Armstrong Seeks To Oust President

By SALLY DERRICKSON Of the State News Staff

Four men in Armstrong Hall are circulating petitions to remove their president, Glenn Wilomore from office three weeks before this term is up.

The case comes before the Armstrong Senate Thursday. Howard Levitz, Natick, Mass., freshman, William Scharffs, Saginaw sophomore, Ron McHaney, Dearborn sophomore, and Max Gordon, Colombia, S.C., sophomore said they are behind the Scharffe said Wednesday that approximately 200 Armstrong residents signed the petition.

The group charged that Williamson has failed to set up organized programs for Armstrong Hall, that he has not attended Men's Hall Association meetings, and that he has been "involved in incidents which generally have caused degredation to the name of Armstrong."

Williamson has been president of Armstrong for two years. David Youst, head adviser at Armstrong, said Williamson was involved, along with 36 other students, in illegal use of cigarette machines in the dorm. Youst also said Williamson had purchased a set of false identification from Theron P. Kobinson, Saginaw sophomore. No legal action has been taken against any of the students who purchased fake ID's . Robinson was suspended from the University. Youst said he had released this information to students who asked him about it in connection with impeachment proceedings. He said the names of students involved have become common knowledge" among Armstrong residents.

The group also charged that in setting up a debate between AUSG president candidates last Williamson failed to notify Blanchard. Election returns for the primaries showed a majority for Blanchard, and in the final race last Thursday, Howard got the majority of votes. Williamson said he did not notify Blanchard, but did speak e of his campaign managers about the debate. Answering other charges, Williamson said he has "had no cooperation from dorm mem-bers" in setting up projects. Ken Applegate, president of MHA, said Williamson has missed the last three meetings. Scharffe said the people behind (Continued on page 3) board would still consist of 8 members who would be nomin ated at party conventions and members who would be nominated at p rty conventions nd elected at large.

The new board would differ from the present one as the membership would rotate. Of the first members elected two would serve for two years, two for four years, two for six years, and the last two for eight years.

The present constitution merely states the board members will hold office for six yerrs. The convention also passed the Education Committee's proposal 98 pertaining to state educational institutions. This proposal condenses seven sections in the present constitution that define the state's institutions of higher learning into four. Proposals 47 and 98 will not be included in the new constitutions until after their third reading before the convention.

The third reading of proposals is scheduled to begin May 7. Thursday the convention is discussing proposals pertaining to the judicial branch.

State Picks Aetna Insurance Better Coverage Offered Program Starts

In Fall By BRUCE FABRICANT

Of the State News Staff The new student health insurance program sponsored by the Aetna Life Insurance Company will go into effect in September Kathy Ryan, student insurance committee chairman, said Wed-Miss Ryan said the Aetna program will provide better coverage than the North American Company for Life, Accident and Health, which will be used by the students until September. The most important feature of the new program is the reimbursement of actual room and board charges made during the first 70 days of hospital confinement, at a maximum daily rate equal to the average semiprivate charge of the hospital. During the first 70 days, the initial $300 of miscellaneous hospital charges will be paid in full as well as 80 per cent of the next $5000 of such char-In addition to in-patient coverage, Miss Ryan said, the same miscellaneous fee allowance is available to students and dependents who are treated in a hospital's out-patient department within 24 hours of an accident. Another feature offered by the Aetna plan is the hospital phy-sciáns expenses. Doctor's charges for visits to persons insured with nonsurgical conditions will be paid up to a maximum of three times the number of days the insured is confined.

Benefits are payable regard-less of where the surgery is per-

Under the program, insurance coverage for a student and spouse $40 per year: and student and children, $70 per year.

Miss Ryan, who was chiefly responsible for the acquisition of the new program, said that eight insurance companies bid for the student contract on March

However, a week later the student insurance committee met and dissolved the bidding to four companies. Eventually itwas narrowed to two companies. The basis of selection for the desired company was based on a base plan which was originally sent to all eight companies," Miss Ryan said.

"Another factor that the committee took into consideration before making a final decision was the various agents' experience in handling this type of student coverage.

Miss Ryan explained that the Aetna agent, Mrs. Steve V. Newman, has handled more than 200 kindergarten through high school plans in Michigan. She also aided planning Ferris Institutes and Wayne State's insurance plans.

'The stability of the compan ies finances was also considered," Miss Ryan said, "The Aetna program with G-M as its underwriters has assets in excess of $3-1/2 billion."

The Aetna program was also willing to give Michigan State additional benefits which some of the other companies could not panel to decide what actions will be taken on the recommendations. Due to the expansion of the University new resorces must be used to maintain the quality of learning, the panel said. Through proper use of learning resources the quality cannot only be maintained but improved.

Learning resources include television, autonomous learning divices. The University has learning resources such as closed circuit television and computer service inoperation now, but the program needs to be expanded, the panel said. At present learning resources are supervised by the library. museum, computer services, closed circuit television, Audio-Visual Center, language laboratories.

To eliminate inconsistencies due to different administrations, to coordinate activities and insure a unified plan for future development, the panel recommended that supervision be placed in the office of the provost.

To further insure coordination the panel recommended that learning resources be housed in a single building although it is desirable to maintain present facilities such as the library and closed circuit television studios.

The panel suggested the new building be adjacent to the library, museum and broadcasting operations with which the center is expected to coordinate certain activities. The center should include two new services, a learning research and analysis service, and an instructional systems development service, the panel said. The learning research and analsis service would collect and analyze existing knowledge about the learning process, instructional techniques and the uses of new media for instructional pur-

It would also conduct basic research on the influence of psychological factors and social relationships on learning, evaluation research on techniques and media and studies of the effects of academic commitments and administrative structures on learning.

The instructional systems development service should analyze a course of study in terms of its purposes, consider and plan alternate methods for accomplishing these purposes and try-out and evaluate these methods and materials in cooperation with offices such as educational research, evaluation services and institutional research.

ANOTHER CHAPTER IN THE

NEW ENGLAND LIFE - MICHIGAN STATE SUCCESS STORY*

Five New England Life sales executives will be on the campus April 23rd through April 25th. They will conduct interviews for both salaried and commissioned positions in the individual and group insurance field on Wednesday, April 25th at the Placement Bureau. In a meeting open to all students at 7:00 p.m. Monday, April 23rd, Room 100 Serkey Hall, Mr. Ken MacWhinney, Director of Agencies, and Mr. John Curtis, Supervisor of Training and College Relations, will talk on "A Career in the Life insurance Business."

Also interviewing for administrative positions

On Wednesday, April 25th, at the Placement Bureau, Mr. John Curtis, Supervisor of Training and College Relations, will interview those interested in the many and various administrative opportunities at the home office in Boston. For example, the mathematics major will want to consider accuartal work. On the other hand, there may be no direct relation to your course of study and work in our underwriting department. Or you may wish to enter our Career Orientation Program. After a sixmonth period of indoctrination you may become an administrative assistant, a business coordinator, an assistant operations analyst, to mention a few recent assign-

 In recent years a remarkable number of Michigan State men have become sales representatives of New England Life. Fourteen already hold management posttions. Others have preferred to concentrate on their personal chemei. At various variage points. New England Life has helped them establish a firm foundation in a challenging and bucracive business.
