Holes in Your Soles? There's a Reason for It

"My aching feet. I bet I've walked ten miles today!" and other similar exclamations seem all too common on campus since September.

Real facts and figures have now been made available. Using a map measure and a large scale map of the campus, Robert Trojanek, assistant landscape planner, determined the shortest sidewalk distances between buildings on campus.

Eight representative distances were selected and the scale wheel of the map measure was run over the sidewalk plan. From Brody to Berkey Hall, the distance is 5,000 feet, or almost a mile. Women in Case with classes in Berkey have 4,500 feet to travel.

The distance between East Landon and the Education Building is 3,000 feet by the shortest route.

Men in Brody with dates in the Phillips, Abbot area have the longest walk of all, 6,400 feet, which is over a mile.

The distance between Shaw and the Men's Intramural Building is 3,500 feet.

Distances to the Union from Shaw or Brody are about the same. From Shaw it's 4,000 feet, while from Brody the distance is 3,900 feet. Both are about three-fourths of a mile.

And from the main door of Campbell to the side door of the Union, it's 300 feet.

There are 53 miles of sidewalk on campus, Trojanek said, and about 2 miles of bicycle paths.

State's Role Prominent At Land Grant Convention

Michigan State will play a prominent role at the 75th Annual Convention and Centennial Convocation of the American Association of Land-Grant Colleges and State Universities in Kansas City, Mo.

Six faculty members will participate in the programs and there will be an exhibit of books by the MSU Press.

Heading the speakers will be Provost Paul A. Miller who will address the division of agriculture's evaluation session.

Dr. R. M. Swenson, assistant dean of agriculture and director of resident instruction, will speak at the resident instruction meeting. Dr. Milton E. Muelder, vice president for research development and dean of the school for advanced graduate studies, will be a discussant at a session on the evaluation of the social sciences.

Two representatives of the Colleges of Engineering, Dean John D. Ryder and John W. Hoffman, director of engineering research, will take part in the meeting of the extension section. Miss Jeanette Lee, assistant dean of home economics, will speak at the home economics sessions.

The convocation is the first major formal event of the Land-Grant Centennial, being observed during the 1961-62 academic year to commemorate the signing of the Federal Land-Grant, or Morrill Act, by President Abraham Lincoln in 1862.

Michigan State, founded in 1855, set the pattern for the land-grant system of higher education. Today there are 68 land-grant institutions, at least one in each state and in Puerto Rico.

Former Spartan Talks On Muslims

J. C. Williams, a former football player at MSU, will speak on "The Black Muslims - A Threat to American Democracy?" at the Channing-Murray Fellowship Sunday at 7 p.m. in the Art room.

Williams has worked with the Muslims over a year as a social experiment and thus has been able to gain inside experience.

Nation Expresses Sorrow Over Death of Sam Rayburn

Wayne Prof Urges Handicapped Care

By DIANE KERNS
Of the State News Staff

Proposals for revising the constitutional article on charitable institutions and for preserving small school districts in the state came before Con-Con's committee on education Wednesday at Kellogg Center.

Section 15, Art. XI of the present constitution states that institutions for the deaf, dumb, blind, feeble-minded and insane shall be fostered and supported.

John J. Lee, distinguished professor and chairman of the Department of Special Education and Vocational Rehabilitation at Wayne State University, said that this section of the constitution needs to be brought up to date.

Lee submitted for the committee's consideration, the following proposal:

"Institutions, programs and services for the care, treatment, education and rehabilitation of those inhabitants who are physically, mentally, and socially handicapped shall always be fostered and supported."

Mrs. Holtz explained that the small districts offer varied courses by spreading out their staff.

One teacher may teach kindergarten in the morning and art, music, physical education and similar courses in the afternoon.

By not providing so-called fringe benefits, Mrs. Holtz said it costs less to educate each individual student.

"If you add to the constitution a provision that says each district must have a high school, you will be doing away with the free choice of the small district," she said.

Small children may also have to start riding a bus several hours a day if the small districts are incorporated, she added.

Lee said that the legislature will determine how these institutions, programs and services would be administered.

"I believe every citizen would endorse this proposal as a constitutional expression of state pride and as a means of defining public policy and responsibility," he said.

Lee said that Michigan holds an enviable position in the scope of its charitable institutions, dating back to 1848 when the first institution was established in Pontiac.

It was also proposed that the word "dumb" be deleted from the section and replaced with more comprehensive terminology such as physically, mentally and socially handicapped.

Lee said that it is important to revise this section of the constitution to comply with current professional knowledge.

Mrs. JoAnne Holtz, representing the Community School Board, spoke on the preservation of the state's small school districts.

"Forcing K-12 on some small districts will be very harmful," she said.

President To Attend Funeral

WASHINGTON (AP) — From Americans in all walks of life there came an outpouring of eulogies Friday for speaker of the House Sam Rayburn of Texas.

The President, the three former presidents, governors, Congress members, cabinet officers and others of high and low rank gave voice to the mourning.

Like a tidal wave, the expressions of grief and tribute spread across the nation when the news of Rayburn's death came, washing away all political differences for the time being in a common loss.

President Kennedy said Rayburn, who died in Bonham, Tex., Thursday morning, "was a loyal counselor and friend of presidents of both parties on the great matters which affected our national interests and security."

"This country has lost a devoted servant and the citizens of this country an unflinching friend," the President said.

The White House flag was raised and lowered to half staff as the President's statement was issued. Kennedy already was en route to the west coast on a speaking trip.

It is expected that his itinerary will be rearranged to permit the President to attend funeral services in Bonham Saturday afternoon.

Rayburn was an almost-candidate at least a half a dozen times.

"The tragedy is that the great and good wise man was not elected President of the United States," Johnson told an appreciation luncheon for Rayburn in 1959.

"I was born in the wrong section of the country and at the wrong time ever to become everything I wanted," Rayburn said. "Hell, I'd rather be speaker than 10 senators. I never had the slightest ambition to be a senator or governor. I love the House."

John W. McCormack, the man most likely to succeed Sam Rayburn as Speaker of the House, is a rough and tough politician from the "wrong" side of the Boston railroad tracks.

An "old pro" in the field of politics, McCormack is now House Democratic leader. He has been in public life for more than 50 years and has included among his temporary antagonists from time to time his fellow Bostonian—from the "right" side of the tracks—President John F. Kennedy.

Goal is $10,000

Campus Chest Drive To Aid More Students

By SALLY WARD
Of the State News Staff

This year's campus chest goal of $10,000 will give more student organizations the opportunity for financial aid.

In past fund drives, the students have indicated their hesitation to contribute was because they didn't have any say in distributing funds, Chuck Dallavo, chairman said.

This year, any one student will be able to suggest a group to receive aid.

The suggestion will be investigated by the fund organization who will determine its eligibility.

TODAY'S "Penny Night" is part of the attempt to reach the new goal, which is approximately 50 cents per student.

Tickets, which allow coeds permission to stay out until 2 a.m., are on sale today at 318 Student Services and in dormitories and sororities.

Many students are not aware of what Campus Chest is, what its functions are and what distribution is made of the money received.

Campus chest is the only student organization which has the power to solicit money on campus.

During its major drive, winter term, representatives will place canisters in dormitories and will distribute envelopes for individual contributions.

LAST YEAR was the first year door to door solicitations were begun. This practice will be followed again this year.

In past years the organization has sponsored a carnival in order to raise funds.

While it is impossible to determine what distribution will be made this year, last year's total gives an indication.

In 1960 the World University Service received $800 from the fund's $2400 total.

This service, supported by the National Student Association is an international organization which gives students in foreign countries scholarships, books and equipment when they have an indication that these are needed and deserved.

Another group which received a major part of the fund is the National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students. Last year they received $720.

This agency gives scholarships and counseling to Negroes in colleges and encourages capable Negro students to seek higher education.

Three other groups benefit from the fund.

The Spartan Nursery and the MSU Scholarship fund both received $360 last year. The United Community chest grant last year was $160.

Essay Contest Won't Offer Constructive Ideas for Future

Fresh-Soph Council has undertaken a new venture evidently aimed at generating pride in MSU.

It is sponsoring a "What Makes State Great" essay contest with all the trimmings: Faculty judges, deadlines, prizes and even honorable mentions.

The general purpose is laudable. The council wants to increase student awareness of the excellence of MSU. However, it is doubtful if it has chosen the best means to reach this end. It could have accomplished the same objective in a much better manner.

THE COUNCIL could have asked for constructive ideas on what could be done to make State greater. This would eliminate—to some extent—the crackpot comedians who might enter the present contest.

In addition, it would offer some valuable ideas to AUSG and the administration for possible changes or innovations. The present contest offers little challenge to the students and certainly will have little long range benefit.

This second form would also force students to seriously evaluate what is good about MSU. One cannot criticize validly until he has weighed the pros and cons of the situation. Thus, the contest would not only contribute new ideas but would generate pride in the University.

We fear the results of the contest as it now stands.

An essay contest in itself is not bad but recent history has given it a bad connotation. The old days of composition and elocution competitions are gone.

THEY HAVE been replaced by the "25 words or less plus one box top" promotions. Today, any writing contest usually reminds someone of the back of a cereal carton.

This degrading notion of any contest, no matter how meritorious the individual one may be, encourages jokers to take part. The "What Makes State Great" competition is liable to produce more clumsy satire than clever writing and thinking.

A second major fault is that those students who do put time and effort into their essay will accomplish little. They will just be rehashing what exists.

The council could have built pride in MSU with a contest which has fewer pitfalls. Asking students what would make State better would do this. It would increase awareness of present excellence and promote concern for the future.

Switch on ROTC

The students here spent a good many years agitating for release from ROTC. Although formal complaints were lodged against compulsory training, more than a few students were bitterly against any form of military training.

We won our battle but it seems that another campaign is being waged at an east coast school. Only this one is different.

An editorial in the Mount St. Mary's (Emmitsburg, Md.) Mountain Echo recently questioned why the school did not have an ROTC program.

"Mount Saint Mary's," the editorial said, "with its proximity to the nation's defense centers of Washington and Baltimore and its acres of fallow fields is capable of acquiring either an Air Force or Army ROTC program."

Well, we wish them luck in their undertaking. It's refreshing, at least, to know there is another side.

Press Queries Kennedy

Ben Burns

Press conferences are an important link between the President and the public. It has been several weeks since President Kennedy held his last talk with the Washington newsmen. Since the President's schedule is so demanding that he hasn't time for personal interviews, he is obligated to speak to reporters periodically in order to have proper representation of his ideas and give the members of the press opportunity to question him.

The Washington reporters look forward to the conferences.

ON JULY a member of the State Press Photography Association managed to get 11 Information Trainees with the Department of Agriculture into a conference.

When we arrived, about 10 minutes early, the spacious lobby of the New State Department building had a carnival air about it. Members of the press were boisterously greeting old friends and discussing what the President would say about the Berlin crisis.

Passers-by got their first inkling that something unusual was about to take place when a police captain began giving instructions to about 25 uniformed patrolmen at the 22nd St. entrance to the building.

Inside, our names were checked off a list and we found ourselves in a small auditorium seating about 200 persons.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY'S view of the auditorium must have been like a reverse view of a shooting gallery. Movie and TV cameras lined a platform across the back.

There was a continual whirring and grinding as the photographers took preliminary shots and got their equipment into position.

Other photographers were taking pictures of the representative of their newspaper or television service.

The reporters themselves were unconcernedly finishing their morning newspapers or chatting quietly with friends.

THE PRESIDENT strode briskly onto the stage at 10 a.m. He was closely followed by his roving press secretary, Pierre Salinger, and several others.

As the President entered, the press members rose respectfully and were seated at his nod. He made several policy statements and other announcements then nodded to a reporter who arose and asked a question.

After that it was a constant turmoil of newsmen and women bouncing to their feet and frantically calling "Mr. President" in order to present their questions.

I don't know whether they were to get a bonus or not if they managed to snare the golden ring of presidential recognition, but several correspondents managed to get the floor only by outshooting everyone else.

THE SECRET SERVICE men guarding the President were completely unobtrusive. We tried hard to pick them out of the crowd, but had little luck.

Throughout the question period camera men panned back and forth across the auditorium to get background shots for their newscasts.

Kennedy handled himself well. He was accurate and precise. On several occasions he answered foolish questions with a short "Yes" or "No."

At 10:30 a.m. he finished answering an involved question, turned quickly and began to leave the stage. Again, the roly-poly Salinger was right at his heels.

The press corps bounced quickly to their feet, called a "thank you" to the retiring figure of the President and dashed for the exits.

School openings are peaceful across the land, and maybe we'll get to the days when the only individuals around were teachers, students, a few over-protective mothers and an occasional dog.—Chicago Daily News.

Compulsory Dorm Dues Unfair

To the Editor:

Amen to your series on housing regulations.

Tying in with points made in your articles is the assessment of dorm dues. These dues, an expensive aggravation to most students, inflict a second irritation to an already sore spot to upperclassmen compelled to live within protective institutional walls long after they need such regulation. They are told to pay dues they don't want to pay to a unit in which they don't want to live.

No agreement to pay such dues is stipulated in dorm contracts. There is no mention of dorm dues in the constitutions of any University organ with the exception of individual dorms. All pressures to the contrary, no one can be forced to pay dues. The unknowing freshman pays unquestioningly. Others merely pay, grumbling.

"But everyone benefits!" reply the assessors (dorm officers). If it can be proven that any given individual benefits from all of the things which his $4 or $5 help to provide, it would be a surprising revelation. Who can say fall term whether or not he will attend the spring term party? Yet this event bites a $500 chunk out of Phillips Hall's proposed budget—nearly one third of it. This, plus other amounts including $100 for miscellaneous, consume $100 for social events alone at Phillips. Who benefits from the TV? A few. Who benefits from the teas and little parties? Those who get there first. Who can't find an adequate social life on his own without these little niceties; and, most important, who can't find better things to do with the $5?

Anyone assuming that I do not abound in dorm spirit and community feeling for 449 other girls assumes correctly. I don't live in a close group based on mutual selection with community goals; I live in a restrictive hotel. There are as many girls in my precinct as there are in some sorority houses. Interests are about as diversified as the numbers.

This brings up the question of dorm and school spirit, the latter term approaching, for some, "mother" and "country" in the sentiments evoked. A few devotees show up to work on Water Carnival and Homecoming displays. No one else cares much. Yet those who don't care still pay for them. This "spirit" is a farce if it has to be extracted by assessing dues. Anyone for something supports it fully—giving time and money voluntarily—or else lets it die a natural death. The facts speak for themselves.

The dorm as a business organ does not provide a few communal necessities such as irons. For these few items of general benefit a small amount per girl could be assessed. Let's change the dues clauses of the constitutions; elect new house council reps or pressure the present ones. Dorm dues as they now stand are exorbitant and unrealistic; they should not be paid.

of us regard the risks of war to be the lesser evil as compared with the risks of disarmament.

It seems unlikely that a method can be found which both sides regard as foolproof, however much we may hope for one. The 64,000,000 life question is: Will we come to an agreement on taking a joint risk on some compromise proposal before a mistake is made and the rising frenzy of belligerence leads to disaster?

Those who state or imply that nuclear war would "save" us from Communism had better puncture their illusion. The chaos and destruction following, say, a 3,000 megaton attack are not conditions favorable for democracy and a civilized form of free enterprise. These conditions are far more compatible with despotism (of which communism is the present leading example).

In the past, the more severe the crisis and destruction, the louder have been the yells for government and action. Itchy fingered button pushers take notice.

Menacing Mass?

To the Editor:

Have the effects of the masses once again gained control of some of the students on campus? This past weekend I observed the large groups of coeds making the rounds of sorority houses during rush. In three separate instances I observed the girls' complete disregard of automobile traffic while they crossed Grand River. After the lights had changed, the girls kept right on filing across the street in orderly lines causing oncoming traffic to screech to a stop. In one particular instance, in the car I was riding, it was necessary to stop so quickly as to almost cause a rear-end collision.

Are these coeds so enthralled with the idea of sorority rush that they fail to adhere to the simple rules of safety? Their lack of consideration could have resulted in damage to property and person. Perhaps the kindergarten lesson of "Stop, Look, and Listen" needs reviewing to those concerned.

Nuclear Button

To the Editor:

I read with interest your reporting and commentary on Nehru's proposals for disarmament.

No sane person doubts the desirability of lifting the threat of genocide from the race, but we cannot agree on how this is to be done. We don't trust the Russian proposals and they don't trust ours. Evidently both and welfare of its citizens will be considered an Act of War upon the United States and treated as such.

One way or another, the whole damn mess would be over.

HUAC Again

To the Editor:

As one whose credentials as an American are unimpeachable (white, Anglo-Saxon, Protestant, midwestern Republican family background; no Mayflower claims are made but the family tree contains a goodly number of North Carolina Unionists during the Civil War) and as a Republican who voted for Nixon, I would like to comment on a few issues that currently agitate portions of this campus and the nation.

The central issue which concerns me today is the question of "security" both on campus and in the nation. What should be the proper role of the campus police? What should be the proper role of the House Un-American Activities Committee and similar organizations? The answer in both cases is clear: The proper role differs greatly from the actual role.

The campus police have been involved in such activities as (1) turning students over to legal authorities for prosecution in the courts and (2) compiling loyalty dossiers on students and faculty. (Denials of this sort of thing have sometimes been made, but they have been vague, apologetic and evasive.)

What possible justification can be advanced for the first activity? None, unless you wish to malign the competency and authority of the appropriate city, county and state authorities. It is the proper task of the latter authorities to handle violations of the law and to maintain public order within their areas.

For the University to act in this way through the instrument of the campus police is a clear violation of the University's role in local parents. Your parent is expected to exact punishment if you go astray, but he is not expected to ensure that you spend thirty days in the county jail if you do so.

What possible justification is to be found for the second activity? None, unless you wish to malign the competency of the FBI. On the basis of personal acquaintance with the procedures of the FBI unit in one of the large metropolitan areas which contains several colleges and universities, I can

Orchids to Mrs. Sally Magid for her courage of conviction regarding the currently discussed "educational lag" of student wives. Hers will not be a popular letter, but certainly it pinpoints the problem. Education is a life-long process and does not require class attendance. What it does require of the individual might be schematized:

- E for Effort
- D for Diligence
- U for Understanding
- C for Concentration
- A for Action
- T for Tenacity
- I for Interest
- O for Organization
- N for Need

When all these factors are part of a personality, the educational process will become a reality — babysitters or no babysitters.

To Ban The Bomb

To the Editor:

Why doesn't the U.S. government issue a proclamation directed toward nuclear explosions? It should read:

Japanese Oppose Any Nuclear Weapons

(Editor's Note: Yoshie Hatano, Japanese delegate to the Campus United Nations, made the following proposal on nuclear testing at the Campus UN meeting last Friday. The proposal represents the feelings of the entire Japanese delegation and supports the government's protest to both great powers against the resumption of nuclear testing.)

By YOSHIRO HATANO

The feeling against the nuclear weapon among Japanese people has been so strong since Hiroshima and Nagasaki that it has almost become a faith. It is not against any specific countries but against the weapon itself.

The Japanese know the realistic meaning of a nuclear war through their experience during World War II. The Hiroshima bombardment took approximately 240,000 lives yet the 50 megaton bomb of Russia is more than 100 times stronger. Fifty-eight Hiroshima survivors died in the past year due to radio activity. Today, the slogan "No more Hiroshima" is a sincere prayer of the Japanese people. We believe that it is our responsibility to the world to keep mankind from this destruction.

Last August, the Russian representative supported the decision of the Japanese council against A-Bombs and H-Bombs saying, "We declare that the first country to resume nuclear testing shall be called the enemy of mankind." Yet, it was Russia who resumed it first last September.

claimed that "We have no other choice" when the U.S. decided to resume underground testing. However, only a few days before, he stated that the U.S. stock-pile of atomic weapons was wholly adequate for the defense needs of the U.S. and the free world.

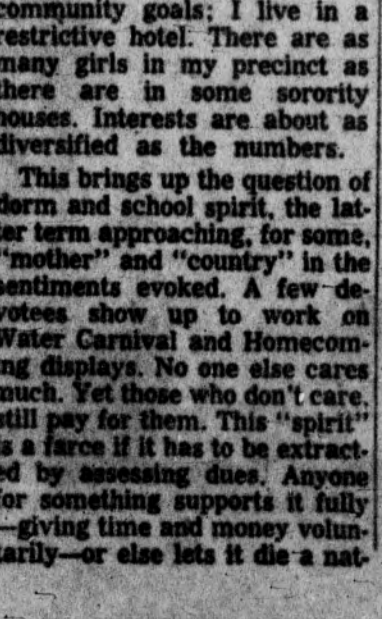

The U.S. resumption did nothing but stimulate Russian 30 and 50 megaton bomb blasts. In other words, the U.S. gave Russia an opportunity to rationalize her devilish act. Yet, there is a regrettable possibility of the U.S. resuming the atmospheric nuclear testing.

We still hope not to have an opportunity to call the U.S. an enemy of peace and mankind.

THE SOCIAL anxiety of the fallout problem is increasing not only in Japan, but all over the world. Umbrellas, hats and shelters can not prevent radioactive elements. These elements have been increasing in the soil for the past 10 years. Doesn't mankind realize that it is projecting a crime into the future?

The only political opinions that can save the world today, are humanitarianism and the religious mind. We still hope that the human being can be human. We do want to LIVE, don't we? We hope people in the countries which have nuclear weapons think realistically about the problem they are giving the world.

We don't want to argue about which country is worse, but we request all the countries who have nuclear weapons to seriously reconsider the abandonment of their weapons. This is the only way we have, we believe.

Rocket Streaks in Sky

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP) — A Nike Zeus rocket streaked far over the Pacific Thursday and scored the first test success for the new "missile-killer" defense device.

Jubilant army officers, who had to destroy rockets used in the two previous tests because they veered off course, pronounced No. 3 "A 100 per cent success."

The Nike Zeus system when perfected is expected to be able to knock down attacking nuclear tipped missiles.

The white-finned 48-foot missile, whose solid fuel gives it lightning speed, raced into the sky and vanished within seconds through a low over cast.

Interest in Nike Zeus, designed to seek out and destroy attacking missiles high in the sky, has been heightened by two recent developments:

1. Unofficial reports that the United States is going ahead with development of a new kind of nuclear device, the neutron bomb. A Nike Zeus with a neutron bomb warhead, scientists say, could detonate oncoming missiles at far greater distance than with a conventional atomic warhead.

2. Speculation that Russia may have tested antimissile warheads in its series of nuclear blasts.

Only the first two of Nike Zeus' three stages were fired. This test was designed to check out launching and tracking facilities. The second stage con-

Glee Clubs To Join

The Men's Glee Club of Northwestern University will join with the university Men's Glee Club for a joint concert on Saturday evening at 8 p.m. at Kellogg center.

The combined concert in Kellogg's Big Ten room will follow an afternoon of football involving the two schools at Spartan stadium.

"King Football" will still be very much in evidence at this musical festival, as the two groups open the program with a medley of Big Ten fight songs. Northwestern will begin its part of the program with a series of Negro spirituals, "Old Art's a-Moverin'," "Steal Away," "Little Innocent Lamb" and "Soon Ah Will Be Done."

Cleveland Orchestra Given Ovation

By JACKIE KORONA
Of the State News Staff

Lecture-Concert Series followers put up with inadequate Auditorium acoustics and occasional "tinny" sounds from the Cleveland Orchestra string section as the group appeared on campus Wednesday evening.

Despite these distractions some members of the audience rose to their feet in a standing ovation as conductor George Szell bowed to them for the last time.

The Orchestra's program consisted of four pieces, the first of which was the overture to "La Gazza Ladra." Using drums as an undertone throughout the selection, the Orchestra put a great deal of militaristic feeling into their rendition of Rossini's composition.

Then came the alternate calm and majesty of Tchaikovsky's "Pathetique." Here there seemed to be a metallic ring to some of the violins, but the energy of the conductor combined with the Musicians' strenuous activity brought forth a burst of spontaneous applause as the third movement concluded.

The more contemporary work of Hindemith opened the second half of the performance. In some minds, this "Concert Music for String Orchestra and Brass Instruments" proved the least effective selection.

In contrast to previous pieces, the music did not prove basis for head noddings or program tappings. It seemed to lack a feeling which could reach the audience.

Workshop Set For Theater

The Spartans will close with "Holiday Song" by Schumann, the ever-popular "Shenandoah" and "Marry a Woman Uglier Than You," the familiar "Fine and Dandy" by Warnick and a Negro spiritual "Set Down Servant."

The final highlight of the program will be three selections from the stirring "Testament of Freedom" by Thompson. MSU will offer "The God Who Gave Us Life," followed by Northwestern with "We Fight Not For Glory" and finally the combined glee clubs in the dramatic "I Shall Not Die Without a Hope."

The Northwestern Men's Glee Club, directed by William Ballard, is famous for its tradition of fine choral music. Aside from its extensive tours in America, the Illinois group has ventured as far away as the Canal Zone.

In recent years, the Glee Club has achieved notice for its per-

It's Day for Pops Saturday Spartans' Goal Is 'Win One for Dad'

The Spartan football team is hoping that a changed offensive lineup will bring a change in results Saturday when the play host to Northwestern at Spartan Stadium.

Coach Duffy Daugherty has changed the offensive backfield in an effort to give the Spartans' two game lead.

Veteran Carl Charon and Carl Swindle were run back in drills with senior Ron Munn. Pete Smith remained as quarterback.

The injury list, which contained twelve of the first 22 players after last Saturday's loss to Purdue, has now dwindled to but a single player who probably won't see action against the Wildcats.

Wayne Fontes, the veteran senior defensive specialist from Canton, Ohio, was a doubtful for the lineup.

Others hurt in the Purdue game, George Saines, George Azar, Tom Winecki, Sherman Lewis, Herman Johnson, Ernie Clark, Dave Behrman, Ed Budde, Bob Suci, Tony Kumiega and Roger Lopes, were all expected to be in action Saturday.

Meanwhile, the Wildcats will bring their team to East Lansing Friday in the best shape of the season.

Only safetyman Al Kimbrough isn't expected to be ready when it's kickoff time.

Bill Swingle, the Wildcats' sophomore ball-carrying flash, was back in action last week after a two-game layoff, but he wasn't too effective as Northwestern bowed to Wisconsin.

ponents, the two teams have played two common foes.

State beat Wisconsin 20-0 but lost 13-0 to Minnesota. Wisconsin lost 10-0 to Minnesota plus last week's defeat at the hands of the Badgers.

The Wildcats will start lineup studded with sophomores. Six of their first 11 are playing their first year of Big 10 football.

Tom O'Grady is a sophomore quarterback who has handled his task well in his first season.

The Wildcats bring a 4-3 overall record and a 2-3 Big 10 mark into the fray.

The Spartans carry a 5-2 overall record and a 3-2 Big 10 mark.

The first Dad's Day in about 30 years will be observed Saturday.

About 50 fathers of Spartan football players are expected to come to the campus in response to a letter of invitation from Athletic Director Biggie Munn.

They will be entertained at a luncheon in the Student Union prior to the game and will sit in a group at the game with their son's jersey number displayed on them.

Munn said he hoped that the event will eventually become an all-University Parent's Day.

Saturday Buck Day for Kids

The Michigan State-Northwestern football game this Saturday will be a "Buck Day" for kids.

Spartan Athletic Director Biggie Munn has announced that grade and high school children will be admitted for $1, tax included. Several thousand tickets are available. They may be bought singly or in groups.

The Buck Day tickets may be purchased any day this week between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. at the athletic ticket office, Jenison gymnasium, Michigan State University, or at any gate at Spartan Stadium Saturday.

Women Face NU In Field Hockey

The Michigan State Women's field hockey team will conclude its season on Saturday against Northwestern University at 9:30 a.m. and the Detroit Field Hockey Club at 10:30 a.m. on the hockey field.

MSU's team, co-captained by Judy Byington and Sandy Shaw, has posted a 3-1-1 varsity record. Victories were gained over Kalamazoo College, the alumni, and Central Michigan University. A loss went to Eastern Michigan and a tie was recorded with Western Michigan.

Gal Tankers Make Splash With Wins

The undefeated Michigan State women's swimming team will engage Bowling Green and Northwestern Universities in a triangular meet Saturday morning at 10 a.m. in the Women's Intramural Building.

In two prior meets, MSU defeated the University of Western Ontario, 42-35, and last week drowned Purdue, 55-40.

In the Boiler-maker meet, Joan Tenhoor took a first place in the 40 yard freestyle and the 40 yard butterfly. Bonnie Blackport captured the 100 yard freestyle and the 80 yard individual medley.

Another dual winner was Judy Ewald in both the 40 yard backstroke and the 100 yard breaststroke. Judy Miller took the 40 yard breaststroke.

The MSU mermaids also walked away with the honors in the 100 yard freestyle relay and the 80 yard medley relay.

Against the University of Western Ontario, the Spartans captured eight first place positions.

Blackport won the 100 yard freestyle and the 75 yard individual medley. In the 50 yard freestyle Tenhoor was victorious and in the 50 yard butterfly she shared the honors with Dianne Westhauser.

Judy Ewald repeated her victory in the 50 yard backstroke. Judy Reynolds captured the 50 yard breaststroke. And the diving along with Jennifer Anderson.

Sailors To Host Meet

The Spartan Sailing club will host their fall invitational regatta Saturday and Sunday at Lake Lansing.

Ohio State is expected to enter the meet along with possible entries from University of Michigan and Wayne State.

Sixteen races are expected to be sailed during the weekend. As in all intercollegiate regattas, the meet will be sailed under the 1961 North American Yacht Racing Union rules.

The first race on Saturday and Sunday will be at 10 a.m. Skipping for State in the "A" division will be Jerry Walker with Al Krantz slated to lead the "B" division.

Gophers' Big Aim? Revenge!

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota's methodical Gophers, who have given the pre-season experts a pasting along with six opponents, Saturday run smack into the team that put the only smirch on their 1960 record.

Purdue's Boiler-makers and upsets are nothing new to the Gophers. It wasn't too much of a surprise last year when Purdue caught the Gophers savoring their upset of Iowa and conked Minnesota 23-14.

But this year's edition of the Gophers appears to have more poise and has found more ways to win games than there are experts who predicted a so-so season for Murray Warmath's defending national champs.

Minnesota came away from a solid knocking of top-ranked Michigan State and marched past Iowa, ignoring their press notices and the vengeful slogans of the Hawkeyes.

"A good week," says the word-stingy Warmath, summing up this week's drills and in his language that means tough workouts.

Warmath pushed the Gophers through three long workouts, elevating two stars of the Iowa victory to the first unit.

Jack Campbell, who fell on a blocked punt to seal the Iowa victory, moves to an end post in place of Bob Deegan who is favoring a painful elbow infection. Dick Enga, a pint-sized linebacker as limenon go, likely will be the No. 1 center against the Boiler-makers.

Into the game the Gophers will take a reputation for second half toughness that has outmuscled many an opponent appearing to boast of more manpower.

'Surf Case' To Be Last IM Show

The Porpoise Fraternity will present its third and last swimming show of the year, "The Surf Case Mystery," Saturday morning at 10:30 in the Men's IM pool.

Highlighting the show will be the return of the famous "whistling midgets." The program, consisting of seven acts, centers around Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson searching for answers to a mystery. Other acts include comedy and serious diving and "Watson and the Monster." Twenty members of the fraternity and a few girls from Green Splash will perform.

The Porpoise Fraternity is a national honorary swimming fraternity whose purpose is to promote swimming throughout the United States. Officers include, Dick Brackett, president; Dan Jamieson, vice president; Carl Shaar, secretary; and Juergen Matt, treasurer.

Admission to the show is only 25 cents.

Bright futures in data transmission at W. E.
New engineers with initiative who can meet Western Electric's high standards are offered many exciting career opportunities with our company in data processing development work as it relates to communications.
For example, Western's engineers—working closely with Bell Telephone Laboratories—have solved development and manufacturing problems connected with the Bell System's new DATA-PHONE Data set (made by Western Electric). DATA-PHONE service lets business machines, such as computers, "speak" to each other in a language of numbers and symbols over existing telephone communication networks. This represents a tremendous boon to business; and consequently, it is estimated that some day there may be more machine talk than people talk using telephone lines.
Of course, data communications is only one of many rewarding career areas that await you at Western Electric. Here are just a few of the others: electronic switching... solid state electronic devices... microwave radio relay... computer-programmed production lines... solar cells... optical masers... futuristic telephones.
We need high-caliber, forward-thinking engineers now to help us transform these plans into realities or to work with us in scores of other key communications areas. Your future, the future of Western Electric, and the future of America's communications—could well depend on your first career connection.
Challenging opportunities exist now at Western Electric for electrical, mechanical, industrial, and chemical engineers, as well as physical science, liberal arts, and business majors. All qualified applicants will receive careful consideration for employment without regard to race, creed, color or national origin. For more information about Western Electric, write College Relations, Western Electric Company, Room 6106, 222 Broadway, New York 36, New York. And be sure to arrange for a Western Electric interview when our college representatives visit your campus.

Seek Big 10 Crown Friday Harriers Eyeing Two Titles

By DICK ROBINSON
State News Sports Writer

MSU's cross country runners will be concentrating on defending their conference title Friday morning at the Big 10 meet in Chicago, but shortly thereafter their attention will turn to the ICAA championships.

After the classic Big Ten run, the Spartan harriers will directly fly to New York to participate in the 39th annual ICAA meet Monday.

More than 45 colleges and over 270 runners will compete in the five-mile race over the hills of Van Cortlandt Park, the Bronx, in what is considered one of sports more colorful events.

State, which was seeking its fifth consecutive ICAA crown last year and then lost to Penn State, has won the most team championships in the affair. MSU has 12 team honors since 1933 and 10 individual titles since 1930.

Penn State, defending champ, sports a 4-1 record coming at the hands of the Spartans, 27-25. The Lions have beaten Pitt, Cornell, Navy and Manhattan, all of whom compete in the ICAA.

Penn State, who will be looking for revenge for the dual meet loss to MSU, have six team titles to their name. Last year's was the first since 1951.

The Spartans, who placed third in 1960 with 130 points, will be trying to take their stronger team this season. They recently won the Heptagonal Games championships.

Other Eastern powers who could win the title are St. John's, winner of this season's Metropolitan Intercollegiate championship and ninth in 1960's ICAA; Manhattan, runner-up in the metropolitan and fourth in last year's ICAA; and Army, who took second in both the Heptagonal and 1960 ICAA. Penn State has defeated Army this season.

Top individual runners include State's Jerry Young, third last year; Cornell's Steve Machooks, undefeated in season competition and winner of the Heptagonal; Penn State's Steve Moorhead, beaten by Young; Robert Mack, of Yale, who was second in the Heptagonal and sixth in the 1960 ICAA; and Vic Zwolak of Villanova.

Robert Lowe of Brown, who copped the individual title last year in 25:40 has graduated.

Coach Fran Dittrich said, in commenting on both the Big 10 and ICAA:

"We have as good a chance of winning both races as ever. A lot depends on our sophomores."

McNeeley's Pilot Pays - And How!

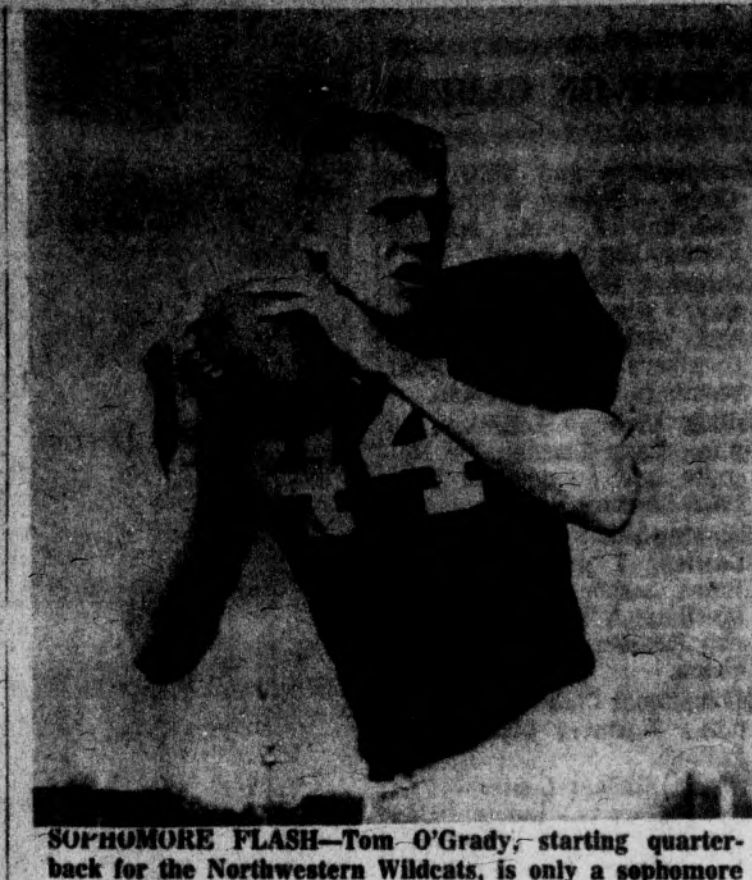

BOSTON (AP)—Peter Fuller, millionaire manager of challenger Tom McNeeley, said Thursday he would soon make the one million dollar bank deposit demanded by heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson's manager Cus D'Amato.

Fuller denied he had not lived up to the contract for the scheduled heavyweight title fight, Dec. 4 at Toronto, as D'Amato has charged.

"I have received the okay on the contract from the Toronto Boxing Commission," Fuller said. "The money will be forthcoming under the terms of the contract, 10 days from the date of that approval. The date of the okay was November 13 which gives me until November 22."

"In actuality I feel I will come up with the money this coming Monday. I'm entirely within the agreement I made with D'Amato."

D'Amato had charged from Toronto that the agreement called for Fuller to deposit the money 10 days after the Oct. 16 signing as a guarantee of a return match in four months if the unbeaten but unranked McNeeley should upset the champ.

SOPHOMORE FLASH—Tom O'Grady, starting quarterback for the Northwestern Wildcats, is only a sophomore but is old beyond his experience. He is a 200-pounder from Chicago.

Bessone Predicts 'Interesting' Year

The 1961-62 edition of the Michigan State hockey team will feature a fast, exciting club with some new faces to aid the returning veterans.

A schedule of 24 games, 16 in league action, will be played against 12 different opponents.

"Our biggest problem," says Coach Amo Bessone, "will be finding a right forward line combination to fill the gap left by four graduating front line men."

Defense has a strong nucleus in seniors Bob Kempf and Frank Silka, last season's most valuable player. This unit is backed up by lettermen Busy Nendrickson, Marty Quirk and Don Daley.

Experience will dominate the forward line. The "French line" of Bob Doyle, Claude Fournel, and leading scorer Real Turcotte will be intact.

Outstanding as sophomores, Dick Johnstone will again center wingmen Tom Lackey and Art Thomas.

The goaltending position is a bright spot where veteran John Chandik will play his first full year in the nets. Harry Wolfe backs up Chandik.

Outstanding new defensive prospects are Carl Lackey, Jim Jacobson and Nick Musat.

Outstanding freshman Tony Elliott will probably be the fastest skater this year. Other top rookies will include Lyle Miller, brother of former captain and defensive star "Butch" Miller, and Mac Orms, who becomes eligible winter term.

"This should be an interesting season," says Bessone. "We are a bit thin in the forward positions, but we have good depth at defense. Our hopes for success depend on an iron man performance from goal tender John Chandik. If we can pick up where we left off at the end of last season, we should be in the fight for Western League honors."

Tribe Deals Off Temple

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians traded second baseman John Temple to the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday for catcher Harry Chiti and two other players to be named by Dec. 15.

Temple, 32 and from Lexington, N.C., came to Cleveland two years ago from Cincinnati where he had earned National League All-Star team recognition for four years.

Women Protest Fee; Now Get Restrooms Free

LONDON (AP)—The government struck a blow recently for the emancipation of British women from the terrors of turnstiles that bar entry to the nation's comfort stations.

Dr. Charles Hill, minister of housing and local government, said the government will no longer approve applications by municipal councils for permission to raise funds to install turnstiles. He also is urging local authorities to remove existing turnstiles as soon as possible.

It was a major victory for the womanhood of Britain who, led by lady legislators, had campaigned for freedom from the need to put a penny in a slot.

Dr Hill made his remarks in a written reply to a parliamentary question by one of the campaigners, Dame Irene Ward.

Another campaigner, red-headed Mrs. Barbara Castle, had said:

"The turnstiles are not only inconvenient, but dangerous." Dr. Hill agreed. In the last five years, he said, 12 persons had been injured by turnstiles in comfort stations.

Safety Sabbath Weekend

Safety Sabbath Weekend will fall on Saturday and Sunday. This annual inter-faith safety program, developed by a state-wide committee of Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish clergy, is intended to focus attention on the moral responsibility of the individual driver.

According to James M. Hare, Chairman of the State Safety Commission, strong lay support is growing for this state-wide observance.

"Safety committees and safety minded public officials realize that more is needed than our three E's of safety: Education, Enforcement, and Engineering," Hare said. "We need local cooperation and an understanding that spiritual serenity and a brotherhood attitude is a basic element in maintaining orderly and care-free driving habits."

Linda Lotridge and Kennard Weaver

Seniors of the Week Lotridge and Weaver Are Both Active in AUSG

All-University Student Government captures the interest of these Seniors of the Week.

Linda L. Lotridge, Owosso, is vice-chairman of the student rights committee in Congress, and Kennard R. Weaver, Mt. Pleasant, is student government treasurer.

Miss Lotridge, a journalism major, has been active in other activities, particularly the State News. She started as a beat reporter her freshman year. The next year she was appointed feature editor, and last year was news editor.

This year she has a column of her own. In it she has described the intricacies of "people watching," especially at dinner time. On another occasion she told of her habit of classifying people into animal groups, such as dogs, cats, and fishes. She also has come out against the regimentation and conformity in the dormitory.

As secretary of Kappa Alpha Mu, photo-journalism honorary, she has the distinction of being the only female member.

The dorm has kept Miss Lotridge busy too. She was sports chairman for two years, and is now on the standards board.

She was public relations chairman for the 1961 J-Hop, and was a member of the publicity committee for Career Carnival for two years.

"I'm greatly concerned with the growing apathy of our citizens toward world and national events," she said. "It is the duty of a university to stimulate its students to become interested in the world around them. Therefore I advocate a liberal arts education."

Miss Lotridge believes she has followed this advice in choosing her own courses. She said that she feels too many university graduates are going into the world with only the narrow interests of their own fields.

Her plans for the future include a master's degree in political science, a tour of Europe, and some free lance writing.

Weaver, an accounting pre-law major, has channeled his activities into the areas of his major. He believes that:

"Careful selection of a campus activity, combined with sincere participation, can develop a background for professional achievement after graduation."

As a freshman he was head

Says Unity Road Is Long Bishop Calls on Pope

The head of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States paid an unprecedented visit to Pope John XXIII recently and said later he hoped such meetings would lead to greater Christian understandings, reported the Associated Press.

At Rome's St. Paul's Episcopal church, Bishop Lichtenberger said a news conference: "We did not discuss our differences. That would have been quite beside the point at this time."

The visit followed a similar one last December by Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, then archbishop of Canterbury and primate of the Church of England.

Ministers Go Back To School

A recent program introduced in the School of Education is a course in pastoral counseling, designed to meet ministers in becoming more closely associated with their congregations.

The curriculum is the same as that of a course in guidance, with special emphasis on pastoral counseling. It includes an internship of approximately 400 hours in a specialized hospital or a mental or penal institution, where the student works directly with the inmates as an acting clergyman.

Highly endorsing the counseling program, the Rev. Mr. Miller said, "One thing the Church needs today is humanity."

Dr. Gomer Jones of the music department will discuss church music before a meeting of the Canterbury Club at All-Saints church.

The Rev. Robert L. Moreland will give the Thanksgiving meditation. An offering for Christian Rural Overseas Program, CROP, will be received.

Campus Crusade Is Opinion Outlet

An interdenominational movement on campus, the Campus Crusade for Christ, has become the outlet for many students to freely air their views on religion and discuss their personal faiths.

The Petersons hold "College Life" meetings in their living room every Wednesday from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m., during which there is usually a Christian speaker or recording followed by informal discussion and coffee.

Dr. William Bright, national director of Campus Crusade, and Bob Davenport, former Wesley Foundation will be holding the first in a series of three follow-up discussions on "Living the Christian Life" at 7 p.m.

Discussions are headed by university staff members and Wesley Foundation personnel. Hillel Foundation will hold an informal evening of folk dancing and singing.
