

Should Politics Enter Into References?

By MARY BASING

Is it appropriate for the dean of students office to discuss a student's political activities with prospective employers?

Can a graduating senior regard his references given by the administration as an accurate and unbiased appraisal of his extra-curricular activities?

On March 3, 1961, John W. Truitt, director of men's division of student affairs, answered an inquiry made by an insurance company about Duane Chapman, San Diego, Calif., senior.

The letter requesting information written Feb. 8, said that Chapman had applied for a sales training position with this company. The director of life marketing for the company wanted to know something of Chapman's academic record, extra-curricular activities, character and personality and "any other information which might define his social mobility and aptitude for sales management-training work."

TRUITT ANSWERING the letter wrote: "Duane Chapman is a very brilliant young man who is one of our Honors College students. His extra-curricular activities center around the Young Socialist club and other activities which indicate his hostility toward the rules and regulations of the university which he calls 'Bureaucracy.'"

"His character, so far as I know, is above reproach. He is a rather shy individual and I am not sure that he meets people extremely well. "This may be a problem for us to evaluate since most of our contacts with him deal with his hostility concerning the operation of the university. I might say that this could be a problem which anyone hiring him should look into because I do not feel that his hostility is directed specifically at MSU but toward other 'Big Bureaucracies,' as he calls them, in general."

Truitt ended his letter asking the company to contact him for additional information if they wished.

ON MARCH 24, the company wrote Truitt thanking him for his letter concerning Chapman's qualifications. However, the letter asked to know more about the "other activities" which Truitt had mentioned. The director of life marketing writing the letter said that he felt that an indication of these might give him a better insight into Chapman's potential.

The life marketing director also said that he was not too concerned with Chapman's activities in the Young Socialist club or with his resistance to rules and regulations. He said that he did not consider it uncommon for young men of ability to question the directives of their elders.

Truitt had not answered this second letter as of May 25.

On May 15, Chapman and four others went to President John A. Hannah to discuss, among other things, the facts involved in Truitt's letter.

Samuel Harris, East Lansing doctoral candidate, James Anderson, Sparta junior, Robert

Repas, assistant professor of labor and industrial relations, and Charles Larrowe, associate professor of economics and labor and industrial relations, accompanied Chapman to see Hannah.

At the close of the meeting, Hannah asked that this group submit a written summary of the various matters that were discussed. This Larrowe did on May 16.

In his letter to Hannah, Larrowe gave six items that he said the group is concerned with.

1. THE GROUP asked during the meeting that the files kept in the dean of students office, on Anderson, Chapman and Harris, be sent over immediately to Hannah's office so that these files could be examined during the group's discussion.

Hannah denied this request. Larrowe wrote that:

"... you (Hannah) said you would have them (the files) sent over later, so that you could examine them yourself; and you reserved judgement as to whether you would accede to the request of the three students that they be allowed to look at them after you had seen them."

2. Larrowe reviewed for Hannah the material the group had given him with regard to the letter written by Truitt to the prospective employer. "... it is no more appropriate for the dean of students office to discuss a student's political activities with prospective employers or others off the campus than it is to discuss the student's race or religion," Larrowe wrote.

He said that the group understood that Hannah agreed with them on this point and hoped that Hannah would convey this view to the dean of students office.

3. The group requested that Hannah ask the East Lansing police to destroy the photographs of NAACP pickets taken on May 17, 1960, during the Kresge demonstrations.

FURTHER, IT ASKED that Hannah "direct the campus police to stop taking photographs of students participating in lawful, orderly demonstrations and to destroy the departments collection of photos taken in such context."

In his letter to Hannah Larrowe wrote: "After a discussion of this proposal, we moved on... without your having made, so far as we can recall, a conclusive statement of your reaction to the request."

4. The group said that it believed that the campus police paid student informers. Hannah's response, according to Larrowe, was that this seemed most unlikely, that no money is budgeted for such a purpose and that the idea was offensive in any event.

Hannah agreed to investigate this charge. Larrowe wrote. He enclosed in his letter a statement signed by Mary Angelacos, Lansing graduate student, saying that she was approached by Lt. Darwina Hendrickson of the department of public safety, and offered a job, with that department, of a mysterious nature.

Miss Angelacos said that Hendrickson offered her more than $1.25 an hour and told her that the job would entail "... keeping my eyes and ears wide open." She said he told her that the job would take her to various places on campus at odd hours of the night and that she might be asked to "do something like take a shower in a girls' dorm."

THE FIFTH AND sixth items in Larrowe's letter dealt with the use of a report of an uncertain origin concerning the student members of or associated with the Young Socialist club, including Chapman.

The group proposed to Hannah that he take whatever action necessary to remove the "cloud of suspicion that has surrounded Duane Chapman as a result of the use of the report on the Young Socialist club two years ago and the more recent letter from the dean of students office."

Further, Anderson, Harris, Repas, Larrowe and Chapman asked about the source of this report in order to lodge a protest "with our U.S. Senators if the report was, as had been rumored, an FBI document; with the governor if it was prepared and released by the state police subversive activities squad; with you (Hannah) if it was the campus police report."

The Saturday before spring term elections in 1959, Lowell Brigham, speaker of student congress for 1958-59, called a meeting of several student leaders together with President Hannah and James H. Denison, administrative assistant to the president.

TWO OF THE students present at the meeting in Denison's home were Reinhard Schumann, cadet brigadier general of ROTC, and Brigham. See POLITICS, Page 2

Second Meeting Set MSU Task Force Challenges U of M

Enthusiasm generated at a meeting to define national belief has resulted in an invitation challenge to the University of Michigan and all people concerned with what Americans stand for.

The stated purpose of the Task Force meeting was to attack and solve the problem of adequately defining our national ideology and to build from this ideology a set of long run objectives.

Two graduate students, responsible for initiating the movement have asked the University of Michigan if they could get a comparable number of concerned persons, 50 were at the first meeting, to ask and answer these basic questions at a second meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., 31 Union.

"Who are we, and what do we stand for? What are the basic beliefs of Americans, and how can they be applied to long run objective goals of the United States?"

According to Donald W. Riegle Jr., Flint graduate student, and John D. Lyons, Boston, Mass., graduate student, the answers to these questions can channel consistency and direction in United States policy.

Endorsement in the form of a telegram from Governor John B. Swainson and a letter from Michigan Secretary of State James M. Hare have been received.

In his telegram Swainson said, "I wish you success in your serious and ambitious undertaking."

The letter from Hare said: "I think this is a very worthwhile project, and I shall be happy to volunteer my services as a resource person."

Adams Rules Late Veto Still Legal

Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams ruled Thursday that it didn't matter if Gov. Swainson was an hour or so late on two veto messages.

The bills, one a controversial issue on voter registration, still are vetoed, Adams said.

Republicans, noting that the governor and attorney general are fellow Democrats, said they would fight the ruling.

A lot of questions are not answered in the opinions cited by the attorney general, he said, despite the fact that some of the judges and attorneys general giving them were Republicans.

Kennedy Asks Americans To Shoulder New Burdens

Senior Arrested On Dope Charge

Russell K. Panzica, a Buffalo, N.Y. senior, was arrested late Wednesday along with five Lansing men on charges of violating narcotics laws.

Leo Farhat county prosecutor, said he was recommending a warrant against Panzica, alleging sale and possession of marijuana in East Lansing on May 10.

The arrests came after an intensive investigation of more than a month by area police agencies and officials at the university.

Police gave the names of the other five men as Eber Nolan Bradford, 29, of 916 W. Kalamazoo st.; John Charles Benet, 28, of 1303 W. Allegan st.; Benjamin Franklin Parker, 27, of 1216 W. St. Joseph st.; Lester James Fulson, 29, of 1203 1/2 W. Hillsdale st.; and Ron Eugene Miles, 33, of 611 Birch st.

All of the suspects' hearings were set for either June 1 or 2, and they were remanded to jail when they were unable to post bond.

All were accused on information supplied by an undercover worker whose name police asked be withheld.

Farhat said the Lansing men and the charges they face are not connected with the student but he added that the same undercover agent worked on all cases.

The prosecutor said conviction on a charge of dispensing and sale of narcotics carries a minimum sentence of 20 years in prison. Conviction of possession of narcotics carries a maximum of 10 years.

Student Hit Crossing Grand River

Judy Osgood, Grosse Pointe sophomore, was struck by a car driven by Wilda Benson of Jackson while crossing Grand River at Haslett st. Thursday afternoon.

A witness, Russ McDonald, Jackson senior, said he thought Miss Osgood had attempted to cross the street just as the light turned green. Miss Benson, the driver of the car in the third lane, failed to see Miss Osgood and struck her on the hip as she started forward. She was taken to Sparrow hospital for treatment.

An East Lansing police officer at the scene said it was a toss up as far as placing the blame. "It wasn't exactly an act of God," he said, "but just one of those things that happen."

The officer added a personal view on accidents of a similar nature. "Most of these accidents happen to freshmen, after two or three years the students learn to dodge the cars like football players."

Vaccine Arrives

ETHIOPIA (AP)—One hundred thousand doses of yellow fever vaccine donated by the United States to help fight a yellow fever epidemic in Southwestern Ethiopia reached here today. This is the second shipment and was provided with funds of the U.S. International Co-operation Administration. A five-man U.S. Navy team has inoculated up to 9,000 persons daily in the area and trained Ethiopian vaccination crews to carry on.

Charles Bruce, Saginaw sophomore, executive vice president of AUSG, discusses the responsibilities and problems facing student government at the first meeting of the new AUSG cabinet.

New AUSG Cabinet Forms; Outlines Duties, Maps Plans

The newly-appointed cabinet of AUSG President Larry Campbell, Marshall junior, held their first meeting this week to discuss the program of operations for the coming year.

Members outlined the duties of their cabinet offices and major projects they have planned.

JIM ANDERSON, Sparta junior, administrative vice president, responsible for carrying out legislative and policy of Campbell and handling administrative details of the main AUSG functions.

Ken Weaver, Mt. Pleasant senior, treasurer, supervisor of all expenditures that involve AUSG funds and responsible for publishing and distributing AUSG financial statements.

Pat Dumas, Midland sophomore, junior college relations and high school coop, who handles AUSG correspondence with Michigan junior colleges and attends conferences and conventions for the Michigan Junior College Assn. to present to graduates of junior colleges the advantages of attending MSU.

Barbara Rall, East Lansing sophomore, academic benefits, plans programs that will bring prominent speakers to the campus, other than through the Lecture-Concert series, and publicity for such events.

JIM GIBSON, Farmington senior, orientation, is responsible for co-ordinating the activities all organizations offering services to incoming students during orientation week.

Ernest Green, Little Rock, Ark., junior, organization, handles activities that involve organizations not affiliated with AUSG, which includes awarding constitutions to those meeting the requirements set up by Congress, publishing "The Directory of Student Organizations" and "Spartaguide," a handbook of regulations for campus organizations.

Jim Chandler, Ann Arbor sophomore, campus chest, is responsible for the consolidation of all individual money-making drives for charity into one campus-wide drive.

Alice Bonomo, Vandalia sophomore, Spartan spirit, responsible for the building up and support of school spirit.

BOB HOWARD, Elmhurst, Ill., freshman, recruits and trains personnel for positions in student government, generally one ranking immediately below that of cabinet member.

Jim Barnes, Flint freshman, public relations, disseminates AUSG news and maintains a student government information bureau.

Don McFarlane, Detroit sophomore, elections commissioner, supervises student elections as defined by AUSG ordinances.

Chuck Dalvo, Royal Oak sophomore, publicity, handles the public relations department.

Needed To Keep U. S. First

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy solemnly asked Americans Thursday to shoulder new multibillion dollar burdens to conquer space and prevent Communism from capturing the emerging nations on this globe.

In his second State of the Union message, delivered in person to an applauding Congress, Kennedy said the nation must aim to land a man on the moon this decade. He said it must speed work on the Rover nuclear-rocket which some day may help explore "the very ends of the solar system."

And he called for:

—A step-up in foreign aid.

—A tripling of funds for nuclear fallout shelters and other protective measures.

—Revamping and strengthening of military forces, especially their ability to fight brush-type battles or guerrilla warfare.

—More money for propaganda broadcasts.

—A new drive for disarmament.

—A new program to retrain Americans left jobless by automation.

The price of all this he set at $1.5 billion in the coming fiscal year; many more billions later.

KENNEDY ASKED for no new taxes. In fact, he took the position that his "very urgent requests" could be met "without a budget deficit if our economy moves ahead."

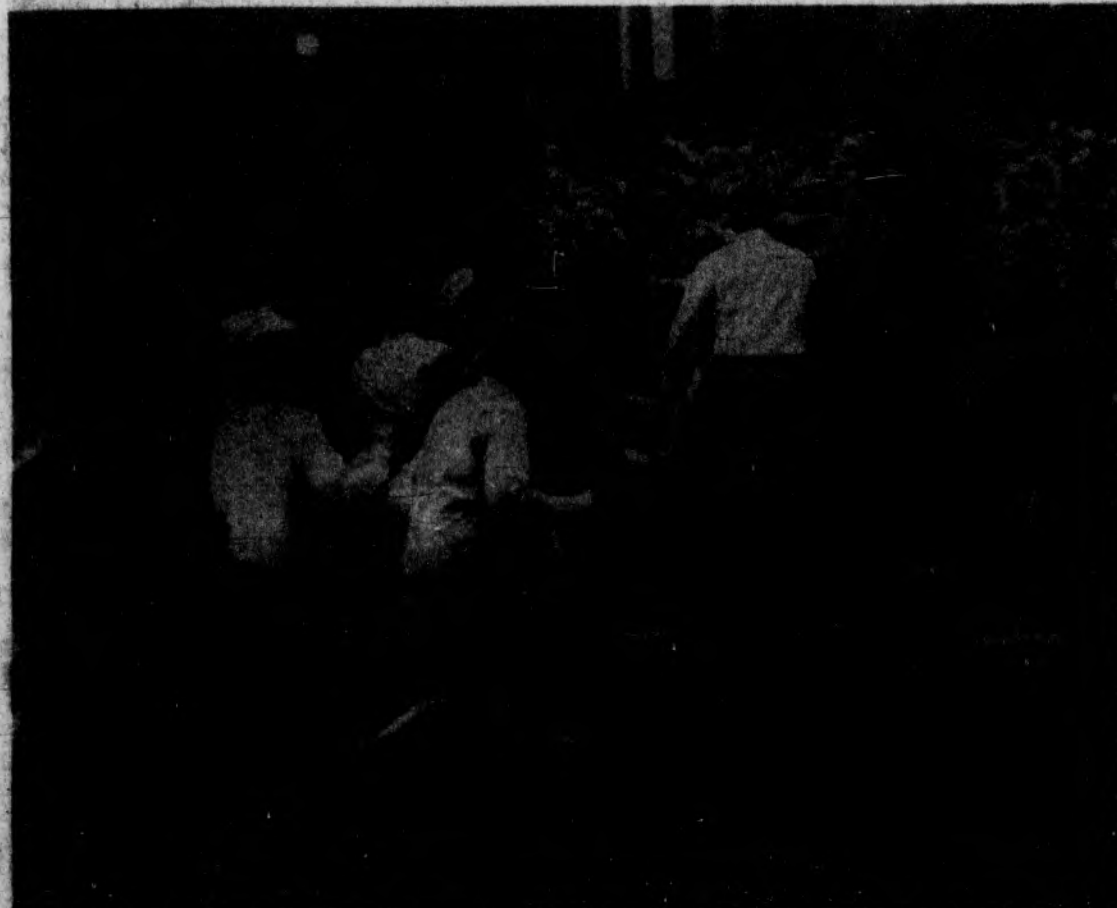

There was also some talk that the administration wanted to make a new start, as it were; to revive spirits dampened by the Cuban invasion fiasco.

The Communists did not create this revolution, he said, "but they are seeking to ride the crest of its wave — to capture it for themselves."

But "this nation also, he continued, "was born of revolution and raised in freedom" and "we do not intend to leave an open road to despotism."

Economic aid abroad—A $250 million increase, bringing the total for the fiscal year beginning July 1 to $2.65 billion.

MILITARY AID abroad—A $285 million increase over previous requests of $1.6 billion. "We cannot merely state our opposition to totalitarian advance without paying the price of helping those under the See KENNEDY Page 5

Let Thy Right Hand Know What Thy Left Hand Is Doing

Control measures are essential to an organized society.

In a bureaucracy, where some undesirable activity is inevitable, control groups may become excessively strong when there is no need for them. Power and control may become established in the hands of a few individuals and maintained, not for the protection of the community, but for the protection and perpetuation of these individuals.

When such controls get out of hand, the integrity of individuals and the interaction of free thought is in danger. Such a situation could and is occurring at Michigan State, as the series of articles on page one indicates.

HOW MANY RIGHTS do students have? How far are they allowed to diverge in their thoughts and actions from the pattern set as "respectable" by the administration.

How extensive is the spy system that investigates unconventional students, faculty members and activities?

What is contained on student and faculty records? What use is made of these records? To whom are they shown? Why are such records kept?

We asked several administrators about the content and purpose of student and faculty records. We were told that the disciplinary, personal and political information on these records was confidential, that they were used purely within the university, that the information on them was never released to prospective employers, graduate schools or outsiders. We were told that the disciplinary record was erased upon the student's graduation.

YET JOHN TRUITT'S letter to a prospective employer about a student, explained in the page 1 news story, contradicts the information we received from other sources.

Perhaps our sources were not reliable ones. Perhaps, more likely, the administrators we questioned simply did not know what goes on. It is typical of a police system that the right hand is not informed of what the left hand is doing and, above all, that the general public does not know what the system is doing. The people questioned might sincerely have believed that no use was made of the records outside the university.

Are these records used for public reports such as the one given at a meeting of student leaders at James Denison's home. Where was the information obtained? The source has not been revealed. Even President Hannah has admitted that such a confidential report should not have been used. Can the president know everything his right hand or his right hand man is doing?

AT ANY RATE, regardless of the source, did Denison have a right to allow the release of such a report at this type of gathering? Did he have the right to take part in the defamatory character of a student and a faculty member. We feel he did not.

But we cannot entirely condemn the administration of the university because of some isolated incidents. As we stated, most administrators do not know what goes on in other areas of the campus. Many, if they knew, would fight such a system. Some would be powerless to fight. Some would be too busy with other things to be concerned.

NOR IS THE situation as bad as one might believe from reading the news stories. These stories are of a few isolated incidents which happened to a few individuals—ones who have dared to speak their minds.

The vast majority of students never hear of the campus spy system, let alone come into contact with it. And many are the students who dare to speak their minds freely and often and suffer no repercussions.

This is not the point. The fault lies not so much in the present system of spies and misuse of records as in the potential stifling and oppressing power of such an administration. Perhaps there is no extreme danger to free thought yet, but if the controls are allowed to develop unhindered, how strong will they be in the future? How many rights will future students of MSU possess?

THE UNIVERSITY as a whole stands for freedom of thought and democratic action. It is only a few, with a concentration of power, who have opposed the freedoms guaranteed in the Bill of Rights.

The fault in this kind of police activity is that it is in contradiction to the expressed purpose of the university—an expression of thought, a constant seeking for truth, a chance to examine all ideas and to choose among them.

In a police state, people soon learn to fear to express their ideas and to seek the truth. People fear to take an active part in politics, to stand up for their rights, to fight the status quo when it is in need of change.

WE ENCOURAGE students to speak freely, to seek for truth within the limits of civil and university laws and good sense. We ask them to oppose the unwritten rules which demand conformity and condemn unconventional thoughts and ideas. We encourage faculty members to inspire students to seek and speak the truth, even though it may be easier to follow the straight and narrow path dictated to them.

And we encourage those administrators who have long opposed the system of undercover spying, misuse of records and suppression to openly fight against it. Let thy right hand know what thy left hand is doing.

A UNIVERSITY should not condemn "unconventional behavior." The greatest leaders, writers, scientists of history suffered ridicule and oppression because they dared to speak on controversial issues, dared to challenge the status quo.

We feel the university should encourage such seeking and should abolish all elements of the spy system which are in direct opposition to the seeking and speaking of truth.

Politics With Job References?

Running for election to AUSG president that spring were Bill Livingood, administrative assistant to Brigham, and Chapman.

According to several students at the meeting, they were told that the report read during the meeting was obtained from the FBI.

In the report it was stated that the mother of one of the students in the Young Socialist club was or had been a member of the Communist party and that the student himself was alleged to have attended Communist or Communist-sponsored meetings, according to Dr. Alfred Meyer, associate professor of political science and then advisor to the Young Socialist.

Meyer and Chapman, both mentioned in the report, later were able to read the report in Hannah's office.

According to Chapman, the report contained references to two people who on their religious preference cards at registration put nothing. Chapman said that there was an asterisk beside this information and at the bottom of the page, the report said something to the effect that "it is interesting to note" that all Communists must be professed atheists.

ROGER BOWLBY, then editor of the Michigan Economic Record, a university publication, and now working with Governor Swainson, who spoke at one of the Young Socialist meetings, was mentioned in the report, Chapman said. "It is interesting to note" the report said that Bowlby did his doctoral work under Al Meyers, Chapman said.

However, Bowlby did his doctoral work under a Fred Meyers, then at the University of Texas and now at UCLA.

The people at the meeting were considered opposed to Chapman and supported Livingood in the election.

The meeting was held the weekend before the elections.

Furthermore, immediately after the meeting one of the circulating rumors was the question of whether Chapman was a Communist.

Though Hannah greeted the student leaders at Denison's home, he left before the report was read and discussed.

"I believe Hannah was sincere in apologizing to me for his actions and those of his subordinates," Chapman said.

CONCERNING his association and conflict with the Young Socialists, Chapman said: "In the early months of 1959, some friends of mine began to organize a Young Socialist club. To receive a charter, any prospective group must secure 15 undergraduates to sign their charter. Because there were not 15 people immediately involved, I loaned them the use of my name in order to help them secure a charter, although I do not consider myself a socialist."

He said that since the club was formed he has attended "at least one and possibly three" meetings.

Chapman said that during the organization of the ROTC demonstration last spring, after the trustees decision to continue compulsory ROTC, he and Tom Gatten were approached Friday before the demonstration at the Capital Saturday by Carl Griffier and Al Seltzer, two leaders of the Young Socialist club.

Griffier and Seltzer told them that they were going to hold a demonstration immediately in front of Cowles House. According to Chapman, Griffier and Seltzer told him and Gatten that they had talked to everyone that Gatten and Chapman had spoken to about the demonstration.

Griffier said he would read a prepared speech on Hannah's doorstep, Chapman said.

GATTEN AND HE regarded this as "Marxist" strategy of which the elite provides leadership of unrest among the masses," Chapman said. "We told them to go ahead but that we would have nothing to do with them," Chapman said.

This demonstration planned by the Young Socialists did not occur while Saturday's did, Chapman said.

Up to this year, Chapman's extra-curricular activities included the International Club, Brody radio, Campus UN, Student Congress, Forensic union, Spartan magazine and Honors College Advisory board.

The extent of Chapman's extra-curricular activities this year are working 16 hours a week and spending Friday at the YWCA, working with its program for disturbed children from about 7 p.m. to 9:15 p.m.

Once a month he works Friday at the YWCA until 10:30 p.m. or 11 p.m.

This indicates that his extra-curricular activities do not now or never have "centered around the Young Socialist club."

The Chapman case reveals pressures brought to bear on a student apparently because of his alleged political beliefs.

How many other students find themselves in this position? Next, student informers and the campus police.

Letters to the Editor

Nation's Goals, Carnival

Define Goals

To the Editor:

I would like to commend the State News for uncovering a most articulate political writer. We can consider ourselves fortunate to have a newspaper that feels that all views on controversial subjects should be "aired," and with Don Riegle a certain airing has occurred.

Riegle emphasizes "hot air" and with good reason. Obviously he is poetically directed, yet no concrete plan of action is proposed.

I do not wish to deprecate the sincerity of thought nor slander the most certain good intentions. It is truly unfortunate that his cliched style overshadows the main implication of his article.

It is to my belief not truly a politically biased cry against the present administration. Any intelligent individual realized that Mr. Kennedy inherited a hot bed of international activity with little chance to evaluate the intelligence system and its personnel.

Still action was demanded and, unfortunately, executed. True, we experienced expensive "on the job" training; true, our international relations have been severely impaired. But this is not the issue.

The issue is to develop a total comprehensive program of concrete action that is representative of our national selves. What is our true nature? I challenge Riegle to define it.

Only with an understanding of exactly what we are and where we are going can a program of action to "sell" to the world be created. We are a young country, we are a melting pot country. Let us find ourselves now.

It seems to me that immediate, careful and articulate thought, rationally developed (not spontaneously) is necessary to develop consistent policy—consistent in defining the national objectives, consistent in presenting our true selves and consistent to our ways of life... whatever they (it) may be.

John D. Lyons

Satisfactions

To the Editor:

It appears that the Water Carnival has become the whipping boy for the intellectuals of this campus. It seems rather unfair to stop the criticism with the Carnival though.

No small amount of time, money and effort go into the many student organizations here. Are we to forget the AUSG, the Campus UN, or the student group presenting the current extravaganza, Kismet? Nearly everyone, intellectuals included, will admit to the need of a few leisure hours spent doing that which, to the individual, is satisfying. If some individuals get some form of pleasure out of floating their "organized vacuity" down the river in their spare time, then why not let them.

We would hardly criticize the intellectual for wasting a night with a Perry Mason mystery.

Admittedly, perhaps too much time is spent on these projects; but if the student is able to participate in these projects and still keep up that all-important grade point, then the wasted time has not been missed. If it's an intellectual atmosphere we're trying to cultivate, something more than taking the floats from students is needed.

And as better suggestions toward this end have been conspicuous in their absence, I would propose we forget this nonsense and purchase a couple of tickets to the 41st annual production of the Water Carnival.

Misquote

To the Editor:

On May 12, 1961, Karl Lady, representative to AUSG from Butterfield, was quoted as saying, "I am for the status quo" by the State News. This statement is not what he said. However, when the State News was informed of this, the reply was that State News reporters do make mistakes, but that in this case it is Karl's word against the reporter's, and that they would not print a retraction.

In reality, what was referred to was a statement Karl made in AUSG in reply to Rep: Robert Henken.

A statement which read, "I believe in the sacred principles of the Constitution of the United States and the freedoms it protects; if this is the status quo then I am for it."

I must urge the State News to act in accordance with the respect and responsibility it is asking the public to grant it by attempting to be more accurate in its reporting.

Add Support

To the Editor:

Marcia Van Ness, Mary Basing and Staff,

We humbly and joyfully offer our congratulations, and our support, for a brave policy well-stated and boldly pursued. Shamefully late, we take our stand with Professors Repas, Larowe, Brehm, Brimmer, Henderson and Wescott.

Because the idea is so important, let us repeat Professor Larowe's statement of belief: "The principal job of the university is to develop inquiring minds."

And for the benefit of our administrators, who we want to believe are not characterized by a generalized distrust of students and a scared, conspiracy mentality, let us repeat his admonition: "... photographing demonstrators and keeping political files, even the threat of such things, discourages students from engaging in activities that will help achieve the university's major goal."

Indeed we would go farther and demand that a Hyde Park policy, active police protection of dissidents in their right to express themselves in non-violent ways, be substituted for the present Big Brother policy you have exposed.

Charleston Finalists Selected

Five couples were selected in the Roaring 20's Charleston contest sponsored by the Water Carnival Thursday. Dressed in 20's style, the couples danced for an hour and a half before the final elimination.

The couples received complimentary tickets to the Thursday night Water Carnival show. The finals will be held during the intermission.

The Roaring 20's comedy diving exhibition to have been held Thursday in the IM pool was postponed because of rain. It will be held Wednesday.

Geniuses Not Wanted

CLEVELAND (#) - There won't be any geniuses among the 500 playground instructors - mostly college students - that the city and school system hire this summer.

"I like geniuses," says Recreation Commissioner John S. Nagy, "but not on the playground. I like them in laboratories."

The reason for not hiring anyone who scores 140 or more on the qualifying intelligence test, Nagy said, is:

"After a week, they learn everything there is to know. Then they're not interested in their jobs any more."

Just for the record no one is signed up who scores less than 70, either.

Student Panelists Talk On WKAR's Viewpoint Sunday

A student panel will take over Sunday on Viewpoint, WKAR's regular discussion feature, at 2 p.m. to discuss "The Model University."

Sparta junior James Anderson will replace Lt. Col. John Barron, the program's usual host.

Others on the half hour talk show will be Jody Howard, Elmhurst, Ill. junior, a divisional social science major, member of the Honors College, Mortar Board and past member of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary.

She is also editorial editor of the State News. And George Eickwort, Lynbrook, N.Y., entomology senior who is also an Honors College student with three National Science Foundation Research grants to his credit. He is also past president of Phi Eta Sigma, freshmen men's scholarship honorary, and a member of Green Helmet, sophomore men's honorary.

Anderson is an Honors College student majoring in Political science. He is a member of the Honors College Student Advisory Board, president of Blue Key - junior and senior Men's Honorary - and administrative vice - president of AUSG.

15 Compete 6 Win Spanish Poetry Contest

Six students took top honors Tuesday in the second annual Spanish poetry reading contest in which 15 first-year Spanish students competed.

The winners will receive books and records. One of the prizes was donated by the Mexican Embassy.

Mrs. Cora Mae Jewell, an Eastern High School instructor; Stanley Howell, professor of foreign languages; and Carlos Teran, associate professor of foreign languages and foreign studies, judged the contest.

Edith Doty, assistant professor of foreign languages, was in charge of the contest.

Students Live Off Campus

If you've ever wondered why there aren't very many foreign students living in the residence halls, here are some reasons for this situation.

According to the foreign student advisor's office, many students come from India. In that country, many of the people follow strict religions which bar the using of certain foods.

The Sikhs, for example, are strict vegetarians. (Members of this religion are easily recognized on campus by their turbans and long beards.) Mohammedans are not allowed to eat pork in any form; Hindus are forbidden the use of beer.

For many off-campus foreign students it is a matter of choosing foods that will not conflict with their religious beliefs and customs. With the limited diets in dorms, it is very hard for these students to avoid these foods; therefore, it is much easier for them to live off-campus where they can prepare their meals the way they wish to eat them.

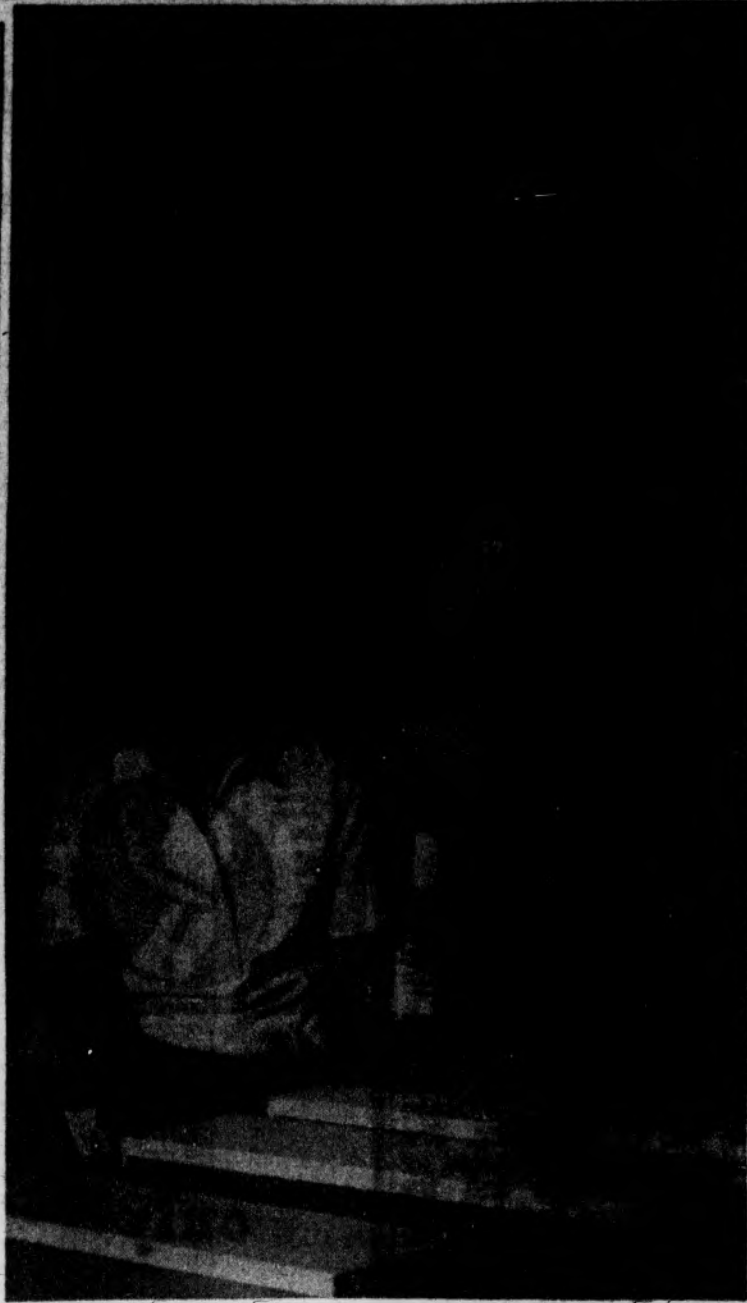

Another reason offered, is the fact that many foreigners, especially Orientals and Asians, are used to special kinds of foods or seasonings which American diets do not use very often.

The Orientals have been brought up on rice and Asian peoples are used to much seasoning in their foods. Living off-campus for these people is better for them as dorm menus do not offer these kinds of foods.

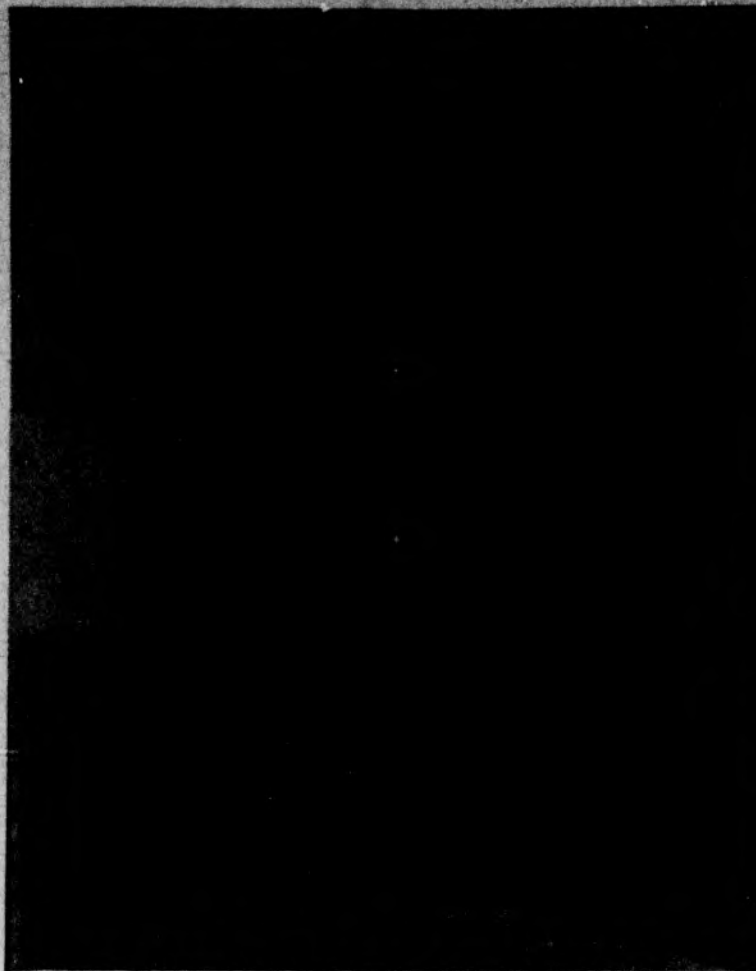

Ballot Box

The St. Lawrence Seaway project created 38,000-acre Lake St. Lawrence in Ontario.

Errol Keith of Spartan Village holds baby Karie while his wife Gloria demonstrates the correct way to paint.

Bath night in Spartan Village finds Dick Young attempting the job but daughter Julie is more interested in playing.

The world is full of exciting things when you're young and this turtle has a captive audience. Karen Corless, Scott Smith and Debbie Ushman of University Village investigate the incident. (State News photos by T. S. Crockett)

Spartan Wives to Get Degrees

Ph.T (Pushed Hubby) degrees will be presented to student wives with graduating husbands, at a graduation luncheon Saturday at 1 p.m. in Kellogg Center.

The luncheon is sponsored by the Spartan Wives, an association of student wives on campus.

PRESENTATION of the degrees will be made after a brief speech of congratulations by the club adviser, Lou Ritchie, clerk typist in the agricultural economics department.

THE PROGRAM will also include installation of new officers of the club. Each retiring officer will ceremoniously present her successor with a single red rose.

President Hilda Danilowicz will retain her present position.

New officers are Vice President Joan Burnett, replacing Betty Scott; Secretary Treva Hines, replacing Mary Lou Potter; Treasurer Shirley Burkitt, replacing Sandy Nicol; and Membership Chairman Kathleen Christi, replacing Lora Bair.

Incumbent Historian Linda De Bolt will take over the duties of Camille Lawless.

Parties Slack On Weekend

With final exams starting in less than a week and a half, the number of parties for this weekend has dropped sharply.

Tonight, Delta Delta Delta sorority will present its annual Crescent Ball at the Lansing Country Club. The formal term party will start with a steak or lobster dinner at 7:30; dancing to the music of Bill Hart will follow until midnight.

Saturday evening, Alpha Epsilon Phi will hold its term party, "Captain's Table" at the Holiday Inn. The women and their dates will dance in a shipboard atmosphere to music provided by Buddy Spangler. The room will be a ship's deck complete with railing and shuffleboards.

The annual Zeta Beta Tau "Sweetheart Ball" is Saturday night at Kellogg Center. Kenny Davis will provide the music.

Kennedy Asks Americans

 "greatest pressure," he said.
 Civil defense—A tripling of funds for fallout shelters, warning measures, stockpiles of medicines, etc. The cost of the next fiscal year would be $312 million.
 Peace—For the coming year
 $1 billion additional to work on the moon project, hasten development of the nuclear space rocket, speed up the use of satellites for world communications and weather observation.
 Army—Sweeping reorganization of the divisional setup, to strengthen its non-nuclear firepower, improve mobility and provide modern mechanized divisions and new airborne brigades in the Pacific and Europe.
 Economic growth—The lending ability of the small business administration should be increased. The federal government can help cut the cost of home mortgages. A general easing of credit is desirable.
 "FINALLY," he said, "our greatest asset—in this struggle is the American people—their willingness to pay the price for these programs—to understand and accept a long struggle—to share their resources with less fortunate peoples—to meet the tax levels and close the tax loopholes I have requested.
 To exercise self-restraint instead of pushing up wages or prices, or over-producing certain crops, or spreading military secrets, or urging unessential expenditures or improper monopolies or harmful work stoppages—to serve in the peace corps or the armed services or the federal civil service or the Congress.
 To strive for excellence in their schools, in their cities and in their physical fitness and that of their children—to take part in civil defense—to pay higher postal rates, higher payroll taxes and higher teachers' salaries, in order to strengthen our society—to show friendship to students and visitors from other lands—and, finally to practice democracy at home, in all states, with all races, to respect each other and to protect the constitutional rights of all citizens."

Dr. Reed Presented High NCCJ Award

Dr. Hoyt Coe Reed, associate professor, department of social science, received the Silver Medalion of the National Conference of Christians and Jews at a dinner meeting at Kellogg Center Thursday night.

The meeting was part of the seventh annual conference of the National Institute of Police-Community Relations which is being held this week. The Silver Medalion is the highest national award of the NCCJ for distinguished service in the field of human relations. The presentation was made "for his work over the years in the cause of brotherhood, and especially as one of the initiators for the National Institute on Police-Community Relations." Friday morning's breakfast is the last meeting of the convention, which drew more than 165 law enforcement officers and civic leaders from 26 states and the District of Columbia.

Trustees Accept Gifts, Grants

Gifts and grants of $369,676.86 were accepted by the Board of Trustees.

Included were three grants totaling $95,000 from the Air Force Office of Scientific Research and seven grants from the National Institutes of Health amounting to $32,782.

Dr. Allan Tucker, assistant dean of the school for advanced graduate studies, will use a $32,435 grant from the U.S. Office of Education to study social, economic and psychological characteristics of doctoral candidates who did not complete requirements for their degrees.

Former graduate students at 12 major universities will be surveyed to learn why many candidates do not finish. It is felt that capable graduate students who drop out represent a great loss to academic professions.

A $44,800 GRANT from the Air Force OSR will support fundamental studies of magnetism at temperatures near absolute zero. This research is directed by Dr. Robert D. Spence, professor, and Dr. Jerry A. Cowen, assistant professor, physics and astronomy.

A $43,120 grant from the OSR will be used by Dr. Frank J. Blatt, professor of physics, to study basic factors affecting electrical conductivity. The research will consider influence of impurities in metals and semiconductors, compare ways in which impurities cause relaxation of electrons that are in the process of electrical conduction or microwave resonance, and examine similarities and possible differences in the conductivity of metals in liquid and solid phases.

Drs. Julius S. Kovacs, assistant professor, and Don B. Lichtenberg, associate professor, physics and astronomy, received a $27,700 grant from the National Science Foundation for research on the theory of the interactions of mesons and hyperons, fundamental particles.

A $26,691 grant from NIH will support graduate preparation of psychiatric social workers at MSU. Dr. Gordon J. Aldridge, director of the school of social work, will direct use of the grant. This is the fourth year that MSU has received such support from NIH.

DR. NATHAN E. TOLBERT, professor of biochemistry, will use a $17,461 grant from the National Institutes of Health to make a basic study of how nutrients and sugars are transported in plants.

Dr. R. Gaurth Hansen, head of biochemistry, will continue studies on the utilization of milk sugars by the body through a grant of $15,700 from the National Institutes of Health. This is the second installment of a three-year grant totaling $48,000.

A grant of $14,160 from the American Chemical Society will support research by Dr. Donald K. Anderson, assistant professor of chemical engineering on the molecular diffusion of liquids.

Dr. Laurence L. Quill, director of the division of mathematical and physical sciences, will use a grant of $11,050 to assist in acquiring instructional equipment for courses in radiochemistry.

AN NIH GRANT of $10,522 will be used by Dr. James L. Fairley, associate professor of chemistry, to continue research on the mechanisms by which pyrimidines, building blocks of nucleic acids, are synthesized.

Also accepted by the Board of Trustees was a gift of 7,000 European butterflies "of great value" from Gunnar Hejgaard, Copenhagen, Denmark. Mr. Hejgaard is the father of Mrs. Bill Burke, 7262 Coleman Road, East Lansing. Dr. Roland L. Fischer, associate professor of entomology, will use the collection for research.

Grants for scholarships amounted to $12,445. Included was $4,286 for the MSU-Oakland Scholarship Fund and $5,000 from Pontiac Central High School to be invested and the proceeds to cover tuition cost at MSU for one student from the school.

Bus Riders Continue Segregation Assault

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Though 34 "freedom riders" spent the day in jail—in Jackson and Montgomery, Ala.—the assault on the Deep South's segregation laws showed little sign of weakening Thursday.

The 27 arrested when their buses rolled into Mississippi's capital city Wednesday declined bail on charges they disobeyed an officer and breached the peace.

In Montgomery, a deputy arrested seven other Mississippi-bound freedom riders—four white college professors—one the Yale University chaplain—and four Negroes—and charged them with a breach of the peace. The arrests came when they tried to eat at the white lunch counter at the bus station.

IN WASHINGTON, Attorney General Robert Kennedy announced withdrawal of all but 100 of the 666 federal marshals sent into Montgomery during last week's violence.

The Montgomery arrests came minutes after Kennedy's announcement.

The 27 freedom riders arrested at the Jackson bus terminal Wednesday refused an offer of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to make $1,000 bonds for each of them.

In New York, National Director James Farmer of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) urged Negroes to defy segregation in Southern airway and railroad terminals as well as in Southern bus stations.

MISSISSIPPI GOV. Ross Barnett said the State would take the same steps for any future busloads of freedom riders that greeted the first two contingents.

"There is too much work to be done in Mississippi," the Governor said, "for us to have to put up with outside agitators trying to stir up our people for no good cause whatsoever."

Any more freedom riders, Barnett added, would be met at the state line by National Guardsmen and Highway Patrol escorts.

If they violate Mississippi segregation laws, he told newsmen, they will be arrested.

THE CHALLENGING riders

however, had promised earlier that others would take their places if they were jailed, opposing Attorney General Kennedy's plea Wednesday for a cooling off period for such rides in Alabama and Mississippi until the situation returned to normal.

"It is most regrettable," Barnett told a news conference Thursday, "that all people of Mississippi, both white and colored, cannot be permitted to live and work in peace and harmony, as we all want to do, to better the educational standards and living conditions of all."

In encouraging continued defiance of Southern segregation, CORE Director Farmer said "The time to act is now."

Throughout the nation we can end segregation in bus, train and airline terminals," his memo from CORE headquarters said, "If we are willing to make the sacrifices involved."

Santiago was the capital of Cuba until 1558.

Japan Film Featured on WMSB

The international television documentary "Two Faces of Japan" will be shown at 3 p.m. Sunday on WMSE, channel 19.

Shot entirely in Japan, the program compares two faces of Japan—one, the face of a dynamic, affluent Western nation; the other, a blend of Oriental tradition and philosophy, of unchanging ritual and a concept of life based on a mystical and feudal past.

The program centers on the daily lives of four Japanese: a chic young model, typical of Japan's modern career girl; a student at Tokyo University and a member of the militant organization that staged riots against President Eisenhower in 1960; a riveter in a modern shipyard who once served in the Japanese Imperial Navy; and a housewife in the suburbs of Osaka, who is content to be lower in the social scale than her youngest son.

Hold 5-0 Lead

State Survives Rally, Wins 5-4

By PAUL SCHMITT
State News Sports Writer

Michigan State's baseball team jumped off to a five run lead against Notre Dame and then held on for dear life as the Fighting Irish fought back only to leave the tying run on third base when Ken Avery got the final out in the ninth. The Spartans won the game, 5-4.

Once again it was Tom Riley's booming bat that carried State to victory. The Winnetka, Illinois senior had a run producing single in the third and a two run triple in the fifth to account for three of Michigan State's five tallies.

Bob Ross started on the mound for the Kobsmen.

For the first six frames, Ross kept Notre Dame quiet save for six scattered singles. He had a comfortable 5-0 lead going into the seventh.

Then three singles, a base on balls and a hit batsman brought three runs across the plate and brought coach John Kobs out to the mound.

Gary Ronberg replaced Ross with the bases loaded and one out. He pitched long enough to whiff Bill Brutvan and walk Dick O'Leary. In came another

Tigers Lose

ST. PAUL, Minneapolis (AP)—Jim Lemon's single to left field in the 11th inning drove home Lennie Green with the winning run as the Minnesota Twins edged the Detroit Tigers 7-6 Thursday.

Green had doubled to lead off the inning and went to third on a sacrifice by Reno Bertoia. After Harmon Killebrew was intentionally passed, Lemon came through with his blow off reliever Jim Donohue.

Minnesota pinchhitters twice brought the Twins from behind to tie the score.

IN THE NINTH inning, a pinch double by Dan Dobbek and a run-scoring single by pinchhitter Bertoia tied the count at 5-5. After Billy Brutvan's homer put the Tigers back in front in the 10th, Hal Naragon came through with the Twins' third pinch hit, scoring Bob Allison.

Detroit scored five runs in the first off starter Pete Ramos on two home runs. Al Kaline hit his third in three days with two on and Norm Cash cracked his eighth one aboard.

ROMOS THEN blanked the American league leaders on two hits through the ninth.

After scoring three runs in the fourth on Lemon's two-run homer and Earl Battey's solo roundtripper, the Twins came back with one in the eighth on two walks and two singles.

Green also collected three singles to run his consecutive game hitting string to 22.

run and out came Kobs to yank Ronberg.

Ken Avery was waved in and he tossed the last two and two-thirds innings.

Ross got credit for the win, his fifth of the season against two setbacks.

Carl Charon slammed out a double and single. George Azar also collected two hits.

While Ross was in there, he struck out six and passed a pair. Avery got three on strikes.

Pat Sartorius missed his fourth straight game since pulling a leg muscle against Central Michigan last Wednesday. Charon shifted to centerfield and Wade Cartwright played right.

Southpaw Mike Brennan hurled the first four innings and suffered the loss.

Troubled by Knee

Banks Moves to Left Field

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs' Ernie Banks, who made major league history at shortstop both at bat and afield, Tuesday voluntarily shifted to left field because of an ailing knee.

At a hastily-summoned news conference, the 30-year-old Banks explained his preference for the shift, asked of the Cub's no. 1 coach, Vede Himsel, on Sunday.

Banks, who never before has played the outfield, will be replaced at shortstop—at least for a spell—by Jerry Kindall, former University of Minnesota fielding star, who had not started a game this season before Tuesday.

BANKS, IN 1958 hit the most homers by a major league shortstop in one season, 47. In 1959 he posted both the Major League fielding percentage shortstop mark, .985, and the fewest errors at that position, 12, while playing 155 games.

His total of 238 homers is tops for any shortstop in major league history. He was the National league's most-valuable player for an unprecedented two successive years in 1958-59.

"I felt I wasn't doing as good as I was capable of doing at shortstop," explained Banks in the Cubs' coaching office, while Himsel and the four other Cub coaches of the moment, listened quietly.

BANKS SAID his knee first was injured in Army baseball in 1951, when he was hit on the side while pivoting on a double play. Since then the knee has been hurt several times.

He was hit by a pitched ball thrown by Cincinnati's Don Newcombe last year.

This spring, the knee became swollen after a slide into third base against the Cleveland Indians at Tuscon. It was hurt again as the exhibition season ended when struck by a ground ball in a game against the Chicago White Sox.

Banks currently batting .281 with 7 homers, said the recent cold weather has bothered the knee to the extent of preventing a fast start on ground balls, and moving laterally.

Asked if the change would be permanent, Banks said: "I had the idea of staying out there, but I'll be happy to move back to short if my knee mends completely."

Fraternity Champs

Zeta Beta Tau won the fraternity league softball championship last Wednesday by defeating Alpha Tau Omega, 9-8, in an extra inning game.

Conference Official Statistics

CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten champion Michigan's Bill Freeman yesterday was officially named the conference's 1961 batting champion.

The Michigan catcher posted a .585 average. He also collected the most hits, 24, and led the Big Ten in runs-batted-in with 18.

Runnerup was Bart Kaufman of Indiana, who batted .452. He was followed by Minnesota's Dave Fritz, with .429. Bob Klein of Ohio State and Bill third.

leaded by the western conference Elyea tied, each with .426, for once service bureau showed Evans scoring the most runs—16. Fritz topped the home run hitters with five and crossed the most bases—40.

INDIANA and Michigan tied as top teams defensively with .960. The Hoosiers' .322 led the team batting.

Three Big Ten pitchers tied for won-lost honors. Doug Mills of Illinois, his teammate, Ron Johnson, and Indiana's Paul Deem each won four league games and lost none.

NCAA Bound Detroit Here

With what many people call their "greatest baseball team ever," the Detroit University Titans will invade Old College Field tomorrow afternoon at 1 to play a single game with Michigan State.

So far this season, the Titans have a near perfect record. In 20 games, Detroit has won 18, lost 1 and tied 1.

Because of their fine record, U of D has accepted an invitation to play in the NCAA District Four Play-Offs along with Michigan, Western Michigan and Cincinnati.

The Wolverines are the Big Ten representatives; the Bearcats are the Missouri Valley champs; and Western took the Mid-American title.

Among their 18 wins are two victories over Michigan. In the second game the Titans trailed the U of M 7-0 but rallied to win, 8-7.

Last week the Detroit club defeated Wayne State, 28-6.

Coach John Kobs will toss senior Mickey Sinks at the visitors. Sinks is 5-4 this spring.

Last year the two teams split a pair of games. Detroit won the first one, 14-5; the Spartans were victorious, 4-2, in the second encounter.

Dave De Busscher is an outstanding moundman for the Titans. In one of his fine performances, he pitched six-and-one-third innings against Michigan and struck out 12.

Six Awarded

Honor Comm. Arts Majors

Awards and scholarships were presented to outstanding students in the division of mass communications Tuesday afternoon.

Elden W. Wyant, Rogers City junior, and Ted M. Donay, Birmingham sophomore, each received a $1,000 scholarship from radio station WWJ in Detroit for their outstanding achievement in the radio and television field.

The WILK-TV award was presented by Leo A. Martin, professor and head of the TV-radio department, to Martha J. Parisian, Okemos senior, and Raymond J. Dion, Barre, Vt., senior, for their interest, professional ability and leadership in broadcasting.

ADELE R. FINALLY, Manhasset, N.Y. junior, and Diane C. Hanna, Union City, N.J. sophomore, each received a $300 scholarship from the Women's Advertising club of Detroit.

In an effort to bring competent people to his advertising company, Wesley Aves, president of the Aves, Shaw and Ring agency in Grand Rapids, presented two scholarships.

John P. Murphy, East Lansing senior, received $100 for being the outstanding all around top student in advertising. John R. Noble, Rochester, N.Y. senior, received $100 for being the best copywriter.

"THE COPYWRITER holds an important place in an advertising agency," Aves said, "for he initiates new ideas and formulates plans."

It is also necessary to have versatile people in a small advertising agency in order to perform the many necessary tasks, Aves said.

Excellence in character and competence to perform journalistic skills earned Paul LaRocque, Lansing senior, the award for the outstanding male graduate in journalism.

JANE K. DENISON, East Lansing senior, received the Sigma Delta Chi award from Elwin E. McCray, associate professor of journalism, for her scholastic achievement in journalism.

Frank B. Senger, associate professor of advertising, initiated six new members into the national journalism honorary Kappa Tau Alpha.

They were: Gloria A. Gammon, Detroit senior, James O. King, Cincinnati, Ohio, senior, Gayle Maxwell, Muskegon senior, Richard D. Powers, Lansing junior, Ken L. Ross, Weberville junior, and Linda A. Templeman, Findlay, Ohio, senior.

Italian Cheese Cake Highlight of Festival

An Italian cheese cake made from an old, secret family recipe was one of the highlights of the annual dairy cheese festival Tuesday at Anthony hall.

Joseph C. Ilvento, Long Branch, N.J. senior, baked the cheese cake as his entry in the festival.

The festival is a regular event in the course, "Selection and Evaluation of Dairy Products," taught by G. Malcolm Trout, professor of dairy. The course is offered to students in food distribution, hotel administration, restaurant management, and home economics.

Trout challenged each student in the class to submit an entry of cheese that he could not identify. Wrappers and identifying marks could be removed to test his judging ability.

Any student who attended the festival must have submitted his "calling card" sample of natural cheese to be judged and classified. Trout judged each cheese during the festival and pointed out identifying marks.

The samples were from many countries and of many varieties.

The students and guests had the opportunity to examine and taste each cheese after they were judged.

Trout was one of the six professors awarded the Distinguished Faculty Award April 26. He has held the offices of director, vice president and president of the American Dairy Science Association.

Dip on High

TOKYO (AP)—When officials at Hitotsubashi High School found they had no space available for a swimming pool in a new gymnasium, they had one installed on the building's roof.

"Now Mother, he was just telling me about the delicious meals and wonderful atmosphere they have at the Towne House."
