

Ole Miss Has Problem, Too

Editor's Note: This explanation of athletic and racial problems facing the University of Mississippi, rated second in national football polls, is directed at students of this University through the State News. It was written by Jimmie Robertson, editor of the Mississippi newspaper, the Mississippian.

To the Students of Michigan State University:
During the past few days we have received innumerable copies of Paul Schnitt's "On Pep Riots," which appeared in your edition of October 25. As there was a portion of the column devoted to our school, we appreciate very much the fact that some of your students did send these clippings to us.

My purpose in writing this letter is to attempt to convey to the student body at Michigan State the feelings of the students at Ole Miss. We realize that a great deal of the criticism that has been heaped upon us in recent years because of our "cream-puff" schedule has definitely been deserved. Except for a few rabid racists, who are a very small minority (although quite vocal), Ole Miss students would love to see the Rebels play one or two Big Ten teams each year. On the other hand, we would like to see your Spartans, and such teams as Iowa, Ohio State, etc., play such representatives of our conference as Alabama, Auburn, LSU, Georgia Tech, and Tennessee.

Ole Miss faces three major problems in attempting to schedule teams of "Top Ten" caliber. The first of these deals with the location of our University—Oxford, Mississippi. Oxford is a small town of about 5,000 people, 75 miles southeast of Memphis, 166 miles north of Jackson, and in the opinion of most students 1,000 miles from nowhere. Our traffic problems are ridiculous on football weekends. When we played Maryland here in 1952, Coach Jim Tatum of Maryland made the statement that it took his team longer to get from Oxford to Memphis than it did to get from Memphis back to Maryland. (Incidentally, we beat Maryland that year, breaking their 22 game winning streak and they never came back to Oxford.)

As a result of our geographical location, many teams have refused to play us in Oxford. One such team is Tennessee, whom we play each year, alternating between Knoxville and Memphis. It's pretty rough when you have to play a team like Tennessee in their own state year after year. Another such team is Louisiana State. Three years ago we signed a contract with them extending the LSU-Ole Miss series through 1965. Only one of those games, that played last year, was scheduled for Oxford. The rest are in Baton Rouge. Kentucky is another example. For years we have been alternating between Lexington, Ky., and Memphis for our games with them. Next year we play them in Jackson, Miss., which, though it is in Mississippi, is actually much more inaccessible to Ole Miss students than Memphis (166 miles away to 75). As a result of this problem, we have to pull in our horns and schedule such teams as Chattanooga and Florida State if we want to play any games at all on our home field.

The second of these problems deals with the general attitude taken by the athletic directors of other schools in the Southeastern Conference toward scheduling Ole Miss. There is an old saying around the SEC that the best way to cause an athletic director to have a heart attack is to announce that Ole Miss has an open date and is trying to schedule their team. A great deal of truth exists in this statement. Earlier this year THE MISSISSIPPIAN took a survey of the athletic directors of prominent football powers throughout the South as to the possibility of scheduling a game with Ole Miss in the future. We found that most of the teams in our area who are of "Top Ten" caliber are not exactly rendered joyous at the thought of scheduling Ole Miss.

The third problem is a very touchy one: The race issue. At the end of the 1958-59 basketball season, Mississippi State (number three team in the nation and SEC champs) was not allowed to compete in the NCAA tournament because they would probably play against Negroes. The same thing happened to their basketball team in 1960-61. In both 1959 and 1960 the Ole Miss baseball team suffered the same fate. Informed sources say that Ole Miss could have had a Ros Bowl bid last year

Pledges Must Attend

IFC Has Late Rush For New Brody Men

The IFC will hold a deferred rush convocation in the Brody multi-purpose rooms from 7:45 p.m. Thursday for all first term freshmen and transfer students in the Brody group.

The convocation is to acquaint all new students interested in rushing with the Greek system. Guest speaker will be former Dean of Students Tom King.

Slides explaining fraternity life will be shown and a question and answer session will follow. Details of this weekend's open smokers will be discussed.

Any new student planning to pledge winter term will be required to attend deferred rush and join in the weekend tours which visit each house for 20-minute periods.

If a new student fails to participate in deferred rush, he must then visit one-half of the houses on campus the term he rushes, according to a new IFC ruling.

Representatives from the various fraternities will conduct the tours on this weekend and next. Students should meet in front of their respective dorm groups at 1 p.m. Saturday and 2:30 p.m. Sunday to participate in the tours.

Brazilian Plane Slams into Hill, 48 Persons Die

RECIFE, Brazil (AP)—A four-engine DC7 Brazilian airliner smashed into a hillside near this northeast Brazilian city Wednesday and an airline spokesman said 48 of the 84 persons aboard perished in the exploding, flaming wreckage.

(Officials of the line in Lisbon, Portugal, from where the plane took off, said there were 88 persons aboard when it left there—79 passengers and 9 crew members—but the plane made one stop enroute and may have discharged some passengers.)

Some of the survivors were gravely injured and burned. There were no U.S. citizens aboard, the airline said.

The plane, owned by the Panair Do Brasil line, was making a landing approach in the pre-dawn darkness when it hit the hill in the suburb of Tijipio near the Recife airport, exploded and burst into flames, an observer on the ground said.

Agreement Seen on Thant of Burma As Acting Secretary General of UN

Stevenson And Zorin Confer

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union voiced optimism Wednesday that they were near agreement on naming an acting UN Secretary-General in place of the late Dag Hammarskjold.

UN diplomats believe the six-week-old deadlock will be resolved before the end of the week.

The optimism centered in a new compromise plan set forth by the United States and Britain to break the stalemate over how many principal advisers the new chief should have. The plan was to leave it to him.

U. S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and British Minister of State Joseph B. Godber issued statements on it through spokesmen, after Stevenson had told Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin about it.

Emerging from a 1 1/4-hour conference with Stevenson, Zorin told reporters, "I think we are near an agreement—a very reasonable basis." Stevenson's spokesman declared "we are optimistic."

Later Zorin met for almost an hour with U Thant of Burma, who is expected to be named interim Secretary-General. The Soviet delegate then told reporters, "the situation is near to agreement." Asked when agreement would come, he said "maybe tomorrow, maybe today."

Zorin, who began a month's term in normal rotation as president of the Security Council, replied to another question that as soon as there was agreement, he would call a council meeting to recommend an acting Secretary-General.

Diplomatic sources said the council might meet Friday morning to recommend U Thant for interim Secretary-General up to April 1963, the end of Hammarskjold's five-year term.

They said the General Assembly then might meet that afternoon to appoint U Thant to the post—and hear his statement as to how many under-secretaries he would name as principal advisers, which regions he would pick them from, and how he aimed to work with them in a spirit of mutual understanding.

The Soviet Union put forward the principal-adviser idea after first insisting that a three-man board with a built-in veto should replace Hammarskjold, killed Sept. 18 in a plane crash in Northern Rhodesia.

Lately the Russians have been saying there should be seven such advisers—American UN page 4

J. V. Stalin, 1879—1953

MOSCOW (AP)—Joseph Stalin, once the unchallenged leader of world communism, was relegated to the ranks Wednesday in a simple grave with the bare epitaph: J. V. Stalin, 1879-1953.

Only some marks on the floor of the huge tomb in Red Square testify that the old Bolshevik, now reviled as a murderer of thousands, had shared the hallowed mausoleum with V. I. Lenin, founder of the modern Soviet State.

Soviet citizens by the thousands lined up in the rain to view Stalin's new grave, already covered with turf, behind the tomb in the shadow of the Kremlin's walls after Pravda announced that the order banishing Stalin from the tomb had been carried out.

Fallout Fears Atom Tests Cause New Peace Strikes

HUNDREDS of women in Detroit, Ann Arbor, Washington, D.C., New York and other major cities throughout the nation went on strike to save the world and their children Monday.

Nuclear testing dominated the theme. Demonstrators carried signs saying: "Save the children," "Testing damages the unborn," "Let us live in peace—not pieces" and "Two wrongs don't make a right—no testing."

In Washington, about 750 women, a few youngsters and a collie dog marched in front of the White House bearing signs urging peace and disarmament. A similar demonstration was held in Ann Arbor. Some 60 housewives and University of Michigan coeds paraded in front of the Washtenaw County Courthouse.

A delegation left a petition for Mrs. Kennedy asking her to join in the women's campaign "to end the arms race instead of the human race." The demonstrators took a similar petition to the Soviet embassy, several blocks from the White House. It was addressed to Mrs. Nikita S. Khrushchev, wife of the Soviet premier.

In New York, more than 200 women staged separate demonstrations outside the Soviet Union's UN Delegation Building and the Atomic Energy Commission's operations office. The New York demonstrations were sponsored by the "Women's Direct Action Project," a non-political group protesting nuclear testing.

Housewives, working mothers, widows and teachers participated in a demonstration in Miami's bay-front park. They distributed printed literature and placards. No organization was backing their march, they said.

Provost Quiet on Resigning

Provost Paul Miller would not confirm or deny any rumors circulating Wednesday that he had received an offer from another university.

"I know there has been a discussion going on in which I have been involved but there have been no formal decisions," Miller said. President John A. Hannah had no comment but he and Miller agreed that no official move would be made before Monday.

Any release must come from the other university, Hannah said.

Miller has been provost since June 1, 1959. He has been associated with the University since 1946 when he enrolled here as a graduate student in sociology. He has served on the staff as a rural sociologist, deputy extension director, director of Michigan Cooperative Extension Service and vice president for off-campus education.

Blood Drive Falls Behind

The fall blood drive will not reach its goal of 1,805 pints if the present rate of donations continues, said Cliff Rice, Birmingham senior, chairman.

Only 127 pints were collected by 5 p.m. Wednesday.

The fall blood drive is sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, national scouting fraternity, the Spartan Women's League, and the Ingham County chapter of the American Red Cross.

THE DRIVE has collected 502 pints through Wednesday, with two days remaining. The only living unit to reach 100% donation is Delta Upsilon. Farmhouse is second in the fraternity division with 63%.

Gamma Phi Beta is leading the sororities with 16%, followed by Kappa Delta with 15%.

Van Hoosen leads the women's dorm division with 20%. Campbell is second with 6%.

WEST SHAW heads the men's dorm division with 7%, followed by East Shaw with 6%.

Framed certificates will be awarded to all living units reaching the 100% level.

The drive will open Thursday from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m., and Friday from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m.

Scott's Death Record Found

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP)—The record of Sir Walter Scott's death in 1832, torn from a parish register more than 25 years ago, has been returned to the Edinburgh register house, police said Wednesday.

They declined to say how the document came into their hands. It was believed to have turned up in a collection of old papers in southern England. The paper was recorded in the 1832 parish register for the border town of Melrose.

In Nevada N-Bomb Test Possible

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first tentative experiments to try out the theory of a neutron bomb, to kill without leaving wide destruction, may be made in Nevada underground tests caverns.

When preliminary field research might start or whether it had begun was a tightly held official government secret Wednesday.

But the theory of an "N-bomb" seemed to suggest strongly that the first effort would be to find out whether the nuclear reaction, in actual test, would be like that worked out by slide rule, computers and the projection of nuclear physics facts.

The idea is that a precisely harnessed nuclear detonation can be made to produce a burst of intense radiation by high-speed, deep-penetration, lethal neutrons—without also creating the intense shock, heat effects and radioactive contamination of present bombs.

Various papers and comments by non-governmental and former government experts during the past several years have suggested that such neutrons could penetrate steel armor and even several feet of concrete. Soviet nuclear physicists have speculated similarly.

Officials, from the White House down, declined to comment on reports published by the New York Daily News and the New York Journal-American that the neutron bomb project has high priority in the current U. S. tests.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., urging resumption of tests in the atmosphere, said this country must press "every possible effort to convert the

Urges Development of Neutron Bomb

Sen. John Pastore, D-R.I., said the U. S. should explore fully the development of the neutron bomb.

In a statement at Providence, R.I., Pastore said, too, that the nation should work on development of an anti-missile missile, and that both operations would require atmospheric testing.

The senator, a senior member of the Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, said that while exploratory work is necessary, the country should not indulge in "fanatical testing, such as the Russians have done."

Anderson, senior Democratic Senator on the Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, said in a statement that Russia

Saying that work on the project had gone as far as it could go without testing when the moratorium on tests began in late 1958, Dodd said in a statement:

"The neutron bomb would not only be a far more effective battlefield weapon than any now available to us, it would provide us with the most effective anti-missile warhead nuclear technology is today capable of producing."

In a statement issued in Providence, R.I., Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., said the U. S. should explore fully development of the neutron bomb and an anti-missile missile. He said both operations would require tests in the atmosphere.

Without making any mention of the N-bomb, Sens. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., and John G. Tower, R-Tex., also called for resumption by the U. S. of atmospheric tests.

Anderson, senior Democratic Senator on the Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, said in a statement that Russia

East Lansing Schools Have No Shelters

By CHRIS GALANT Of the State News Staff

Disagreement over the value of air raid and fallout shelters has left the East Lansing school system without specially equipped safety measures in case of atomic attack.

If a sudden disaster occurred, students would go to the safest room in their building, School Supt. Cecil MacDonald said. These are the same areas which would be used if a natural disaster, such as a tornado, should strike.

Teachers and students participate regularly in disaster drills, and evacuation rules are posted in each classroom.

"It is the best that can be done because there are no facilities for keeping such a large group for the two-week safety period," MacDonald said.

"However, we feel that we would have enough warning to be able to dismiss students and send them home," he added.

The question of whether or not to build fall out shelters has been discussed by both state officials and local citizens, but no solution has been reached yet.

Stanley Oviatt, administrative asst. to the superintendent, attended the statewide Annual Curriculum Conference Committee on Safety Education and Civil Defense in September.

"The Michigan departments of Civil Defense and Public Instruction are working on a shelter and evacuation plan to be submitted to local schools this school year," said Oviatt.

"Their officials have suggested that local schools do not formulate a plan before the state does."

The East Lansing Community Council, a group of interested citizens who act as advisers to the school board and city council, discussed the subject at their September meeting. It was assumed that there would be enough time and warning before attack to evacuate properly.

Weather

Today's expected high in the high 50's, cloudy and mild with occasional rain. Turning cooler tonight with temperature in mid 40's.

Warning System Tested At New Location On Case

The campus warning system was tested Tuesday for the first time this term.

The siren, which is usually tested on the first class day of each month, was last tested Sept. 1. Officials moved the siren from its old location on top of the campus fire station to the highest point of Case dormitory.

It is hoped that the additional 50 feet in height will enable the siren to become more effective in reaching the edges of the campus.

The siren, which is primarily an outdoor warning system, is driven by air and rotates around in a circle to cover a greater distance. This gives the effect of the sound fading out when it is facing away from you and becoming louder when it is facing you.

A warning of an air attack or a forecast of a tornado is given by a steady tone which may vary in volume depending on the direction the air horn is facing but does not vary in pitch. This warning will last for three minutes.

A take-cover signal will be given if the danger comes near. It will consist of the same tone but the pitch will go up and down the same as that of a police siren. It will also last for three minutes.

In either case you should turn to your radio station for further information and for an all-clear signal.

Because it is primarily an outdoor system, Lt. Allen Andrews, of the department of public safety, said that in case of a real emergency the department will send squad cars out to the married housing units to warn them.

Meeting Required To Pledge Winter Term!

YOU'LL NEED THAT—Sandy Dobbie, Marsha Keys and Beth Hel select a hat to wear during their on-the-job-training in Chicago as part of their Home Economics Retailing course.

City Jobs Beckon Retailing Seniors

By SUE ENGLE
Of the State News Staff
Chicago, Cleveland, and Detroit are destinations of fourteen Home Economics Retailing-seniors this week.

For the remainder of the term the girls will have on-the-job department store training.

Going to Marshall Field & Company in Chicago are: Diane M. Felton, Dansville; Beatrice A. Voorheis, Rochester; Beth A. Hel, Belleville; and Mabel F. Resseguie, Port Huron.

SANDARA L. Dobbie, Battle Creek, and Marsha Keys, Birmingham, will train at Carson, Pierie & Scott in Chicago.

Sue L. Bizantz, Lakewood, Ohio, will be at Halle Brothers in Cleveland.

In Detroit at the J. L. Hudson Company will be Judy L. Coffin, Grosse Pointe Woods; Barb A. Jordan, Detroit; Judy K. Campbell, Fowlerville; Elaine L. Ross, Grosse Pointe Farms; Laurie R. Gruenberg, Newaygo; Barb A. Schmidt, Monroe; and Carol S. Rucker, Fowlerville.

Dr. Demetra Mehas, adviser to the group, has instructed them during the first part of the term and will visit periodically in field training to discuss progress and talk with their supervisors.

IN PREPARATION the students have been on an accelerated program the first five weeks of the term, for which they will receive 9 credits upon completion of exams this week.

Not required for a degree in Home Economics Retailing, training assignments are sought by application. Basis for selection is past course work, primarily, one in department store organization and operation.

In addition to working, the girls are required to prepare a report on the store's procedure, particularly the supervision aspects.

Party Line Costume Capers

by Catherine Mahoney
Away football games and slack party weekends seem to go hand in hand.
Students take advantage of the non-game weekend to leave the campus for home or week-end visits or else to catch up on some last minute studying for mid-terms. Whatever the case, few parties have been scheduled.

Delta Delta Delta will transform their house into a musical comedy theme for a "Hit Parade" party Saturday night. Bill Hart's band will provide the music. The girls and their dates will wear costumes in keeping with the theme.

A "Gangster Party" is scheduled for Saturday night at the Phi Kappa Tau house. Costumes typical of the 1920-era "mobsters and molls" are in order for the record party.

Theta-Chi will swing into a square dance Saturday night from 9-12 at the chapter house.

Van Hoosen Hall will entertain the men of Butterfield & Owen Halls on Sunday at 6:30 with a "Sing" preceded by a desert. Norm Duffy will play the piano.
A final note: Theta Delta Omicron.

Chi's Oakes Club held an open house Tuesday night in honor of "The Great Pumpkin." All sororities were invited for the Halloween party complete with trick-and-treat cider and doughnuts.

SMALL BUT BIG—Although Junior Guard George Azar is the smallest of the Spartans' starting linemen at 199-pounds, he has turned in a big job against foes this year. He'll throw all of his weight against the Gophers Saturday.

Defensive Powers Clash Saturday

CHICAGO (AP) — The pivotal Big Ten football clash Saturday between top-ranked Michigan State and also-unbeaten Minnesota will match the conference defensive leader and the team rated No. 2 in both offense and defense.

Official league statistics disclosed Wednesday that Minnesota (3-0) continues to pace the Big Ten on defense with a per-game yield of only 157.3 yards, 118 by rushing and 39.3 by passing.

Michigan State's Spartans, runnerup on defense in surrendering a 178.3-yard average (17.7 rushing and 106.6 passing) in three victories, also are second behind the top offensive club, Ohio State's Buckeyes.

The Spartans have not been scored upon in conference competition.

The Bob Ferguson-Led Buckeyes (3-0) have averaged 382.3 yards (318.3 rushing and 64 passing), plus 28 points and 21.3 first downs. The Bucks matched a Big Ten record in Saturday's 30-21 conquest of Wisconsin by grinding out 24 first downs in gaining 357 rushing yards.

Spartans Healing For Minnesota

The Spartan football team may not be as crippled as the Minnesota Gophers would like to think come Saturday.

The injury list, as long as a touchdown run during the past week, is fast being reduced.

Halfbacks Herman Johnson and Gary Ballman, the major worries after the Indiana victory, were back at practice sessions Wednesday.

Ballman's pulled leg muscle had healed enough to permit the senior from East Detroit to take part in signal drills.

Johnson, meanwhile, was running without a trace of a limp on his sprained ankle. He should be ready for some service come Saturday.

The rest of the Spartan sick list was still on the mend. Guard Tom Jordan, injured against Notre Dame, won't make the trip to Minneapolis.

Released Coach Has Boilermakers Ready for Illinois

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue gridders practiced against Illinois offensive and defensive patterns Wednesday, pepped up by news of Jack Mollenkopf's return from the Mayo Clinic.

Coach Mollenkopf had surgery for an intestinal ailment and was expected to return to part time coaching today. He said his physician would determine exactly how active he could be.

"We have to guard against a letdown," DeMoss said. "Scout Ned Malone says Illinois came up with a whale of an offense against Southern California and only lack of time kept from possibly pulling that one out of the fire."

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Coach Phil Dickens worked his Indiana football squad through detailed running and passing formations Wednesday preparing for the Northwestern game.

Concerned with blocking deficiencies shown against Michigan State last week, Dickens drilled hard on full speed offensive scrimmages. He pointed out the Wildcats power in passing, so well demonstrated in their 12-10 triumph over Notre Dame Saturday, will make the Hoosier's chore in Evanston, Ill., even more difficult. Northwestern completed 13 of 20 passes for 150 yards against the Irish.

Econ Prof in NYC

Leonard Rall, professor of economics, is a panel member for the fall meeting of the Association for the Education in International Business now in progress in New York City.

The purpose of the meeting is to examine the various training courses that are being offered by American universities for American businessmen who are going to work abroad.

For the past three years Rall has been engaged in education-at programs, seeking to improve the training and competence of American businessmen living in foreign countries. He has been active in organizing several conferences which have helped to orient such personnel headed for foreign assignments.

In 1954 Rall was one of four professors who went to Sao Paulo, Brazil, to organize a college in Business and Public Service. He spent the first two years as a professor of economics and finance and the second as the American administrator of the project.

He is now chairman of an all-university committee which is examining the feasibility of developing a program for orienting and training professors before they accept foreign assignments.

Ole Miss

just for the asking had it not been for this policy. The Rese Bowl committee scouted our games and let it be known that they were not exactly happy about the fact that the Big Ten had failed to renew their contract.

Anyway to make a long story short, we can't play any teams which have Negro players, which practically reduces us to our own conference. I feel that this is ridiculous; so do the majority of the students at Ole Miss. Unfortunately, the Board of Trustees for the four state-supported institutions of higher learning do not. Since 1959 THE MISSISSIPPIAN has campaigned vigorously against this policy without success. To be perfectly frank, we have about as much chance of repealing this "unwritten law" as we do of electing Sen. James O. Eastland as President of the United States.

Being a true Rebel, I must confess that I am firmly convinced that Ole Miss is the Number One team in the nation. I would give anything if there was some chance of Ole Miss and Michigan State playing each other in a bowl game. However the archaic thinking which prevails in our capital city makes this impossible.

As for our hanging of the AP and UPI in effigy, I would like to make this explanation. When you have been winning as long and as consistently as has Ole Miss, school spirit tends to drop. That is the problem with which we are faced at the moment. For the past two years we have finished the season as the Number Two team in the nation and last year we won the FWAA Grantland Rice trophy designating us as national champions. We have won 21 games. The Associated Student Body School Spirit committee felt that this would be a new gimmick which might arouse school spirit, especially as we attempt to build up momentum for our big game with LSU this Saturday. The situation which Paul Schnitt described in his column is similar to Ole Miss two years ago when we first became challengers for Number One in the nation. I feel that the "hanging" was an excellent idea, and one which has produced the desired results, too.

In conclusion, I hope that my three pages of ramblings have not been too boring to you. It is my sincerest wish that through this letter Michigan State students will come to have a better understanding of the problems which face Ole Miss in the scheduling of top notch football games.

Best of luck to the Spartans throughout the rest of 1961.

N-Bomb

may have made important relative gains in its current test series, and he added:

"It is necessary to take whatever measures are required to preserve the security of our country and that of the free world."

The first thing to be done in any underground development of the N-bomb would be to find out the actual intensity of neutron radiation, its duration and other characteristics. For such preliminary research studies, atmospheric testing presumably would not be necessary. On the other hand, the carefully controlled, closely contained conditions of an underground explosion could yield a vast amount of basic data.

These conditions, of course, would not be a full step forward to "weapon effects" testing. That would follow in air-burst explosions under conditions like that for using the weapon against troops, tanks and fortifications. Atmospheric detonation presumably would be tried well away from inhabited areas, even though theory indicates an N-bomb would create little or no radioactive fallout.

Unofficial but informed speculation seems to be that an N-bomb might have a lethal radius ranging out from a thousand yards to a mile or so. Assuming that a useful weapon could be refined down to the proper size, delivery could be made by current missiles, planes or artillery.

The Atomic Energy Commission has been particularly tight-lipped about the current underground tests in Nevada. There have been four announced tests since the U.S. resumed testing underground on Sept. 15. Announcements have been confined to the bare statement that a test was conducted and that it was of a "low yield" nuclear device.

Conference To Study Education Problems

The status and future of general education at American colleges and universities will be appraised Friday through Sunday at a Kellogg Center conference.

Current programs in general education, as contrasted with those in the more familiar vocational and professional education, will be evaluated by more than 200 educators from colleges and universities across the country at the National Conference on General Education.

Many students today are strongly motivated vocationally—how they can make a living when they graduate from college, points out Dr. Edward B. Blackman, head of the department of American thought and language.

The conference will consider many aspects of this total undergraduate area. Topics for discussion include the present condition of general education, a platform for the '60's in general education, general education and the national interest and rising enrollments and conservation of institutional resources.

Educators, President John A. Hannah, President Clarence B. Hilberry of Wayne State University, President Thomas H. Hamilton of the State University of New York and Vice President James G. Rice of Stephens College, will speak.

Sponsoring the three-day conference, along with MSU and WSU, are the University of Chicago, Drake University, University of Oklahoma, Stephens College, University of South Florida and University of Wisconsin.

Dr. John Rowe To Speak In Kiva

Dr. John Rowe, professor and head of the department of business education at the University of North Dakota will speak Monday at 4:30 p.m. in the Kiva. His topic will be "The Psychological Basis of Skill Building."

Dr. Rowe received his doctorate in education from Columbia University and has taught in several colleges throughout the midwest. In addition to writing typewriter texts, he has made several contributions to business magazines and yearbooks. He is a member of several professional honorary societies.

Conversation Subject of Smith Talk

Dr. Frank Fremont-Smith of New York City, director of the Interdisciplinary Conference Program of the American Institute of Biological Sciences, will present the Yates Memorial Lecture Monday at 4 p.m. in 32 Union.

His subject will be, "Conversation as Communication." Dr. Fremont-Smith is an expert in the field of communication as well as medicine.

The Yates Memorial Lecture, sponsored by the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Assn., is dedicated to promoting better and clearer understanding between medicine and the press.

This year's lecture will deal with the processes of communication between individuals on an informal level and the difficulties and misunderstandings that may crop up in informal face-to-face communication.

The lecture will be of special interest to editors, writers, medical personnel and students of medicine and communication. It is open to the public.

The American Red Cross will show the film, "Family Emergency First Aid." A guest speaker will answer questions. Dues may be paid at this meeting.

Spring and Radiation

By JOHN A. KLEMPNER
State News Staff Writer

On reading in the State News that 99 per cent of the fallout from the Russian bomb tests won't fall out on us until sometime next spring

All winter long we wait for Spring,
And think of things that Spring doth bring:

Of baseball, boys, birds, bees, and flowers,
Lovely lasses, bosky bowers, Sun-filled skies and carefree hours . . .

Oh — and Russian fallout showers.

As Autumn fades and Winter's near,
Rejoice! for Spring will soon be here:

Baseball, track teams going all-out;

Students dashing from the hall, outside to frolic, have a ball outside beneath the Russian fallout.

And what of strolling down the lane

Beneath the gentle Spring-time rain?:

This pastime dear must soon be sacked.

Eventually this attractive rain-walk will be gone. A fact: Ivan has made it radioactive.

When Spring hath sprung, let's show our spittle —

Kick up heels and live a little:

As foot-deep snows begin to melt,

Erasing wint'ry thoughts we've held,

Urbane I'll sit, midst helter-skelter,

Watching you from in my shelter.

Swimming team captain Billy Steuart won the 1961 Chester L. Brewer Award given annually at Michigan State to a graduating senior for distinguished performance in athletics and scholarship.

Coed Corporals Get Specialized Training

Two University coeds attended an Army summer training camp in Alabama this summer as part of their requirement for commissioning.

Carrol Spaetzle and Anne L. Reynolds, both seniors, participated in a special Woman's Army Corps summer program at Ft. McClellan, Ala.

Sophomore Carolea Edgley plans to attend the program next summer. A nursing major, she hopes to receive her commission and enter service in the Army Nurse Corps after graduation.

MORE THAN 50 young women representing 43 colleges and universities took part in the month-long program.

After being enlisted as corporals in the WAC reserve, the coeds were given physicals, uniforms, and then 4 weeks of instruction in physical training, leadership and military tradition.

The coed corporals toured Ft. McClellan and the Army Chemical Center, then took a trip to Ft. Benning, Ga., where they watched demonstrations of rockets, missiles and combat exercises.

Two officers will be on the campus on Thursday, Nov. 9, to talk with interested coeds.

Movie Review

'Fanny' Brilliant

By KEN PECK
Of the State News Staff

FANNY: A Warner Brothers release. Screenplay by Julius J. Epstein. Produced and directed by Joshua Logan. Starring Leslie Caron, Maurice Chevalier, Charles Boyer, and Horst Buchholz.

FANNY is a film certain to find its way into the hearts of all who see it. The warmth radiated from beginning to end gives the entire production a very tender, human quality.

Leslie Caron turns in an excellent performance. Those of you who fell in love with her as GIGI, will be pleased to know that she quite surpasses herself in the title role FANNY. Her moving portrayal of the young girl who loves too much, is a delight to behold.

IN QUITE different roles than usual; Maurice Chevalier and Charles Boyer also score a brilliant hit. Their vocal sparring and endearing friendship is a heart-warming experience. It will be no surprise to see them as Oscar contenders when Academy Award time rolls around.

As young Marius, torn between his love for the sea and his love for FANNY, Horst Buchholz generates a restlessness characterizing Marius completely.
