READY FOR FALL—At least parts of Case Hall will be ready for incoming coeds this fall. The Co-educational dorm will mark a new philosophy of dormitory living.

First Rise Since '57

High Cost of Living Hits Married Housing Units

By HANK BERNSTEIN
State News Staff Writer

There will be a $4 increase in the monthly rent of all married housing units, effective September 1. The increase has been made to handle increased maintenance and schooling costs, according to Philip J. May, MSU treasurer and vice president for business and finance.

This will be the first such increase since 1957, according to Emery Foster, manager of dormitory and food services.

Since 1957, maintenance and labor costs have risen, but the increases have not been passed on to the tenants, May said. Approximately $2.50 of the increase will be used to pay for these increased maintenance costs, May said.

APPROXIMATELY $1.50 of the $4 increase will go to paying East Lansing for schooling the children living in married housing, May said. The university paid tuition for 378 school-age children last year, May said.

The number of children that married housing has put in the East Lansing school system has increased approximately 30 per cent in the last five years, according to Foster.

A $5 increase will be charged to some residents of married housing. This will be for the new phone system. All new residents of married housing will pay the additional $5 and get the new phone service.

RESIDENTS of married housing who do not wish to have a phone or do not want to switch to the new system will not be required to do so, May said.

Approximately 80 to 90 per cent of the student families presently have telephones, May said. For the $5 each family will get a private line, he said. Before, students went directly to the phone company, but now the university will act as a collection agent, he said.

For the married housing residents who are not new and who wish to use the new phone system the $5 rate will go into effect Oct. 1, May said. Their obligation with the phone company will end the last day of September, so that there will be no overlapping, May said.

EVEN WITH the rent increases MSU married housing will probably remain the best in the Big 10 for the amount of money paid, according to Foster.

Residents currently pay $75 a month for a furnished, 1-bedroom apartment and $81 for a furnished 2-bedroom apartment. These rates will not go higher than $84 and $90.

Comparing MSU married housing to similar housing at other Big 10 schools, Foster said:

THE UNIVERSITY of Illinois provides an unfurnished 1-bedroom apartment, without the basic utilities of heat and electricity, for $85. Indiana University provides the same thing for $78.

The University of Iowa provides similar facilities for $75.

The University of Michigan provides a furnished 1-bedroom apartment with basic utilities for $97. Northwestern charges $105 for an unfurnished 1-bedroom unit, but basic utilities are provided.

Ohio State provides heat, but no furnishings with its $30 1-bedroom units. Purdue provides basic utilities for an unfurnished apartment at $81.

Wisconsin offers the same for $72.

Unique to MSU

Case Hall To Open in Fall

Coeds First In Men-Women Dorm

By DICK ROBINSON
State News Staff Writer

Seven-hundred Michigan State University coeds will be the first occupants this fall of unique Case Hall—unique in the fact that this is State's first combination men-women dormitory and its inhabitants will eventually participate in a new academic experiment.

According to Thomas A. Dutch, director of housing, approximately seven-hundred freshmen and transfer sophomore women who are required to complete the basic university courses have been assigned to the two north wings nearest Shaw Lane. Case Dormitory is opposite the intramural athletic field and is next to the university fire station on south campus.

CASE IS so constructed that it will house either men and/or women, depending upon the existing need. The plan of the building is similar to that of the Owen Graduate Center with rooms designed for two students. A bath will connect every two rooms.

Full occupancy of 1056 students is expected in the winter of 1962 when the building is scheduled to be completely finished. Case will temporarily house three girls to a room until completion, when the two main wings, Albert and Sarah, will be opened.

Eventually, when the new dormitory is officially opened, it will house University College students who are required to complete the basic courses. Case will also contain University College classrooms, which will be in full use by winter, 1962, although some will be opened this fall. The opening of the classrooms will depend upon how individual schedules are arranged, according to Dr. Edward A. Carlin, Dean of the University College.

DEAN CARLIN stated that the students in Case will have an advantage in that they will not have to leave the dormitory for University basic classes. Case will have classroom space for such subjects as American Thought and Language and Natural Science, the latter of which will have two labs and eight classrooms.

"This is a new experiment," said Dean Carlin, "and we hope it will work out at State."

He pointed out that students will have to leave the dormitory for special classes and their major courses. Students not living in Case will attend classes in regular department buildings.

This new dormitory arrangement will be convenient for students, particularly in the winter months.

Other features of Case Dormitory will include a library, cafeteria, and exhibition cases. There will be a coffee shop where students and faculty can continue class discussion and an area that will feature paper back books.

THERE HAVE been no noticeable labor troubles and the building is being constructed as scheduled.

Wilson Hall, another new optional men-women housing unit, is being constructed South of Case Dorm. Presently the frame work is being constructed and the building is expected to be completed by fall, 1962.

According to Dean Carlin, the dormitory will accommodate about 1200 students and will contain private baths connecting two room units.

"This will be a self contained under graduate college where students will take approximately 60 per cent of their University College work in four years," he said.

A library and staff offices will also be included in Wilson Hall. The Hall's circular design is a new innovation on the campus.

Case and Wilson Dormitories are two buildings of a six-building expansion program.

Nearing completion is Bessey Hall, located across from the Auditorium. Departments of American thought and language, humanities, and social science are now moving into the building. Landscaping has been started and will be completed before the building opens this fall.

The Eppley Center, Engineering building, Dairy Cattle Research building and a portion of Cherry Lane apartments will be completed at a later date.

Student Struck Crossing Grand River

Marcia A. Bernhart, Iron River elementary education special student, was struck by an auto while attempting to cross the intersection of Haslett Rd. and Grand River ave. Monday evening.

She is in satisfactory condition at Sparrow hospital.

Hospital officials said that she suffered a possible concussion and body bruises.

She was hit by an auto driven by Lee Whitback, of 1400 Robertson st., Lansing.

East Lansing police said that

Miss Bernhart had started to cross Grand River from south to north when she was struck by the Whitback auto.

Investigation of the accident is incomplete and no charge has been lodged, according to police officials.

Weather Report

Scattered showers and thundershowers are predicted again for today by the U.S. Weather Bureau.

The high temperature for today will be about 84 degrees, with an increase in humidity expected. The low last night was 64 degrees.

Thursday's outlook is for continued warm temperatures and scattered showers. It is expected however, that Thursday's rain will be centered in northern lower Michigan.

Who'll Greet Peace Corps?

(second in a series)

By DANIEL ARCHIBONG

The peoples in the host countries are more likely to be cynical of the peace corps volunteers than their governments. And the reason for this is not hard to seek.

Those governments which welcome Peace Corpsmen with eagerness are sure to be colonies, and if independent, they are more likely to be pro-west than neutral. For truly neutral countries (and perhaps there are none) are bound to be reluctant to accept the services of Peace Corps volunteers unless they are sponsored through the UN.

It is by no means unusual for the colonies and the pro-western territories to support a liberal movement initiated by the leading country of the western nations.

SUCH SUPPORT could be greatly strengthened when the movement in question is enriched with such tantalizing words and phrases as peace, progress, raising the standard of living and expanding educational facilities for the peoples.

Of course, the Peace Corps has not been lacking in such emotion-arousing language . . . to increase the welfare of all men and improve understanding among nations!

Sure enough, the reactions of these countries, and particularly the so-called neutral ones, had shown a unanimous support. In fact, their laud for peace corps has been more emotional than rational.

However, a qualified Indian graduate who has been walking the streets of India for the past six months searching for a job cannot but sneer at Peace Corpsmen. One can easily see why this Indian may not want to see a graduate from foreign country being given the job which he was denied, even in his country!

INDEED the condition of the Indian graduate is not an isolated case.

Today the problem of unemployment in the underdeveloped countries reaches varying degrees of acuteness. This leads to the ugly situations where graduates in some African nations have to flee their countries to seek employment in Europe or other neighboring territories.

In the newly independent countries where nationalization of civil services and industries has not been effected, a large number of peace corpsmen will probably be invited by their governments. Such invitations may not necessarily reflect the wishes of the citizens. Nor could this invitation indicate any severe scarcity of trained men and women for the jobs which these peace corps volunteers will be assigned.

Again this goes back to the age-old colonial policy. The colonial governments always prefer foreign officers and experts to the trained indigenes for placement in key jobs in the colonies.

But in independent nations where nationalization is desperately pursued the situation is different. These countries are sometimes willing to delay setting up a new industry or a new project for which they have no trained indigenous personnel until such men and women are available.

THUS THE cynical attitude of the peoples in the host countries towards peace corpsmen will arise from a good many sources. I can point out only a few of these as follows:

1. PEACE CORPS movement, unless sponsored through the UN, will be looked upon as another tactical move to win the cold war.

2. PEACE CORPSMEN will represent the image of the disliked or the just-ousted representatives of colonial governments;

3. PEACE CORPSMEN will aid in prolonging ill feeling against colonial thinking and values; and

4. PEACE CORPSMEN may help to perpetrate unemployment in these countries.

The indigenous people may be cold to the peace corps volunteers, but not because they dislike the participants simply they are Americans. These peoples may have no grudges against the American peoples, but they simply loathe the colonialists.

These peoples are tired of being ordered around. They are being forced to fight for their God-given rights. So let's try to understand their situation, and, as free peoples, let's respond favorably to their yearnings.

NEXT: Why not freedom and progress corps?

Letters to the Editor

More 'Riders' Protests

To the Editor:

This letter is two-fold in purpose. To protest Tom DeWitt's article of July-28 on the subject of Freedom Riders, and to express my amazement that such an unintelligent mass of jaundiced conclusions would ever be printed by the State News.

Mr. DeWitt seems to think that it would be better for our nation's prestige to ignore the presence of racial discrimination rather than attempt to correct the situation. So what if the Freedom Riders have slipped from the headlines to second and third page squibs?

So what if the public appears to have relapsed into lethargy? Does this make the Riders' actions or motives any less right?

THE FEDERAL law prohibits discrimination towards interstate passengers, yet the discrimination still exists.

If you believe the law is right, what better way to force the government to enforce it? Surely you don't blame the Freedom Riders for not going to Montgomery singly. As for the question of whether integration should be forced on the south we cannot, or certainly should not, allow any injustices or infractions of Federal law to continue.

The solution to this problem of racial segregation will not be reached by sitting back and letting it come to pass, it must instead be fought for as Freedom Riders are doing.

I regret and resent very much Tom DeWitt's statement that "the future doesn't have to look so dim . . .", that everything will be okay sometime beyond his lifetime or mine. If he is right, it will be due to the warped thoughts and prejudices of people like him.

MAYBE ALL the U.S. Marshalls together couldn't destroy prejudice but by destroying all outward signs of segregation and discrimination perhaps people (especially children) can discover for themselves the utter ridiculousness of theirs and their parents' prejudices. And even if this is not the result, at least the American Negro will have attained a larger degree of freedom, both legal and actual, and this most certainly is a worthwhile immediate goal.

I must also quarrel with the use of the term quixotic. I may rightly assume from this that Mr. DeWitt is opposed to motivation by moral idealism? Or, perhaps, he is inferring that the Freedom Riders are extravagantly romantic or impractical or overly chivalrous, in any event the word seems inept at best.

As to whether forced integration will lead to race wars, should we concede Berlin on the threat of war?

But there is one spot of promise in the article—the last paragraph. Yes, I too wait for the day when there will be no "need for Freedom Riders or other integration movements."

But when you say "some day there will be no need" for these elements you contradict your entire article by inferring there is a present necessity for Freedom Riders.

New Army ROTC Head Assumes Duties at MSU

Col. James F. Skells arrived here Monday to take over as the new professor of military science for the Army ROTC detachment. He succeeds Col. Merton E. Munson who retired this spring.

Col. Skells has just come from an assignment as commanding officer of Division Trains, 25th Infantry Division, Hawaii. He will be here for four years.

He was born in Watertown, S.D.

He went to West Point and was commissioned in the infantry in 1935.

DURING World War II he served as an infantry battalion commander in Italy and was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross.

Since that time he has served with the Department of the Army on the General Staff and also as the assistant secretary of defense for manpower, personnel, and reserve components.

In 1950 Col Skells received a master's degree in business administration from Ohio State University.

HE WENT to Korea in 1953 to command an infantry regiment and was awarded the Legion of Merit for his service there.

The Colonel's family includes his wife, Carol, daughter Penelope-Susan, 19, and son Peter James, 13. Another daughter, Pamela, is married to a Coast Guard lieutenant currently stationed at Wright-Patterson Field in Dayton, Ohio.

The Skells reside at 331 Clarendon Rd., East Lansing.

For Pennant Drive Scheffing Re-stocks Tigers' Bullpen

By virtue of a 4 to 1 win over the Los Angeles Angels Monday night, the New York Yankees increased their American league lead to 3 games over the second place Detroit Tigers.

Both the Tigers and the Yankees played under the lights Tuesday night, and scores were not available at press time.

Tiger manager Bob Scheffing, in an effort to get back into the running, has all but one of his ace starting pitchers doubling their starting roles with bullpen duty.

Injuries and a weak second line pitching staff have cost the Detroit club several key games in the past month.

Scheffing has Jim Bunning, Don Mossi and Paul Foytack now taking their turns in the bullpen. Frank Lary, thus far the Tigers winningest hurler, will not be used in relief because of a weak throwing arm.

Bunning was scheduled to start Tuesday night's game against the Chicago White Sox.

'Heart' Movie Ends Summer Film Series

"None But the Lonely Heart," a rich and tender story of man's eternal quest for harmony in his heart, is the final attraction to be shown in the summer film series on Friday and Saturday.

Directed by Clifford Odets, the film at 7:30 p.m. in Fairchild Theatre stars Ethel Barrymore, Cary Grant and Barry Fitzgerald.

Ernie Mott, played by Cary Grant, is the hero of the story. He's a Cockney of London's East End—a raffish and arrogant rover with a touch of the poet in his soul.

ERNIE IS admired by the people around him because he obviously represents to them a rapturously unfettered spirit who has escaped their dull and dreary lots.

But Ernie has a driving hunger for other things—particularly for rare, exciting love. He is bound, however, by a deep and odd affection to his mother (Ethel Barrymore) who is poor and ill. In his desperate desire for an immediate and material way to help them both, he turns to crime, while his loving mother surreptitiously is doing the same.

THE MISERABLE, inexorable consequence and the pathos of their mutual sacrifice form the powerful components for a climax to this sensitive and haunting film.

The late James Agee, one of the greatest movie critics developed in this country, noted:

"I was impressed rather because Odets was more interested in filling his people with life and grace than in explaining them, arguing over them, or using them as boxing gloves."

STAN KENTON—North Texas State supplied one of the bands that came to the clinic as a unit. Here Stan Kenton is shown leading that band.

36,000 Ft. Worth of Video Tape

Most of the Stan Kenton Clinic is gone, but not all of it. Nearly eight hours of highlights from the clinic remain on 36,000 feet of two inch wide videotape in the studios of WMSB (TV), Channel 10.

"We managed to get quite a bit of the clinic on tape. But the real job will be editing it in such a way that we can document the entire week," said producer-director Bob Page.

Page, an M.S.U. graduate, spent countless hours planning and directing the shooting of the many facets of the clinic. Now he is faced with the job of editing the tape into a one hour program scheduled for broadcast during the fall quarter.

WMSB set up its remote unit behind the music building auditorium. A staff of 10 engineers, cameramen and lighting personnel set up equipment to record the activities of the week-long event.

The results of their efforts are now on the thousands of feet of videotape.

Included are shots of the workshop which provided sectional study of individual instruments and the various bands preparing for the concert presented Friday evening.

Other highlights include interviews with Stan Kenton, Buddy DeFranco and Don Jacoby.

Fires from spontaneous combustion of hay destroyed at least $1.25 million worth of Michigan buildings in the last four years, say Michigan State University farm safety specialists.

CHOP CHOP—Bob Page is the man blessed with the job of editing 36,000 feet of TV tape. The tapes are of the Stan Kenton Clinic.

Michigan Team Is Leading

The Michigan team has been the most successful group in the tennis tournament as of Tuesday. As the first days matches came to a close, the team had piled up seven wins and only one loss.

The top entry from the state, Sharon Pritula defeated Betty Murphy of Virginia, 6-0 and 6-2, in the Girls 15 and under match. Her brother Bob defeated John Chanowski of Delaware, 6-0 and 6-2.

Susan Dykes, Connie Szkil and Karla Luly all won their matches as did Bill Dixon and Tom Deur.

Duer won his second round game by defeating Grady Barbour from West Virginia, 6-3 and 6-4.

The only Michigan loss was that of Paul Dimond to David Kossover of Arkansas, 5-7, 6-3 and 6-3.

All the seeded players (favored to do well) won their matches most of them by bye (no opponent) and will move on into the second round today.

One feature of the tournament will be the naming of the 1962 U.S. Junior Davis Cup squad at the champions awards banquet Saturday. The guest speakers at the banquet will be head football coach Duffy Daugherty, former Davis Cup team captain Don Budge and George Barnes, president of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, of Chicago.

THE SPEAKERS at last night's banquet were Jack

Breslin, secretary of the Board of Trustees; Col. Ted Bank, president of the Athletic Institute and U.S. Jaycee President Bob Conger. Thursday afternoon, Bill Talbert former Davis Cup captain will hold a tournament clinic. Featured will be exhibition matches.

A Parade of Nations and States through the downtown area of Lansing was held Monday night. All the competing teams and champions marched with several Lansing bands and civic units.

Eliminations will be held every day this week with the finals scheduled for Saturday. The matches are open to the public and bleacher seats are available.

Colored Money May Add Spice to Spending

A new purse to match her money? Don't laugh, men, you may regret it! According to a recent polling by a private organization tinted money is the vogue—at least along the steel pier at Atlantic City, N.J. Polls, Inc., in co-operation with the University of Pennsylvania, conducted the week-long survey. Of the 423 persons questioned, 218 favored the tinted bills, 138 were content with the present greenbacks.

Elizabeth Rudel Smith, treasurer of the United States, has recommended that bills from $2 up be differentiated by color to reduce the possibility of confusing one bill from another and to make money more attractive.

Smooth-Talking Salesmen Are Promoting New Racket

By HOWARD GATES
State News Staff Writer

For decades the American public has shelled out its hard-earned dollar to the fast-talking salesman who always assures them that they are getting the "deal of a lifetime."

Needless to say, there are many cases in which this couldn't be further from the truth, and all that is received in return for the cash is the realization that the customer has been "taken."

Of course these "con-men in salesmen's clothing" are in the minority and are not to be confused with the thousands of honest representatives who daily ply their trade. They are present however.

One such group is, at the present time, working a smooth rapid-moving operation in the state of Michigan.

In a statement just released by Paul L. Adams, attorney general, a group representing the National Literary Association of Terre Haute, Ind., is engaged in a magazine sales operation which is in violation of section 96 of the General Corporation Act.

UNDER the act it is a misdemeanor to aid in the transaction of an unauthorized, foreign corporation's business.

The salesmen, who move rapidly from county to county, have already reaped a fine harvest according to reports from Owosso, Bellaire and Alba. Department of Public Safety officials say that thus far there have been no reports of their operations either at the university itself or in the Lansing-East Lansing area, but students and residents of the area are asked to be on guard, and, if approached, to report any such activity.

The "pitch" works like this: The salesmen offer a variety of national magazines at supposedly bargain rates. The purchaser is required to make a down payment, remitting the balance to the corporation. Failure to do so results in a forfeiture of monies paid.

This, of course, is not an unusual approach. Many legitimate concerns operate in much the same manner. The catch comes in the cost of the magazine. A curious resident checked the cost and found that the down payment amounted to the local news rate, and that the balance due was apparently a "bonus" to the corporation, according to the Attorney General's report.

THE DEPARTMENT of Public Safety has combined with the Attorney General in issuing a warning, and asks anyone who is approached by a representative of this corporation to report it immediately.

Department of Public Safety officials also remind university residents that any door-to-door sales are prohibited on campus without a permit obtained from the Secretary of the State Board of Trustees.

No one will deny that it is fine to have magazines in the home, and that there are many legitimate concerns who offer them at reduced subscription rates. What is important, however, is to keep a sharp eye when dealing with these salesmen and to report any approach made by the group now picking the pockets of unwary Michigan residents.

Six Classical Musicians Offer Program Friday

Six visiting musicians are offering a program in the Music Auditorium Friday at 8:15 p.m.

The musicians are on campus as part of the faculty of the Congress of Strings.

Appearing on the program will be Paul Oberg, piano; Lorne Munroe, cello; Frank Houser, violin; Hyman Goodman, violin; William Lincer, viola, and Theo Salzman, cello.

The evening performance will include the following selections:

"Sonata for Violoncello and Piano—Op. 6," by Barber.

"String trio in E flat Major," Mozart, and "String Quartet—Op. 18, No. 6, Quartet in B flat," Beethoven.

Three Week Session

Young Musicians Studying Here

Another group of high school students, 450 strong, arrived on campus Sunday.

This group is a collection of promising young musicians who are attending the university's summer youth music session. The course will be of three weeks duration and has brought students from all over the country to Michigan State.

There are students here from as far away as Connecticut, Mississippi and South Dakota, Robert G. Sidnell, assistant professor of music, said.

TO-BE eligible to attend, students must have reached the high school level and have the approval of their music teacher and high school principal.

Everything from band and orchestra instruction to special instruction in voice, arranging and conducting will be embraced in the curriculum offered at this session.

On August 16, a band concert will be presented on the music practice field at 7 p.m. and on Aug. 26 another will be presented at 2 p.m. in the Fairchild Theater.

IN ADDITION to these concerts there will be three radio programs a week in which various groups will take part.

The students taking part in this summer session are being housed both on and off campus, depending upon the nearness of their homes, and are being afforded various supervised recreational activities.

The university's music staff has been augmented with several visiting directors to conduct the program of this special summer program.

Reflector Fee Refund Planned

Michigan motorists who last year paid the 35 cent reflectorization fee for their vehicle license can now get credit toward their 1962 plates.

Refund cards have been distributed to 250 department of state branch offices in all 83 counties, Secretary of State James M. Hare announced recently.

"All that the vehicle owner who wishes to have the 35 cent credit on his 1962 plates need do is fill out a simple 7x3 1/2 canary-colored card and turn it in to the nearest branch office or mail it to the department of state in Lansing," Hare said.

THE REFUND card requires the license plate number on which the credit is claimed, the amount claimed and the name of the registered owner.

Each card will be checked with records in Lansing and if the information is correct it will be validated and returned to the vehicle owner.

On or after Nov. 1, 1961, when new plates go on sale, the refund card will be good for 35 cents on a set of 1962 plates.

No cash refunds are authorized.

"WE WEIGHED the advantages and disadvantages of a number of methods of refunding this money within the letter and spirit of the refund law and came up with this one as the most simple and most practical procedure," Hare said.

"I believe it only fair that the people who paid this fee for a service they did not receive should get a refund. However, refunding through this extremely simple method may cost the State from 10 to 15 cents for each transaction.

"It is my hunch that many of the three million items will go uncollected and remain in the General Fund for use in running the state government," Hare said.

A total of $1,048,782.35 was collected on 2,996,521 transactions.

Mummy Passes Exams

Detroit's oldest resident recently underwent an extensive physical examination and was pronounced in excellent condition for her age.

In 1970 she will be 2000 years old. She is an Egyptian mummy.

Discovered in 1909 in Thebes by an archaeologist, she was purchased and presented to the Detroit Institute of Arts and, since 1901, has been on display in the Egyptian section of the museum.

RECENTLY Dr. James E. Lofstrom, chief radiologist at Detroit Memorial Hospital, conducted an extensive radiological probe in response to queries about the age and condition of the mummy.

"Our conclusions would be that this represents a female, roughly in the age bracket from 32 to 42, of excellent posture and good bone structure."

"The bones remain of excellent texture and density. There is excellent preservation of the dental structures and basic good proportion between the mandible and the skull, which gave her a pleasing appearance," he said.

A fracture of the left mastoid, discovered during the probe, probably resulted from post mortem embalming techniques, Dr. Lofstrom said.

"WE FEEL that the woman was well proportioned with rather slim hips and therefore of a statuesque nature. There are no developmental abnormalities and no evidence to indicate that this individual ever had any deficiency disease," he said.

No specific cause of death could be detected.

As was the burial custom of the time for young women of the middle and upper income group families, she was mummified very carefully to preserve personal identity after death. Buried with her were some of her personal belongings, real and in replica, models of servants, wall pictures illustrating daily life and food and drink, all for comfort after death.

Among the things discovered about this mummy's personal life was that the woman's wrappings of linen and pitch had been interred with a number of amulets.

"Someone loved her and wished her luck," Dr. Lofstrom said.

Two Okemos Youths Land in Red Cedar River

Two Okemos youths were injured Monday night when the car in which they were riding hurtled off Nakoma drive, flipped on its top and landed in the Red Cedar.

Reported in fair condition by Sparrow hospital officials Tuesday was 16-year-old David John Whitmore of 2387 Huron Hill drive. He was taken to the hospital with water in his lungs. John R. Miller, 17, of 4760 Nakoma drive was treated at Sparrow hospital for a broken rib and later released.

Sheriff's officers said the car Whitmore was driving passed over the bridge across the river, hit a guard rail at the curve at Indian Hills golf course, came back on the road, spun around and went down the bank into the river.

Whitmore was ticketed for excessive speed.

Wins in Primary

MSU Student Attempts To Become Con-Con Delegate

An MSU senior may be one of the 144 delegates to this fall's Constitutional Convention.

Alan D. Cutcher, 21, of Port Huron, a political science major, defeated his fellow Democratic opponent by nearly 600 votes in the primary election July 25.

Cutcher has now launched his campaign to convince the voters of the 34th senatorial district, which encompasses St. Clair and Lapeer counties, that despite his age, he will be able to cope with the job of revising Michigan's constitution.

His victory over candidate Harold Zorlen was preceded by extensive study on past constitutional conventions.

"I couldn't let all this information go to waste," he said.

The young candidate feels that he must make his move now as it will no doubt be many years until the state has another convention.

So far Cutcher has gained a great deal of support in the predominantly Republican district, but he admits that he'll need more than the Democratic backing he received in the primary to win.

His opponent will be Republican Frank O. Staiger of Port Huron, an attorney in that city.

He has commented that Cutcher seems to be a very interested young man, but failed to say whether he feels he'll have much competition.

In his studies at MSU, Cutcher has served as a legislative aid in the senate. He has also been very active in the state's Young Democrats club for a number of years.

He believes that the earmarking of certain funds should be continued so that various state departments can depend on these monies every year.

String Congress Closing With Fairchild Concert

The Congress of Strings of the American Federation of Musicians will present a concert Thursday at 8:15 p.m. Mishel Piastro, concert master of the New York Philharmonic, will conduct the 95-piece orchestra at Fairchild Theatre.

The free public performance will be the final concert of the Congress.

Dr. Paul Oberg, dean of the faculty of the Congress of Strings, has characterized the program as "light and tuneful."

SELECTIONS will be from European and American composers. Classical and contemporary music will be included.

This concert will mark the end of eight week of study on campus by the members. The course began June 18 and will close Saturday.

The Congress is organized by the American Federation of Musicians to develop and encourage young string players with professional potential. The students, all on scholarships, are from 35 states, Puerto Rico, and Canada. They were selected for the Congress by locals of the Federation.

THE FACULTY includes, in addition to Dr. Oberg and Mishel Piastro, the following musicians Warren Benfield, bass viol, Chicago Symphony; Rafael Druian, violin, Cleveland Symphony; Hyman Goodman, violin, Toronto; Frank Hauser, violin, San Francisco Symphony; Louis Krasner, violin, University of Syracuse; William Lincer, viola, New York Philharmonic; Lorne Munroe, cello, Philadelphia Orchestra; Theo Salzman, cello, Pittsburg.

Dr. Oberg is head of the school of music at the University of Minnesota.

New Play By Levin

NEW YORK (AP)—Herman Levin, producer of "My Fair Lady," has found another English story as the theme of his first project in five years.

He plans a musical adaptation of "The Sleeping Prince" by Terence Rattigan. Its theme, the meeting of a royal youth and a chorus girl, bears certain similarity to the gentleman-and-flower-girl topic of "My Fair Lady," and the time is also the London of pre-World War 1.

"This is a period that has been kind to me," notes Levin, who has pencilled the project for exhibit a season hence.

It's a good idea to put the fire department's phone number in a conspicuous place near the telephone, say Michigan State University farm safety specialists.
