Wayne State U. Offers State Plan To Raise Student Fees

Legislators Greet Idea Warmly

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Officials of Wayne State University, pleading poverty for their school, offered Tuesday to increase student fees if the legislature would come across with matching money.

Their proposal got a surprisingly warm reception from economy-minded members of the legislative appropriations committees. The lawmakers asked Wayne representatives to spell out their ideas in detail at a meeting here Nov. 7.

Led by Dr. Clarence Hilberry, WSU president, the university delegation proposed to raise the 1962 spring tuition for resident students from $140 to $155. This, they said, would raise approximately $217,000 or roughly the amount the legislature reduced Wayne's budget this year.

WSU OFFICIALS, including members of the university Board of Governors, asked the legislature in turn to supplement the budget by an equal amount for the 1961-62 fiscal year, which ends June 30. Wayne's current state budget is $15,582,000.

The university also proposed a three-year graduated budget increase, beginning with the switch from the semester to the quarter system in the fall of 1962. Under that plan, student fees would increase $600,000 the first year and the legislature, by continuing its present 4-1 matching ratio, would allocate $2.4 million.

The plan also would provide a loan plan for part of the increase, enabling students to defer repayment until a year after they discontinue full-time attendance in college.

"This is a new approach and it sounds good," said Sen. Clarence Graebner, R-Saginaw.

"We will be very happy to look into this," said Sen. Elmer R. Porter, R-Blissfield.

"I think it is very worthy that you are trying to help yourselves with our assistance," he added. "Maybe this will be the beginning of something that will stimulate more cooperation between the legislature and the universities."

225 Hurt In Chemical Explosion

CHICAGO (AP) — A cosmetic firm's chemical blending building blew apart Wednesday with massive impact, injuring more than 225 persons and rocking a 10-mile west side area.

There were no fatalities despite a great potential for loss of life. Damage estimates ranged from $250,000 to $1 million.

The explosion destroyed a one-story reinforced concrete building used by Helene Curtis Industries for mixing chemicals for the firm's cosmetic preparations.

Company, state and city investigations studied the blast site for several hours; then they announced they were unable to determine the cause of the blast. The investigation would continue, they said.

The exploding blending building, set apart from six other plant buildings occupied by Curtis, shattered hundreds of windows at Curtis and the Zenith Radio Corp. plant across the street.

Windows also were blasted in by the force of the explosion in some 200 homes and stores in the area, a mile away from the Curtis plant at 4401 W. See EXPLOSION page 5

3,000 Roar Their Rose Bowl Hopes

By E. MALCOLM FILSON
Of the State News Staff

A crowd estimated at over 3,000 students roared State's hopes to go to the Rose Bowl in a running demonstration in East Lansing and around the entire MSU campus last night.

Spurred on by cries of "We're going to the Rose Bowl" and "We're number one," jubilant students of both sexes ran through campus in ever-increasing numbers. Seven students were arrested by East Lansing police. All seven pleaded guilty and were fined $10 and $3.30 costs.

State police units all through this area stood by on alert. Apparently the demonstration started in the vicinity of a fraternity house on West Grand River Ave. and then picked up momentum as the group headed for "sorority row" on M.A.C. Ave. The crowd grew as it passed several fraternity houses on the way. When they reached M.A.C. Ave. large numbers of sorority girls joined the chanting demonstrators who sang, "Won't you come out tonight."

About this time police became interested in proceedings and attempted to break up the crowd, which brought cries of "Party pooper!"

The mob then headed toward the Union, ran through and stopped in front of Campbell Hall. More girls joined the Rose Bowl-happy crowd which next moved around to Landon Hall, Yakeley, Gilchrist, then Williams. The crowd ran down Michigan, blocking traffic for blocks, chanting "Let's go to Brody."

They regrouped in front of Butterfield Hall, circled Brody, and by the time it had passed the other five halls in the Brody group it had tripled in size. Rather Hall looked like an anthill as men scurried down stairways to join.

Leaders yelled the inevitable "Let's go to Shaw" and 3,900 students ran down the Brody shortcut. At Sparty an impromptu pep rally was held and energetic supporters climbed on the statue and led spirited cheers and fight songs. Once more "Let's go to Shaw" was heard and they headed in that direction. Then they changed their minds and went around behind the Men's IM building, over to Case Hall. More girls joined the sortie, which continued toward Shaw.

Apparently Shaw advisers had been forewarned and most

'Power Grab' At Con-Con

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A jurisdictional quarrel between two constitutional convention committees flared up Wednesday with one being accused of a "power grab."

The charge came from Frank Millard, former Republican attorney general from Flint, a member of the Con-Con legislative powers committee.

It was leveled at the committee on miscellaneous provisions and schedule, headed by Claud R. Erickson, R-Lansing.

Erickson's committee said yesterday that as part of its preparation of sections of a new constitution it would look into matters dealing with corporations, eminent domain, personal property and homestead exemptions. He named subcommittees to start the work.

THE LEGISLATIVE powers committee, headed by T. Jefferson Hoxie, R-St. Louis, took a dim view of Erickson's move.

Hoxie brought the subject up this morning at a meeting of all major committee chairmen with Stephen S. Nisbet, convention president.

The chairmen voted to ask each committee to present a statement on what sections of the present constitution each thought was in its field.

Nisbet said that if any conflicts developed, with more than one committee claiming the right to work on a certain

Need Peace, Mr. K. Says

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev declared Wednesday the Soviet Union means to have all the necessary nuclear and missile weapons of every range to crush anyone "challenging us to war."

But he said his main challenge to the capitalist world is the 20-year program he laid before the applauding 22nd Soviet Party Congress Wednesday and "it can be fulfilled successfully only in the conditions of peace."

Khrushchev, who Tuesday spoke of exploding a 50-megaton bomb 2,500 times the size of the first atomic bomb at Hiroshima, promised as he has before to "disband our army and sink our atomic bombs and missiles in the ocean."

This promise was on the condition there is an agreement on general and complete disarmament under strict international control on which western disarmament negotiators never have been able to get a satisfactory agreement.

Khrushchev, in a six hour speech—his second such in two days—outlined a 20-year program which he said would give the Soviet people the highest production and living standards on earth.

He described it as a blueprint for the inevitable downfall of imperialism and the triumph of socialism on a world scale "which already has administered a big defeat for aggressors."

Provost Urges Congress To Help Build Image of MSU

By SALLY DERRICKSON
Of the State News Staff

Provost Paul A. Miller appealed to members of Student Congress Wednesday night to help build up Michigan State University in the eyes of its own students and faculty.

Miller said that the student body's lack of pride is the difference between making it a "good" university and a "great" one.

Explaining the multiple functions of the University, Miller attempted to show cause for several of the problems that draw criticism from faculty and students.

"The American university today," he said, "is under tremendous pressure, both economically and population-wise. Society has placed multiple obligations upon us, and we have to meet them."

Miller suggested that a one-hour weekly series of classes might be offered to freshmen, featuring lectures by "our best people from on and off campus" to explain the traditions and history of MSU. Since both

ROTC and HPR requirements have been lightened, this course might provide an answer to the "lack of pride" problem.

Miller offered a list of a few of the departments in which MSU has top ratings: chemistry, microbiology, English, agriculture, business, science and arts, political science, social science, the basic or university college, and international programs.

He pointed out that MSU has over 200 faculty members serving overseas, and has gained international fame with its foreign programs.

"The happy or peaceful university," he said, "is nonexistent except in the public image. The price of 'happiness' in a university is mediocrity."

Miller explained the University's conservatism by pointing out that blending the past and the future with the present is a tough job—but this is what it must do.

Miller listed several plans that the University is working on now to help continue to improve our standing. Among these are:

Improvement of the undergraduate program by setting up a list of agreements to govern the "spirit, hopes, and aspirations" of any curriculum within any college in the University.

Experimentation with learning devices such as teaching machines and closed circuit television;

Residence hall planning, including experimentation with grouping people in various curriculums and class levels. Another part of this program will include holding classes in residence halls (planned for Case Hall next year) and the Wilson dorm, now in planning stages;

Decentralization of buildings and classes to get the benefits of both the small college and the large university;

Discussing plans for Wilson Hall, Miller said that it would be equivalent to another college within the University, housing students, and including classrooms and faculty offices.

He also went on record as being in favor of voluntary, not compulsory, class attendance. He added, however, that he is also in favor of a step-up in work required of students.

Edinger Reports On Berlin

A first-hand report on conditions in Berlin and implications of the recent national elections in West Germany will be presented by Dr. Lewis J. Edinger, professor of political science, at 7 p.m. Thursday in 32 Union.

Edinger returned last week from a three-week visit to Germany at the invitation of the Bonn government. He was Fulbright research professor at the Free University of Berlin in 1959-60, and has written three books and numerous articles on political and military problems in post-war Germany.

The talk is sponsored by Delta Phi Epsilon, national professional fraternity for international trade and diplomacy, which will hold a rush smoker preceding Edinger's remarks for all men students interested in careers in business abroad or in international relations.

The organization will present a second rush smoker and an evaluation of American activities and problems in Iran by Dr. Edward Bayne, Middle Eastern specialist from the American Universities Field Staff, next Thursday, also at 7 p.m. in 32 Union.

Confidence, Optimism... Peace Corps Serene

By MARY BASING
Of the State News Staff

Confidence, optimism and definite ideas about the job to be done.

That's the attitude of at least six Peace Corps members training on campus.

In a group interview Tuesday the Corpsmen told of their expectations as graduate assistants at the University of Nigeria in Nsukka.

"What does cultural shock mean?" George Eaton, 23, Lawrence, Kan., asked when the group was queried about their ideas concerning this point.

"WE'RE GOING to do a specific job; not to soak up culture," he added.

"Most of us are confident enough not to worry about cultural and racial differences,"

David Schickele, 23, New York City, said.

Joan Franklin, 23, Detroit, said she didn't know whether being a Negro would help or hinder her in Nigeria.

"In some ways I may have a harder time than the others, regardless there will be cultural problems," she said.

The trainees said they expect to conform to a role while in Africa.

"Part of this training is to help us see what our role will be," Mrs. Lorena Blount, 23, Allerton, Iowa, explained.

"The training should help us adjust."

"We expect that there will be difficulties," Roswell Blount, 25, Allerton, Iowa, said.

"Perhaps we will be working under British teachers," Miss Franklin added.

"We'll have to prove ourselves as Americans and teachers, probably more as Americans at first," Schickele said.

"Oh, I think there will be about equal emphasis on these two roles," Miss Franklin said.

"Outwardly, we'll be trying to prove ourselves as teachers; inwardly, as Americans," Blount said.

"REALLY, THIS cannot be

Graduation Ahead For Peace Corps

The Peace Corps trainees at MSU leave the East Lansing campus Friday to continue their work at the Gull Lake Biological Station.

They return here Nov. 10 when the program is concluded with commencement. This graduation is different from the average college graduate's however.

Their post-graduate work will be taken in a rough school. For two years they will live in Nigeria, working there in various jobs for a $75 per month salary.

ASIDE FROM the different living conditions, they will also have to orient themselves to a different culture. The pitfalls of such ventures were painfully illustrated this week by the demonstrations at the University of Nigeria in Nsukka.

These people are now going through an intensive training period so that such episodes are kept at a minimum and do not reoccur.

The group here keeps a 12-hour day, spent in learning the language Ibo, doing term papers and exploring the library. Their courses include studies on African, Nigeria, U.S. and world affairs, current events, health and physical conditioning.

Listed among this group are three lawyers, three married couples and one woman over 50. Most of the 17 men and 10 women are in their twenties and all are college graduates.

THEY HAVE BEEN selected through a series of tests given last spring plus evidence of high grades, leadership ability, emotional stability and character.

They will need each of these attributes and more if they hope to succeed in the difficult work ahead of them. MSU, proud to be a part of such a project, has prepared them in part for the next two years but the final success rests with them.

Neither MSU nor the Peace Corps will grant them their graduate degrees. The Nigerian people will award those.

Peace Corps

"The University will expect us to be teachers," Blount said. Why are they in the Peace Corps?

"It is hard in America to help people; this is a prospective and concrete way to do something," Schickele answered.

"The Peace Corps is an effective way to help others and one way to assert yourself," Miss Franklin said.

Mrs. Blount said she thought there were many avenues of service in America.

"THE PEACE Corps, though, is one way to work for a solution for international understanding," she said.

The trainees were not sure what they will do after the Peace Corps work.

"I guess we expect the two years to help us decide what we will do afterwards," Schickele said.

Picked at random from the 33 trainees here, the persons interviewed come from varied backgrounds.

The Blounts both graduated from Iowa State University.

Mrs. Blount, an English major has worked summers at work camps in Texas and Denmark, with a settlement house in Indiana and as an English teacher with migrant workers in California.

Her husband also worked this past summer with migrant in California, teaching English and manual arts.

HE COMPLETED a year at the Chicago Theological Seminary on a Rockefeller Theological fellowship.

Eaton received his B.A. in political science from Duke University and completed his M.A. at Yale this year on a Woodrow Wilson fellowship.

He has worked as a zoological lab assistant and as camp counselor for crippled children. Miss Franklin received her B.A. and LL.B. in law from Wayne State university. She specialized in international relations, particularly the African area.

An English literature major, Schickele graduated from Swarthmore. He has worked among other things, as a free-lance musician, carpenter and assistant-motion picture editor.

MISS CATHERINE Crook, 52, Washington, D.C., has been a junior high school principal for the past 15 years.

She graduated cum laude from Smith College and received her M.A. in math and physics from Cornell University.

Miss Crook said she joined the Corps because she believed in it.

"It's a good way to help developing countries though I don't believe in forcing this on anyone," she said.

"My main reason for joining is that it's a way to give of yourself."

Miss Crook taught college math in Ghana from 1953 to 1955 under a Fulbright grant.

"I know from personal experience the need for education in this area," she said.

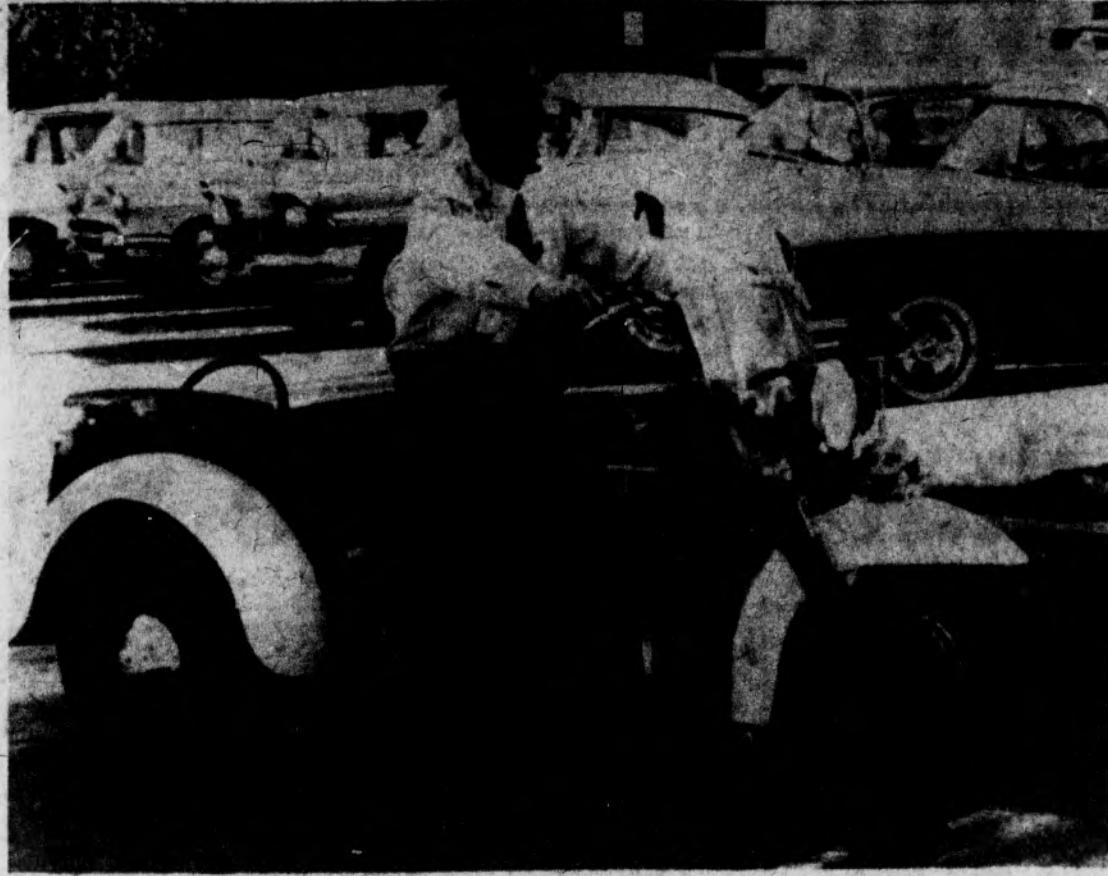

All of the trainees leave Friday at 2 p.m. for three weeks training at Gull Lake. They will return Nov. 10 and leave Nov. 11 for 13 days of free time before going to Nigeria Nov. 24.

Ohio Plant May Cause Shutdown of Ford Lines

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers union broke off negotiations Wednesday on an at-the-plant working agreement for a key plant which could close down Ford assembly lines in a matter of days if a strike there is continued.

The plant is at Walton Hills, Ohio, just outside Cleveland. It is the only one of 85 plants at which Ford had not issued recall orders since the union called off a 13-day strike against Ford last Sunday.

Ford and the UAW reached agreement last Thursday on a national package of wages and fringe benefits, but the UAW authorized local units to continue strikes in support of at-the-plant working agreements which supplement the national contract.

The union's international executive board has ordered all Ford workers, except at Walton Hills, back to the job. Jerry Wilske, president of Walton Hills local 420, said all issues except one have been settled. He said this was company insistence on cutting pay rates 5 to 15 cents an hour for 435 jobs in the big stamping plant which employs 3,330.

Ford denied it was attempting to cut any wages now being paid at Cleveland. The statement said:

"We are not proposing that anyone's pay be cut. Some of our employees at the Cleveland stamping plant are receiving pay in excess of rates negotiated for the work they are doing at Cleveland and for comparable work elsewhere in the company. We have offered to exempt those employees presently misclassified but want to get back to the negotiated rate structure for those newly assigned to such work in the future."

Pep Rally

(Continued from page 1) of Shaw's residents did not or could not come out. A few hundred had escaped beforehand. The mob finally ran for the girls' dorms on the east end of campus.

Still shouting, "We're going to the Rose Bowl," the students stopped in front of Snyder and circled Abbott Hall.

By this time all possibilities of getting a larger crowd had been exhausted so the group started running back and forth on Grand River Ave., blocking traffic. East-Lansing police intervened and seven students were arrested for disorderly conduct.

The mob dispersed into two groups. The second gradually broke up but the first continued in the direction of President Hannah's house. They cheered in front of his house for a few minutes until Hannah came out.

He gave a short speech in which he commended school spirit but advised the students to save it for the game Saturday. He said to make sure it did not become destructive, to keep it clean and everything will be all right.

Then the demonstrators went to Jenison Fieldhouse and demanded that the band practicing there play the Fight Song. Leonard Falcone, the director, yielded to the cheering and the band struck up the MSU Fight Song to end approximately two hours of demonstration.

Department of Public Safety officials said that the demonstration was an orderly pep rally and that no destruction of property had occurred, as far as they could determine.

Algerians Riot In Paris

PARIS (AP) — Demonstrating Algerians swarmed in the streets again Wednesday night and clashed with reinforced riot police.

A radio car policeman said about 1,500 marching on the rail station in suburban Nanterre battled wildly with police in a hail of gunshots. The policeman said two rioters were killed and six suffered bullet wounds.

Club-swinging riot squads drove the demonstrators away from the station and captured more than 30 Algerians by the end of the fighting.

Inside Paris more Algerians staged demonstrations and thousands more headed in by road and train in defiance of the reinforced police and a decision to deport them as troublemakers.

But as the night wore on, the Nanterre battle was the only major clash reported. Riot police, reinforced by security units drawn from nearby provinces, stood guard at key points throughout Greater Paris. Police apparently had the situation under control for the night.

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Riding a horse is like sitting on a davenport, according to Bashir Ahmad, a Pakistani camel driver.

116 Student Apartments Completed

The 116 new Cherry Lane apartments, originally scheduled for completion in August are just now being finished. Tom Dutch, director of housing, said Tuesday. Because of this, most of the apartments will go unrented this term.

This two-month delay was caused by the state legislature's belated approval of the funds for the apartments, he said.

There is no hurry at present to complete the apartments, Dutch said, because the students who had applications in for fall term have found housing elsewhere.

There are only 62 applications for two-bedroom apartments at present, the housing office reports. Of this figure only 10 applications are for this term. The rest are for later in the school year.

This addition will increase the number of housing units in Cherry Lane to 292, and increase the total number of married housing units to 2,240.

CASE HALL RESIDENTS find elevators a luxurious advantage over other residences on campus. Another advantage is the adjoining baths, making each two rooms into a suite. —State News Photo.

Case Hall Offers Modern Living

Is it a hotel or a residence hall? Coeds might wonder when they see the new Case Hall on south campus. The 665 girls living there see daily progress on plans for more plush living quarters than in any other undergraduate dorm now on campus. Rooms have connecting baths—an innovation for undergraduate dorms here—and private phones. GIRLS TAKE an elevator to their floor rather than walk up! And the long walk to Berkey Hall for classes in the basics can be forgotten, because these classes will be held in the building when it is completed in January. To make maximum use of space, classes will be held in multipurpose rooms, which can be used for dances or watching TV, also. The dorm living will be turned into a carpeted fine arts room with a piano and art displays. EACH OF THE 12 precincts, called "houses" at Case, will have its own tiled lounge, a pressing room complete with ironing facilities, sink and hair dryer, and an incinerator and storage room. The third floor coffee shop will be for both women and men who will be housed in the connecting dorm beginning in January. Other conveniences nearing completion include a game room, conference room, vending room for snacks and 16 faculty offices.

Khrushchev

 ive forces who idolize the hydrogen bomb."
 Forty million card-carrying Communists in 87 nations all over the world, he said, have made Communism the most powerful force of our time.
 "By hailing the torch of liberty, the banner of socialism and communism over the world our party has glorified the 20th century as a century of fundamental changes in the destinies of mankind," declared Khrushchev.
 Tass, the official news agency, said delegates leaving the Kremlin felt as if they had made a thrilling trip to the orbit of Communism that would be realized in the near future.
 Western reporters noted, however, that many in the audience rather than being thrilled nodded frequently, only to be brought awake by waves of applause which seemed to break out at about ten minute intervals.
 The "orbit of communism" in the Tass story was a reference to Khrushchev's comparing the new program, the third in the Communist party's history, as the third stage of a rocket in which "the Russian people's hardship will be rewarded a hundredfold."
 These were the first goals set for achievement by 1970:
 —Making the Soviet Union the world's leading industrial power, winning preponderance over the United States in volume of industrial output and production per head of population.

 —Exceeding present U.S. agricultural production per head of population by 50 per cent.
 —Reaching the U.S. level of national income.
 The second set of objectives, to be reached by 1960:
 —To leave the United States far behind in industrial and agricultural per capita production.
 —To boost the economy of the world socialist system until it accounts for two-thirds of the world's industrial output.
 Khrushchev envisaged these additional goals in the next 20 years:
 —Rent-free modern housing.
 —Free communal services for every family.
 —Free sanatoria, medicines and medical care.
 —75 to 80 per cent of the cost of keeping and educating children to be free.
 —Free maintenance of disabled workers.
 For the shorter-range 10-year goals he promised:
 —The world's shortest working day—six hours, or a 35 hour week for most workers and 30 hours a week for the rest.
 —Paid vacations for workers, including farmers.
 He called for construction of 180 mighty hydroelectric power stations and 460 other power stations of up to 3 million kilowatts each in the next 20 years, and huge new fuel, power and metal producing centers in eastern Siberia, Central Asia, the Urals, the Ukraine and elsewhere.
 The Soviet steel industry, he said, will have an annual capacity of 250 million tons, and by 1970 will exceed the U.S. industry by 55 million tons.

Explosion

 North Ave., store windows were broken.
 Ten hospitals reported treating 229 persons for lacerations, bruises and shock. Seventy remained in the hospitals and the others were released.
 Dr. Samuel Grant, research director for Helene Curtis, said workers in the 40-foot square chemical building were blending a high molecular weight alcohol with other ingredients when the blast occurred.
 Three of the 5,000 gallon tanks outside contained sulfuric and hydrochloric acids and alcohol. A 20,000 gallon tank contained caustic soda.
 Pungent fumes from acids in the blending building blanketed the scene for hours after the explosion. Firemen close to the scene wore gas masks while playing water on the blending building.
 Most of the injured were cut by flying glass. Many women among those removed to hospitals were in shock. Four men in the blending building at the time of the blast were in serious condition in St. Anne's hospital.

Deadlock Holds at UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Soviet and U.S. chief delegates reported continued deadlock last night after conferring for an hour and a quarter about the selection of a temporary UN secretary-general.
 Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin told reporters, "we studied both our positions and did not agree on anything as yet."
 U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said there was no agreement or, as he put it, "No runs, no hits and I can't say about the errors."
 The two were together from about 5:45 to 6:55 p.m. EDT in a small UN conference-room, each with a few aides. It was the sixth U.S.-Soviet meeting since Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold died in a plane crash Sept. 18.
 Beforehand, Zorin was reported ready to make a major concession on the timing of a promise from the temporary secretary-general to consult with his main advisers.
 But afterward Zorin declined to comment on this report, and See DEADLOCK Page 11

Girl Weeps As She Leaves Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—Her eyes filled with tears, Margery Michelmoré left by air for Puerto Rico Wednesday night for a fresh start in the U.S. Peace Corps after declaring in a quivering voice: "I am very sorry to be leaving Nigeria."

Miss Michelmoré, who raised a storm with implied criticism of Nigerian living conditions on a postcard that went astray, was whisked aboard a plane for London by U. S. embassy officials.

Minutes later she left the country where she had been scheduled to teach English to African children for two years. She never held a class.

The quick farewell was a marked contrast to the greetings Nigerian officials gave Miss Michelmoré and 36 other Peace Corps volunteers on their arrival 23 days ago.

Before going to the airport, the Nigerian government announced, Miss Michelmoré called on the governor-general of this West African nation and expressed regret at her thoughtless act in writing the postcard.

Miss Michelmoré was accompanied by the U. S. ambassador to Nigeria, Joseph Palmer II, on the courtesy call to Azikiwe, who had expressed the desire to meet Miss Michelmoré before her departure from Nigeria.

Miss Michelmoré expressed her deep appreciation for the governor general's solicitude and wished Nigeria a very happy and prosperous future.

It said Azikiwe, the representative of Queen Elizabeth II in Nigeria, indicated his understanding of the situation and recalled his earlier statement welcoming President Kennedy's decision to establish the Peace Corps. He reiterated his continued support for the program and said he was convinced it will bring benefit to Nigeria.

Tears welled in the eyes of the 23-year-old Foxboro, Mass., girl as she stepped from a car at the airport and was ringed by reporters and photographers.

In the light of the car's headlights, her voice trembling, she read with great difficulty a brief statement saying she was sorry to be leaving but had nothing to add to the sentiments she expressed to the governor-general and the students at Ibadan, where the rumpus began. She had expressed regret to both.

When newsmen started to ask questions, an embassy official hustled her off to the plane that had been kept waiting several minutes for her to board.

Peace Corps director Sargent Shriver announced in Washington that Miss Michelmoré "has not resigned from the Peace Corps and we do not want her to." He said she is going to the permanent Peace Corps field training center in Puerto Rico at the Peace Corps' request.

From there, he said, she may be reassigned to another project.

Segregationists Win In S. Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Initial returns from the whites-only national elections Wednesday indicated the dominant Nationalist party and its racial segregation policies would win a fourth straight victory in 13 years.

One of the moderate opposition parties—the Progressive party—appeared in danger of being eliminated from parliament, the South African Press Association reported.

No seats had changed hands in the 15 contests announced by midnight but the voting showed about a 17 per cent swing toward the Nationalist party of Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd.

Final results are not expected until tomorrow owing to the voting in South West Africa, which usually reports late.

The Nationalists' election cry was continued supremacy for the three million whites, outnumbered four to one by Africans, mulattoes and Asians. Upwards of 1.8 million whites are entitled to vote.

Con-Con

(Continued from page 1) subject, the committee on rules, and possibly eventually the convention officers would decide which claim was valid.

THIS APPEARED to be the situation. But in the middle of the formal session Wednesday, Clerk Fred Chase read a list submitted by Erickson indicating subcommittees he had appointed, including some dealing with the disputed sections.

Hoxie held a meeting of his legislative powers committee immediately after the general session ended. He expressed displeasure with the way the Erickson committee was proceeding.

Millard seconded Hoxie's. He said that where the present constitution provides that a certain thing be done by law, it falls within the province of the legislative powers committee.

Hoxie led a four-man subcommittee delegation to the office of President Nisbet to protest personally the Erickson committee action.

Asked by newsmen if he was worried about the situation which one described as a "family fight," Nisbet said:

"Far from it. . . I'm happy to see how anxious they all are to work."

In other action, the convention adopted a $2 million budget proposed by the committee on administration.

Expenditures approved included $101,950 for printing of the daily journal; $114,200 for rental and lease of space in Lansing's Civic Center; $329,306 for salaries of convention employees; and $77,012.40 for travel and subsistence for delegates and staff members.

The committee on legislative organization, which will tackle the touchy problem of reapportionment, decided to listen to what a number of experts have to say on the subject.

It also will view a movie called "The Beat Majority," produced by Edward R. Murrow, which deals with the matter.

Chairman John A. Hannah, Michigan State University president, said he would invite Prof. Charles R. Adrian and William Combs of the MSU faculty to speak.

Registry Extended

Hours for registering bicycles at the department of public safety have been extended from 1 to 5 p.m. Thursday and Friday. Normal hours for bicycle registration are 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. daily except home football game Saturdays.

All bicycles must be registered or reregistered for the 1961-62 school year, a department spokesman said.

Complete enforcement of bicycle regulations will begin next week.

Caution Indoors

Caution and good ventilation are needed when a charcoal grill is used indoors. Anita Dean, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State University, says a charcoal fire uses quite a bite of oxygen and asphyxiation could result.

Girls At Cambridge Trespass

Breach 146-Year-Old Ruling-Riot Ensues

CAMBRIDGE, England (AP)—A 146-year-old rule that only men can attend the debating sessions of the Cambridge University union has been breached.

With considerable finesse, three girl students forced their way into the crowded debating hall Tuesday night. Their presence created more action than any debate in recent history.

AFTER AN angry uproar, one of the girls, Jean Bouland, 19, either fainted, or was knocked unconscious. Either way, she was loaded into an ambulance and hurried to the hospital. At Addenbrooke hospital, her condition Wednesday was said to be "comfortable." No broken bones were discovered.

The two other girls, Jenny Daiches, 20, and Elizabeth Gunn, 19, were hustled out of the hall.

The question before the debating society was:

"THIS HOUSE has no confidence in her majesty's government." Among the invited guests were Peter Thorneycroft, aviation minister in Britain's present conservative government, and Richard Crossman, prominent labor member of the house of commons.

In the midst of proceedings, Peter Hancock, the union's president, held up his hand and declared:

"THERE ARE strangers present."

B.S. Augenbraun, the union's secretary shouted to the girls: "You are trespassing on private property and subject to sanction."

The girls—whose backers said they were protesting "the niggling, absurd and out-of-date rule"—sat tight. At that moment, someone opened a door and about 100 undergraduates, who had not been able to enter, jammed inside the hall.

Thorneycroft and Crossman were escorted to an anteroom and bedlam broke loose.

THE GIRLS were undergraduates of the university's newest women's college, New Hall. They had a highly articulate group of male supporters, members of what is known as the Cambridge union suffrage movement.

Augenbraun, who figured in the incident, is a 22-year-old second year history student from New York. He is a former president of the Columbia University Debating Society.

After the girls had gone, the debate on the motion went on and it was defeated, 484 votes to 405.

Door Direction

Refrigerators are designed with doors opening to the right or to the left. Home economists at Michigan State University suggest the homemaker choose a refrigerator so that food can be taken from it and placed on the counter without reaching around the open door.

Concert On Air Sunday

A "live" remote broadcast by the Boston Pops Symphony Orchestra will be heard on WKAR-FM, Saturday at 8:30 p.m., according to Larry T. Frymire, station general manager.

The concert, which will be broadcast direct from Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor, will consist of Hanson's "Elegy for Serge Koussevitzky," the Saint-Saens "Cello Concerto," featuring Samuel Mayes' cello, and Brahms' Symphony No. 1.

Can 'ou Canoe? DU's Can, Do!

Cars, buses, bikes are all popular means of transportation on campus, but Larry Anderson, Grosse Ile junior, has added another—a canoe!

Larry and his Delta Upsilon fraternity brothers paddle to and from class down the Red Cedar River. The canoe also carries them to football games. And it's a great way to spend a date.

The canoe is kept at the fraternity house when not in use (which is seldom).

'Stardust' Band Show Saturday

"Stardust" will be the featured concert number to be performed by the marching band during Saturday's half-time show.

Each week the band plans to end its half-time show by featuring in concert arrangement an outstanding musical number.

Other numbers to be included in the show are: "It's All Right With Me," "Another Opening—Another Show," "Begin the Beguine," "Lullaby of Broadway," and "How High the Moon."

The pre-game show will feature the trombone section in the Glenn Miller version of "Night Train." The band will also play "Muskrat Ramble," "Notre Dame Victory March" and finish with the MSU fight song and alma mater.

The 130 marching members will move through the songs with their "concept of patterns in motion."

Classes Offered

Dance classes for children from kindergarten through high school will again be offered by the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation. Classes will begin Friday, Oct. 20. Time periods have been scheduled for 4-4:45 and 5-5:45.

Children who plan to participate may register at the beginning of the selected time period or may call the Women's Intramural Building. The classes are open to both boys and girls.

Boy, 2, Missing 24 Hours, Safe

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A two-year-old boy, missing for nearly 24 hours in the cold and dangerous back country near here, rested easily in a hospital Tuesday, apparently none the worse off for his ordeal.

An army private, one of hundreds of persons who combed the woods and underbrush in search of the boy, found him laying face down in a patch of mud early this morning, he said.

The boy, Timothy Adams, had lost all of his clothing except one tennis shoe. His doctor said he was "pretty scratched up" and "cold as a frog."

But within hours, the blond, blue-eyed husky child was resting easily. After a hardy meal, he dropped off to sleep and his body temperature returned to normal, Dr. James Dade said.

Some people have a real fall sometimes when they jump to conclusions.—The Sparta Ishmaelite.

Dr. Weisinger Is Editor Of Journal

Dr. Herbert Weisinger, professor of English and chairman of the Comparative Literature program, has contributed heavily to the field of literature.

Dr. Weisinger was born in Brooklyn and attended Brooklyn College, received his A.B. in 1935. He has been a member of the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, Senior Research Fellow of the Warburg Institute of the University of London, and a Howard Foundation Fellow; he joined the University Faculty in 1942, shortly after getting his doctorate from the University of Michigan.

Weisinger is editor of the "Centennial Review," a journal published by the College of Science and Arts. The "Review" however, is not limited to either the college or the university. It is composed of contributors and subscribers from all over the world. It is, in short, "a meeting ground for the liberal arts as a whole."

Weisinger has published papers in scholarly journals on such subjects as the history of the idea of the Renaissance, Shakespeare, and the myth and ritual approach to literature.

He is co-editor of three textbooks, the most recent entitled "The Laureate Fraternity," an introduction to literature in general, co-edited by Dr. Jaffe. In 1954, he published a work entitled "Tragedy and the Paradox of the Fortunate Fall" which dealt with the origins of tragedy from a religious and mythological viewpoint.

At present, Weisinger is writing a book on Shakespeare while teaching Renaissance and Shakespeare courses. He lectures at universities and scholarly organizations, and, in his own words "writes a series of incomprehensible articles" on the scholarly and critical arts in various journals.

Weisinger is married, and his family consists of two poodles and an Austin-Healey. He refers to his hobby as "talking." He has traveled throughout Europe and Mexico. On campus he has employed one of the newest teaching techniques: that of teaching Shakespeare on television.

A NEW MISS LANSING—Following the marriage of Jan Brougham, Gretchen Kuschwa was selected Miss Lansing. Miss Brougham had won the title last spring, but her marriage made it impossible to reign in her proper place. Miss Kuschwa was the runner-up in the earlier contest.

Pick New Miss Lansing

A new Miss Lansing has been crowned.

Miss Gretchen Ann Kuschwa, a sophomore, has taken over official duties following the marriage of Jan Brougham, former title holder.

In the judging last spring, Gretchen was chosen as first runner-up when she impressed the judges with her poise, beauty and talent.

She demonstrated her talent by writing and performing a satire monologue. Gretchen is a theatre major, and a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority.

As part of her duties sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Gretchen will preside over Michigan Week, and will be crowned by the Mayor of Lansing at a Military ball to be given in the spring.

She will make personal appearances here and throughout the state as representative of the City of Lansing.

Koestler's 'Trial' Satirical, Sharp

By SHEILA SIMROD
State News Staff Writer

Between the covers of a purplish-red hardbound book entitled, "The Trial of the Dinosaurs," are the satirical and trenchant writings of the man who wrote "Darkness at Noon," "The Gladiators," and the autobiographical works such as "Scum of the Earth" and "Dialogue with Death." This man is Arthur Koestler and his theme in "The Trial" is the survival of free man.

The essays contained in "The Trial" range from "The Seven Flirts"—a devastating expose of pseudo-intellectual leftist dilettantes, to articles on Wittaker Chambers and George Orwell. Perhaps Koestler's most biting and satirical essay in this collection is his "A Guide to Political Neuroses," in which he equates politics with the psychopathology of sex, a treatment of sail politics that is lucid and altogether unbelievable.

Koestler's essays are not the kind that are symptomatic of the angry young man, they are the mature and philosophic writings of a man who has lived through and studied empirically the things he writes.

Recently joining the library fiction department in another purplish cover, but this time instead of red colorings, orange coloring. This however, is not the only difference between these two works. The purplish-orange labor of love is Jack Kerouac's "The Town and the City" his 1950 work that earned him the Pulitzer Prize. See BOOK REVIEW page 11

Movie Review

Miller's 'The Crucible' Shown Here Monday

"The Crucible" written by Arthur Miller, on the Salem witch hunts is to be shown in the University Auditorium Monday, Oct. 23, at 7:30 p.m.

Formerly "The Witches of Salem," this striking drama stars Simone Signoret and Yves Montand.

The story builds to an over-powered impact which comes to these shores. Miller's play was adapted for the screen by Jean-Paul Sartre.

The film ranks high among the imports and is one that will have a drawing power.

Salem, Mass., in the year 1692, is vividly recreated under the direction of Raymond Rouleau. The story, based on fact, tells of a strange plague that visited that colonial community.

As though gripped by fever, young girls stiffen, scream and hurl themselves to the floor in a frenzy and proclaim themselves bewitched.

The accused must confess or swift and stern punishment is meted out. Naturally those who care to may see a contemporary application to the story. Important in dramatic terms is that director Rouleau has infused an appalling sense of truth into the grotesque happenings.

Montand plays the simple Puritan farmer who yields to the temptation of the girlishly beautiful Mylene Demongeot. Since he is married to Miss Signoret, all sorts of guilt and regrets invade him.

As a means of striking revenge at Montand, the rebuffed Miss Demongeot, through an elaborate scheme, has he and his wife accused as witches. And presently the machinery of stupidity and retribution goes into gear.

The final rising of the people against their oppressors who work under the cloak of righteousness is a motion picture sequence of rare and unforgettable power.

Walt Recalls 1955

By WALT KOWALCZYK
Of Michigan State University (Written expressly for the Associated Press)

Of all the games I played for Michigan State, the one that sticks firmest in my mind is the Wisconsin game of 1955, my sophomore year.

It stands out in my mind—probably even more than our Rose Bowl victory the following year—because of a touchdown run, the story coach Duffy Daugherty tells about the touchdown, and the lesson I learned by scoring that touchdown.

Wisconsin controlled the ball for most of the first quarter, driving deep into our territory several times. After one Badger thrust we took over on the 15. Three plays later Earl Morrill called my number for an off tackle slant. The hole was there and I went 72 yards to score. No kid at Christmas time felt any better than I did after crossing the goal line.

I SCORED again in the fourth quarter as we scampered to a 27-0 triumph and I wound up with 172 yards gained from scrimmage on ten carries.

But the story could have been different.

Somewhere in high school back in Massachusetts I had picked up the bad habit of shifting the ball from arm to arm in certain tight situations. Duffy tried to break me of the habit because it could mean a fumble at the wrong time.

I thought I was "almost" cured before this game. But on that first TD run against the Badgers I nonchalantly shifted the ball from arm to arm. When I saw the game movies I saw how much ball-juggling I'd done.

DUFFY NEVER mentioned the ball-shifting after the game or during the showing of the game movies to the squad.

It was several days later at practice. Duffy quietly took me aside and asked, "Walt, do you remember what I've been telling you about shifting the ball? Do you know how easily you can fumble the ball, kill a good drive, or even lose a game?"

Then there was silence—Duffy believes in short periods of silence when he's "advising" one of the players. Of course, I didn't know what to say and he had me cold.

"Well," he said with that familiar Irish twinkle in his eye, "if you'd taken my advice you'd have made only four yards on that run instead of 72."

This is one of football's greatest after-dinner speaker's pet banquet stories.

But I still blush every time I think about what might have happened—four yards on an off-tackle slant—if I had followed my coaches advice.

MSU Cagers Start Drills

Making a "solid comeback" is the objective Michigan State basketball coach Forddy Anderson has set for his Spartan squad in 1961-62.

The first step in that direction took place Monday as 17 young men reported for the start of drills designed to ready MSU for the opener at home with Northern Michigan on Dec. 2.

A year ago, Michigan State slipped to a 7-17 over-all record and to ninth place in the Big Ten with a 3-11 mark.

"We played much better ball near the end of our last season," says Anderson. "I like to think that was a barometer of things to come, and that we can pick up now from where we left off."

"I think we have a lot of potential for having a solid ball club," the Spartan Coach said. "There'll be good competition at all positions with no one assured of any job," he added.

Just two seniors return with the remainder of the squad consisting of seven juniors and eight sophomores. A couple of Spartans now with football will report later.

Captain-elect and guard Art Schwarm is the lone senior letterman back. Four other lettermen are back including forward Dick Hall, guards Jack Lamers and Duane Kilbride and center Ted Williams, all juniors.

THE MOST prominent of the sophs making bids for the varsity are forwards Pete Gent and Ron Divjak, guard Bill Schwarz and center Fred Thomann.

First up in practice plans is the running program outdoors to build condition. It should last about two weeks and then it's on to the Jenison gym practice floor to find the starting five.

The roster for 1961-62:
FORWARDS: Bill Berry, 6-2, sophomore, Winnemucca, Nev.; David Cox, 6-3, junior, Winnemucca, Nev.; Ron Divjak, 6-5, sophomore, East Chicago, Ind.; Pete Gent, 6-3, sophomore, Bangor, Mich.; Dick Hall, 6-4, junior, Manitowoc, Wis.; John Krusoe, 6-4, sophomore, Okemos, Mich.; Bob Sparvero, 6-2, senior, Pittsburgh, Pa.
CENTERS: Macgregor Hay,

6-6, junior, Petaluma, Calif.; Gene Jewett, 6-7, junior, Washington, D.C.; Fred Thomann, 6-9, sophomore, Taylor, Mich.; Stan Chandler, 6-5, sophomore, Louisville, Ky.; Ted Williams, 6-7, junior, Stroudsburg, Pa.

GUARDS: Duane Kilbride, 6-2, junior, Kankakee, Ill.; Jack Lamers, 6-2, junior, Kimberly, Wis.; Capt. Art Schwarm, 6-1, senior, Evanston, Ill.; Bill Schwarz, 6-3, sophomore, Columbia City, Ind.; Dave Willauer, 6-2, sophomore, St. Joseph, Mich.

JUNIOR FORWARD Lonnie Sanders and sophomore guard Doug Miller are the footballers and will not report until after the grid season.

The schedule for 1961-62:
Dec. 2, Northern Michigan home; Dec. 9, Tulsa home; Dec. 16, Notre Dame home; Dec. 18, South Carolina home; Dec. 23, Butler away; Dec. 29-30, Far West Classic (3 games) at Portland, Ore.

Duffy's Disgusted

Some psychology in reverse is helping to get the Spartan football team ready for Saturday's showdown with Notre Dame.

As Coach Duffy Daugherty's charges went through workouts Wednesday under another day of sunny skies, the Irish coach was bristling. The cause of it all was an article published in a Detroit newspaper which slammed at the Spartans 28-0 win over Michigan.

The article said, in effect, that the Spartans "ran away" from Michigan's All-American tackle hopeful Jon Schof. The whole thing had Duffy's Irish temper up.

"We scored three of our four touchdowns right through him," Daugherty said. Schof is a defensive right tackle.

Those who remember that glamorous Saturday last, should support Duffy to the goalpost. Sherman Lewis, Gary Ballman and George Salmes all scored on sprints through the right side of the Wolverine's offensive line.

Only Pete Smith's pass to Carl Charon for a tally avoided Schof.

"I have no doubt that Schof is a good football player," said Daugherty, "but we don't try to build synthetic All-Americans around here."

The team looked lean and ready as it ran through drills Wednesday. Plays and blocking assignments for the Notre Dame game were reviewed over and over.

Tackle Jim Bobbitt, an anchor of the Spartan's offensive line, was recovering from a throat ailment. He was in uniform and running through plays after taking treatments at Olin Health Center Tuesday.

The campus was buzzing when it heard of predictions that Notre Dame has been picked in many quarters to upset the No. 1 Spartans.

The Associated Press, who Tuesday picked the Spartans as the top team in the land, was among those who looked to an Irish upset.

The big challenge to the Spartans could come in the line. There will be no easy times for the Spartan's rugged front wall Saturday. No team has been able to handle the Notre Dame line all season.

And, the Spartans will be giving away some weight. The team ran through some of the special plays installed for the Notre Dame game Wednesday, along with many of the regular standards.

Daugherty said the team will work out for about an hour and 15 minutes Thursday as the drills for Saturday's clash begin to taper off.

A capacity crowd is expected to jam Spartan Stadium's 76,000 seats to watch the clash.

OSU Tops In Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP) — Ohio State's 44-0 mauling of Illinois Saturday established the Buckeyes as the Big Ten's top team both on offense and defense.

In that one conference game thus far played by Ohio State, the Bucks amassed 424 yards (301 rushing and 123 passing) while holding the Illini to 180 yards (129 rushing and 51 passing).

Official league statistics Wednesday showed Michigan State, now ranking favorite in the title chase after conference triumphs over Wisconsin and Michigan, as the big ten's third best team offensively and fifth best defensively.

The Spartans' two-game average of 312.5 yards includes 260 by rushing but only 52.5 by passing.

No. 2 team offensively is Iowa whose lone conference

MSU Among Top 10 Teams In Defense

According to the latest Associated Press football statistics Michigan State University ranks eighth in the nation among the major colleges in defense.

In three games played the Spartans have allowed 176 plays for a total of 515 yards for an average of 171.7 yards per game.

The statistics on rushing defense alone shows the Spartans to be fourth. In 106 rushes by the opponents, they have amassed only 188 yards or a per game average of 62.7 yards.

THE AIR FORCE, appropriately enough, boasts the most stubborn defense against an aerial game. They have limited four opponents to 31 passing yards a game.

Michigan State shares the honors with Dartmouth as being the stingiest teams in the top 10. Each has allowed one field goal in three games.

The Spartans are also on top in the category of punts. They have punted the least number of times, nine. Tulsa, beaten in three games, has kicked the most times, 36.

Michigan State's outstanding varsity swimmer for 1961 was butterfly star Carl Shaar, a junior from Lancaster, Pa.

Michigan State tennis coach Stan Drobac has directed his teams to a dual meet record of 50 wins and 20 losses in his four years as Spartan coach.

"This Japanese picture is a fine blend of touching simplicity and rare artistry, dominated by the virtuoso performance of Toshiko Miura in the title role. A searching portrayal shows interesting, believable character development, as the diamond-in-the-rough rickshaw man turns from a career of hawking and drunkenness to one of selfless devotion to a fatherless boy."

"Set in the changing Japan of the early 1900's, this sensitive and artistic film follows the life of Matsuo, a rickshaw man, from his rebellious, hawking youth to his lonely death. The lovely color photography, the handling of crowds and the placing of figures on a landscape all add significance. The picture is acted with vigor and tenderness from beginning to end."

Book Review

ed him a permanent place on the list of most talked about writers. Although there are those staunch defenders of mediocre thought who feel that the song, "Hit the Road, Jack," was written specifically for Kerouac, there are a sizable number of staunch defenders of all thought who "put Kerouac on the rack," and find him to be a writer of considerable talent, even though that talent may be largely undeveloped.

Deadlock

Stevenson said there was still disagreement over both the timing of the statement and the number of the advisers. The two men did not set a date for a further meeting, but a U.S. source emphasized that this did not mean the negotiations had been broken off. He also emphasized that the United States was willing to consult any time with anybody, the Soviet Union included.

Tapes Aid Students
E. Lansing High Gets Speech Lab

Students studying foreign languages at East Lansing High School will soon have a language laboratory to help make their classwork a little easier. The project was made possible because of the addition of a new school wing this summer, which left one of the older classrooms free. IT WILL be equipped with 30 stationary recording booths and a teacher's monitor table. Students will be able to listen to recordings of the native voice, and repeat it or answer questions on the tapes. The teacher can tune in on any booth to help students correct pronunciation or to ask questions. Textbook lessons which have been taped by the author, and drills prepared by three language teachers during the summer will be used for the classes. COMPLETION OF the lab was promised for Nov. 1. The booths are expected to arrive this week, and will be put into use as soon as they are installed. Each of the 23 classes that will use the lab ranges in size from 20 to 30 students. Two half-hour lab periods a week for each group are scheduled. In addition to the stationary booths, the school has already purchased two portable recording booths. THESE HAVE been placed in a separate glassed-in room to be used by students who need extra practice in conversation or grammar. The school also has five rooms now being used for instruction in French, Spanish, and Latin. But the lab is viewed by teachers as a valuable aid for testing or practice. "IT FACILITATES the students' comprehension of the language and is an excellent way for them to correct their vocabulary," Mrs. Carson C. Hamilton, a French teacher at the school, said. This project has been considered almost since the school was opened in 1955, because of the growing interest in languages expressed by high schools and colleges throughout the country. It is being financed by the East Lansing board of education and the National Defense Education Act.

500 Enroll In Night Courses

Approximately 500 students are enrolled in non-credit night courses at the Kellogg and Kresge Centers this term. The sessions run from eight to ten weeks, depending on the required teaching time. Courses are offered in drawing and design, ceramics, English as a second language, French, German, Spanish, and rapid and efficient reading. Classes are open to all who are interested. Fees vary with each course. In addition to these regularly offered classes, Spartan Wives can participate in a Swedish gym section and the wives of faculty's organization, Faculty Folk, are offered a "keep fit" program in physical education. Dr. Clem Taylor of the continuing education department said that driver education and traffic engineering courses were dropped because registration did not meet minimum class size. Addresses at UN
All American students participating in the American Brother-Sister program of the AUSG will find the permanent addresses of their respective foreign students available in the UN lounge of the Union Building. A campus UN meeting is one suggested activity for brothers and sisters.

FOR THE BIRDS—This Observation deck is one of several new facilities under construction at the Kellogg Bird Sanctuary of MSU. The glass enclosed and heated building is located on Wintergreen Lake near Hickory Corners, Mich. About 3,000,000 persons have visited the sanctuary since W. K. Kellogg gave it to MSU 31 years ago.

Man Starts 7th Year In Coma

PRICHARD, Ala. (AP)—A 29-year-old Prichard man is beginning his seventh year of unconsciousness Tuesday—one of the longest known periods of unconsciousness.
Richard L. Havens has been in a coma with his hands clenched tightly at his side since the predawn hours of Oct. 16, 1955, when the car he was driving went out of control and overturned in a ditch. A companion was killed.
Doctors said he received irreversible brain damage, and he can stay in his present condition indefinitely, they have no hope, however, of any recovery to consciousness.
Havens' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Havens, have cared for him at their home since 2 1/2 months after the accident. His father is a construction worker.
Havens is fed intravenously. He cannot move, speak, hear or see.

Algerian Crowds Fired On

PARIS (AP)—Police fired Tuesday night on great crowds of Algerians demonstrating against a new curfew, killing two, wounding at least four, and arresting 4,000. One policeman was reported shot and wounded.
The demonstrations and clashes resulted from a call by NLF (National Liberation Front) to protest the curfew imposed on Algerians in the wake of increasing incidents of violence between Algerians and Europeans.
Across the Mediterranean in the Algerian seaport of Oran, gangs of Europeans estimated to total 1,000 roamed the city, attacking Algerians and sack- ing and burning shops and cars. Unofficial sources said four Algerians were lynched and 17 injured in the clashes following the funeral of a European slain by Algerians.

Africans Meet in N.Y.

Six members of the African Language and Area Center, including the director, Eugene H. Jacobson, will arrive in New York City Friday for a three-day annual meeting of the African Studies Assn.
Interested members of colleges, the press, government and private research will attend the conference. Some 50 African leaders in government and politics also have been invited.
After the New York meeting, several of the center staffers here will continue on to Boston for the Eighth National Conference of the U. S. National Commission for UNESCO, Sunday through Thursday.

BRIEFS

The Michigan Nut Growers Assn. will hold their first fall meeting Sunday at the Kellogg Bird Sanctuary at Gull Lake.
Green and white shakers will be on sale at the game this Saturday.
Members of the Senior Council will be stationed near the stadium selling them for 25 cents each.
Petitions for General chairman of the Greek Week 1962 can be picked up at Student Services. Deadline is Oct. 27.
Blue Key petitioning is now open. Petitions may be picked up at the Union desk.

Officers Elected at Case Hall

Carole Lum, a Honolulu, Hawaii junior, was elected president of North Case Hall in their elections recently. Sixty-four women ran for the 14 open offices.
Other officers elected were Cathie Mann, Detroit freshman, Vice President; Judy Kaufmann, Mt. Clemens junior, Secretary; and Monty Montgomery, Royal Oak freshman, Treasurer.
To help organize activities within the hall the following girls were elected: Barbara Cox, Danville, Ill., junior, elections chairman; Pat Maki, Crystal Falls freshman, scholarship chairman; Sandra Jones, Syracuse, N.Y., sophomore, social chairman; Heather Hudson, Inkster freshman, sports chairman; Barbara Alexander, Sugar Grove, Ill., junior, standards chairman, and Carol Heynen, Grand Rapids junior, safety chairman.
The following girls were elected as representatives: AWS judiciary, Sue Green, Concord, N.H., sophomore; Carol Schaedler, Blissfield freshman, and Sally Woodard, Dearborn junior; AWS activities, Nancy Golenback, St. Clair Shores junior; Suzanne Hartsell, New York City freshman, and WIC, Linda Collins, Detroit junior.

Spartan Hall Is Available For Meetings

Spartan Hall is available for meetings to any group of students in married housing, Ray Lamphere, director of married housing, announced Tuesday.
Located behind the married housing office in the old Co-op store, Spartan Hall is equipped with a refrigerator, stove, tables, chairs, and lounge furniture for the use of the groups.
Interested groups are asked to contact the married housing office for reservations in advance.

Michigan State athletic teams were nicknamed the "Spartans" in 1926.
