

Michigan State News

Serving MSU For 51 Years.

Established 1909 Vol 52, No. 119

East Lansing, Michigan, Tuesday Morning, March 7, 1961

6 Pages

Second Class Postage
Paid at East Lansing, Mich.

5 Cents

Young Republicans Suggest Tax Change

Jackson Convention Takes Up Sources of State Revenue

By JOY F. SOKEITOUS
State News Staff Writer

An investigation of legalized gambling as a source of state revenue and a complete tax revision was suggested in the platform of the Young Republicans.

These recommendations were part of the Michigan Federation of Young Republicans' platform written at their convention in Jackson Friday and Saturday.

A favorable vote on the call for a constitutional convention, the April 3 ballot was urged in the following recommendation:

"A continuation of the biennial legislature, having broad powers and not impaired by restrictive constitutional devices."

A politically responsible, active branch of government headed by a governor whose term shall be four years, determined in the event of a presidential election.

Endorsement of the "Michigan Plan" for the selection of Supreme Court Justices, and as an intermediate appellate court.

Raising of the current limit on state borrowing.

Elimination of earmarking of funds and that all state money be incorporated into a general fund, dispensed at the discretion of the legislature.

The Agricultural Plan urges that farm production conform to the laws of supply and demand.

General decrease of farm subsidies and production controls.

Use of a decreasing flexibility parity program.

Stimulation of research to increase commercial uses of products.

Loans and financial aids.

Support of the UN crusade.

of foods for peace."

In the Civil Rights plank the House Un-American Activities Committee was urged to use its power in a more careful manner so as to insure the civil rights and liberties of citizens of the United States.

Government should not legislate toward or against minority groups as such. Legislation should be enacted to remove discrimination in law which destroys the civil rights of all individuals," urged the platform.

The Health and Welfare plank opposed all programs which have been advanced in the name of medical care bills in the belief that individual states and citizens are better equipped to handle and implement action necessary in these matters.

A continuation of the biennial legislature, having broad powers and not impaired by restrictive constitutional devices.

Under education the platform stated a desire to abolish the disclaimer affidavit of previous membership to subscriber six organizations of the National Defense Education Act and retain the loyalty oath.

In the field of foreign affairs, the use of United Nations forces in the Congo to protect neutrals and to prevent outside intervention only, was urged.

It was resolved that the United Nations fully support the United Nations in its aims and oppose any attempts of any country to discredit or undermine the UN and its activities.

It was recommended that the U.S. support a World Court with jurisdiction limited to defined areas not dealing with or jeopardizing any nation's internal sovereignty by first calling the withdrawal of the Connally Amendment.

The labor plank urged that every employee is granted full expression of his political beliefs and is not through force or coercion made to support political candidates in which he does not believe.

Dr. Herskovits to Speak On 'Africa and America'

Dr. Melville Herskovits, African specialist, will speak on "Africa and America," Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Kellogg Auditorium. This is the third in a series of lectures sponsored by the African Language and Area Center.

Lambda Chi Names Junior 500 Finalists

Finalists for the 14th annual Junior 500 queen have been named by Lambda Chi sponsor of the event.

Finalists included Lorelei Hoxie, Armaida freshman Jill Barber, Saginaw freshman Anne Murray, West Springfield, Mass., freshman; Penelope Weaver, Crosswell freshman, and Karen McCarty, Birmingham freshman.

Spring term a junior 500 queen will be chosen from the five contestants. The queen and her court will reign over the Junior 500 pushcart derby May 20.

The Lambda Chi Alpha Junior 500 is an imitation in miniature of the Indianapolis 500 mile race.

All 8 Petitions Now Available

AWS Special Events petitions will be available today through Friday.

Included are openings for chairmen and members of the following committees: STUN, Who's Who and What's What, Publicity committee, Big and Little Sister program, Lantern Night, Queen's petitions and Winter Blood Drive.

Petitions may be obtained at the Union Board desk or in the Women's Division Student Services.

LAMBDA CHI FINALISTS—Four finalists for the Lambda Chi Alpha Junior 500 queen were selected at the final queen's tea Sunday afternoon. Left to right are Karel Metcalf, Birmingham freshman; Jill Barber, Saginaw freshman; Anne Murray, West Springfield, Mass., freshman and Lorelei Hoxie, Armaida freshman. Missing is Penelope Weaver, Crosswell freshman. See page below. (State News photo by Brian Kennedy)

March Roars on as Tornadoes, Snow and Rain Hit Midwest

Colliding masses of snow and cold air, a sign that spring is not far away, triggered violent weather from the Mississippi River valley eastward into Virginia.

A line of intense thunderstorms moved eastward over Ohio, while a second batch booted up over parts of Tennessee and Mississippi.

The twisters hit in Tennessee, Indiana and Illinois.

Three persons perished in the wreckage of their collapsed homes when a sneak tornado blasted the tiny community of Connelly.

Heavy snow plastered wide-spread areas north of the storm belt, closing scores of schools and tying traffic in knots.

Freezing rain slicked highways in central and western lower Michigan, making driving treacherous.

It was recommended that the U.S. support a World Court with jurisdiction limited to defined areas not dealing with or jeopardizing any nation's internal sovereignty by first calling the withdrawal of the Connally Amendment.

The labor plank urged that every employee is granted full expression of his political beliefs and is not through force or coercion made to support political candidates in which he does not believe.

The president created a 12-member committee to prevent any hiring/firing discrimination in the government and in companies having federal contracts.

Taking his first action in the civil rights field, Kennedy set up the committee by executive order, without resort to legislation.

The order provides stiff penalties for violations, including cancellation of government contracts under certain circumstances.

Kennedy consolidated two existing government committees into a single President's committee on equal employment opportunity. He named Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson as chairman and Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg as vice chairman.

"With this vastly strengthened machinery," Kennedy said in a statement, "I intend to insure that Americans of all colors and beliefs will have equal access to employment within the government, and with those who do business with the government."

Kennedy also announced that he has directed all federal agencies to take immediate action to broaden government

"Our job is education—not taking sides," he said, "and decision making is just not a proper function of the educator."

People do not have the same beliefs, value systems or opinions of the facts, he said.

"However, even if all the facts of the feed grain plan were known and understood by everyone, there would still be disagreement about what ought to be done."

Obviously, if an educator in public policy tells the people what decisions ought to be made, he is attempting to impose his set of values on others.

Details of the feed grain plan have not been settled, Mauch said, but the Freeman forces have "felt out" Congress on raising price supports

Navy Task Force Ready To Assist UN in Drive Against Congo Troops

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo, March 7.—The United Nations command warned Monday it will recapture the key port of Matadi from the Congolese army by force if negotiations fail. A U.S. Navy task force sped toward the area to help the UN if needed.

UN officials said privately UN headquarters in New York had ordered a standstill in military operations to retake Matadi until 8 p.m. tonight, the earliest.

A spokesman denied media reports published abroad that Moroccan troops were marching on Matadi, pointing out that most Moroccans already have left the Congo.

In the most humiliating defeat the Congo mission has suffered, the 135 Suaheli soldiers garrisoning Matadi laid down their arms Sunday after more than 24 hours of battling with rifles, machine guns and mortars with more than 1,600 Congolese soldiers.

A UN spokesman said negotiations are now going on but added:

"If the United Nations fails to get back by peaceful means, it is empowered to use force as a last resort if necessary."

Without waiting for a UN request, the United States turned around a goodwill task force of four ships bound for Capetown and sent it back toward Congolese waters.

Foreign Minister Justin Bokoboko issued a statement accusing UN troops of causing the trouble at Matadi. He said UN troops opened fire first in every case. The UN insists the Congolese launched the attack.

The UN troops blazed away with rifles and machine guns.

Troops acknowledged that UN white mortars, fire rained into their camp. The fighting persisted out at dusk Saturday but resumed again after daybreak Sunday.

U.S. Ships Diverted From Tour

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 7.—Four U.S. Navy ships have been diverted from a goodwill tour of Africa to assist UN forces need help in the Congo.

The ships, the state Department Monday confirmed the task force was turned back from a voyage to Capetown, South Africa, and was heading for Congolese waters.

The vessels are the destroyer Gearing, the dock landing ship Hermitage, the tank landing ship Graham County, and the Navy tanker Nespelen.

The destroyer Vogelesang, which completes the five-ship good will task force, is continuing on to Capetown. It is scheduled to rejoin the task force after picking up mail and supplies.

The Vogelesang carries a crew of 274.

The five ships, which have been making calls at West African ports, have been used previously to support UN operations in the Congo. Lincoln White, State Department press officer, recalled they were used to evacuate 738 German soldiers last month when President Seigneur ordered them home.

INAUGURAL RE-ENACTMENT SCENE—This was the scene at the U.S. Capitol building Monday as the inaugural 100 years ago of President Abraham Lincoln was re-enacted. John C. Collison of Richmond, Va., portraying Lincoln, climbs into a carriage for the ride down Pennsylvania Ave. from Capitol Hill. Others are in costume of the era. (AP Wirephoto)

Professor Arthur Mauch:

'Feed Grain Program for More Effect'

By STAN CHALLISS

University professor Arthur Mauch, Cooperative Extension project leader in public policy, will not take a stand on the new feed grain program proposal.

"Our job is education—not taking sides," he said, "and decision making is just not a proper function of the educator."

People do not have the same beliefs, value systems or opinions of the facts, he said.

"However, even if all the facts of the feed grain plan were known and understood by everyone, there would still be disagreement about what ought to be done."

Obviously, if an educator in public policy tells the people what decisions ought to be made, he is attempting to impose his set of values on others.

Details of the feed grain plan have not been settled, Mauch said, but the Freeman forces have "felt out" Congress on raising price supports to $1.20 (74 per cent of parity), said, but in keeping with the than a few dollars a year," he said and tying this in with a land-use plan developed for education in public policy, he had

Under this temporary voluntary cropland adjustment program, growers of corn, grain sorghums, barley, oats, rye and flax would have to retire at least 20 per cent of their 1960 acreage to non-crop use to gain in time.

Growers who comply would receive cash payments equal to 60 per cent of the normal yield on the acreage that's cut back.

In addition, farmers could retire up to another 20 per cent of their acreage and get paid "in kind" (in their grain) from the Commodity Credit Corporation for two-thirds of the normal yield.

From the farmer's standpoint there wouldn't be any production expenses or risk on the cropland retired, he said.

The farmer would receive higher prices by the support price, and would have lower production costs in general, build up his soil reserve and still get payment on what he normally would receive," he said.

Consequences on the consumer would be minor, he said.

"The plan won't effect the consumer's grocery bill more than than a fraction of a cent," he said.

The feed grain program will be more effective than the acreage allotment plans we have today, because it puts teeth in the land retirement plan," he said.

Taxpayers would not be affected to any degree, he said, because the new policy would reduce interest charges, storage and other costs.

There will be a lot of opposition to the plan in Congress, he said.

"Some will squabble over the terms of the acreage reductions and payments," he said.

"Others will fight over the support levels."

"Another group will think that $1.20 or $1.30 corn prices will stimulate too much production or raise livestock and poultry costs."

The real issue, he said, is whether this would be a better permanent program than a voluntary land-retirement program.

BASKETBALL SCORES

Indiana 80, Wisconsin 69

Michigan 74, Illinois 66

Michigan State 76, Iowa 64

Sen. Goldwater's Address Delayed

Broadcasting of the high school district championships this week will delay the broadcast of Sen. Barry Goldwater's address, "Conservatism in This Age," until 9:15 tonight.

It will also be rebroadcast at 2:30 p.m., March 22.

Organizations Directory to be Sent Out Today

The Student Organizations directory will be distributed to day, according to John Barkham, chairman of Student Organizations Council (SOC).

The directory lists every university organization, giving its officers, advisors and general purpose. They will be sent to every living unit.

The council provides a point of contact and information between university administration and organizational activities of students, he said.

"Coordinating the objectives of the organization within the university community and coordinating the present and projected activities of campus clubs are two other interests of SOC," added Barkham.

The SOC is divided into 13 subdivisions which represent interest areas of more than 200 campus organizations.

Part of Building Program

Navy May Request New Carrier for the Limited War Capability

WASHINGTON. (UPI)—The Navy is considering asking for a new carrier as part of its building of the nation's limited war capability. The carrier presumably would be included in an overall shipbuilding program for about 30 ships directly or indirectly used for waging less-than-all-out war.

In addition to the carrier, the building list the Navy is now contemplating includes six specialized cruisers, 12 to 15 destroyers and more than 15 nuclear-powered submarines.

Crooks Fined for Stealing

Four crooks have been fined for pleading guilty to charges of simple larceny in shoplifting before Justice of the Peace William Wise of East Lansing. The fines ranged from $25 and costs each. Joanne Stephanie Wolfson, Pa., freshman, and Virginia Truax, Ho Ho Kien, N.J., junior, fined $15, costs were Annette Lintz, Detroit freshman, and M. Zbock, Dearborn sophomore. All four admitted taking from two East Lansing stores last Wednesday.

Williams Explains Faux Pas

LAKEWOOD, N.J.—Dr. James W. Williams, U.S. information secretary of State for African Affairs, said yesterday that Monday night he went to the United States embassy in the United States embassy in Africa to meet with African leaders who were in America. After a meeting, he was asked to leave the embassy because he had been seen by a reporter who was there. Dr. Williams explained that he had been invited to speak at a press conference.

Williams supported the demands for an African majority government in the central African federation. Williams said he had no secret for the United States believe in self-determination for African territories in his opinion, he added, self-determination means rule by the majority but with consideration for the minority. U.S. policy is to promote equal rights for all people, he asserted.

The unidentified white man stabbed a Negro Monday evening at a segregated laundry in Columbia, S.C., where a recent wave of demonstrations has resulted in strikes and arrests.

The unidentified white man fled away from the crowd and the Negro college student was taken to a hospital in critical condition.

The violence occurred at a Westover laundry owned by Patricia and Lennie Givens, of Wade, Pa., a student at Benedict College, was sitting at the counter when a white man approached and asked:

"Are you having fun?"

Givens said he did not reply and the man stabbed him in the side. At a hospital, an exploratory operation revealed some of Givens' vital organs were punctured, and he suffered severe loss of blood.

Police immediately began an extensive search for the white man.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of a Negro mother of the 1940s.

Williams was the son of

MSU Cagers Upset 2nd-Placed Iowa

By JOHN SCHNEIDER
Associate Sports Editor

Michigan State finally accomplished what it has been trying to do in the past four games—upset one of the Big Ten's top three. The Spartans defeated the fifth-ranked nationally Iowa Hawkeyes, 74-61, Monday at Jenison Field house.

If you saw the Spartans third victory in Big Ten competition this season, closing the rather dismal season on a bright note and forecasting them even as a team to be reckoned with in next season's conference play.

Iowa, playing its last game for MSU, was given a 30-second standing ovation from the crowd of 5,000 fans when he left the game late in the final period. Folsom scored 11 points and had numerous assists and defense steady during the game.

Jack Lammers led the Spartan with 11 points. All of the five starters scored on double figures, giving state a balanced attack. Dick Hall scored 10, Art Schwarm had 11, Ed Williams 10, and Ted Williams ten points.

MSU took the lead from Iowa's 21-20 with eight minutes to go in the first half on eight straight points by Folsom and held on to the lead for the rest of the game. State then scored 13 points to Iowa's two and led 35-29 with three minutes to go in the half. The score at the half was 37-30.

Aggressive play and hustle were the principle asset for the Spartans during the contest as they ran the defensive minded Hawkeyes into the ground during much of the game.

Dick Nelsen was the only Hawkeye who gave State any trouble, scoring 14 points and forcing Williams to foul out. Both also fouled four times according him.

In the second half, State continued its habit of a shooting and spell and increased its lead to 36 points. It was with five minutes remaining, however, managed to score ten straight points at the end of the contest, but State improving steadily in the last half dozen games.

State managed to connect on an amazing 26 of 29 free throw attempts during the contest to provide the difference. Both squads had 24 field goals and the same number of free throw attempts. 29, but State connected ten more times than the Hawks.

Three of the Spartans hit on every one of their three field goals three for three. Williams six for six and Schwarm connected on three. Lammers missed his first attempt and then made ten in a row. He finished with 21 of 31 from the line.

Both teams were rather cold from the field with State shooting 31 percent of its attempts and Iowa 31 percent. State outrebounded the taller Hawks 37-36. During the contest.

Coach Fordy Anderson was high in his pride of graduating senior guard Dave Folsom.

Folsom is one of the best at the men I have ever seen stated Anderson. He is a credit to MSU. We will miss him next year but we should be in pretty good shape for the new season.

Anderson also noted that it was not the best game of the year for the Spartans.

It was a good game and when it ended the seniors were more interested in being in two than State games and the city football managers are. In Illinois, Bradley started his second game with Illinois State and defeated the Spartans 52-49.

The Spartans will be going to New York for the NIT.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to Illinois Saturday night. The streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

NIT title.

Bradley's streaking 29-20

game followed a 30-3 loss to

Illinois Saturday night. The

streak was extended by Bradley and the streak of

senior games. Bradley started no

more than 10 games and won the

Elizabeth Taylor Receives Blood Transfusions for Anemia

LONDON, Eng.—Elizabeth Taylor, gravely ill with pneumonia Monday night faced another threat to her hold on life: anemia.

Doctors at her bedside had to give her blood transfusions.

The complication developed only a short time after the forty-star appeared to be rallying against the illness that has her gasping for life.

Her personal physician, Dr. Carl Hemy Goldman, reported Monday night:

"We are a little worried. Her blood is not very good. She is becoming anemic."

HOPES FOR the star brightened earlier in the day when Goldman announced a slight improvement in her condition.

For three days now the 29-year-old actress, often called "the most beautiful woman on earth," has battled for her life.

Over her a team of doctors watch, nurses come and go silently. Her husband, singer Eddie Fisher, grave-faced and not wanting to talk much, is always at her bedside in the London clinic. Her British parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Taylor, went twice to see her Monday.

SHE LIES there with a tube inserted in her windpipe to help her breathe. Surgeons had to make an incision in her lovely throat to insert the pipe.

It will leave a scar, about two inches long, Goldman said.

The tube is connected to an other piece of equipment brought in to reinforce her grip on life—an electronic lung.

If she takes even a small breath this machine makes her take a bigger one," Goldman explained.

Miss Taylor is being drip-fed through her ankle and is being given antibiotic drugs every four hours.

AS WELL as her parents,

she had other visitors Monday among them: Rouben Mamoulian, who quit as director of the film "Cleopatra," which Miss Taylor came here last September to make—but never began.

Suzanne Cardozo, a friend of the actress also stayed over at the clinic.

"Poor Liz," she said coming out into the sun from the cool gloom of the hospital, "she can't talk. She has to scribble on pieces of paper."

It's the very worst type of pneumonia. It's the very same kind she had 16 months ago and for this reason she has built up a terrific resistance to antibiotics. She's having trouble with them.

Sometimes Miss Taylor lapses into unconsciousness.

"Every day at 4 p.m. I go to a steam room, take a nice long steam, have a massage and then a little supper and booze. When I make my entrance for the dinner show, I grab a tall glass of apple juice, walk out on the stage and start the act."

"Without fail, some woman at ringside will lean over to her husband and say, 'Look how plastered he is.'

Dino also says his pal Frank Sinatra hasn't taken a drink of liquor since the inauguration.

"It's a new frontier for him too," says Dean.

It's true Dean drinks but much less than he leads the public to believe. He explains why:

"The public, especially the night club public, expects me to be drunk. I never finish a song, although I start a couple of dozen. When some barker asks me to sing a song all

New Frontier Lures Martin: No Drinking in Next Movie

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—Dean Martin has the toughest acting role of his career in "Ada."

Says he:

"I don't take a drink in the whole picture. It opens up a whole new frontier for me."

In such previous films as "Some Came Running" and "The Bells Are Ringing," Dino played a scorching swinger.

"I didn't even have to learn lines for those parts," he quips. In "Ada" he plays a Southern type governor on the order of Jimmie Davis of Louisiana, with Susan Hayward as co-star.

"Man, I've never acted before without a glass in my hand," says Dean. "That was the only method system I knew."

It's true Dean drinks but much less than he leads the public to believe. He explains why:

"The public, especially the night club public, expects me to be drunk. I never finish a song, although I start a couple of dozen. When some barker asks me to sing a song all the way through I yell back,

"If you want to hear me sing, buy my albums. Who wants to pay these prices to see someone standing up here with all the blood vessels in their throat straining?"

Dean is one of the top draws in Las Vegas. He discloses a set routine that he has followed there for years:

"Every day at 4 p.m. I go to a steam room, take a nice long steam, have a massage and then a little supper and booze. When I make my entrance for the dinner show, I grab a tall glass of apple juice, walk out on the stage and start the act."

"Without fail, some woman at ringside will lean over to her husband and say, 'Look how plastered he is.'

Dino also says his pal Frank Sinatra hasn't taken a drink of liquor since the inauguration.

"It's a new frontier for him too," says Dean.

It's true Dean drinks but much less than he leads the public to believe. He explains why:

"The public, especially the night club public, expects me to be drunk. I never finish a song, although I start a couple of dozen. When some barker asks me to sing a song all the way through I yell back,

"If you want to hear me sing, buy my albums. Who wants to pay these prices to see someone standing up here with all the blood vessels in their throat straining?"

Dean is one of the top draws in Las Vegas. He discloses a set routine that he has followed there for years:

"Every day at 4 p.m. I go to a steam room, take a nice long steam, have a massage and then a little supper and booze. When I make my entrance for the dinner show, I grab a tall glass of apple juice, walk out on the stage and start the act."

"Without fail, some woman at ringside will lean over to her husband and say, 'Look how plastered he is.'

Dino also says his pal Frank Sinatra hasn't taken a drink of liquor since the inauguration.

"It's a new frontier for him too," says Dean.

It's true Dean drinks but much less than he leads the public to believe. He explains why:

"The public, especially the night club public, expects me to be drunk. I never finish a song, although I start a couple of dozen. When some barker asks me to sing a song all the way through I yell back,

"If you want to hear me sing, buy my albums. Who wants to pay these prices to see someone standing up here with all the blood vessels in their throat straining?"

Dean is one of the top draws in Las Vegas. He discloses a set routine that he has followed there for years:

"Every day at 4 p.m. I go to a steam room, take a nice long steam, have a massage and then a little supper and booze. When I make my entrance for the dinner show, I grab a tall glass of apple juice, walk out on the stage and start the act."

"Without fail, some woman at ringside will lean over to her husband and say, 'Look how plastered he is.'

Dino also says his pal Frank Sinatra hasn't taken a drink of liquor since the inauguration.

"It's a new frontier for him too," says Dean.

It's true Dean drinks but much less than he leads the public to believe. He explains why:

"The public, especially the night club public, expects me to be drunk. I never finish a song, although I start a couple of dozen. When some barker asks me to sing a song all the way through I yell back,

"If you want to hear me sing, buy my albums. Who wants to pay these prices to see someone standing up here with all the blood vessels in their throat straining?"

Dean is one of the top draws in Las Vegas. He discloses a set routine that he has followed there for years:

"Every day at 4 p.m. I go to a steam room, take a nice long steam, have a massage and then a little supper and booze. When I make my entrance for the dinner show, I grab a tall glass of apple juice, walk out on the stage and start the act."

"Without fail, some woman at ringside will lean over to her husband and say, 'Look how plastered he is.'

Dino also says his pal Frank Sinatra hasn't taken a drink of liquor since the inauguration.

"It's a new frontier for him too," says Dean.

It's true Dean drinks but much less than he leads the public to believe. He explains why:

"The public, especially the night club public, expects me to be drunk. I never finish a song, although I start a couple of dozen. When some barker asks me to sing a song all the way through I yell back,

"If you want to hear me sing, buy my albums. Who wants to pay these prices to see someone standing up here with all the blood vessels in their throat straining?"

Dean is one of the top draws in Las Vegas. He discloses a set routine that he has followed there for years:

"Every day at 4 p.m. I go to a steam room, take a nice long steam, have a massage and then a little supper and booze. When I make my entrance for the dinner show, I grab a tall glass of apple juice, walk out on the stage and start the act."

"Without fail, some woman at ringside will lean over to her husband and say, 'Look how plastered he is.'

Dino also says his pal Frank Sinatra hasn't taken a drink of liquor since the inauguration.

"It's a new frontier for him too," says Dean.

It's true Dean drinks but much less than he leads the public to believe. He explains why:

"The public, especially the night club public, expects me to be drunk. I never finish a song, although I start a couple of dozen. When some barker asks me to sing a song all the way through I yell back,

"If you want to hear me sing, buy my albums. Who wants to pay these prices to see someone standing up here with all the blood vessels in their throat straining?"

Dean is one of the top draws in Las Vegas. He discloses a set routine that he has followed there for years:

"Every day at 4 p.m. I go to a steam room, take a nice long steam, have a massage and then a little supper and booze. When I make my entrance for the dinner show, I grab a tall glass of apple juice, walk out on the stage and start the act."

"Without fail, some woman at ringside will lean over to her husband and say, 'Look how plastered he is.'

Dino also says his pal Frank Sinatra hasn't taken a drink of liquor since the inauguration.

"It's a new frontier for him too," says Dean.

It's true Dean drinks but much less than he leads the public to believe. He explains why:

"The public, especially the night club public, expects me to be drunk. I never finish a song, although I start a couple of dozen. When some barker asks me to sing a song all the way through I yell back,

"If you want to hear me sing, buy my albums. Who wants to pay these prices to see someone standing up here with all the blood vessels in their throat straining?"

Dean is one of the top draws in Las Vegas. He discloses a set routine that he has followed there for years:

"Every day at 4 p.m. I go to a steam room, take a nice long steam, have a massage and then a little supper and booze. When I make my entrance for the dinner show, I grab a tall glass of apple juice, walk out on the stage and start the act."

"Without fail, some woman at ringside will lean over to her husband and say, 'Look how plastered he is.'

Dino also says his pal Frank Sinatra hasn't taken a drink of liquor since the inauguration.

"It's a new frontier for him too," says Dean.

It's true Dean drinks but much less than he leads the public to believe. He explains why:

"The public, especially the night club public, expects me to be drunk. I never finish a song, although I start a couple of dozen. When some barker asks me to sing a song all the way through I yell back,

"If you want to hear me sing, buy my albums. Who wants to pay these prices to see someone standing up here with all the blood vessels in their throat straining?"

Dean is one of the top draws in Las Vegas. He discloses a set routine that he has followed there for years:

"Every day at 4 p.m. I go to a steam room, take a nice long steam, have a massage and then a little supper and booze. When I make my entrance for the dinner show, I grab a tall glass of apple juice, walk out on the stage and start the act."

"Without fail, some woman at ringside will lean over to her husband and say, 'Look how plastered he is.'

Dino also says his pal Frank Sinatra hasn't taken a drink of liquor since the inauguration.

"It's a new frontier for him too," says Dean.

It's true Dean drinks but much less than he leads the public to believe. He explains why:

"The public, especially the night club public, expects me to be drunk. I never finish a song, although I start a couple of dozen. When some barker asks me to sing a song all the way through I yell back,

"If you want to hear me sing, buy my albums. Who wants to pay these prices to see someone standing up here with all the blood vessels in their throat straining?"

Dean is one of the top draws in Las Vegas. He discloses a set routine that he has followed there for years:

"Every day at 4 p.m. I go to a steam room, take a nice long steam, have a massage and then a little supper and booze. When I make my entrance for the dinner show, I grab a tall glass of apple juice, walk out on the stage and start the act."

"Without fail, some woman at ringside will lean over to her husband and say, 'Look how plastered he is.'

Dino also says his pal Frank Sinatra hasn't taken a drink of liquor since the inauguration.

"It's a new frontier for him too," says Dean.

It's true Dean drinks but much less than he leads the public to believe. He explains why:

"The public, especially the night club public, expects me to be drunk. I never finish a song, although I start a couple of dozen. When some barker asks me to sing a song all the way through I yell back,

"If you want to hear me sing, buy my albums. Who wants to pay these prices to see someone standing up here with all the blood vessels in their throat straining?"

Dean is one of the top draws in Las Vegas. He discloses a set routine that he has followed there for years:

"Every day at 4 p.m. I go to a steam room, take a nice long steam, have a massage and then a little supper and booze. When I make my entrance for the dinner show, I grab a tall glass of apple juice, walk out on the stage and start the act."

"Without fail, some woman at ringside will lean over to her husband and say, 'Look how plastered he is.'

Dino also says his pal Frank Sinatra hasn't taken a drink of liquor since the inauguration.

"It's a new frontier for him too," says Dean.

It's true Dean drinks but much less than he leads the public to believe. He explains why:

"The public, especially the night club public, expects me to be drunk. I never finish a song, although I start a couple of dozen. When some barker asks me to sing a song all