Audit Finances of Book Store

Announce Details of Business Carried on by House.

Release of the financial accounting of the Michigan State College Book store, a semi-official non-profit organization, was made today following an audit made by Prof. F. H. Gee, economics department.

At the same time officials of the business house made announcement of the details of their organization. A large number of faculty members were said to be stockholders in the concern, acting merely as basis for legal incorporation and not deriving any profit from it.

No dividends are paid by the book store; it was planned, all profits going back into the business to increase the operating capital.

From the audit for the year ending June 29, 1931, it appears that the total net worth of the bookstore is about $36,000, the money being invested in inventories, furnishings, fixtures, and cash on hand.

During the year the store had sales of $85,000, on which was realized a gross profit of $10,000. According to these figures the cost of books and college supplies is marked up on the average about 13%.

The expense of operating the store was $7,000 for the year of which $2,950 was paid out in salaries, $900 in student labor, and $3,175 for freight, cartage, express, advertising, light, etc.

SPEAKERS WILL TRY FOR PRIZES

Second Intercollegiate Extempore Speaking Contest to Be Held Dec. 3

The second intercollegiate Extempore Speaking Contest will be held at this campus Thursday, December 3. Representatives from about 12 colleges will be present to compete for gold and silver awards which will be given for first and second places in both men and women contests.

Last year Michigan State was awarded first place in the women's contest and second place in the men's.

In last year's contest the men and the women each discussed the question, "This year the plan has been somewhat altered and each contest will have two topics. A contestant may choose one of these topics to speak on."

The topics are as follows: For the men, "Crime and Its Cure" and "Ghandi and His Significance." For the women, "Jane Addams and Social Welfare" and "Prohibition."

According to O. J. Drake, who is in charge of both the state and local contests, a great deal of interest is being shown in each of these subjects. Under the rules of the contest, each contestant is to prepare on one of these topics under this division and will then be assigned specific phases of that topic to discuss on the day of the contest.

The topics are to be subdivided by the following people: Mr. Webster H. Pearce, superintendent of public instruction of Michigan; "Crime and Its Cure," Jay W. Sexton, superintendent of the Lansing public schools; "Prohibition," Dr. Frederick Fisher of Ann Arbor; an authority on Ghandi; "Ghandi and His Significance," and Miss Alice Lloyd, dean of women at the University of Michigan; "Jane Addams and Social Welfare."

In both branches of the local contest, cash prizes of $10 for first place and $5 for second place will be awarded. Every student on campus is eligible for participation, and no previous experience in public speaking is necessary. Anyone interested is asked to communicate with Mr. Drake at the Speech office for further particulars.

Nutty Questions Fly Through Musty Atmosphere About Main Counter.

Polish question No. 7,142,826 asked at the Union desk runs something like this: "Do you think Lucky Strikes are really better with the cellophane wrapper?" To which the counter, checking an impulse to scream and throw the telephone at the petite co-ed who questions him, replies as best he can in an attempt to satisfy the girl's curiosity. That's only a fair sample of what he must contend with. Day after day people come to him seeking answers to questions which only God Almighty could answer and even He might hesitate at some of them. Tribute Given to State Grad

Coast Artillery Journal Has Article on George W. Haigh.

A recent issue of The Michigan Press carried an article commemorating the 25th Anniversary of the death of George William Haigh, a graduate of Michigan State college and shown with great respect in the Coast Artillery and Ordnance Department at Fort S. S. Van.

He was born at Waterloo, N. Y., December 11, 1858, and entered this college the first year. He received the U. S. Engineer's degree in 1882. He was a military aviator from 1891 until 1905, when he was killed in an airplane crash. He was a member of the Coast Artillery and Ordnance Department at Fort S. S. Van.

He participated in the following campaigns: Fredericksburg, Peninsula, Chancellorsville, Wilderness, Petersburg, Appomattox, Gettysburg, Cold Harbor, and many other military campaigns. He was wounded at Cold Harbor and severely wounded at Gettysburg.

After leaving the service, he returned to his home in Waterloo, N. Y., where he died February 20, 1920, and is buried in Northside cemetery, Dearborn, Michigan.

In the military museum at Demonstration Hall is a life-size statue of the officer, taken by Capt. Haigh from the officer at the battle of Gettysburg. Although Capt. Haigh was later wounded in the same battle and captured, he kept possession of the collection of military weapons which were presented to M. S. C.

PRE-MEDICALS TO TAKE EXAMS

Aptitude Test to Be Required for Entrance to Medical Schools.

The premedical students of Michigan State college will be required to take an aptitude test on the afternoon of December 14th at 2:30 o'clock in the Entomology building. This test will be required of all students intending to enter any medical school in the country and it will be given in other colleges and will be part of the entrance requirement for the school. These tests were approved by the Association of American Medical Schools in October of 1930 and were administered by the college last year.

The tests are divided into six parts: Scientific vocabulary, premedical information, comprehension and retention, visual memory, memory for content and understanding of printed material. This year's test will be of the same nature but of course the question content will be different.

The tests are used by the admission officers of the medical schools in the city of the nation in admitting students. The students' scholastic record in his pre-medical training, his character, the consensus of opinion of the teachers who know him, and the impression he makes on the committee on admissions will all be carefully considered in deciding whether he will be admitted.

The test at this school will be in charge of Associate Professor of Entomology, Roy Hudson, whose office is in the Entomology building. The cost of the test will be one dollar to cover the expense of preparation by the association.

Action Is Result of News Campaign for Change in Cut System.

Official news from the Michigan State News public petition for a revision of the "cut" system was received last Friday afternoon by President Robert S. Shaw. A committee of five administrative officers was appointed to investigate the matter.

Prof. E. C. Emmons, institutional management expert, was named as chairman of the committee. E. L. Austin, acting dean of liberal arts, and Dean of the college and dean of the law school were also named.

According to Prof. Emmons, a meeting of the committee will probably take place in the immediate future for a preliminary discussion of the situation. No immediate decision is expected to be made, but once the committee will probably take time to investigate the situation thoroughly before making any recommendation.

The Michigan State News recently began a drive campaigning for a more liberal educational system, proposing a plan that would allow increased absence a term and underclassmen and an unlimited number of applications for admission. Public opinion petition for faculty consideration was made a week ago.

At the present time State college students are allowed 12 unexcused absences during the three terms of the college year. With a penalty of one-half credit for each absence beyond that number, the liberal scheme has been made an intermittent one.

A survey conducted by the News early this year among faculty members and student leaders showed a wide range of opinion on the subject, though a strong majority of them recognized the need for a revision in the present proposal was the consensus.

The tests are used by the admission officers of the medical schools in the city of the nation in admitting students. The students' scholastic record in his pre-medical training, his character, the consensus of opinion of the teachers who know him, and the impression he makes on the committee on admissions will all be carefully considered in deciding whether he will be admitted.

Spartans Primed For Annual Michigan Grid Game

MICHIGAN STATE TO PRESENT STRONGEST LINEUP IN BATTLE WITH WOLVERINES TOMORROW

Traditional Football Classic Expected to Draw Largest Crowd in History; Fave and Hands on Starting Team Which Will Attempt to Stop Powerful Maize and Blue

Keved to a fighting pitch, Michigan State's football team left at 1:30 this afternoon for Ann Arbor where the final workout in preparation for the game with Michigan is to be staged in the Wolverine's big bowl. Coach James H. Crowley took a squad of 28 players, all that he has an uniform to the Michigan gridiron.

With four days of hard work behind them, the Spartans have only a light practice on their hands this afternoon and will do little except runs through signals and change in kicking and forward pass work in the bowl. With their exercise completed they will retire to Ypsilanti to remain until near game time Saturday afternoon.

The game will be played before the largest crowd ever to witness a grid battle between the two in uniform during the game against Maize and Blue last week but Coach Crowley found it unnecessary to see them in the field.

There is no secret about Maize's waiting a victory ball. Michigan is the oldest rival on the Spartan schedule and the same peak spirit always prevails when the Wolverine are encountered. Maize's record this year is more to be feared although the Spartans have gained considerable national recognition. This year, more all their success comes by their own hands. The team of this year's season, however, was camped out with a case of it and it is for this reason that they will be in the line-up.

Michigan has won 11 games this year and will be the favorite to win the national championship. The Spartans are in a position to win the national championship. The Spartans are in a position to win the national championship. The Spartans are in a position to win the national championship.

Can He Repeat?

Clark Chamberlain, Michigan's star football player, will be in the line-up for the game with Michigan. He is expected to be the key player for the Spartans. He is expected to be the key player for the Spartans.

THINCLADS TO COMPETE WITH EIGHT COLLEGES

Michigan Normal Favored to Win State-wide Run on Saturday

The Spartan cross-country team will have its hands full Saturday when the starting gun sends the runners of eight colleges across the line for the 1931 Annual State Intercollegiate run. The Spartans will be weakened to a great extent due to the absence of their two best runners, Clark Chamberlain and Otto Pongracz, who have gone east to New York city for the eastern intercollegiate run to be staged there Monday.

Michigan Normal is a heavy favorite for the first honor, while the Spartans will be well to race out the team. Maize for several years should the Spartans upset the odds by running off with the meet it will be a feather in their hat for the Ypsilanti based club being successful this year having defeated the University earlier in the season. Maize and Normal are the only colleges in the state to have defeated the Spartans in the past.

The meet will be run off over the new Spartan five mile course. Clark Chamberlain has the record for that distance with the time of 26:14.0 but the intercollegiate title belongs to Roger Arnett of Ypsilanti with the time of 26:22.1.

State men to be entered are Walter Hurd, O'Connor, Small, Kline, Clark, Elliott, Price and Kline. The run will start at 10:30 a. m. in the stadium, between participating are Adrian, Detroit City college, Detroit Tech, Kalamazoo, Hope, Michigan Normal, Michigan State and Western State. Trophies will be awarded.

"I liked Chesterfield right from the start"

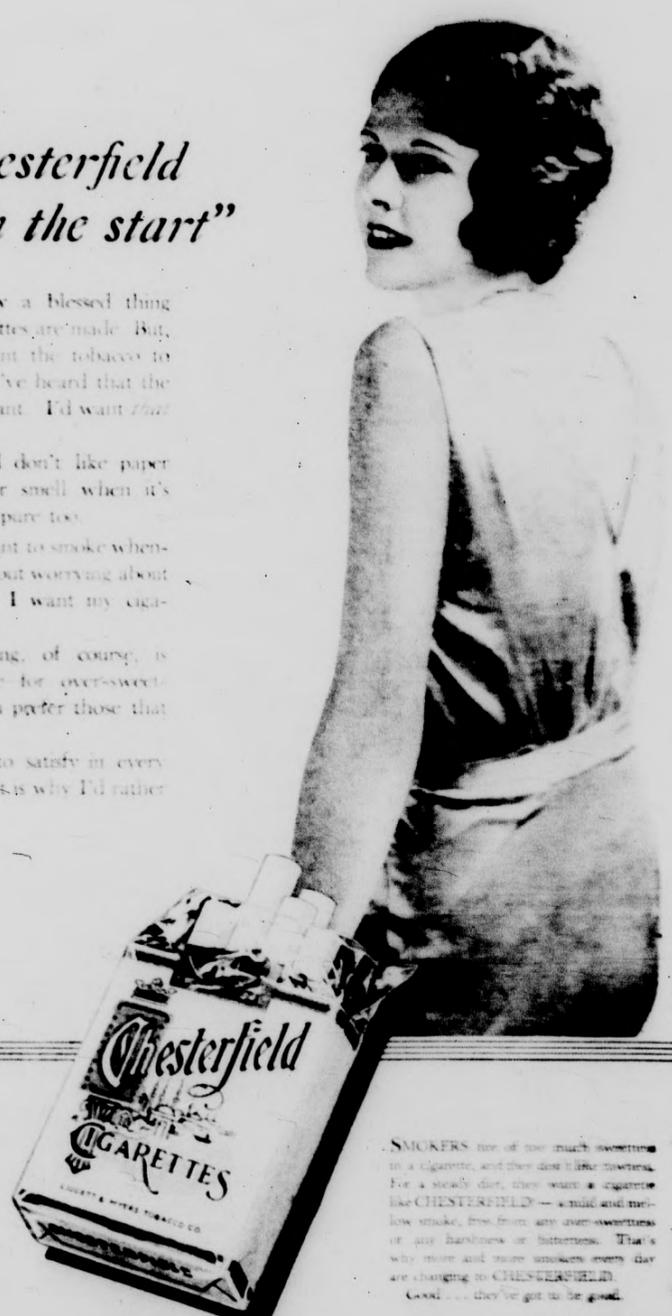

"NO, I don't know a blessed thing about how cigarettes are made. But, of course, I would want the tobacco to be PURE. And then I've heard that the blending is very important. I'd want that to be done just right."

"Then the paper. I don't like paper that you can taste—or smell when it's burning. I'd want that pure too."

"Another thing. I want to smoke whenever I feel like it—without worrying about smoking too many. So I want my cigarettes MILD."

"But the main thing, of course, is TASTE. I don't care for over-sweetened cigarettes. I much prefer those that are just sweet enough."

"Chesterfield seems to satisfy in every one of these ways. That's why I'd rather have a Chesterfield."

SMOKERS use of too much sweetness in a cigarette, and they don't like them. For a steady diet, they want a cigarette like CHESTERFIELD—a mild and mellow smoke, free from any over-sweetness or any harshness or bitterness. That's why more and more smokers every day are changing to CHESTERFIELD. Good... they've got to be good.

Clark Chamberlain will attempt to do what track experts say is impossible when he attempts to successfully defend his Eastern Intercollegiate Cross-Country Championship at Van Courtland Park, New York City on Monday. Some of the greatest college distance stars in the country will be entered in the race which is only one against Chamberlain and the two Spartans will be expected to be in the line-up.
