Too Many Cars

Six City Parking Lots But Still Not Enough

By LINDA LOTRIDGE
State News Staff Writer

An off-street parking program was initiated by Lansing in 1951 and today the city boasts six parking lots with a total of 677 spaces.

The problem, as the City Council saw it, was too many cars and too few parking spaces. To help solve the problem, the city purchased the property behind Jacobson's to build a parking lot.

LATER THAT year, the city acquired the property next to the post office on Albert street and Abbott road. These lots gave the city a total of 1,123 spaces including parking meters on the streets.

At this time parking on Grand River avenue was permitted and provided an additional 136 spaces. In 1951 the state highway department ordered parking off Grand River because of increasing traffic.

This move brought about a five year progressive plan where the city would gradually purchase land and build lots to take care of the additional cars.

"Spaces attract cars so the more spaces there were, the greater the shortage," Charles Pegg, East Lansing chief of police said.

THE SHORTAGE did continue. The city purchased the land at Albert and Charles streets, Evergreen street and Valley court, Bailey and Albert streets and MAC avenue. By early this year all of the new lots were finished.

The lots pay for themselves since they are financed by a revenue bond. Eventually the money collected from people parking in the lots pays off the bond.

One parking space costs $1,200 because the land must be purchased, drained, graded and paved. The last three lots cost $261,000.

"THE POLICE FORCE was needed to patrol the city streets checking speeders and investigating accidents. We couldn't spare our men for the parking lots," Pegg said.

The city relieved the police of the extra checking and changed from the meter system to attendant lots a year ago.

Since the police were receiving no salaries from the meters, the checking was an added burden.

The first lot to be changed over was the one behind Jacobson's and recently the one at Charles and Albert was changed.

DRIVERS can come into the lots and park for as long as they want. They pay for every minute they're there so no one gets parking tickets on run-out meters.

"People don't argue with the attendant. He has the time figures in front of him. They will argue with a policeman for hours. They can never see how they were gone over the parking meter limit," Pegg said.

The attendant system is working better than the meters. Within a year or two, the city hopes to change the others over to attendant lots. This way only one attendant is paid per lot and the policemen can be patrolling the city, Pegg said.

Now that the city has added parking lots and for the time being solved the meter problem, the next step is to meet the demand for more parking spaces.

THREE GROUPS of drivers enter East Lansing—the transients on main highways, salesmen who are here on business, shoppers from outside the city who come for a day, and the townspeople.

The townspeople include residents and students who use downtown parking facilities.

Arab Club First Not Israel Singer

The Arab Club was first place winner in last year's International Festival. The singer from Israel placed second at that time. State News incorrectly reported that Israel was first place winner last year.

as much or more than the residents. Students often make several trips a day to the business district. The residents usually only make one.

Students park for an hour or two to attend classes, leave for an hour and come back later.

East Lansing, unlike most cities, has an unusual traffic problem which ultimately leads to an unusual parking problem.

IN MOST CITIES, the peak hours for traffic are at 8 a.m., noon and 6 p.m. However in East Lansing, the traffic peaks every hour. Not only is the traffic increasing on the hour but the parking spaces are changing hands every hour or two.

Student parking needs and those of the residents are opposite since students need up to eight hours of parking while residents need only an hour or two.

"Because the MSU lots are so far from the classroom buildings, students park in East Lansing. However, any regulation against a student is discriminatory. The police try to be very fair," Pegg said.

The attitudes of a student as a student and as a customer are entirely different and require different parking facilities, Pegg said.

AS A STUDENT, he will walk three and four blocks or even a half mile from classroom to a parking space. When he goes shopping, he wants to park within a block of the stores.

The residents feel the same way and park as close to the stores as possible. This is why parking lots must be placed near the stores or they'll go unused.

As new stores are opened, more parking facilities will be needed to take care of the additional shoppers.

"A store like Knapp's will draw another department store like it in to compete, and eventually another store will follow all needing parking lots," Pegg said.

The planning commission is currently studying ways to meet the city's parking problem within the next five years.

Council Petitions Are Open

Petitions for Senior Council are now open, according to Bob Cantrell, senior class president. Petitions will be available until Friday in 317 Student Services and in the Union Concourse.

Positions are available on the following committees:

COMMENCEMENT, which involves setting up and regulating commencement for 1962; Public Relations, which needs a chairman and three sub-chairmen, one each for State News, Publicity and News Letter; Social, which plans senior nights and other social events; Service, which takes care of special activities of the council; Homecoming, which works on queen selection and homecoming organization; MSU Development Fund, which handles raising of funds and class gifts and also works closely with the Alumni Relations Dept.; Hannah's Receptions, which works with Mrs. Hannah to organize these events.

Also needed are two members-at-large to help with any special projects that might come up and a person to decide the proper basis for selection of Senior of the Week.

THIS YEAR'S Senior Council has been reorganized and several positions have been added and others dropped.

The class of 1962 will be the first one in the last few years to come into their senior year with money in their treasury, said Starr Keesler, director of Alumni Relations and faculty advisor.

Operation Abolition will be shown in the Union ballroom next Tuesday night and on Wednesday, May 24. Both presentations will begin at 7. The movies will be shown by the American Legion and the Union Board.

14 Nation Meeting In Geneva

GENEVA, (AP)—The United States gave way Monday on a procedural tangle in hope of testing the sincerity of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's peaceful pronouncements on Laos. A 14-nation conference on the future of Laos now is scheduled to start here today four days late.

On instructions from President Kennedy, Secretary of State Dean Rusk reluctantly agreed to a new big-power compromise on who would speak for Laos at the meeting after earlier agreements had been rejected by the Laotians themselves.

The representatives of Laos' pro-western government still objected to the compromise, but Britain and the Soviet Union, co-chairmen of the conference, announced it will start this evening anyway.

The announcement said the co-chairmen would seat "representatives from Laos" proposed by other delegates.

THIS AVOIDS giving the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels the status of a governmental delegation, but it still puts them on equal footing with the other two factions—the Vientiane government and the rebel's allies, a self-styled neutralist group supporting Prince Souvanna Phouma who is recognized by the Communists as the legal premier of Laos.

The announcement indicated the conference would deal solely with the international aspects of the Laotian crisis—securing the country's military neutrality and the problems of arms control. It will not concern itself with the political aspects of what sort of government will run the country. The foreign ministers apparently hope this will be settled in Laos itself by the representatives of the three rival factions.

Up in the air was whether the pro-Western representatives would attend the conference. But Vientiane's minister of the interior is en route to Geneva to head the delegation and he may decide to go ahead and take part.

The Americans took the position that rather than prolong arguments on procedure, serious negotiations on the future of Laos should start to determine whether Khrushchev will stick with his announced policy of establishing a truly neutral Laos removed from the pressures of the cold war. This is also a major U.S. goal.

Professor On Chemical Award Group

A university professor has been chosen as a member of the award committee for the Kirkpatrick Award for Chemical Engineering Achievement.

Dr. C. Fred Gurnham, head of the chemical engineering department, and 99 heads of chemical engineering departments in the United States, will select the chemical processing company making the most meritorious contribution to the industry and profession.

This award is presented every other year by Chemical Engineering, a McGraw-Hill publication.

Final selection of the winner will be made in July. The winning company will receive a bronze plaque at a banquet in New York.

Graduate Employment Topic of Conference

A college-industry personnel conference was held Monday for university and industries to discuss problems in graduate employment.

The conference will also meet today and then go to the General Motors research center in Detroit, according to Dean Tom King, chairman of the conference.

The conferences were represented by universities and representatives from the largest employers in industry, King said.

The conference covered, he said, the number of people hired each year, how they are trained, salaries and travel expenses.

Universities represented included Iowa University, Purdue, Auburn, Indiana University, Georgia Tech, Princeton, Texas A & M, Columbia, Cornell, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Dartmouth and Penn State.

Industrial representatives included Eastman Kodak, General Motors, Union Oil, Westinghouse, Socony Oil, Goodyear, Bethlehem Steel, DuPont, Union Carbide and Proctor and Gamble.

King has been chairman of the conferences for seven years.

Fiji Pledges Win Help Week Trophy

Last term, Alpha Tau Omega fraternity offered the ATO Help Week Trophy to the fraternity pledge class that performed the most useful service to the community during winter term.

At Greek Feast Saturday night, Perry Katz, secretary of the Lansing Community Services Council, awarded the 26-inch trophy to Phi Gamma Delta. The Fiji pledges renovated an antique fire engine for the Lansing Historical Society. Alpha Sigma Phi won second place for taking children from St. Vincent's Home for Children to the circus, and third place went to Delta Upsilon for doing yard work at St. Vincent's.

Judging the service projects were George Hibbard, Assistant Director of Men's Division; Ward Ouradnik, past president of the Fraternity Advisory's Cabinet and Robert Perrin of the Lansing City Council. Also on the judging committee were East Lansing Police Chief Charles Pegg, Bob Barrett, Birmingham sophomore, IFC representative, and Don Ritter, Birmingham sophomore, representative from ATO.

ATO said it initiated this program in order to help foster a sense of community responsibility among MSU fraternities.

DLA Elects Winfield Chairman

David Winfield, Grand Rapids sophomore, was recently elected chairman of the Democrats for Liberal Action.

Other new officers are: Bob Hencken, Huntington Woods freshman, vice chairman; Phil Ambs, Jackson junior, secretary; Ed Prophet, East Lansing freshman, treasurer.

Thevis Markle, Lansing junior; Wayne Harryman, Indianapolis, Ind., freshman, and Pat Quinlan, Dearborn freshman, were elected to the State Central Committee. Ulrich Nocken was appointed publicity chairman.

Winfield says he plans a continuation of the current program of guest speakers, an expansion of the club's newsletter, and greater opportunities for individual participation in politics.

City Planners Plan To Meet On Campus

Urban Planners will be holding their first annual alumni meeting here Friday.

Colleagues, alumni and guests will begin the meeting at 2:30 p.m. with a coffee hour at the South Campus Grill and a tour of the Urban Planning building.

After the tour they are holding an informal discussion among the faculty, students, alumni and outside guests on "MSU Urban Planning: The Planner and the Student."

Following the discussion will be a buffet-style dinner at the Poplars Motel with refreshments and informal discussion.

Humor Mag Now On Sale

"Chaff, MSU's new humor and satirical magazine, is now available at many East Lansing stores, Bill Myers, Chaff editor, said Sunday.

The new magazine, which is published seven times a year on a number of campuses, will be a local product, according to Myers.

Most of the material in each edition will come from local talent and will center on the MSU campus. Myers said "Chaff" is looking for good fiction, non-fiction, cartoons and photographs. He said the magazine would change its format if necessary rather than pass up any good material. Each edition will feature humor and satire on some phase of campus life. The introductory issue is a "take-off" on fraternities and the Greek system.

Pro-U.S. Group In Charge

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—An army revolutionary group headed by the chief of staff seized Korean public buildings before dawn Monday and announced—amid flurries of gunfire—that it had taken over the Korean government. The revolutionaries emphasized in their broadcasts that they are pro-American.

(The revolt apparently came as a surprise to officials in Washington and neither the state department nor the defense department had an comment.)

Informants at the revolutionary committee headquarters said most members of Prime Minister John M. Chang's cabinet had been arrested, but the report lacked immediate confirmation.

THE REVOLUTIONARIES led by Lt. Gen. Chang Do-Young took the capital by surprise with the pre-dawn broadcast that they had seized power from Chang, who succeeded Syngman Rhee.

Their broadcast reassurances to the people but did not immediately explain what prompted two periods of heavy gunfire during the morning—the first lasting 40 minutes and the second only a few minutes.

The first announcement of the action by the military revolutionary committee came after the 40-minute shooting spell in downtown Seoul.

After that heavy firing only an occasional shot could be heard in the city until the second outbreak of shooting shortly after 7 a.m.

That quickly died down and again only an occasional lone shot was heard.

REPORTS SAID only units of the Army and Marine Corps were involved. Several battalions appeared to be involved.

The broadcasts of the committee over Seoul radio furnished the only actual information on the situation.

The revolutionary committee established its headquarters in the offices of the Korean athletic association across from city hall in downtown Seoul.

Military units took over most of the major government agencies, including the Presidential palace, National Police headquarters and the Bando hotel.

CHANG and his wife were reported staying in the Bando. The hotel was heavily guarded by troops and no communications with the building were permitted.

The U. S. armed forces radio told American troops and civilians to stay in their compounds and homes.

The Seoul radio reported that the revolutionary committee also had taken over such major See KOREA Page 4

Kresge Art Show Exhibits Sculpture, Ceramics, Painting

Sixteen graduate students have put together the art show now at the Kresge Art galleries so it's called "Sixteen Grads." The 16 are candidates to receive the master of arts or master of fine arts degree at the end of spring or summer term.

Each has contributed a painting to the exhibit in the large gallery. IN ADDITION, each of the ten students hoping to receive a degree at the end of spring term is displaying a small collection of his work in the smaller galleries. The collections are, in effect, masters theses. One of the ten is a sculptor, Italo Scanga, whose work occupies an entire gallery; another, Richard Cunningham, is a ceramist. Painters are Dorothy Wells, Forrest Bailey, Don Hatfield, David Holsworthy, William Arscott, Phyllis Williamson, Johanna Steib and Ellen Frommhold. The prospective summer

New Parks To Serve 140,000 More People

Campers, picnickers, bathers, and others will find some welcome additions to a number of Michigan's heavily-used and newer state parks this year. If you were among some 147,000 campers turned away in 1960 because of a lack of facilities, it should be cheering to learn that 765 new campsites are ready to serve approximately 140,000 additional visitors at these parks.

Hot water, showers, and toilets have been added to the east campground at Straits park. Parking lots have been expanded at Tahquamenon Falls park and a boat dock shelter has been completed at the Lower Falls. At Van Riper, the central shelter building has undergone a face-lifting and the bathroom sewage system has been improved. IN THE NORTHERN lower peninsula, a new parking area has been completed on Hamlin Lake at Ludington park to accommodate some 120 cars. Work is underway at a new picnic area adjacent to the parking area. Hot water has been added to a campground toilet building at this park and also at Orchard Beach park. A new panoramic entrance route to the Crooked Lake picnic site, improved parking facilities and a small boat launching ramp at the lake, a remodeled bathroom at Big Portage Lake, a more convenient boat launching site at Sugarloaf Lake, and a new group building at Mill Lake outdoor center highlight improvements in Waterloo recreation area of southeastern Michigan.

Park System Growing Fast In Turkey

The people of modern Turkey share an important pastime—the picnic—with Americans. Outsiders who haven't visited Turkey often think of it as a quaint land out of a past age. But nothing could be further from the truth, says Zekai Bayer, head of the Turkish National Park service and a park management student in the university's Department of Resource Development.

Today, 25 national recreational areas and hundreds of local parks provide a chance to get away from bustling cities. Two national parks and a bird paradise open rural beauty to tourists. The national park system has existed only two years. "Turkey's park growth has paralleled that in America many years ago," said Bayer and Louis Twardzik, MSU park management professor.

"FOR EXAMPLE, Central Park was once outside the urban area of Manhattan Island. The city eventually grew out to it, and the same thing may someday happen in Istanbul." The Turkish National Park service has developed just one national historical park. Bayer expects to see about 25 such parks in the next 10 years to preserve the nation's rich history. Bayer mentions a few historic high spots already opened to the public by city governments.

JUDY BROKENSHERE as Lahume and Charles Mattes as the poet, Hajj, in a scene from the all-university production of "Kismet," to be presented in the auditorium May 25, 26 and 27.

'Kismet's' Record Needs No Critic Aid

The success of the musical comedy, "Kismet," which is being presented by the University Theatre and the department of music on May 25, 26 and 27 in the auditorium seems to disprove the power of the press—or at least the importance of critics' reviews the day after the show's opening on Broadway.

For "Kismet" opened at the Ziegfeld theatre in New York on Dec. 3, 1953, in the midst of a strike of all New York daily newspapers. Not a single critic's review appeared in print. BUT THE COMMENTS that were broadcast on radio and television the next day were so enthusiastic, and so was the word of mouth spread by those who attended the opening night, that long lines of ticket-buyers were strung out at the box office. Oddly enough the same situation existed when "Kismet" opened in London some 16 months later, in April 1955, when the British capital was also in the throes of a newspaper strike that prevented a single edition being printed. The show was a hit there, too.

"Kismet" ran to capacity audiences in New York for 17 months, to achieve a total of 805 performances before it set out on a long coast-to-coast tour of other cities. When the news-critics then attended a delayed paper strike was settled, several weeks after the opening,

Trap More Beavers But Price of Pelts Fall

With conditions running true to their hoped-for form, Michigan trappers enjoyed a marked increase in their beaver and otter take during the recent season. Beaver take rose from 11,442 in 1960 to 16,336 while the otter harvest totaled a record 908. The beaver figure is topped only by the 1953 and 1958 seasons when 17,017 and 19,611 of these furbearers were trapped. Trappers owe much of their success to winter's generally light snowfall and a mild spring breakup which led to stable water levels in most parts of the state and easy access to trapping areas. Beaver pelt prices were somewhat disappointing as they fell short of their expected level. "Blanket" beaver prices, a yard-stick for the going rate on other pelt sizes, brought $16-18 as compared with $20-23 last season.

'Breathless' A Story of French Punk

By JIM HUCKA
State News Film Critic

Giving us a microscopic look at a young French hoodlum is the new film at the State with improbable title of "Breathless."

The film shows a young punk by the name of Michel Poicard, portrayed by French actor Jean-Paul Belmondo, as he lives his devil-may-care life searching for an infamous immorality. The punk sees a life of crime a good means to a bad end and emulates the Hollywood-type gangster.

ON THE ROAD to notoriety, he meets a young American girl, played by Jean Seberg, who knows little of his profession until the police question her and ask her to help them catch him. Knowing that he fathers her unborn child, the girl must make a decision about her feelings for him.

In the role of Michel Poicard, Belmondo gives the part all that could be desired. Also, he looks less like an actor portraying a part and more like a street bum idolizing the tough glamor of the Humphrey Bogart type gangster.

The picture may seem to move at a slow pace, but there is not any need here for editing. The slowness accentuates the natural slowness of many moments in our lives, and likewise, the faster moments move at a rapid-fire speed, which might tend to leave you breathless.

EVERY COLLEGE STUDENT needs this book to increase his ability to learn

An understanding of the truth contained in Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy can remove the pressure which concerns today's college student upon whom increasing demands are being made for academic excellence.

Christian Science calms fear and gives to the student the full assurance he needs in order to learn easily and to evaluate what he has learned. It teaches that God is man's Mind—his only Mind—from which emanates all the intelligence he needs, when and as he needs it.

Science and Health, the textbook of Christian Science, may be read or examined, together with the Bible, in an atmosphere of quiet and peace, at any Christian Science Reading Room. Information about Science and Health may also be obtained on campus through the

U. S. Jurist Blasts Eichmann

JERUSALEM, (AP)—A U. S. jurist Monday pictured Adolf Eichmann as Hitler's all-powerful lieutenant in the wartime program that took the lives of six million Jews. Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, an authority on the extermination campaign, testified that such Nazi big-wigs as Hermann Goering and Joachim Von Ribbentrop told him that Eichmann was given vast powers by Hitler. The prosecution first recalled that Eichmann in pretrial questioning had said: "well, what could I have done? I had orders from my superiors. If I had not executed them I would have been shot."

Sputnik Stirs Translation Gathering

When the USSR sent its first Sputnik into space, libraries throughout the country were pressured to obtain translations of Russia's scientific magazines, said Dr. Richard Chapin, director of libraries. The university library now receives more than 50 Russian periodicals, most of which are available in the science division of the library. Others are in the Physics-Math library. Recently, Dr. Mladen Kabalin, science librarian, compiled data concerning these periodicals into a university library bulletin. The bulletin includes the titles of the magazines, their call numbers, the dates or volumes of the first translations, first issues received, and their locations. A special session of Student Congress will be held in the Congress meeting room after the regular session Wednesday night. The special session, open to all members of the student body, will be concerned with the 25 cent student government tax.

Russians May Have New Missile Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—Military leaders believe they know the locations of 37 Soviet missile launching pads, including one less than 500 miles from Alaska.

And they figure the Russians have 35 to 50 long-range war rockets ready to shoot.

At least 10 of the reported missile pads have been identified as launch sites for the Soviet Union's 8,000-mile-range T3 missile, which carries a thermonuclear warhead.

Further, the United States has determined the location of 14 Russian missile and rocket facilities.

ALL OF THIS information appears in the May issue of Military Review, a magazine published by the U.S. army command and general staff college at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

The magazine noted that the data have been compiled from unclassified sources and added, "because of a tight soviet control over military information, this data is derived from sources which are not necessarily accurate or complete."

In addition to estimating the Russians have between 35 and 50 long range missiles ready to shoot, the military review figures the Soviet Union is capable of producing up to 200 strategic missiles by the winter of 1961-62.

At latest count, the United States had an estimated 59 ready-to-shoot missiles, including 32 of the submarine launched polaris rockets.

FURTHER, SAID the magazine, "there is some evidence that the USSR is prepared to fire strategic missiles from mobile launchers mounted on rail cars."

The rail-mounted missile is believed to be a boost-glide weapon, known as the T4A. This missile is boosted upward by a rocket engine then glides to its target like an aircraft. It carries a 3,100 pound payload. The range is not known but since it's regarded as a strategic weapon it presumably can travel 1,500 miles or more.

In spotting the launching pads, the magazine noted that all are located within the Soviet Union with the exception of one at Seroc, 20 miles north of Warsaw, Poland.

MOST OF THE Russian launch pads appear to be located west of the Ural mountains, though there is a launch site at Anadyr in Siberia across the Bearing Sea from Alaska.

There is, additionally, a concentration on the Siberian mainland just to the northwest of Japan and on the Sakhalin Islands, due north of Japan.

The sites near Japan are identified by the magazine as Komsomolsk and Nikolaev in Siberia and Okha, Terpeniye and Korsakov in the Sakhalins.

There is a heavy concentration of missile launch sites in northern Russia at Kuressaare, Sovetsk, Luga, Minsk, Kallinin, Brobruisk, Roslavi, Kiev and Kola.

In general, however, the launch sites appear to be widely dispersed, including three intercontinental-range launch sites along the extreme southern borders—at Murghab, Alma-Ata and Irkutsk.

Revolt Rages in South Korea

They said the main force of the troops was the Third Marine brigade and that the Marines marched into Seoul from Kimpo, about 20 miles northwest of the capital.

They said the Marines were joined by two Army Reserve divisions and identified the units as the 30th and 33rd.

One Korean news agency quoted what it said was a statement by Gen. Kim declaring: "Coup d'etats are not good things, but we had to do it now before the situation became worse. We acted and we succeeded."

THE REFERENCE to the situation apparently meant general conditions in South Korea politically, economically and in regard to reunification of the country.

Informants at revolutionary committee headquarters said a young Marine brigadier general was a top leader in the coup. They identified him as Kim Yoon-Kun.

Informants at revolutionary committee headquarters said a young Marine brigadier general was a top leader in the coup. They identified him as Kim Yoon-Kun.

INFORMANTS at committee headquarters said Marine units encountered some resistance from Korean Army military police stationed in Seoul as the Marines entered the city.

Meanwhile in Honolulu deposed Syngman Rhee of South Korea was under sedation Monday and was not told of the reported military coup.

Mrs. Rhee told the Associated Press she knew nothing about the coup except what she had heard through local telephone calls.

Asked if Rhee would have any comment, she said "I'm sure not."

Irish Sweepstakes Winner Gets Pardon From Sentence

Lady luck is with Albert Diorio again. The 47-year-old winner of a $140,000 Irish Sweepstakes ticket is free to sail Wednesday to Ireland to collect his earnings.

Diorio was granted a deferred-prison sentence in court today on a 12-year-old breaking and entering charge—which he thought was forgotten.

Judge William Mackenzie cautioned the defendant, "Mr. Diorio, you are familiar enough with Rhode Island courts to know that today you are facing the possibility of going to jail for 30 years."

Now a resident of Long Beach, California, Diorio had come through his native state to announce that he would give some of his winnings to charity in Rhode Island.

Rhee was released from Tripler Army hospital recently after a back operation for an abscess. Mrs. Rhee said he requires sedation.

THE FORMER PRESIDENT has been in exile in Hawaii since his government was overthrown last year. Since then he has consistently declined to comment on Republic of Korea issues.

There had been some rumblings of discontent in the Korean military shortly after Rhee was overthrown, but there had been no recent signs of trouble in the military ranks.

of his luck and his benevolence—police recalled that he was wanted in West Warwick on breaking and entering charges.

Diorio pleaded no contest. Referring to reports that Diorio has been on good behavior since leaving Rhode Island, Judge Mackenzie remarked, "All you evidently needed was a change in climate."

Vice President Takes Trip

HONG KONG (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson shooed off British security officials and played tourist for five hours Monday in the tourist mecca of the Far East.

The tall Texan is on an unofficial visit to Hong Kong at the midway point of a South Asian tour aimed at reassuring anti-Communist governments in this critical area of United States support.

Johnson said on his arrival by plane from Formosa that he was here to rest and "do some very necessary staff work regarding the balance of our mission—a mission to the strong-points of freedom in Asia."

GOV. SIR ROBERT BLACK welcomed him and his wife, Lady Bird. Airport ceremonies were brief and the Vice President reached his hotel room at 4 p.m. A few minutes later, while most everyone assumed he was resting after the rigors of his travels, Johnson slipped out of the hotel, waved away hovering security officials and went on a sightseeing and shopping tour.

... most improved varsity back ...

Honor Gridders For Spring Work

Six Spartans were honored at the close of the spring football season for outstanding performances.

Ron Hatcher, George Saimes, Ed Budde, Larry Hudak, Dan Underwood and Charles Migyanka received awards at the annual chicken fry. Hatcher, a 215-pound power runner from Carnegie, Pennsylvania was named the outstanding player of the spring drills. He will be a senior fullback in the fall.

Another fullback, Saimes, was cited as the most improved varsity back.

Budde, the 250 pound lineman from Detroit Denby High School, received the award for showing the best attitude in the drills. Coach Duffy Daugherty moved Budde from tackle to guard to utilize his size and speed.

In another shift, Hudak went from halfback to end where he earned the most improved varsity lineman honors.

Among the freshman hopefuls, Underwood was named the most improved freshman lineman. He is from Dowagiac. Another first year man, Migyanka received the award for the most improved frosh back.

New Faces Among '61 All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP)—If the 1961 Major League All-Star teams were to be named today, probably no more than four of the 18 starters in last year's game at Kansas City would repeat.

Two All-Star games will be played this year, the first in San Francisco, Tuesday, July 11, and the second in Boston, Monday, July 31. The National League won both games last year, 5-3 in Kansas City and 6-0 in New York.

On the basis of performance to date, the only American League reporter would be center fielder Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees. The national League repeaters would be Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee at third base, Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh in right field, and Willie Mays of San Francisco in center field.

The biggest disappointments among last year's All-Stars have been Bill Mazeroski and Roger Maris. Both are flirting with the .200 mark. Del Crandall and Frank Malzone have been sidelined most of the season with injuries.

The biggest surprises have been Frank Bolling, Wally Moon, Jim Gentile, Johnny Temple, Steve Boros and Zoilo Versalles.

Bolling, acquired from Detroit in a winter deal involving six players, not only has filled the second base gap with the Braves but has been hitting around .340. He is one of the league's leaders in hits and runs.

Moon, a left-handed batter, has had phenomenal success with the left field screen at the Los Angeles Coliseum. He has hit nine of his 10 home runs over that screen. He also leads the league with a .375 batting average and is among the leaders in runs batted in, runs scored and hits.

Gentile, who recently struck two consecutive grand slam homers, is the American League's home run and runs batted in leader. Temple, a flop last year, batted safely in his first 19 games and currently is hitting .353. Boros, a rookie, is playing a steady game at third base and has been producing in the clutch at the plate.

Versalles, a speedy youngster with Charleston last year, has been a revelation both in the field and at the plate with the Minnesota Twins. He is hitting well above .300 and fielding spectacularly.

Giants Romp to Win Over Cubs, 14-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Felipe Alou and Orlando Cepeda led a devastating 18-hit San Francisco assault as the National League leading Giants downed the Chicago Cubs 14-1 yesterday.

Alou clouted his first Major League grand slam in the first inning. Cepeda knocked in five runs with two homers and a double, giving him nine homers for the year and the league's RBI leadership with 28.

Mike McCormick scattered eight hits in breezing to his fourth victory against one loss. After 41 innings, Mike's earned run average is a sizzling 1.32.

Dick Elsworth, the Cub's starter, pitched to six Giants and didn't get anyone out. He took his third straight loss.

Matty Alou, Felipe's kid brother, socked his first Major League home run in the eighth inning. Felipe's blast was his fourth of the season.

Felipe also got two singles and Jim Davenport had three hits for the Giants. The Cubs bothered McCormick only once, when they led off with four straight singles. But they managed just one run.

BUD BADGER

out of it as McCormick retired Don Zimmer on a pop fly and got Mel Roach and Ernie Banks to ground into force plays.

It was the Giants' 12th victory in their last 16 games.

Press Box Now for Managers

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Joe Gordon managed the Kansas City Athletics last night from an unusual spot.

He moved into the press box at Municipal Stadium for the club's game with Los Angeles. The idea came from General Manager Frank Lane, who contends that a manager can see more from a vantage point in the press box than he can from the dugout.

Gordon will have a direct telephone line to the Kansas City dugout where one of his assistants will take instructions.

"If it works and Gordon likes it we'll continue doing it," Lane said.

Newly independent Sierra Leone got its name, which means Lion Mountain, from an early description by Portuguese sailors.

Out of Country Is JFK's First Trip

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy flies to Ottawa today to nourish good relations between the United States and Canada, two old neighbors and allies.

Kennedy chose Canada for his first trip out of the country since he took office in January. THE STATE VISIT is the first of two on Kennedy's schedule for the next month—and he may undertake another less formal meeting in Europe with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Kennedy plans to leave May 31 for Paris and talks with President Charles de Gaulle. Reports have circulated here that the possibilities of a Kennedy-Khrushchev conference following the three-day Paris visit are under serious consideration.

In Canada, Kennedy will set forth the U. S. position on matters of common interest to a traditionally friendly but somewhat wary audience.

Canadians have inclined toward a less drastic stand than the United States has adopted in dealing with Cuba. Foreign Minister Howard C. Green last week offered Canada's services to mediate differences between the Kennedy administration and Cuban dictator Fidel Castro.

KENNEDY AND Canadian Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker have arranged private discussions for 2½ hours tomorrow morning. In addition to Cuba and the OAS, they are likely to explore the crisis in Laos, where Canada is one of three nations on the truce supervisory team. They also could range over international situations, including the Congo, as well as business relationships between their two countries.

Cooper's Funeral Dignified

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Gary Cooper's widow, fearing the circus-like behavior at past funerals of Hollywood greats, Monday appealed to the public to let her famous husband go to his rest with dignity and quiet.

Gary Cooper, the tall, taciturn, movie hero, will be buried today after a solemn requiem Mass at the Roman Catholic Church of the Good Shepherd in Beverly Hills. Some 100 police will be assigned to handle the crowd, expected to be in the thousands.

All rites, including the Rosary were private. Admission to the 505-seat church will be by cards issued by the family to close friends only. So popular was the 50-year-old star that the 505 cards are not enough to accommodate all his Hollywood friends.

Hollywoodites hope the crowd will give Cooper the respect in death that he enjoyed in life. Clark Gable, who ranked with Cooper among the all time greats of the movies, made his final exit with dignity, despite a huge crowd.

Gable's funeral, held only six months ago, was at suburban Forest Lawn while Cooper's will be held on busy Santa Monica Boulevard, only minutes away from downtown Beverly Hills.

Honorary Initiates 13

Honored for their scholarship, initiative, and fellowship, 13 engineering students and one faculty member were initiated into Phi Lambda Tau, an Engineering Honorary.

They were: J.W. Donnell (faculty member), James G. Payne, Wayne junior, Lee A. Sprowl, Croswell sophomore, Edward W. Allis, Howell junior, Richard L. Kennedy, Lansing junior.

A banquet in their honor was given by Phi Lambda Tau at Embers Restaurant in Holt. Guest speaker, Jack Kinney, director of the placement bureau, spoke on job opportunities in the engineering field.

Kinney also introduced the incoming officers of the fraternity who are: Barbara Kroupa, Cedar junior, President; Vice President Ron Harness, East Lansing senior, Regis Pilarski, E. Lansing junior, recording secretary.

Other officers are Harish Mallik, New Delhi, India junior, corresponding secretary and Robert Shaw, East Lansing junior, treasurer.

Services Rendered By Greeks

Sororities and fraternities who participated in community project last weekend put in a full morning's work according to Gay Birchard, co-chairman of the project. Tom Baldwin assisted her as co-chairman.

The group that went to the YMCA and YWCA camps in Williamston and Lake Lansing completely cleaned out the lodges; painted the boats and reseeded a field.

At St. Vincent's Home sorority and fraternity members dug a driveway. The Greeks planted 250 rose bushes around the Ingham County medical hospital.

At Urbandale the groups cleaned up dump areas. With the use of dump trucks, they hauled away the trash.

Those who went to the School for the Blind, Lansing General Hospital and the Community Chest building did general yard work, washed windows and painted fences.

Spartan Hi Wagon Sets Open Rush

Eighteen members of Spartan Hi Wagon will be selected at an open rush Thursday at 7 p.m. on the Union sun porch. Spartan Hi Wagon sends students to meet new faculty members and welcome them to the campus.

Petitions are available in the living units, student services, women's division and the Union concourse. They should be completed and brought to rush with the applicants.

Mrs. Hannah Serenaded

Mrs. John A. Hannah, first lady of the university, was honored by a serenade presented by Theta Chi fraternity Sunday afternoon.

As recent winners of this year's inter-fraternity Council Sing, Theta Chi expressed their desire to encourage future winners to serenade Mrs. Hannah during Parents' Weekend.

ADVERTISING

Power, magic, wizardry, enchantment—to the amateur no word seems strong enough to describe the undeniable accomplishments of advertising.

But from a professional viewpoint, advertising merits somewhat more sober terms. As a matter of fact, the making of successful advertising is a difficult business requiring both skill and experience.

It is true that advertising will speed up sales and secure a larger volume in a shorter time for a manufacturer or merchant with foresight, courage and financial resources to carry definite business policies to completion.

But no amount of advertising can keep selling a product that cannot be sold without advertising.

It is certain that advertising can and does create valuable good-will for a brand, trademark or store. Witness the actual money value of any well-advertised name.

But it is equally certain that back of that name there must be honesty, fair dealing, and full value for the price asked. Advertising an unworthy product simply means that a larger number of people will presently discover its disadvantages.

But the greatest value of advertising is not to the advertiser but to the public.

Practically everything you buy would cost you more if there were no advertising. Because without advertising to inform the public, there couldn't be mass production as we know it today, with all its economies and advantages.

Imagine what would happen if all advertising stopped!

Many stores would be forced to cut or cancel orders through lack of demand. This would carry back to the manufacturers and they would begin laying off people.

Newspapers and magazines would cost you more, be much thinner, or go out of business because there would be no advertising to help pay the cost of publishing. And you wouldn't be able to get your favorite radio or TV programs because they would be off the air.

There's no doubt that advertising has been a part of the great growth of this country. In the years to come, it will help to make it a better, more prosperous country for everybody.
