr. Page points out they are also of general interest and suitable for adult groups.

The audio visual center has more than 6,000 sound films available for loan off and on campus.

Films and catalogs are available on request from the audio-visual center.

This represents more than half of the annual total of breakdowns, according to Robert C. Nisbet, Auto Club road service manager, who urged car owners to take special winterizing precautions.

"A projection of our records indicates that approximately 2,161,000 Michigan drivers can expect to have some car trouble before the end of March," said Nisbet. "Cold, damp weather is the motorist's number one enemy. Even so, modern cars, given proper care, can go through the severest winter without a single mechanical failure."

BASING HIS forecast on past experience, the Auto Club road service expert said that 75 per cent of all calls to garages for assistance will result from battery and electrical system failure. Flat tires, empty gas tanks, stuck in snow or mud, wrecks, frozen locks, transmission and other major mechanical breakdowns will account for most of the remaining calls.

To cut in half their chances of a car breakdown this winter, Nisbet advised motorists to check any weaknesses in the following three vital areas:

1. Battery—Check for proper liquid level and strength, clean all corrosion off and make sure all terminal connections are tight.
2. Ignition system—Have distributor points, ignition coil, condenser, spark plugs, generator, and lal ignition wiring inspected by a competent man.
3. Cooling System—Check for sufficient anti-freeze, see that all radiator and heater hoses and connections are in good condition and fan belt properly adjusted.

Dr. Clifford E. Erickson, dean of education, has been named to a 12-man advisory committee on development of the Counseling and Guidance Institutes Program provided by the National Defense Education Act.

Since the NDEA was passed two years ago, more than 6,200 persons have taken part in 133 summer and 28 regular session institutes. About 3,400 will attend 82 summer and 22 regular session institutes scheduled for next year.

WHO'S WRONG?
CORTEZ, Colo. (AP)—Roy Jack Crowson isn't so certain he believes in book learning any more. He was competing for the right to enter the state spelling contest. One word kept him from having a perfect score: Tariff. Puzzled, he produced the book he was given to study for the contest. The book came up with the word spelled "Tarriff."

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS: DEAR DR. FROOD:

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: "Life ain't all beer and skittles," as the saying goes—but if enough students got together, maybe skittles could make a big comeback.

Dear Dr. Frood: I don't speak from personal experience, but I understand all the men in this college are wolves. What do you think a respectable girl like me—with a good old-fashioned upbringing—should do about this situation?

Strait Laced

DEAR STRAIT: Drop your handkerchief.

Dear Dr. Frood: When I entered college as a freshman this fall, my father gave me a very large sum of money to cover room, board, tuition, books and all other expenses for four full years of college. Because of an unfortunate series of poker games, however, the money is now completely gone. How would you suggest I handle this situation?

Ten High

DEAR TEN: I feel confident that your father will give you another chance if you go up to him like a man, tell him you are sorry, admit your mistake and promise him that your luck will change.

Dear Dr. Frood: I just don't understand the men in this college. Not one of them has ever asked me for a date. I am intelligent and easy to get along with. Enclosed is my snapshot. What do you think is wrong?

Left Out

DEAR LEFT: After considering this problem from every angle, I can only conclude that you have enormous feet.

Dear Dr. Frood: According to my figures over ninety-five per cent of the students here are below average. What is wrong?

Mash Major

DEAR MASH: You are obviously going to a below-average college.

DEAR NERVOUS: Safer.

DEAR NERVOUS: Safer.

DON'T BREAK TRADITION, WARNS FROOD! One of the proudest traditions on the American campus, reports Dr. Frood, is smoking Luckies. Today college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular. According to Dr. Frood, "Any student who breaks this tradition not only robs himself of the full pleasure of smoking—but also could, conceivably, bring 'the Curse of Frood' down upon the entire student body."
