Hope To Hex 'Em For Homecoming

Torch runners in togas, a parade of queens and a pep rally Thursday will mark the beginning of Homecoming weekend, Bob Harris, Spartan Spirit chairman, said.

The theme for this year's festivities is "Demonicus," Latin for bearer of evil spirits, according to Harris.

It is hoped a strong force of evil spirits can be summoned to aid the Spartan team against Wisconsin Badger's, current Big Ten leaders and ranked in the top 10 nationally, he said.

A parade starting at 6 p.m. Physics-Math will begin Friday's program, Harris said. The parade route will include all campus dorms.

Heading the parade will be the Homecoming Queen, who will be chosen next week, and her court. The following women constitute the court:

Also, according to Harris, a former Spartan All-American griddler will be brought to the rally as a guest speaker.

The parade will be nine sorority floats drawn by cars, Sigma Phi Epsilon's Sparty, Delta Upsilon's bell and the cheerleaders. The Marching Band will join the parade at Landon field and march to the Intramural field for a pep rally.

Runners in togas from all MSU fraternities will meet Governor George Romney on the steps of the Capitol where he will light four torches that will be brought to the IM field and will be used to touch off a huge bonfire.

Harris said men's dorms will compete with each other in a contest to bring materials for the bonfire.

After lighting of the fire a mock funeral for Demohiacus will be held and a dummy of a Wisconsin football player will be tossed into the flames.

Bryan Leader Hits AUSG; Rather Withdrawal Illegal

May Be Start Of Pull-Out

Andy Rogin, president of Bryan Hall, said Thursday he will advocate his dorm's withdrawal from All-University Student Government (AUSG) if the organization does not become effective. "I see Rather Hall's withdrawal as the most effective means of shaking AUSG to an awareness of student discontent," he said. Rogin addressed Student Congress Wednesday night, judging the organization as "largely ineffective, apathetic and disinterested."

Bob Kerr, president of AUSG, called Rather's withdrawal "a spur-of-the-moment action." "We don't believe Rather had adequately considered their withdrawal. They didn't even contact us about their proposal."

The same example applies to all other districts and residence halls, he added. "It is a good thing that Rather's action is not legal," Hencken said, "because if it were then the residents of Rather could not go to AUSG sponsored lectures, get student insurance and loans, or even belong to class governments like the Frosh-Soph Council."

statements concerning the lack of effective communication. "They're not nearly as bad as they're made out to be," he said. "Bureaucratic organizations always have a problem of communication. We try to communicate to the student without wasting tax money on a build-up of our own image."

Kerr said that, true to his campaign promise, he has expanded publicity of student affairs over the level of previous administrations. In a precedent-setting move, Hencken has announced that 400 copies of minutes of Wednesday's congress meeting will be circulated.

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—A four-engine transport with 60 soldiers aboard landed in Germany at 10:05 Thursday night, completing a flawless airlift of the entire U.S. 2nd Armored Division from Texas to Europe.

The last flight was delayed slightly by headwinds. That was a minor irritation compared to the jubilation of the U.S. Army and Air Force at accomplishing a miracle of mobility. It was the 235th mission of the exercise.

Using jets and propeller craft, the Military Air Transport Service (MATS) delivered 15,278 troops and 493.3 tons of cargo well within the target deadline.

The giant maneuver touched off speculation in Europe on what it may mean in American policy on stationing troops on this continent.

West Germans asked whether it means the six U.S. divisions in their country are to be reduced and, if so, how soon? Completion means 235 missions carried 15,278 troops, comprising the entire 2nd Armored Division, and 493.3 tons of cargo.

Given 72 hours to do it, MATS bridged Texas and Western Europe, 5,600 miles, in 63 hours and 35 minutes.

Most of the men in the division have joined up with their tanks, guns and other gear previously prepared by the U.S. 7th Army.

A week from now the 2nd Armored pitches into mock warfare with the 3rd Armored, part of the 7th Army. The purpose is to show that Americans can airlift their strength anywhere in the world, and with speed.

The speed and success of the air bridge, in spite of the dangerous October weather in Europe, fed fears in Germany that the goal is to cut back the 250,000-man 7th Army and depend on American-based support in time of peril.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk is coming to Bonn today and will be questioned by the West German government on this point.

President Kennedy has assured Europe that American forces would remain in proper strength. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara denied any cutback. Yet the belief persists that the United States in a few years plans to have its shield in Europe.

"I have real doubt either one of these bills can eventuate at the present session," Dirksen said.

But a majority of the committee, for different reasons, favors approving the subcommittee bill and letting any compromise move be made out in the open on the House floor.

The uproar brought from Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois is an observation that "we might be lucky" if a civil rights bill reaches the Senate floor by Dec. 1.

"I have real doubt either one of these bills can eventuate at the present session," Dirksen said.

'Owe-As-You-Go' Plan Aids Registrants

Trustees To Vote On EDP

The Educational Development Project and the MSU Profile from 1952 to 1973 will come up for Board of Trustee approval today.

"I expect the document will be approved, although some changes may be made in it," said Duane L. Gibson, head of the Educational Policies Committee of the Academic Council.

The two documents were approved at the Academic Council Meeting, Oct. 8, by a vote of 56 to 1. The Educational Policies Committee has been examining faculty suggestions and incorporating them into the EDP document.

Faculty suggestions and incorporating them into the EDP document. "The Educational Policies Committee held two meetings after the Academic Council Meeting, Oct. 8," Gibson said. "Our changes have been in the direction of trying to clarify the importance of faculty ideas and participation in the development of the program."

After approval by the Board of Trustees, both EDP and the economic profile will go to a Michigan organization for study. The group may give MSU a sizeable grant to implement EDP if it finds the two documents satisfactory.

Students who find it hard to pay for early registration can take advantage of a "pay as you learn plan," registrar Horace C. King said Thursday.

MSU has two fee payment programs, he indicated. Under one plan all fees are paid at the time of registration. The other one allows the student to make a down payment and then complete it in two installments.

About 75 per cent of MSU students pay all fees at registration. The others living in University housing can pay under the "pay as you learn plan."

Students included under the program are those living in residence halls, Van Hoosen Hall, Owen Graduate Center and in married housing. Those living in married housing pay only tuition under the installment program while residence hall costs are included for the other on-campus students.

For Michigan residents living in residence halls, the down payment is $137.25, payable at registration, Nov. 20 and 21. The balance of $240 is paid Jan. 31 and Feb. 28.

Out-of-state students pay $209.25 at registration and $350 in two installments. Out-of-state students in married housing pay $111.25 down and $180 Jan. 31 and Feb. 28.

Michigan residents in married housing pay $43.25 and $66 in monthly installments. Rents for married housing apartments are not included in payment plan.

"We will not require married students to pay their January rent during early registration," said James T. Huston, supervisor of accounts receivable, University business office.

Ordinarily married housing students are required to pay one month's rent in advance at the time of registration.

"The Registrar's office prefers that students pay all fees when they go through registration," King said. "The main reason is that the University has to have the money when it is needed."

Some 15,000 students living in University housing are eligible under the plan, started about four years ago.

Detroit 'News' Pressmen Return

Publication of The Detroit News, Michigan's largest daily newspaper, resumed Thursday following a three-day dispute between management and printing pressmen.

The News came out with one edition shortly after 3 p.m., and spokesmen for the Detroit Newspaper Publisher's Association, which represents The News in bargaining, said that a further meeting with the pressmen's union was to be held Thursday afternoon.

Literature Prize To Greek

STOCKHOLM, (AP)—Giorgos Seferis, 63-year-old diplomat, won the 1963 Nobel Prize for Literature Thursday for poetry about his native Greece.

Seferis, whose pen-name is Seferis, was the first Greek ever to receive a Nobel Prize. The award this year is worth $51,158.

The 18-member Royal Swedish Literary Academy noted that his poetic production is not voluminous, but selected him for his "eminent lyrical culture."

The citation said Seferis' poetry "has become a lasting symbol of all that is indestructible in the Hellenic acceptance of life."

One of his best known poems is "The King of Asina." Notified of the Academy's decision, Seferis said in Athens that the prize is an honor for Greece.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A license to export another 800,000 bushels of corn to Hungary has been granted by the Commerce Department.

The permit brings to 2 million bushels the amount of corn cleared for sale to the communist nation in two days. A deal for 1.2 million bushels was approved Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department said Thursday that Australia will buy 24 TFX Warplanes, getting first deliveries at the same time as the American Air Force and Navy in 1967.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara confirmed an earlier announcement in Australia regarding agreement reached after recent discussions between Australian Defense Minister Athol Townley and McNamara.

Home's Government Meets Opposition Attack

LONDON (AP)—Sir Alec Douglas-Home's new government, operating without its leader, fought off a ferocious Laborite assault Thursday at the end of the stormiest parliamentary session in seven years.

A 3 1/2-hour House of Commons battle marked the formal opening of parliamentary war between Laborite Leader Harold Wilson and his new political arch-rival, Douglas-Home.

Incensed by the government decision to postpone the opening of the new parliamentary session until Douglas-Home can get himself elected to a Commons seat, Wilson jeered and taunted the Conservatives for their inability to present their new chief immediately.

Thursday's Donations Set Drive Record

The number of pints donated Thursday set a new high for one day in a fall term blood drive. Four hundred and fifty eight persons gave a pint apiece for the record.

Thursday's blood-giving brought the total pints collected in the Alpha Phi Omega drive to 1,245.

Armstrong dormitory took a commanding lead in total pints. More than 184 Armstrong men have given blood.

AFOTC's Sabre Drill Team won a plaque for reaching 100 per cent participation in the drive Thursday. Phi Sigma Delta and Bower Co-op previously reached the 100 per cent mark.

Farmhouse leads the fraternities with 98 per cent participation. Phi Sigma Delta and Bower Co-op are first and second among the co-operatives. South Case is a close second to Armstrong in men's dorms.

The dormitory with the highest level of participation will be awarded a plaque at half time of the homecoming game. The AEP's are second among the fraternities with 51 per cent. North Case and South Wonders are first and second in women's dorms.

Alpha Omicron Pi leads the sororities with 74 per cent and Sigma Kappa is second with 60 per cent.

"The response of the faculty and staff has been very disappointing with the exception of the building and utilities staff and the grounds crew," said William Sweetland, chairman of the faculty-staff blood drive and professor of humanities.

"We hope they still plan to give blood Friday," he said. One may give blood from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday.

WITH A SMILE -- That's how Katy Baum, Springfield, Va. sophomore, gives a pint of her blood in the current drive.

Registration—A Personal Touch

University officials are now doing something about what used to be a hopeless situation. Registration was once thought to be one of the most unpleasant aspects of attending MSU.

Simplifying the registration of all MSU students in three days seems nearly impossible. However, Registrar Horace C. King, the assistant deans from the University's 11 colleges and student consultants set out to improve the complicated process.

They camp up with the idea of early registration. They tried it out on some 4,700 freshmen and graduate students last summer. It was successful although improvements are still being made.

This term early registration will be extended to seniors and more graduate students. The students should be able to get the classes they need at the hours they want them under the voluntary program. As an experiment, students will pick their most convenient hours on Nov. 20 and 21 for registering. Previously this was unheard of except for a few select students.

Unlike some of the so called "modern innovations" like long-distance dialing and Zip code, the system will retain the personal touch. We might have been offered a computer type registration program like the ones at Purdue and MIT. In those colleges the student has no choice of instructors or hours; he only picks the courses.

At MSU registration improvements will probably come slowly, but that does not make much difference. What really counts is that administrators are trying to improve the system and yet retain the personal touch. In the final analysis, the knowledge that the registrar is trying to make improvements seems as important as the improvements themselves.

MSU's Advantage

The presence of two distinguished speakers on campus Tuesday evening highlights still another facet of an MSU education. At how many universities could you have a choice of listening to a former ambassador and a former governor in one evening?

The former ambassador was Than Van Chuong of South Viet Nam, and the former governor, John Davis Lodge of Connecticut.

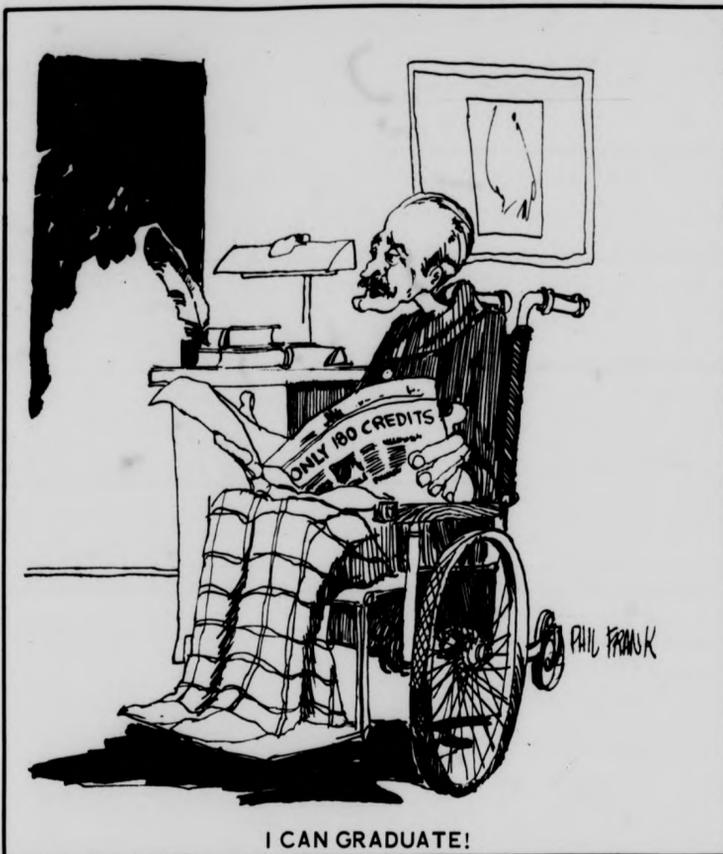

Chuong was brought here by AUSG, and it is to their credit. It's heartening to see that in spite of numerous problems, Student Government was able to keep its head far enough above water to provide the student-body with such a timely treat.

An overflow crowd of "responsive and alert" students gave the former ambassador a standing ovation at the conclusion of his speech. The phrase "responsive and alert" isn't ours; it's a compliment from an Associated Press reporter.

If you didn't care to hear about Vietnamese problems, you could have crossed campus to Kellogg Center and listened to a potential Republican Cabinet appointee talk about the principles of free enterprise.

This is just another example of why we are "for" this big place.

I CAN GRADUATE!

Letters To The Editor

Rather Hall Quits Student Congress

To the Editor:

On Monday night, October 21, Rather's house council voted to withdraw its representation completely from AUSG. This decision was not made in haste but was the result of the council's reactions, generally to the past record of this organization, and more specifically, the present administration. The opinion of Rather's governing body is that AUSG's "student participation in the government of MSU" exists at present without any significant program or sign of any in the near future. We know from attending them that the AUSG meetings themselves are held in an atmosphere of faction-bickering with the business at hand usually ending up in needless squabbling over petty issues.

Therefore, it is the opinion of Rather Hall's general council that due to the inadequacy of AUSG's present program and service to this residence hall it is pointless to continue to remain in this organization. Accordingly, we withdraw our representation in hopes that this action will make headway in effecting a needed and constructive change in this institution's All-University Student Government. The General Council of Rather Hall
Nancy Forsythe, President

A Resignation

To the Editor:

After thoroughly considering the matter, I would like to turn in my resignation as AUSG representative for Rather Hall. It is my own personal opinion that Student Government, as it is now, is completely ineffective. As I see it, Congress meetings consist of constant arguing between certain representatives. Since this is not my idea of a student government, I would like to withdraw my membership.

If I saw any way that I could improve the situation as it is, then I would be willing to spend my time and effort doing so. As it is now, I see my only alternative is to withdraw. If others took this action then maybe AUSG and the student body would realize that some reorganization needs to be done.

Student Government needs student leaders who are willing to work for the student body and not for their own private interests. We need to get rid of the loud-mouths who like to hear themselves talk. When this is accomplished, maybe AUSG will become an effective and worthwhile governing body for the students.

Sharon Ries

Chuong Speaks

To the Editor:

Congratulations are to be extended to AUSG for inviting Dr. Tran Van Chuong to speak at the Kiva Tuesday night.

Those students who packed the small auditorium to see and hear Dr. Chuong witnessed, certainly, a man bearing the problems of an entire nation, and I'm sure, problems of other nations as well.

For many of us, this gentleman will no doubt be the "biggest little man" we shall ever meet. Those who heard Dr. Chuong know what I mean.

Tom Schloegel

Reorganization

To the Editor:

It was my recent good fortune to hear a startling and impressive piece of news. Due to the feelings of the AUSG representative of Rather Hall, and the feelings of the women of Rather Hall themselves, the women of Rather have withdrawn their representation in that so vastly heralded organization.

It seems that the representative along with others has finally grown so sick and tired of the constant bickering, confusion and general ineffectiveness of the AUSG meetings, that she has come to the realization that it is a farce. And, if I might add, the men of Bryan share the same view.

It is truly a shame that so fine a University as Michigan

State does not have a more productive student government and that so many of the students have the feeling that this "organization" lacks organization.

Maybe it is only in this way that those responsible will realize that the students are dissatisfied and concerned enough to want a reorganization of Kerr's and the B.A.P.'s private organization of AUSG. And if Hencken thinks that he will simply appoint another "representative" and be rid of the problem he has created, I think he will find himself sadly mistaken.

Nancy Forsythe I praise you and the others who have enough courage of conviction to speak out against something which definitely needs criticism. I hope others will follow suit.

Andy Rogin
President of Bryan Hall

One Possibility

To the Editor:

The withdrawal of Rather Hall from All-University Student Government is heartening news. It shows that there are students on this campus who have an interest in accomplishment of

AID Speaks To Indians

By RICHARD SCHWARTZ
State News Staff Writer

FRANK WILDER

How do you communicate with 400 million people when 80-90 per cent of the population is illiterate?

This is one of the problems underlying foreign aid efforts in India today, according to Frank Wilder, an advisor in mass communications with the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID).

"Information channels play a vital role in India's economic development," Wilder said.

"No people develop without knowledge of how to do something better," he said. "And communication is the link between people with knowledge and those without."

Wilder, in his duties as Director of the Communications Media Center in New Delhi, works with both American and Indian technicians toward improvement of mass communication techniques for the developing country.

"We work through the existing channels of communication of the government of India," Wilder said. "Since they are inadequate, we're trying to help develop these channels by providing the equipment to set them up."

According to Wilder, another barrier is the general lack of development. He points to the economic standard, which he terms "very low."

"There exists a resistance to change," he said. "The people are inclined to improve. Aspirations are of a minimal nature."

As a result, Wilder and a staff of nearly 30 devote many hours to the production of films, radio broadcasts, demonstrations, diagramming and distribution of posters.

Even along these channels, obstacles crop up: "There are very few radios in India," Wilder said. "You would be astounded to find virtually no radios in areas of the country which needs the most help."

"In some of the remote villages," he said, "they've never heard of us. In fact, they never even heard of the next village."

"In general, though, we're accepted," he added. And the program is understood.

Wilder thinks the American approach is a healthy one.

"We try to fit our program to the things they alone want," he said. "We might disagree and sometimes goals will be modified or changed by them."

"We want to see improvement. Sometimes we go away frustrated," he said.

Wilder, on leave after two and a half years in India, is engaged in a speaking tour of six major American Universities.

Program Filling Military Needs Voluntary ROTC 2nd Year

By GERRY KEIR
State News Staff Writer

The voluntary ROTC program, now in its second year, still has some "bugs" in it, but it still adequately serves military needs, according to campus ROTC officials.

Two problems encountered in attracting students into the program are President Kennedy's recent order exempting married men from the draft, and adverse publicity for the program as a whole.

"The exemption of married men may have swung the balance in some people's minds against taking ROTC," Col. James F. Skells, professor of military science, said.

Col Skells pointed out that the executive order "could be reversed at any time," however.

Lt. Col George A. Davies, professor of air science, agreed that the marriage edict may have cost the Air Force program some cadets. He also pointed out the existence of a "reverse pressure" because of the policy, however.

"Some students figure I'm single, so I'd better get in the program. They're sure to get me when I leave school," Davies said.

About 400 students signed up for each of the ROTC programs during 1962, the first year of the voluntary setup. Final figures on the enrollment for this term will not be available until the end of the ROTC-100 orientation course at mid-term.

Davies suggested that some improvements might be made in the ROTC 100 course and in the summer orientation setup as the program progressed. The course helps to combat misinformation about ROTC, Skells added.

"There's no excuse for anybody to say 'Nobody told me about ROTC,'" Skells said. "They've heard about it from President Hannah, from Gen. Palladino of the Defense Department, and from our sharpest officers."

Davies and Skells agreed that the compulsory program, by giving students more information over a longer period, would be more desirable from a purely military standpoint.

Almost 100% of the cadets enrolled in the basic course are expected to continue into the advance ROTC program in the future.

"This minor academic pursuit (ROTC) can pay dividends as no other minor on this campus can. It guarantees a student his first employer after graduation and he can foresee his income," he added. "Actual duty in the Armed Forces serves to bridge the gap between college and one's life work," Skells said.

Spartan Guard Honors Skells; Unit Begins Year's Activities

Spartan Guard, Army ROTC drill unit, began this year's activities Wednesday with a ceremony making Col. James F. Skells, professor of military science, an honorary member.

In the ceremony at Demonstration Hall, Col. Skells received the Guard's distinctive black-and-white shoulder cord and a certificate citing him for his "sincere interest and support" of the organization.

The Scots Highlanders, 40-man Army-Air Force ROTC musical unit, provided a background of military music for the presentation.

Spartan Guard, reactivated in 1961, has a precision drill exhibition team as well as a platoon which features regulation Army drill. There are 24 men in the trick drill group and about 70 in the entire Guard.

The exhibition drill team, which has new uniforms this year, will open its season with a meet at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., in February. It will also appear in spring meets at Chicago and Ohio State University, Columbus.

Spartan Guard traveled to Washington, D.C., during the Cherry Blossom Festival last year to appear in the National ROTC Drill Team Competition, and hopes to return in 1964.

The highlight of the year will be the Third Annual Spartan Invitational Drill Meet, scheduled for April 23 in Jenison Fieldhouse.

The group's adviser, Capt. Robert E. Visscher foresees a "good" year for the team, with the possibility of one or two first place finishes.

Romney Denies Charge

Governor Romney has denied a column written by Drew Pearson in which Pearson says Romney enlisted the aid of former Governor John Swainson for his fiscal reform program.

The Governor said he was aware that Swainson was going to be visited by GOP Senate Caucus Chairman Stanley Thayer, but, as Romney put it, "I did not approve of it and I have had no indication of what transpired."

Romney said he told Thayer before the meeting that he disapproved because he thought the purpose of the meeting would be misinterpreted.

Pearson alleged that Thayer was sent to Swainson by Romney to appeal for Democratic backing for the tax program. Pearson termed the alleged mission as a desperation effort.

she said. "The girls have assumed the responsibilities and everything is working smoothly."

Seven years ago Miss Popp was an exchange student to Panama. She is now a member of the Board of Directors for Pierce Products, Inc.

An advertising major from Genesee, N.Y., Miss Popp plans to graduate spring term. She has a 3.2 all-University point average and is assistant manager of Alpha Phi sorority.

She was a Spartan ambassador and a member of the Intercolligate Association of Women Students.

Volmar said, "Right now there are no planned reforms in the MHA constitution. If a need for reforms is spotted, we'll try to get something going winter term."

Volmar, who is from Cleveland Heights Ohio, is majoring in social science. He has 2.1 all university point average.

He was president of Bryan Hall last year and Block Chairman. He also was the Spartan Spirit director and is a member of the Student Faculty Forum Committee.

One summer Volmar worked as a deck hand on an ore car-

Faith On Campus "Fear Of God" Misconstrued

By LINDA MILLER

When I first became interested in the Christian church, not more than four years ago, I was disturbed by a phrase in one of the traditional prayers, "in faith, piety and fear of God."

I spoke to the minister about it. His explanation revealed that I had approached the concept at an awkward angle. Where I had supposed it advocated anxious anticipation of danger or punishment by the Deity, the pastor explained that in reference to God, fear means awe and reverence of God.

I think that some religious sects have also misinterpreted the element of fear in worship. Adherents to these groups are so wrapped up in the anxiety that their mistakes will bring down the wrath of a jealous deity, that they deny themselves and their offspring the simple pleasures of life.

A girl, age 15, wrote to Ann Landers last summer on behalf of a girlfriend. The friend said the girl did not write, as she did not wish to criticize her parents. The writer said her friend could not wear lipstick, date, talk to boys on the telephone, dance or wear a bathing suit because of her religion.

Ann Landers' response is worth printing in its entirety. "I have received countless letters from teenagers who are unhappy because their religion prohibits many things which they believe are harmless—such as dancing and movies. I cannot advise these teenagers to oppose their religious training. "If this girl's religion prohibits the wearing of a bathing suit, then I am not going to tell her to wear one. Unfortunately, some teenagers who feel that their religious restrictions are unjust break loose and do everything they shouldn't do the moment they get out from under the eyes of their parents."

Because of the danger of offending parents who hold to such beliefs, Ann Landers probably did not say as much as she would have liked. I think the parents of this girl are mistaken. Call me a heretic, and as usual I'm sure someone will, but I cannot believe that religious faith should permeate the whole of life so thoroughly as to determine the morality of wearing lipstick. We have come a long way from the first century, A.D., and have often added commandments which are quite out of context with basic Christian precepts.

We should not spend our lives advocating a kind of pseudo-morality, which is nothing but mish-mash. If the religious faith one adopts emphasizes persuasion, he should be persuading men to be children of God. We can only go so far as to adopt beliefs and witness them, illustrating by example. We cannot use a misconception of the "fear of God" to impose on our brothers social convention that has little or nothing to do with religious faith.

One State News reader wrote to me and profoundly expressed the danger of this kind of religious interpretation as "coming from the persons who cling to any system of beliefs so tenaciously that they would force social pressure upon the rest of mankind in the name of what they hold to be necessary and true."

In closing, may I take the liberty of slightly altering a commonly spoken Protestant prayer to read, "And now may the peace of God which passes all human understanding keep your hearts and minds open."

Mormon Stresses Racial Equality

A Mormon church leader called "on all men everywhere, both within and outside the church to commit themselves to the establishment of full civil equality for all of God's children."

The statement was made earlier this month at the fifth session of the 133rd semi-annual general conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

Mormon doctrine teaches that Negroes are cursed by God. They are regarded as descendants of Cain, who was cursed in the Old Testament for slaying his brother Abel.

Negroes are barred from church priesthood, into which all other male members in good standing may be admitted.

Brown did not comment specifically on the doctrine but he said "We would like it to be known that there is in this church no doctrine, belief or practice that is intended to deny the enjoyment of full civil rights by any person regardless of race, color or creed."

After NAACP leaders delivered letters to the first presidency of the Mormon church, Brown said, "We believe that all men are the children of the same God and that it is a moral evil for any person or group of persons to deny any human being the right to gainful employment, full educational opportunity and every privilege of citizenship."

Churches Should Pay Tax On Businesses, Clerics Say

A thorough study of tax exemption litigation, just published by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, cites complaints of leading clergymen and laymen about the liberal tax exemptions American churches traditionally enjoy.

The report, by Andrew D. Tanner, a Nashville, Tenn. lawyer, expressed uneasiness over the church's special position in the tax laws, especially in business enterprises that have little or nothing to do with religion.

The most widespread source of criticism is the way churches have entered competitive, profit-making businesses without having to pay the 52 percent corporation tax.

Four East Lansing clergymen were quick to comment that churches should be required to pay taxes on business enterprises unrelated to religious activities.

"Churches owning property and conducting business not exclusively involved in religious ministry ought to be subject to tax laws equally applicable to private and profit-making enterprises." The Rev. Walter Wietzke, pastor of University Lutheran Church, said.

He said that it is wrong when a church uses a special privilege as a license to enter into economic areas.

The Rev. Mr. Wietzke also emphasized that discriminatory tax provisions which give churches competitive advantage over other property owners and business interests "ought to be repealed."

Complete agreement with the criticisms in Tanner's report came from the pastor of the American Baptist Student Foundation. The Rev. James Didier said that Baptist tradition has been a voice in Protestantism

NEW YORK (AP)—The 150-year story of work by the New York City Mission Society, the nation's oldest social welfare agency serving all ages, races and creeds, is told in a book, "The People Are the City," published by MacMillan Company. It is by Kenneth D. Miller, for 16 years chief executive of the society, and his wife, Ethel, a psychologist and sociologist.

"heard most often and the strongest against alliances providing the church unwarranted advantage."

"One of the unique contributions of American Protestantism, which is looked up to by European Christians as very basic to the strength of the American churches, is the initiation and development of separation of church and state," he said.

"Privilege requires responsibility," said the Rev. Eugene Williams, pastor of East Lansing Trinity Church, Interdenominational. "I am opposed to churches having special privileges under the guise of religious activity."

The Rev. Mr. Williams recognized that there is a place and need for tax exemption, especially in missionary work. "But with liberal tax exemptions that have nothing to do with religion, the church becomes an unfair competitor with other businesses."

In the study, the Rev. Dr. Eugene C. Blake, chief executive officer of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S., predicts that if the practice continues unchecked, the church could control the

Negro Priest Interviewed

A Negro priest will speak out publicly for the first time against racial segregation within the Catholic Church.

Ramparts, the national Catholic journal, will publish in next month's issue an interview with a Negro Catholic priest on the segregation policies of some southern Catholic bishops.

The interview will be contained in a controversial symposium on the racial issue, entitled "The Negro and the White Conscience."

Contributors include novelist John H. Griffin, who dyed his skin black and traveled through the South to write the best-seller, "Black Like Me;" Thomas Merton, author of "Seven Storey Mountain," and Texas journalist, Bradford Daniel, who presents a startling re-evaluation of William Faulkner's position on racism.

One God, One Bible—Pope

Pope Paul VI recently told a group of American Jews that "we have a common Bible and a common God."

A Vatican source quoted the Pontiff as telling the group, "Therefore we pray together so that the Almighty guides, comforts and blesses us." One rabbi present expressed the hope that the Vatican Ecumenical Council would further feelings of solidarity among men of all faiths and said, "Men of good will the world over are seeking today the roots of their brotherhood."

Extend Bowl Registration

Academic benefits department of All-University Student Government has extended the deadline for College Bowl registration to Nov. 17.

Each College Bowl panel is composed of two men and two women. The two presidents of each pair of living units must sign a sheet bearing the names of the panel members selected, in order to register with academic benefits.

Men's and women's dormitories, fraternities, sororities and cooperative living units are eligible to team up for the competition.

When a panel has been registered with academic benefits, it will receive general rules and regulations, game rules similar to those used by General Electric's TV College Bowl and the tournament schedule.

DISCUSSING COLLEGE BOWL plans are Maurice Crane, professor of humanities; Frank Russ, Dowagiac junior, and William Sweetland, professor of humanities.

Frank Russ, Dowagiac junior and chairman of academic benefits, said that College Bowl does not take a lot of the student's time because "there is no real way of preparing."

The first campus-wide College Bowl will take place Nov. 3 at 3 p.m. Erickson Hall Kiva, directed by William Sweetland, professor of humanities, and in the Union Ballroom, directed by Maurice Crane, associate professor of humanities.

May Defends University Highest Tuition In State

Michigan State has the highest tuition cost of any Michigan institution of higher learning, a recent survey said.

Included in the survey were nine other Michigan colleges and universities. Philip J. May, vice president for business and finance, agreed with the statistics, but indicated they needed clarification to be meaningful.

"At MSU we offer more services than other Michigan schools," he said. "Included in this are our health services, intramural programs, and the lecture concert series, to name a few."

MSU also has a broader program both for graduate and undergraduate students, he said. Offering a wider variety of courses increases costs.

May indicated he finds it hard to give reasons why MSU's fees are higher because he does not know the methods other schools use to arrive at their figures.

One does not get a complete picture by just looking at costs, he said. Other factors are the quality of program, dormitory fees, location, and miscellaneous expenses. Some colleges have different rates for different majors and class standings, he said.

"MSU may have higher tuition costs than other colleges and universities, but our residence hall fees are the lowest in the Big Ten," he said.

He cited that tuition at Ohio State is now $375, Wisconsin $300, Minnesota $315, Indiana $300 and Iowa $290. This is compared to $324 for MSU.

"The total cost of a college education is between $1,500 to $2,000 per year," he said. "So the few dollars in tuition cost between the universities really is quite insignificant."

The vice president said it was the Board of Trustees' feeling that tuition should not be raised substantially. However, they have been forced into the position of raising fees because adequate funds have not come from other sources.

The legislature has increasingly felt that students should pay more for their education.

Lack Of Male Competition In Home Ec, Coeds Told

By 1970, 50 per cent of all married women will be working, Sharon Harrison, field home economist, told a group of foods and nutrition students Wednesday night.

Women who don't marry will work about 48 years in their lifetime, she added. "You in home economics have chosen a good field," she said. "After all, how many men do you have to compete with?" Mrs. Harrison told of the various positions available to home economists with the Pet Milk Company. The three fields are: recipe development, new product development, and promotions and publicity.

"It's better to decide on a job early and to prepare for the job you want," Mrs. Harrison said. "Do not apply for a job without knowing anything about it."

"Extra curricular activities can be very important to the future home economist if they have developed poise and personality," Mrs. Harrison said in advising the girls on how to prepare for a career in the food industry.

The best training for a business career as a home economist is a basic course in home economics with emphasis in the area that interests a girl most, Mrs. Harrison said. This is to enable the student to know exactly what type of work she wished to specialize in.

Wildcats VS. Spartans Duffy Sees Year's Best Game

MSU fans are hoping the Spartans haven't lost their knack for dampening Northwestern homecoming festivities. The old Wildcat grads have been sent home unhappy after the last two Spartan appearances at Dyche Stadium. MSU trounced Northwestern 31-7 before a homecoming crowd last year and nipped the Wildcats 21-18 in a homecoming tilt in 1960. In fact, Northwestern has been unable to defeat the Spartans since the series was renewed in 1959. Tomorrow's contest is more than just a homecoming game. The winner will have to be considered a definite contender in the Big Ten race, with the loser being forced to assume a mere "spoiler" role for the rest of the season. The Wildcats are 2-1 in conference play and the Spartans stand 1-0-1. Indiana has been the only common opponent to date and each team had to come up with a strong late-game performance to defeat the Hoosiers.

A sellout crowd of 51,000 will be on hand for the game, which will pit the fabled passing ability of Tom Myers against the best defensive team in the Big Ten. Last season, MSU won the Northwestern game with an outstanding defensive performance. Spartan defenders put the rush on Myers, and he completed only 11 of 28 passes for 91 yards.

Coach Daugherty hopes MSU linemen will meet with similar success this season. "The only defense against a boy like Myers is to rush him," he said. "If you give him time to throw, he's going to hit his man." Myers has hit 10 different receivers thus far this season. End Gary Crum leads in receptions with 17, with end Chuck Logan in second place with 14.

Coach Duffy Daugherty expects the Spartans to be fully prepared to cope with the Wildcats. "I feel we're going to play our best of the year against Northwestern," he said. Then he added, "We hope it will be good enough."

The Spartans worked hard in practice this week despite the unseasonably warm weather. Don Japinga began going through light workouts for the first time since he suffered a concussion in the Michigan game. MSU will go into the contest in good physical condition with Dewey Lincoln and Ron Rubick nearing full strength.

The MSU 38-man traveling squad will fly to Chicago at 1 p.m. today and undergo a late-afternoon workout at Dyche Stadium.

New Posts For Yogi And Ralph G.

NEW YORK (UPI)--A man who should know, Casey Stengel, thinks newly appointed Yogi Berra will make a good field boss for baseball's New York Yankees.

Berra was Stengel's catcher when Stengel managed the Yankees and Stengel expressed delight at Berra's appointment to succeed Ralph Houk.

Said Stengel, "Berra has a good disposition and his habits are good. When he worked for me, I found him studying and his habits are good. When he worked for me, I found him studying the game all the time. He has a good baseball mind and it was a pleasure to teach him." Berra was named in New York to succeed Houk who steps up to the front office as the team's general manager.

At his own request, he signed only a one-year contract at a salary less than he received as a player, an estimated $32,500 a year.

Said Berra, "I don't deserve a big salary until I prove myself a good manager. But I've been with the Yankees a long time and I think I can handle them."

Berra's full name is Lawrence Peter Berra, but he has always been known as Yogi. He is 38 and this past season served as coach and part-time catcher. He will end all active playing in his new role.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)--Former Notre Dame quarterback Ralph Guglielmi is returning to pro football as a reserve quarterback with the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Eagles are in need of another quarterback to back up King Hill after an arm injury to Sonny Jurgensen. Jurgensen will be out of action for at least 10 days and Hill will call signals in next Sunday's game against the Chicago Bears.

Guglielmi formerly was with the New York Giants but said he would retire after being traded to the San Francisco Forty-Niners. Eagle General Manager Vince McNally said he agreed to terms by phone.

'S' Soccermen Host Hoosiers Seek To Preserve Win Streak

Well into the home stretch of an undefeated season, Michigan State Soccermen will pit their talents against unbeaten, but tied, Indiana University in a bid for victory number seven, Saturday. Kickoff time at the soccer field south of Spartan Stadium is 1:30 p.m. The Spartans of '63 are averaging 6.6 goals per game, as they're swept aside six foes, and have held those same opponents to a total of just three scores.

The most recent State outing, Wednesday, resulted in a 10-1 annihilation of Ball State with Bill Schwarz tallying six goals. The splurge by Schwarz equalled the existing MSU mark for a single game and put him into the team scoring lead with a season total of ten goals. Schwarz, Columbia City, Ind. senior who is also a letter winner in basketball, joined the soccer ranks for the first time this year. Spartan Coach Gene Kenney has utilized Schwarz on the forward line at center and inside left positions. His most success has been found at inside left where he has recorded nine of his ten scores. "I feel better at inside left because it gives me more time to handle the ball," said Schwarz. Trailing him in scoring is George James with 9, Payton Fuller 7, Van Dimitriou 5, John McLane 3, Larry Christoff; 2, and Karl Thiele, Clare DeBoer and Lou Ehardt with 1 apiece. Saturday's opponent, Indiana, has also met Ball State this year, and the teams fought to a 0-0 tie. Remaining to be played on the soccer schedule are games with Ohio University, Nov. 2 and NCAA champion St. Louis, Nov. 9. The St. Louis match, which stands a fair chance of matching two undefeated teams, will be played here.

Swimmers, Hockeyettes In Action; Chris Kluter Seeks Another Mark

The women's varsity field hockey and swimming teams will be back in action on Saturday. The stickers will leave Friday afternoon for a Saturday afternoon game with Valparaiso University. At Valparaiso, Indiana, they'll be trying to bring their 1-2 record up to the .500 mark. National collegiate swim champion, Chris Kluter, will be attempting to set her fourth record in three meets. Two weeks ago her 26.6 in the 50-yard free-style broke the existing record. Last week against Kent State she swam the same distance in 26 seconds flat. She also clipped two seconds off the old 50-yard backstroke record, which she had previously held, with a 29.4 timing. Coach Ann Chadwick expects Miss Kluter to improve on the backstroke mark as the season progresses. Also figuring in Coach Chad-wick's pre-meet plans are Marcia Jones, Janet Langland and Pat Schridt. All captured first places last Saturday. The Hockeyettes are paced by Nancy Dash, Evanston, Ill. junior. Miss Dash has scored four of the team's six goals in their three contests. The second team will not make the trip and will not play again until Nov. 9 when they meet Western Michigan.

Koufax Gets Cy Young Award

BOSTON (UPI)—Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers has been voted the Cy Young Award as the outstanding pitcher in the major leagues last season.

The balloting, conducted even before Koufax beat the Yankees in two World Series games, was unanimous for the Dodger fire baller.

New House For Birds?

NEW YORK (AP)—A Trenton, New Jersey, newspaper says stockholders of the Philadelphia Eagles have voted to accept a million offer for the pro football club. The bidder is Miami Broadcasting executive George B. Storer. The New Jersey Newspaper says it has learned the Eagles will be transferred to Miami and the Pittsburgh Steelers will move to Philadelphia, both in time for the 1964 season. In New York, National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle said there was no foundation to the Trenton report. "No franchise can be sold to anyone until it has been submitted to the league for approval and ratified by the commissioner and club owners," Rozelle said.

South Bend Cross Country Finale Site

State's once beaten harriers will journey to South Bend today with the intention of putting a blot on Notre Dame's spotless slate and making the Irish their third victim in four meets. The dual meet will mark the Spartan's final tune-up before launching their tournament campaign.

"We're going into a buzzsaw down there," exclaimed Coach Fran Dittrich. "The Irish have added balance to their attack of last season, and as a result have come up with one of their finest squads in a long time." In last year's meet State downed Notre Dame 25-34, despite the fact that the Irish took the top two spots. The Irish will return this year with the same one-two punch of Frank Carver and Bill Clark, and can balance them with some respected team strength. In past years the Spartans have had little trouble in handling Irish teams. Dittrich hasn't coached a State team that has lost to Notre Dame. The Irish have managed only one dual meet win over the Spartans in the last ten years.

finishes in three meets, will head State's entrants. Sharkey hasn't been pushed in the last two meets and should receive an acid test against the Irish duo of Carver and Clark. Furnishing the Spartans with added scoring punch will be letter winning mainstays, Jan Bowen, Ron Berby, Captain Bob Fulcher, and Mike Kaines, plus talented sophs Rick Zemper, Mike Martens, and Paul McCollam. Bowen, Fulcher, and Kaines all scored points in last season's victory over the Irish. Varsity rookies Zemper and Martens will be going into the Notre Dame meet off their best performances of the cross country season. Zemper ran second to Sharkey in last week's win, while Martens pulled up ninth. Whatever the outcome, the Irish meet should provide Dittrich with an idea of how his squad will hold up in tournament competition.

'S' Basketball Team Works On Fast Break

The "Blues" defeated the "Reds", 86-63, Wednesday in a scrimmage summed up by basketball coach Forry Anderson as "not as smooth as the scrimmage on Saturday, but a better practice."

He was referring to the fact that Saturday's scrimmage was just a scrimmage and nothing more. In Wednesday's scrimmage, however, both teams were instructed to use the fast break whenever possible and play was stopped whenever errors were made. "We accomplished what we intended to," said Anderson. "We were working on the fast break and at times we kicked out pretty good."

"Our own boys are coming along right on schedule," said Dittrich. "and we're going to battle Notre Dame right down to the wire."

Supplementing his statement is the steady time improvement of his entire team, which resulted in the Spartans lowering their total score from an opening game high of 39 to last week's 21 points.

Coach Dittrich will be pinning his hopes on a solid eight-man team, who will be making the South Bend trip. Sophomore Dick Sharkey, who owns two first place

Drunks' Candid Camera

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—They pre- viewed a new version of Candid Camera here --Candid Drunk. The audience, made up of New Jersey magistrates, thought it was a pretty good show. New Jersey's Chief Justice Joseph Weintraub said it had some intriguing possibilities as a law enforcement measure.

The whole thing started out with people drinking in Denver, Colo.

The leading characters, pleasantly relaxed, were recorded for posterity (and the courts) in Denver police stations after they were picked up for drunken driving.

One man, a friendly sort, kept trying to peek when the police officer told him to close his eyes and touch the tip of his nose with his index finger.

After several unsuccessful tries, the man confided to the officer: "You know, my old man opened up the West and they didn't even hear about this sort of thing in those days."

A lady in her late 30's smiled, wiggled a bit, and winked at the officer as she walked a painted line.

A third man was serious but wobbly as he walked the painted line.

Each of the three had .15 percent or more alcohol in his blood but each of them managed to perform most of the tasks police asked them to. New Jersey law provides for a drunken driving conviction if a person has .15 per cent alcohol in his blood.

Judge William H. Burnett, presiding judge of the Denver Municipal Court, told his New Jersey counterparts that such filmed evidence can be a lot more effective than written reports by police officers or chemical breath tests.

He said the films, shown to a jury or judge in court, had been used in Denver since 1959 with dramatic results.

The films are taken with the suspect's knowledge but do not require his written consent, Burnett said. The suspect and his lawyer are invited to a pre-trial viewing of the film.

Burnett said prior to the adoption of the films the conviction rate for drunken driving was about 66 per cent with 27 per cent of the drivers pleading guilty.

After routine adoption of the films the conviction rate climbed to 93.7 per cent with 84.5 per cent of the drivers entering guilty pleas, he said.

All-Negro Political Party Possible

LANSING (UPI)--Approval of a petition for an all-Negro party in Michigan was granted Thursday by State Elections Director Robert Montgomery. Montgomery said representatives of the Freedom Now Party will circulate the petitions in an attempt to gain ballot placement in next year's primary and general elections. Montgomery said the new party would be required to submit at least 14,896 signatures to get on the ballot.

LANSING (UPI)- The State Highway Department says Michigan residents have been asking for a new kind of road sign, one which reads beware of bears.

Department officials say that a number of Lower Michigan residents, who took vacations in the Upper Peninsula, were surprised at the number of bears in the upper portion of the state.

One woman said such a sign might prevent someone from having a heart attack the first time he sees a bear. Most of the state's 7,500 bears are in the Upper Peninsula.

Says JFK Ignoring Signs Of Inflation

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., accused President Kennedy Thursday of ignoring a warning of inflation, and said mounting government debts could "set ticking the fuse of an economic time bomb that could blow the good times to bits."

He said while nations around the world are haunted by inflation, the United States has had "some excess capacity and fairly stable prices."

But Goldwater said that the government, "instead of seeking thrift in these fortunate times, has moved deeper and deeper into debt, piling new spending programs on top of one another at such a rate that many a citizen must wonder if spending, not saving, is... the order of the day and the wave of the future."

Goldwater, rated a frontrunner by Republicans polled on their choice of a nominee to run against Kennedy next year, said that kind of economic thinking could lead to inflation and economic disaster.

Goldwater's statements on economic policy were in an address prepared for the Connecticut Association of Independent Insurance Agents.

Most of his criticism of Kennedy's administration was indirect.

The conservative senator spoke of "the government" instead of the administration in most of his comments.

But he said at one point that "instead of following clearcut economic principles, our national administration is floundering in a choppy sea of outdated theories, pessimistic planning, and catch-as-catch-can temporary solutions to matters of permanent concern."

He charged the government has "eagerly planned" substantial deficits for the next few years—"apparently in the sublime belief that inflation is a thing of the past."

Husband, Wife To Present Four-Hand Piano Recital

A husband and wife piano team will present a recital Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Music Auditorium.

John Richardson, an associate professor of piano in the University music department, and his wife, Florence, will give a four-hand concert on one piano.

Their program of original duets will be the first one of its kind presented to the University community in a decade Mrs. Richardson said.

Included will be "Sonata in D Major," by Mozart; "Fantasy in F minor," by Schubert; and "Jeux d'Enfants," by George Bizet, composer of the opera, "Carmen."

Mrs. Richardson said that the final number is a series of little French pieces representing games played by small children. Examples are "The Swing," "The Hobby Horse," and the "Bugle and Drum."

The Richardsons plan to give a spoken program with Bizet's composition, translating the French titles to the audience and commenting on each piece.

Richardson has been on the University faculty since 1945. Mrs. Richardson teaches privately. They have been a performing team for approximately 10 years and play joint solo programs as well as duet concerts.

Faculty Trio At Music Aud

The Faculty Trio will present a chamber music concert at 8:15 tonight in the Music Auditorium.

Trio members are Joseph Evans, pianist; Louis Potter, cellist; and Romeo Tata, violinist. Their program will include "Trio in C minor," by Beethoven; "Trio (1938)," by Walter Piston; and "Trio in B-flat Major," by Schubert.

Evans, professor of piano, has studied at the Juilliard School of Music, at several European music schools, and has done research at the University of Vienna. He has appeared in concert in Midwestern and Eastern cities and also in Europe.

Potter has studied at the Peabody Conservatory of Music, Juilliard School of Music, and Illinois University. He was on the faculty of the University of Illinois before coming to Michigan State, and is also on the faculty of the Interlochen Academy of Arts.

Tata, professor of music, studied music at Yale University, and has been a soloist with symphony orchestras across the country.

in the Atlantic with 70 officers and men aboard would have ruined the whole spirit of the maneuver.

The two-division maneuver is contemplated as illustrating warfare on a large scale.

The concept is that such airlifted help to the forces already in being, equipped with atomic weapons, would be a pretty tough nut to crack.

Defense Department officials have made it clear that similar airlifts to the Far East and the Middle East are in the offing. They are represented as working on the U.S. military posture five years from now.

Vets To Hold Car Wash

The Veteran's Club will hold a car wash Saturday at the Pure gas station at Michigan and Grand River from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Funds raised will cover the cost of taking 35 children from St. Vincent's Home to the football game last Saturday.

Bill Bousu, Flint senior and Vet's Club president, said "Both the kids from St. Vincent's and the vets who went had a wonderful time. The weather didn't dampen their spirits."

The Vet's Club plans to do more work with St. Vincent's, he said.

Diane Bobek Is National Queen

Diane Bobek, Detroit senior, has been elected Pi Kappa Phi's 1963 National Rose Queen. Miss Bobek was elected Alpha Theta Chapter's Rose Queen during winter term and was crowned as national queen in June.

Miss Bobek, who is majoring in retail merchandising, is treasurer of Sigma Kappa sorority. Her election as queen is a repeat for Alpha Theta since the 1961 queen also was from the MSU chapter.

In order to be considered for the title a girl must have some tie with Pi Kappa Phi. Miss Bobek's pin mate is Ray Robinson, Detroit junior.

Microscope Exhibit On Display Here

The Electron Microscope Society of America has brought its traveling exhibit here. The display is in the Natural Science Building, Engineering Building, and Library display cases until October 30.

The electron microscope has been credited with numerous discoveries about the foundations of life and our environment, and is considered an invaluable key in man's future conquest of the sciences. Exhibits include photographs of the poly-nucleotide sequence--determiners of hereditary characteristics.

Previously seen only as a 'blob' under conventional magnifying devices, the electron microscope enables scientific probing at a magnification of two million times. Other pictures include muscular development, structure of the chromosomes and research in the fields of biology, anatomy, metallurgy, physics, and chemistry.

The display, seen last month at the University of Michigan, will be sent to the University of Chicago Medical School in

Ambassador Unit Sign-Up Today

Freshmen have until 5:30 p.m. today to sign up for interviews for the Spartan Ambassador program.

Sponsored by Fresh-Soph Council, the all-University service project gives new students an opportunity to participate in student government.

The Spartan Ambassador program was initiated two years ago. Its purpose, to acquaint high school seniors with MSU life, is accomplished through a corps of freshmen who make personal contacts with prospective MSU students during Christmas vacation.

Sign-up for interviews will take place in 317 Student Services.

Pan-Hel Eyes Top Scholars

Sorority life means more than small group living and an active social life. It means good scholarship, too.

With this thought in mind, Pan-Hellenic officers and their adviser, Mabel Petersen, are encouraging freshmen women to work hard all term.

Rushes are required to have at least a C-average when they begin winter rush, and some houses require pledges to have above that to become active, Miss Petersen said.

Because of their scholarship requirements, sorority averages are consistently higher than the all-University average. The Registrar's Office lists the spring 1963 all-sorority average at 2.65 and the all-university average at 2.42.

Pan-Hellenic recognizes the scholastic achievement of its members each term with the awarding of trophies for the highest and most improved scholarship.

Zeta Tau Alpha recently received the improvement trophy for last spring term with a house average of 2.7. Delta Gamma received the first award with a house average of 3.03. Delta Gamma gains permanent possession of the trophy, having won the award for three consecutive terms.

In spite of their high record, sororities are still trying to improve scholarship, Miss Petersen said.

IRC Seeks Delegates To World Meet

The International Relations Club is seeking delegates to the International Relations Conference in Puerto Rico.

The conference, to be held Dec. 18-23, will feature such speakers as Senator Wayne Morse, Juan Bosch, the exiled president of the Dominican Republic; the governor of Puerto Rico, and Jose Miro, the Cuban exile leader. The topic of discussion is, "Caribbean: Microcosm of World Struggle."

The trip will cost $170 and will include complete round trip transportation and all other expenses including room and board for five days. A $25 deposit is required. Planes will leave from New York and Chicago. MSU has 15 seats available on the Chicago plane.

People interested in going should contact Bill Janik at the political science office, 4th floor Berkey.

Humanities Group Here

Three distinguished scholars will speak at MSU's first humanities colloquy, sponsored by the Commonwealth Council of the Humanities, at Kellogg Center next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Richard Neutra, California architect; Jean Hagstrom, Northwestern University professor of English, and Richard McKeon, University of Chicago professor of philosophy, will discuss the relationship of humanistic studies to contemporary society in an age of science and technology.

McKeon will also address a session in Kellogg Auditorium, 8 p.m. Wednesday. The Commonwealth Council of the Humanities is a permanent academic organization representing the fields of history, philosophy, literature, foreign languages and the arts. Charles Cumberland, professor of history, is director.

'Nash-Bash' Set For CMU

MOUNT PLEASANT (UPI)—It's going to be a big weekend on the Central Michigan University campus.

They'll wreck old cars and wash new ones. They'll dance, sell books, watch movies and stage variety shows. And, they'll pass the hat.

It's all part of a growing tradition at CMU.

The object of the weekend activities is to collect at least $1,400 to help support the Mun San Orphanage, near Seoul, Korea. The welfare of the 64 orphans located more than 3,000 miles away from here has become a matter of personal pride and concern for the students at CMU.

Since "adopting" the orphanage in 1960, Central students have contributed more than $5,500 and 1,400 pounds of books to their chosen children.

The most spectacular project this week will be the campus veterans' "Bash the Nash" scheme. They'll sell chances to swing a sledge-hammer at a junked car.

Money raised by the CMU students in the last three years has been used to buy three acres of farm land, seeds for planting, school kits, food, a storage shed, a three-story dormitory, fuel and an improvised greenhouse to raise flowers for resale.

Japanese Club

Newly elected officers of the Japanese Club are Hajime Hara, Tokyo graduate student, president; Kenichi Mori, Tokyo graduate student, first vice-president; Etsuo Miyagi, Okinawa, graduate student; Shunsuke Sakurai, Kyoto graduate student, treasurer. Toshio Saga, Kyoto graduate student public relations director, and Toshiyuke Yano, Tokyo graduate student, executive secretary.
