Mothers Lose First Round in Boycott of Integrated Schools

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Fighting-mad white mothers—vowing a boycott of integrated schools to the finish—jostled Tuesday with New Orleans police Tuesday. The mothers lost.

Rioteously, amid yells and screams, the mothers broke their mass picket line under pressure from showing police. A young white Protestant minister escorted his five-year-old daughter into William Frantz school.

THE LITTLE daughter of the Rev. Lloyd Foreman was one of four white children to attend the school along with one Negro girl.

A squad of blockading mothers spied two white mothers who had taken their children into the school and swept down upon them.

"They should beat her 'til she can't stand up," yelled one woman during the arm-waving argument that followed.

Language became heated. The besieged mothers shouted that they had the right to take their children into any school they wished. As they drove off, pickets beat and kicked the car in frustration.

WE'RE GOING to get the job done," said one of the picketing mothers.

A flying squadron of pickets even visited the home of one of the mothers whose child was inside the school, trying to get her to join the boycott.

The passing of the day did nothing to lessen tempers. Mr. Foreman spirited his child out a back door at noon-time and the mothers sent up a shout of derision after they spotted his car driving away.

A CATHOLIC priest, the Rev. Father Jerome Drolet of suburban Kenner, walked through the crowd at this time. Father Drolet had accompanied Mr. Foreman into the school Monday.

A mother yelled: "Communist!"

Another shouted: "The Bible doesn't say we have to integrate." Father Drolet ignored the women. He chatted with police. He voiced the opinion the mothers should not be allowed to block sidewalks or disturb the peace.

MAINLY, the boycott of the two integrated schools—William Frantz and McDonogh No. 19—held firm. Two more white children entered William Frantz—a total of four—against Monday's two. But, at McDonogh No. 19, for the second day no white children entered.

Dr. Soble Arrested For Wartime Spying

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Robert Soble, a supervising psychiatrist at a big state mental hospital, was arrested Tuesday on federal charges of wartime spying for Soviet Russia. The government called him a member of an espionage ring headed by his brother, now imprisoned.

Dr. Soble, 60, whose legal name is "Soblen," is a brother of Jack Soble, 57, serving a seven year prison sentence since 1957 for espionage. Dr. Soble faces a possible death penalty.

The government said the doctor's particular espionage target was America's World War II intelligence agencies, including the hush-hush Office of Strategic Services.

He was specifically charged with conspiring to obtain documents, photographs and other data, particularly in the New York city area, for transmission to the Soviet Union.

The indictment charged that for almost 20 years Dr. Soble dealt with information about personnel, activities and organization of the OSS and other government intelligence agencies.

Dr. Soble was arrested Tuesday as he left Rockland State hospital at Orangeburg, N.Y., on his way to lunch. FBI agents brought him to New York, where he maintains a medical office.

Jack Soble, before he went to prison, was described as remorseful for his crime and anxious to atone for it by telling authorities all he knew about the spy ring he headed in this country for 10 years. There was no explanation as to why, therefore, three years elapsed before the arrest of his brother, Dr. Soble, Asst. U. S. Atty. Morton S. Robson would say only:

"Much of the credit in this case must be given to the FBI, which has been conducting an intensive investigation for several years."

Eighteen other persons were named in an indictment with Dr. Soble as co-conspirators in the case. The indictment was opened by federal Judge William B. Herlands.

Later, Dr. Soble went before Judge Herlands for a bail hearing and informed the court:

"My legal name is Soblen."

Dr. Soble received permission to telephone a lawyer and as he left the courtroom, he asked Herlands:

"May I say goodbye to the gentlemen?"

"Who?" Herlands inquired.

"The FBI gentlemen," Dr. Soble replied.

"Why?" Herlands wanted to know.

"Well, they were nice enough," Dr. Soble said.

Herlands smiled and granted permission, whereupon Dr. Soble bowed low from the waist, waved genially to the G-men and said:

"Thank you very much, gentlemen."

Russian Program Is Tonight

The Russian club will give an all-Russian performance today at 7 p.m. in the Music and members present a play, prose, poetry and music.

Explanations in English will precede each performance.

A one-act comedy, "Maphusail," will star Lubov Kishelina, Lansing sophomore, Ronald Kloet, East Lansing junior, and Lieselotte Waldek, Lansing sophomore.

A. A. Sokolsky, assistant academic advisor to the club, will direct the play.

Sandra Rusk, Garden City sophomore, will read her own poem in Russian while Zaiga Kuz, East Lansing junior, will read two poems by Pushkin, Gail Palenske, Glenview, Ill., sophomore, will read three fables by Tolstoy and Amy Burke, Howell sophomore, will read three humorous stories. Igh Guao, South Plainfield, N.J., sophomore, will read a short story by Dostoevsky.

N. P. Poltoratzky, club academic advisor, directed the prose and poetry pieces.

Seray Andretz, foreign language instructor, will direct the musical selections. Stanley Steimansenko, Lansing sophomore, will play the accordion. Club members will conclude the program with Russian songs.

Dress Up Students! Winter Is Upon Us

Gone are the days of the trench coat. Enter red tights, snug green and white striped mufflers and that glorious invention of the shoe manufacturers—snow boots.

The winter season began in earnest as a cold front passed East Lansing Monday at 6:45 p.m. Rain and thunder preceded the front which brought winds up to 60 miles per hour.

The cold air caught students and faculty unawares. Monday was a balmy day with temperatures in the low 60's. Khaki was the dominate color on campus as trench coats were hauled from storage for one last fling.

BUT TRENCH COATS went back in the closet Monday when the temperature dropped from 59 degrees at 7 p.m. to a cool 36 at midnight.

Around one to three inches of snow are expected to accumulate near Lake Michigan today but the Lansing weather bureau expects under an inch in the East Lansing area.

Snow flurries and cloudiness will continue through Thursday. Temperatures are not expected to rise above the mid-20's. That means winter paraphernalia, from cozy caps and scarfs to warm mittens, will be in order to survive the long weeks from the quonsets to Berkeley.

COEDS GOT out their lists of men with cars Tuesday in hopes of doing a little feminine hitchhiking.

Lobbies of buildings were jammed as students waited for a ride. No one minds waiting an extra half hour when a friend will be coming by any minute with a 1959 Rambler plus heater.

Car owners had to stop and clear all windows before driving home Tuesday afternoon.

When they came out of work at 5 p.m., they were greeted with a fine blanket of white snow. In spite of the cold, people looked happy.

"It sort of justifies all the Christmas decorations," one shivering coed said as she walked past the gaily trimmed street windows in East Lansing.

It's cold out. The wind makes walking hard. And wet snow really isn't as romantic as it looks. But it's winter and who wants a brown Christmas anyway?

Icy Walks Claim 1st Fall Victim

Snow finally came to MSU and brought with it the first casualty of winter.

John Schneider, Corning, N.Y., senior, received undetermined injuries to his right ankle when he slipped and fell on the snow covered steps in back of Student Services Thursday night.

He was able to walk to Old where he was hospitalized pending examination of the extent of his injuries.

Schneider, a sports reporter for the State News, was leaving on an assignment to interview hockey coach Amo Bessone at the ice rink when the accident occurred.

Kennedy Hints of Posts For Bowles and Hodges

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-Elect John F. Kennedy dropped hints Tuesday that there may be openings in the new administration for Chester Bowles and Gov. Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina.

But Kennedy's Press Secretary, Pierre Salinger, said:

"The president-elect has not talked to any person and asked him to be a member of his cabinet."

Nevertheless, Kennedy naturally has been searching for people to fill the key posts in the government which assumes power Jan. 20. He expects to name a budget director shortly and one or two cabinet members within the next few days.

BOWLES IS a retiring member of Congress from Connecticut. Hodges a retiring governor. Both are Democrats.

Bowles has figured in speculation for Secretary of State; Hodges for Secretary of Commerce.

Bowles was a breakfast guest at the Kennedy residence in Georgetown Tuesday morning. Later, the president-elect talked about Hodges with Terry Sanford, who is succeeding Hodges in North Carolina, and with state Democratic Chairman Bert Bennett Jr.

Kennedy escorted Bowles to the door after breakfast. He told newsmen they didn't discuss the future of the man who once was ambassador to India, governor of Connecticut and a federal price administrator. But he added:

"WE WILL be discussing it." In the 65 minutes they were together, Kennedy said, they covered KENNEDY Page 5

Macbeth Opening At Fairchild Tonight

By NAN LANGIN, State News Feature Writer

"Macbeth," the second major production of the University theater, opens tonight in Fairchild theater at 8 p.m. Performances will continue through Sunday, Dec. 4. There will be a matinee on Saturday, Dec. 3, at 2 p.m.

"Macbeth," the best known of Shakespeare's plays, is a story of violence and savagery. Duncan's murder is only the first of many that Macbeth must commit in order to retain the crown he tore from Duncan's head.

The imagery of darkness runs throughout the play. The murders are committed in the night time from Duncan's to Macduff's family meeting their fate at the hands of Macbeth.

Lady Macbeth, according to the director Frank Rutledge of the department of speech, is a very nice person. She is not as evil as she has so often been portrayed. She urges her husband on because she loves him deeply and believes he truly desires all of these things. The setting for "Macbeth," designed by Edward Andreassen of the department of speech, brings the play almost to the front row of the audience.

"Macbeth" promises an evening of excitement from the opening curtain until the Brian Wood actually moves down the aisles to Dunsinane.

Governor Will Call Tax Talks

LANSING (AP)—A special legislative session will be called before the end of the year to put through the one cent sales tax increase approved by the voters, Gov. Williams said Tuesday.

Williams said a date has not yet been set for the session.

Williams said he and Gov-elect John B. Swainson want to check signals first with legislative leaders of both parties before issuance of the formal call.

"We want to make sure that a bill agreeable to all will be ready to implement the increase," Williams said. "We also want to be sure this will not be a debating match—we don't have time for that."

"My own time is running out," added the Democratic governor who goes out of office at the end of the year.

Swainson said he did not favor the sales tax increase during the campaign but would accept the decision of the voters.

Both Williams and Swainson agreed the session should be restricted only to considering the sales tax increase. Republican spokesmen had suggested the session also be opened to cancellation of the emergency tax program of nuisance taxes now not due to expire until the July 1 end of the fiscal year.

Caracas Calm After Rioting

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—The army restored relative calm to shaken Caracas Tuesday after a night of bloody rioting by leftists accused of trying to impose a Cuban-style revolution in Venezuela.

But as the death toll rose to six from five days of disorders, the government sent national guardsmen into the big oil fields to guard the vital industry from sabotage.

President Romulo Betancourt ordered the guardsmen to protect pumping installations and refineries in both eastern and western Venezuela after a morning conference with the military command.

LEFTISTS still were active in Caracas' outlying districts despite strict bans on demonstrations, and the vigilance of the army and a heavy rain that discouraged trouble makers in the heart of this capital.

Demonstrators tried to burn a bus on Roosevelt avenue in the southern suburb of Chaguaramos despite orders to the army to shoot such firebrands on sight. Firemen saved the bus.

Social Christian party students supporting Betancourt fought their way into classrooms at Caracas university past communists trying to fuge a student strike. Police and soldiers did not try to enter the grounds, respecting the university's autonomy.

A leftist demonstration at Miguel Caro high school in the western part of the city also was reported.

AFTER THE guns fell silent early today, police announced two more rioters had been killed, bringing the toll to six dead in the disorders that began Friday night. Another 102 persons have been wounded by bullets or injured by flying rocks, police said.

Troops used automatic weapons at some points as the night rioting spread from the densely populated working class districts of western Caracas to the fashionable eastern end, where most foreigners live.

Shots rang through the night as mobs burned buses, hurled gasoline bombs at business houses and attacked the U.S. owned General Tire factory.

THE MAIN battle was between armed students inside the industrial school at University City and national guardsmen.

Communist and other leftist students fired on national guardsmen, who replied with long machinegun bursts, witnesses said.

The night edition of the communist newspaper Tribuna Popular issued a call for revolution. National guardsmen, acting under Betancourt's emergency suspension of civil rights, promptly occupied the newspaper's press room.

INTERIOR minister Luis Duque said the guardsmen found a machinegun and other arms there. Several persons at the newspaper were arrested.

In finally breaking up the demonstrations in the early morning hours, police used troops switched from tear gas to a sickness gas that causes vomiting. About 30 persons were reported gassed.

Betancourt telephoned governors in all states. They reported that the situation in the interior, where Betancourt has tremendous support, is calm.

A hint that Betancourt, a moderate Socialist, is menaced from the right as well as the left came with disclosure of the arrest of an alleged courier for exiled followers of deposed dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez.

UN Costly - Reds

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union demanded Tuesday an end to the vast UN operation in the Congo on the grounds Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold had bankrupted the United Nations in order to pay for it.

The demand came in the UN Assembly's budgetary committee after the United States announced it will contribute about $14 million more than its normal share of the Congo operation and appealed to all UN members to help shoulder the financial burden involved.

Churchill 86 Today

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill, recovering from a back injury, skimmed over thousands of happy-birthday messages Tuesday. He is 86 today.

Word leaking out of his London home in Hyde Park gate is that Sir Winston has been deeply moved by the many expressions of good will coming in from everywhere.

30 Dead In Congo

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (AP)—A UN company of 100 Nigerian soldiers, just three days in Katanga province, opened up with deadly sten guns when the tribesmen tried to ambush them Monday. A Katanga government spokesman said 30 tribesmen were killed.

The scene of the battle, with warlike bows and arrows against high powered weapons, was 200 miles north of here in central Katanga. Reports reaching Elisabethville Tuesday said only four Nigerians were wounded.

Snowstorm Is Dying A Slow Death

CHICAGO (AP)—A snowstorm that swept from the Great Plains into the Midwest and took at least six lives centered its dying energy in the north central portion of the nation Tuesday.

Cold air and strong westerly winds overspread the Midwest at midday, but heavy snow flurries and squalls were diminishing. Most of the winds, which reached a peak of 72 miles an hour, swirled into the northern sections of Lakes Michigan and Superior.

In New York harbor a tanker and a ferryboat collided in a heavy fog that hampered sea, land and air traffic.

In some areas, that 24 hours earlier basked in some of autumn's mildest temperatures, the mercury dropped from 30 to 40-or-more degrees in that span.

Readings ranged from Monday's high of 88 at Cape Henry, Va., to a bitter 24-below zero at Fraser, Colo.

GOP Yells 'Scandal' In Illinois

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican National Committee's general counsel said Tuesday the disappearance of official election documents from Chicago city hall is "dramatic evidence of a widening vote scandal in Illinois."

Saying the documents apparently were stolen, Meade Alcorn declared this "promises to have serious national repercussions."

The GOP official noted that President-Elect John F. Kennedy said Monday night all indications Kennedy received were that the vote count so far had been accurate.

Kennedy rolled up a big enough vote in Cook county to overcome the downstate plurality of Republican candidate, Richard M. Nixon, and give the state's 27 electoral votes to Kennedy by only 8,849 votes.

On the eve of a Cook county jury probe of vote fraud charges, a member of the Chicago board of election commissioners reported Monday that applications for ballots in one precinct had vanished from a vault in city hall.

"The documents which apparently were stolen from city hall, were official ballot application lists for a gravely suspect precinct in Cook county," Alcorn said.

"The documents disappeared from a container on which an official seal was broken."

Parents of Senior Grads To Stay at Kellogg Center

Reservations for 15 rooms have been received by Kellogg center for the parents and friends of December graduates, according to Robert Emerson, Kellogg center manager.

Due to the limited space, there were originally 20 rooms available for parents and friends, he said. Last year, December graduates reserved 25 rooms.

The entire building is reserved for the spring commencement. There are 33 reservations in now for the spring services, Emerson said.

They have received requests for reservations as far ahead as 1962, he said.

They were turned down, and those requesting the rooms were told to check back with the center following the 1961 spring commencement, he said.

Grandfather Gets First Look at John Jr.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Grandpa Kennedy got his first peek Tuesday at his new grandson, John F. Kennedy Jr.

And Joseph P. Kennedy's reaction after seeing his 19th grandchild was what you'd expect a proud grandfather to say:

The boy's doctor, Dr. Edward B. Brooks, said the child will be kept in an incubator for another 24 to 48 hours.

John Jr. was placed in the incubator immediately after his caesarean section birth, a precaution normal with premature babies.

Dr. Brooks said the oxygen in the incubator was shut off Tuesday morning, but may be used again for a while to rest the baby.

He is being left in the incubator for warmth, the doctor explained, adding: "He's not comfortable if we have to put covers on him."

Mrs. Kennedy goes each afternoon to look at the baby in the incubator in a nursery across the hall from her room. She has not yet held the child.

The president-elect made a long enough for a peep at the morning visit to the hospital.

He spent about 35 minutes with his wife looking through the nursery window at the infant.

As he left the hospital, the president-elect told reporters his wife, Jacqueline, is "fine—not much news." His son, he said, "looks about the same."

Grandfather Kennedy, a controversial figure who has stayed out of the public eye since his son started seeking the presidency, arrived at the Kennedy's Georgetown residence in the afternoon.

He went to the hospital less than an hour later. Since the child's mother was asleep, he stayed only a few minutes —

Shorten Campaign Period for President?

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special house committee Tuesday ordered hearings Dec. 15-16 on whether the presidential campaign period should be shortened.

Rep. Clifford Davis (D-Tenn), chairman of a special committee to investigate campaign expenditures, said after a closed meeting that better means of financing general elections also will be considered at the hearings.

Among those expected to be invited as witnesses are the chairmen of the National Democratic and Republican committees and campaign managers for both of this year's major party presidential candidates.

Davis said the committee feels that the presidential campaigns between the national nominating conventions and the election are "too long and too expensive."

Rep. William C. Cramer (R-Fla) said he felt the committee should get an expression by those interested on the length of the campaign, with special attention given to the use of television and radio in modern day campaigning.

Cramer said he believes consideration should be given to campaign contributions, including proposals for tax exemptions on some contributions.

FACING THE FAMOUS TRIANGLE

Catholics Seek Protest of Films

WASHINGTON (AP)—A committee of Roman Catholic bishops Tuesday called upon Catholics all over the United States to protest what they said was an alarming increase in objectionable films from Hollywood.

The bishops said such films have created a national crisis and called for reform of what they termed the "presently ineffective" Hollywood production code administration, an arrangement for self-regulation of the industry.

The bishops cited figures from the Legion of Decency—a Catholic organization for evaluating films. The Legion recently reported that this year objectionable films increased from about 15 per cent to about 25 per cent of Hollywood's output.

THE BISHOPS said a change in emphasis in the films considered objectionable was of even deeper concern than the increase in number. The objectionable films now often are major Hollywood productions, they said.

The bishops named no films, but earlier this month the Legion of Decency report to the bishops contained such comments on particular films as these:

"Strangers When We Meet"—glamorizes adultery.

"Happy Anniversary"—makes a sordid joke of premarital relationship.

"Psycho"—characterized by pornographic sadism.

The call for action was issued by the Episcopal committee for motion pictures, radio and television.

It was signed by Bishops James McNulty of Paterson, N.J.; John King Maschio of Steubenville, Ohio; Lawrence J. Shehan of Bridgeport, Conn.; James V. Casvy, of Lincoln, Neb.; Alden J. Bell, auxiliary to James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles.

Planes May Be Safer

PETERBORO, N.J. (AP)—A new aircraft device to enable a pilot to determine where he is during every moment of flight was demonstrated here Tuesday.

Called the "VORTAC Pictorial Display," the device consists of a 12-inch diameter map carried in the cockpit of a plane by which a pilot may continually plot his position.

The device was designed by International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. At its Nutley laboratories for integration with the federal aviation agency's new VORTAC air navigation program.

The program is currently being implemented throughout the United States and other allied nations to meet the point-to-point guidance needs of both military and civil aircraft.

ITT said its device uses bearing and distance information fed to it from the airborne components of the VORTAC system.

The display unit holds as many as 20 individual maps which are stored in sequential order according to the point-to-point flight plan.

After inserting the maps in a logical sequence that meets his flight plan, the pilot tunes in the VORTAC station servicing his departure area and takes off. He switches from map to map as needed for the area over which the plane is traveling.

ITT said that when visibility is poor, a group controller can easily interpret the pilot's position from a correlation of the pilot's reported pictorial information with radar, thus eliminating the necessity of in-air maneuvers for positive identification.

The company also said the display will make it easier for pilots of nonscheduled aircraft to avoid busy air traffic lanes, greatly reducing the danger of collisions.

Pilots can fly more directly and reduce air mileage and fuel consumption, ITT said.

U. S. Eyes Russian's Travels

CHICAGO (AP)—Living and travel restrictions were worked out Tuesday for a Russian United Nations employee who is accused of spying on the United States.

The ground rules were set for Igor Y. Melekh, 47, who came to Chicago from New York, where he was arrested last month on espionage charges. Melekh is free on bond.

Attorneys reached an agreement that Melekh may go to New York and Washington before his trial starts at a date to be set later.

He may live in New York but he must stay in Manhattan. He must not enter embassies or other places outside the U.S. Government's jurisdiction. He must receive permission from a U.S. marshal to enter a port, airport or railroad station.

He may visit Washington to see his lawyers, but under the same restriction.

His bond was continued at the $50,000 level.

The attorney's reported the agreement to Judge Edwin A. Robson, who canceled a Wednesday date for Melekh's hearing and did not set a new one.

A hearing for Willie Hirsch, 52, who was arrested in New York in the same case, was delayed until Thursday.

Hirsch told the court he has no lawyer but that his wife is seeking one. His hearing was put over to Thursday.

Foreign Doctors Have Troubles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Medical Association urged Tuesday to help grant a two-year reprieve for some 2,500 foreign doctors working in American hospitals who face possible deportation for flunking a qualifying examination.

More than 5,300 other foreign doctors passed the test. Those foreign doctors who failed originally had faced the possibility of deportation at the end of this year. But the AMA and several other medical groups worked out a compromise proposal under which the doctors could remain in this country until at least next June—meanwhile taking a second examination.

This proposal, however, is subject to the establishment of an educational program in hospitals where the doctors now are stationed.

groups took this action after the state department had voiced concern that the possible deportation of so many foreign doctors might have adverse effects on United States foreign relations.

Tuesday, at the annual clinical meeting of the AMA, the Massachusetts delegation to the policy-making house of delegates offered a resolution which urged that:

"No foreign medical graduate who began his post graduate training in this country on or before July 1, 1960, should have his current training program terminated before July 1, 1962 or before completing three years of training, whichever comes first, solely because of marks received on an examination."

MSU Helps Pets

Staff, Students Treat Animals at Giltner Clinic

By JUDI CONE State News Staff Writer

Sobriety and concern shadow the small clinic waiting-room. Patients and friends sit quietly and wait their turn to be admitted to the examination room.

Basically there is no difference between this waiting-room and any other.

The only deviation from the norm is that occasionally the solemn atmosphere is broken by an excited "yip" or nervous "meow."

PART OF Giltner's small animal hospital, the clinic, serves a variety of animals from all parts of the country.

Seen in the waiting-room over the years have been monkeys, parrots, Red Cedar ducks, foxes, mink and a kangaroo, not to mention hundreds of dogs and cats.

Animals come from as far away as California, New York and Mexico, according to Dr. Robert Schirmer, director of the small animal clinic.

"Small animal practice is based on the love of clients for their pets," Dr. Schirmer said.

HE EXPLAINED that treatment of large animals, raised for profit, is done on the basis of economics.

In contrast a person might pay hundreds of dollars for the cure of a worthless stray or mongrel simply out of affection for the animal.

Even a casual observer can not help noticing deep human concern on the faces of those in the hospital's waiting-room.

Last Day For Dow Exhibition

By JUDITH PEASLEE State News Feature Writer

Today is the last day the drawings and models of architect Alden Dow will be exhibited. The display is on the main floor of Kresge Art Center.

The display contains pictures of many houses that Dow has designed. The houses are usually set in a wooded area, which, according to Dow, adds much beauty to the design of the homes.

Wood is primarily used throughout the interior of the homes, while brick is used on the exterior.

The display also contains pictures of a complete city designed by Dow. The city is Lake Jackson, Texas. The town retains the charm of the Old South while having every convenience of our age.

There are also pictures in the exhibit of the Henry McMorran Memorial auditorium which Dow designed. The auditorium is located in Port Huron.

Other pictures in the display of Dow's works include the Phoenix Civic center, Phoenix, Ariz.; Dow Chemical General Sales building, Midland; Circle House project, Houston, Tex.; St. Johns Lutheran church, Midland; and St. Johns Episcopal church, Midland.

The display will be open today from 8 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

NOBODY'S GOING TO GIVE ME ANYTHING FOR BIRTHDAY

I'M DISILLUSIONED.

YOU KNOW IT IS KIND OF HARD TO IMAGINE A HOLIDAY WITHOUT A LITTLE GOOD ATTACHED TO IT!

OUR MISTAKE

The ad for Howard Johnson's restaurant in Monday's paper should have read "All the chicken you can eat... $1.39," not $1.

An elderly woman pats the dachshund on her lap saying, "get well, Skipper, get well."

A five-week-old French poodle, feared to have distemper, is fondled by a young girl.

HUNTING DOGS, pure-breds, and mutts all find their way into the waiting-room every day. Each is brought in by a concerned loving owner.

Most of them are cured, but inevitably a few must be put away.

"It is always difficult to tell a client there is no hope for his pet," Dr. Schirmer said.

"This is one of the most disconcerting parts of our job."

The clinic is served by seven members of the College of Veterinary Medicine. They are assisted in treatments by students in the college.

Kennedy

Continued from page 1 ered world conditions in general. Bowles, he said, brought him up to date on conversations with "a good many representatives of other governments, both here and in New York."

During the campaign, Bowles was a foreign policy adviser to Kennedy.

Sanford and Bennett arrived a little after Bowles' departure and were in the Kennedy house for more than an hour.

Once again, Kennedy escorted his callers to the door of the three-story red brick house and held an informal sidewalk news conference.

Kennedy said he had asked Sanford to come to see him to discuss political and economic conditions in North Carolina.

As for Hodges, Sanford said: "I TOLD the senator he would be a good man for any position anywhere in his administration—and he would. The senator listened very carefully."

That brought a smile flickering across Kennedy's face. But in response to a question whether he had talked about the commerce post, Kennedy replied in the negative. Then he added he thought Sanford had described the situation in saying Hodges would be helpful in any position.

And that, of course, was not exactly criticism for Hodges, who was honorary chairman of the committee of business and professional men for Kennedy during the campaign.

Kennedy is expected to announce his various choices in dribbles rather than in a single batch.

HE ALSO is thinking of some changes other than in personnel. Salinger said the president-elect is considering live television for occasional news conferences and, if this comes to pass, some might be held at night so more people could see them. But Salinger said Kennedy and his advisers are a long way from any decision on this.

President Eisenhower brought TV cameras and radio into White House news conferences for the first time. But the proceedings were recorded or filmed, then released later after checking.

Salinger said there has been no discussion with the networks of live TV coverage of news conferences.

The conferences, he said, would follow the old pattern of questions and answers. Apparently vetoing any idea that the questions might have to be submitted ahead of time, Salinger said nothing is contemplated that would change the spontaneity of the news conferences.

THE PRESIDENT-ELECT was doing business at home, with occasional breaks.

He drove to the hospital to see his wife and new baby, then came back to his residence to greet his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, and join in a belated birthday party.

The party was for friends of daughter Caroline, who was 8 on Sunday.

Both Mrs. Kennedy and John Jr. were described by their doctors as doing fine Tuesday.

THE SON was born by cesarean section. Mrs. Kennedy's doctor said her recovery is "completely uncomplicated." She is walking around the room and goes to look at the baby in an incubator in a nursery across the hall.

Oxygen in the incubator was cut off for the first time this morning, although doctors were ready to use it again in order to rest the infant who was born prematurely.

Mrs. Kennedy is expected to remain in the hospital until the middle or end of next week.

Loss of Aid Threatened

WSU Decision Arouses Anger

DETROIT (AP)—Wayne State University has been hauled into court, berated by angry petitioners and threatened with loss of financial support—all because of a Sept. 15 decision to permit Communist speakers on campus.

The decision by the University's Board of Governors to allow a 10-year ban on Communist speakers, former WSU president David D. Henry decreed the ban, saying:

"The university is establishing a vigorous policy against the use of the campus as a vehicle of propaganda for subversive doctrine."

The ban was imposed April 20, 1950, to outlaw a scheduled campus appearance by Herbert J. Phillips, who was discharged from the University of Washington faculty because of his asserted leftism.

In rescinding the ban, the Board of Governors, acting upon a joint recommendation by the University Council and the Council of Deans, said:

"The primary functions of the university are to promote scholarly inquiry and to promote instructions for students."

The governors' action, however, aroused a deluge of protests. Two WSU students circulated petitions which said:

"We believe that to grant Communists... permission to speak on campus is to openly co-operate in the latest Communist campaign—to capture and use student and youth groups."

Charles R. Landrigan, a Detroit Edison Co. vice president and a member of the WSU Businessmen's Advisory Committee, resigned his post in opposition to the lifting of the ban.

Sen. Elmer R. Porter, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, said in an Oct. 5 letter to a leader of the petition movement:

"WSU will be hard put to find any further Michigan tax dollars for its support as long as the Board of Governors permit Communist speakers to appear on campus."

The governors had been ready to reject the petitioners' request for a hearing but reconsidered when Porter's letter was read at their Nov. 16 meeting.

The university voted to hold everything in abeyance until they could find out how serious was the threat of loss of financial support. However, President Hilberry said later that Porter had assured him he was in favor of the university's policy in regard to the Communist speakers.

The university was named in a suit filed Oct. 20 in Circuit Court here by Carl Haessler, chairman of the Global Book Forum. Haessler charged that the university was denying his organization the use of the McGreggie Memorial Conference Center for a meeting. Haessler charged the university had entered into a formal written agreement for rental of the meeting room.

President Hilberry said permission had been canceled when it would not conform to the educational purpose of the building.

The secretary of the Global Books Forum is Mrs. Helen Winter, who in 1954 had been convicted of advocating violent overthrow of the government. The U.S. Court of Appeals ordered the case tried again and the charge was dismissed in 1958.

Circuit Judge George E. Bowles granted the Global Books Forum an injunction barring the university from interfering with the meeting. Bowles said there was "no clear and present danger to the stability of Wayne State University or of the state of Michigan."

Research Proves Claim

Scientists Find Males Superior

By BEV PRYSTASHI State News Staff Writer

Who wears the pants in the American family, the husband or the wife?

Scientific research has found that although men and women are more equal than they ever have been in our history, the males have a slight edge over the females.

America has not become a matriarchy, a nation run by females.

Most women have no desire to play the dominant role in family or business life.

D. Paul Popenoe, head of the American Institute of Family Relations, reports that studies of 100,000 cases across the nation reveal that two-thirds of all the families are either dominated by the husband or are genuine partnerships.

He said in such partnerships, each mate has equal rights. Only one-third of the families are dominated by wives.

The Institute learned that less than half the wife dominated marriages were happy ones. However, 87 per cent of the partnerships and 61 per cent of the families ruled by males were happy.

Dr. Margaret Mead, anthropologist and social critic, adds, "While it is true that the U.S. male is overly domesticated, he is subordinate to the demands of his home, not his woman."

"This domestication must not be interpreted as a sign of male decay or female mastery," she reported.

"It simply means that the running of today's homes calls for a man's help," said Dr. Mead, "and he responds, knowing the work has to be done."

Joseph H. Reid, executive director of the Child Welfare League of America, reports, "Psychologically, women do not want to make the major decisions. They want to be protected, loved, made to feel secure."

Reid concludes that husbands make the major decisions in the areas of jobs, child-rearing, and finance.

Dr. Ernest Dichter, head of the Institute for Motivational Research, declares that "A complete change has taken place in the roles of both sexes since the century began."

"The American woman has emerged as a balanced person," he explained, "she is neither the home-centered drudge nor the rebellious feminist."

"American men have changed, too," noted Dichter, "becoming more concerned about the inner needs of their wives and children than ever before, without forfeiting their traditional role as major decision makers."

Report your ego much, men? You still wear the pants in the family.

Heist speaks at Wesley Luncheon

He will talk on higher education. A discussion will follow. For reservation or transportation call ED-20980.

GM Official Discusses Auto Industry

Edward N. Cole, a vice president of General Motors corp., will speak on "Problems and Paradoxes in the Automotive Industry" at 3:10 p.m., today, in the Union ballroom.

The speech is part of a lecture series sponsored by the graduate school of business administration. Cole also is general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division of GMC. In July 1956, he was elected a member of the administration committee of GM.

Previous to his appointment as general manager, Cole served as chief engineer of the Chevrolet and Cadillac divisions.

The basic design and engineering concepts of the Chevrolet Corvair are accredited to Cole. He was responsible for the complete redesign of the 1955 line of Chevrolet cars and trucks.

NBA Title at Stake

Fullmer, Robinson to Clash

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Quiet, business-like Gene Fullmer, recognized in most of the world as the middleweight champion, is after more than just a win in his next fight.

The 29-year-old church elder from West Jordan, Utah, fervently hopes to send Sugar Ray Robinson into permanent retirement in their 15-round bout for Gene's National Boxing Association crown.

"I want to beat him and beat him bad," said Fullmer.

The match is scheduled for Saturday night at the big sports arena. It will be nationally televised, with Southern California blacked out.

"All I want to do," Gene said, "is get Robinson out of the business he dislikes so much. I want to retire him, to do him a big favor."

Robinson, at 39 seeking to regain the title for an unprecedented sixth time, wound up his heavy drills at Gilman Hot Springs, some 70 miles east of Los Angeles.

The New Yorker's workout was planned as his last serious one and he appeared in good condition.

But Robinson admitted that training is now a "drudgery" and claimed that he is making this fight only to satisfy his pride. "I'd like to quit with a championship," he declared.

Fullmer has built up a personal resentment for Robinson. It stems not only from Sugar Ray's fifth round knockout over him for the title in 1957 but Robinson's subsequent boast that he sent "a message and Fullmer got it."

Fullmer's usually even-tempered manager, Marvin Jensen, irked over past business dealings with the Robinson camp, declared: "I'm not the type to carry grudges but I don't like either Robinson or his manager, George Gainsford, and Gene feels the same way about it."

Jensen related that he opposed giving Robinson the title chance simply because he didn't want him to make any money.

"But Gene was determined to make up for that knockout," Jensen ex- lained.

Giants Still Hope

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants, with only flickering hopes of winning a third straight Eastern Title in the National Football League, still aren't conceding a thing, coach Jim Lee Howell indicated today.

The Giants are 2 1/2 games behind the first place Philadelphia Eagles, and tied with Cleveland for second place, with only three games to play. The Eagles also have three to play and a victory in any one of them, or a Giants' loss, eliminates the New Yorker.

Gophers National Champions

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota proudly accepted the national college football title banner today with a vow to prove its right to it in the Rose Bowl against Washington.

"We're going out as No. 1," said Dave Mulholland, halfback. "It's what we wanted. It's a great honor but a terrific challenge, too. But Washington isn't going to be scared by it, of course."

"We're as glad for the coach as we are for ourselves," said Joe Salem, reserve quarterback, referring to Minnesota's spectacular drive from last place in the Big 10 in 1959 to national supremacy this season by being voted No. 1 in the final Associated Press poll.

Coach Murray Warmath had been the target of ouster campaigns by alumni and others after a Minnesota record of 20 defeats in 24 games prior to this season. Warmath, in Buffalo, N.Y., for a speaking engagement when the No. 1 ranking was announced, sent congratulations to the team.

"This is the greatest experience of my life but I want to say that all the credit goes to the guys who worked their hearts out this year after all their disappointments in the past," Warmath said.

"We came back by avoiding the mistakes that cost us a losing season in 1959, by having a great lineman like Tom Brown with us all season, by playing a fine defensive game, and by making touchdowns every time we got inside the 20," Warmath said.

Frank Brisius, 255 pound tackle, credited the Nebraska opener with touching off the Gophers. "We scored 26 points in a short time against a team that rated very high. That was an important day for us. From then on we drove harder each week."

Heisman Award for Bellino

NEW YORK (AP)—Navy half-back Joe Bellino Tuesday was named the winner of the 1960 Heisman trophy by an overwhelming majority as the nation's outstanding college football player of the year.

The 5-9, 181-pound Bellino, the might of the Middles as Navy rolled up a 9-1 record and gained an Orange Bowl berth, picked up 436 first place ballots and a total of 1,793 points in the poll conducted by the Downtown Athletic Club.

BELLINO TOPPED the runner-up, Tom Brown, Minnesota guard, by more than 1,000 points in winning the 26th Heisman award, presented in honor of the great, late football coach, John W. Heisman.

Jake Gibbs, Mississippi quarterback, was third in the voting by the 1,130 selectors over the country, and Ed Dyas, Auburn fullback, fourth.

Bellino, from Winchester, Mass., topped the balloting in all five polling sections—East, South, Midwest, Southwest and far West—while becoming the first Navy player to receive the award.

Bellino also collected 196 second place votes and 93 third place votes. Points are awarded on the basis of three for a first, two for a second and one for a third.

BROWN RECEIVED 127 firsts and has 731 points. Gibbs drew 74 first place votes and 453 points, while Dyas was named on 46 first place ballots and finished with 319 points.

Bellino will receive the trophy at a dinner here Dec. 8. Billy Cannon of Louisiana State was the 1959 winner.

Steel Sculpture Stolen From Gallery Espresso

By CATHIE MAHONEY
State News Staff Writer

Italo Scanga, East Lansing graduate student, designed a steel sculpture last year for use in the Master's Show to be held in March, 1961. Recently, the work was on display at the Gallery Espresso and two weeks ago it was stolen.

The welded steel sculpture, which Scanga had not yet named, stands about 10 inches high on a marble base. According to Scanga, the work resembles "a little bug standing on one leg."

Scanga, a fine arts major, needs the sculpture for his entry in the Master's Show. This is a "one-man show" in which art students display their work; it takes the place of a written thesis.

This sculpture could not be valuable to any one else.

Scanga would like very much to have his work returned. He asks that the person who took it from the Espresso to return it either to the Espresso or to the State News, no questions asked.

The largest tomato producing states are California, Ohio, Indiana and New Jersey, in that order.

Joint Coffee Hour Follows 'Macbeth'

Theta Alpha Phi, the honorary dramatic organization and the MSU Players will co-sponsor a coffee hour in the scene shop of the Fairchild theatre following the opening night performance of "Macbeth." Members of the audience will meet the cast and crew.

"Macbeth" will open tonight and play through Sunday. Curtain is at 8 p.m., with a special matinee Saturday at 2:30 p.m. Tickets for all performances are available at the Fairchild box office.

No Graft in Road Says Herter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said Tuesday waste, but no graft, had been found in foreign aid financing of the big new road program in Viet Nam.

His statements were in a report to Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., chairman of a senate foreign relations subcommittee which investigated allegations of lax management and possible wrongdoing in the foreign aid program in Viet Nam.

Herter said an inspector general's investigation showed poor planning caused long delays in construction of a radio network for Viet Nam. But he said no evidence was found of the rigging of bids for purchase of the equipment.

He told of one man, not identified by name, who had received "certain income not identifiable with known sources," Herter said an inquiry into that case is continuing, the internal revenue service joining in the study.

Herter's report was in two volumes, one made public by Mansfield and one suppressed because it contains material classified secret by Herter.

Herter's report said the inspector general has found that the three highways being built in Viet Nam at a cost to the government estimated at $70 million "are wider than will be required . . . in the foreseeable future."

He also said lighting arrangements on two bridges in the project were in the luxury class and "could have been dispensed with."

Herter said the investigation showed a foreign aid official, not identified by name, who has been deeply involved in planning the project "was not a professional engineer and was working outside the area of his professional competence."

21 Selected to Study USAF Sends Officers to State

The United States Air Force has assigned 21 selected officers to the rank of college student for a period of one calendar year.

These USAF officers, including one officer of the Royal Canadian Air Force, are attending State to receive Masters degrees in business administration.

This military assignment is called the USAF Comptroller's program. The USAF has established this program in order that officers may acquire knowledge of more efficient and modern business management techniques. Because millions of employees and products are utilized by the USAF, effective business management is of extreme importance.

This program is one of several civilian institutional programs which the USAF has established for the special education of selected groups of officers. However, it is the only program in the controlling or business management area.

This period of instruction, which began fall term, will terminate at the end of the second summer session, 1961. However, it is expected to be a continuing program with a new group of officers next September.

Ranking from captain to lieutenant colonel, these career officers have spent an average of 15 years active duty in the USAF. They were selected from applicants at bases throughout the United States and overseas after extensive screening and examination by the USAF.

The majority of these officers served at command levels within various phases of the business management function in the USAF.

For example, one member was a comptroller in the Strategic Air Command, another an audit supervisor working with civilian contractors for supplies, and another was in charge of USAF accounting and auditing activities for the entire East coast area.

Also, about one-half of these officers have flying ratings. They have been acquiring their necessary flying hours at Selfridge Air Force base while attending State.

Each man is carrying an average of 14 credits per term. Some of the courses included are advanced accounting, administrative control, theory of economics, advanced marketing, management programming, and operations research.

The standards for the group are the same as for regular graduate students working for MBA degrees.

Dr. Gardner M. Jones, associate professor of accounting and financial administration, is the academic advisor for the group. The local ROTC is assisting in coordinating military matters.

Lt. Colonel Leonard H. Ritchard, the senior officer of the group, has been in the USAF for 14 years.

He says, "This is a stimulating academic program which exposes us to fresh ideas and approaches to individual management problems. It provides us with basic management information which will benefit us when we are reassigned to continental jobs in the Air Force."

Ritchard and four other officers recently received Air Force commendation medals for such feats as—smoothing the administration of the Congo airlift, organizing and directing a financial evaluation group, and originating a new method for training Air Force accounting clerks.

Maj. John R. Houck Sr., Maj. J. Richard Brown, Maj. Arthur Prosser Jr., and Capt. Niles A. Socenson were the other officers honored.
