Out-Of-Staters Irk Legislators In Hot Debate

House debate on the higher education budget Friday erupted into heated discussion on foreign students in Michigan universities.

"The question of out-of-state students in costing the state millions of dollars every year," Rep. William Romano, D-Warren, said.

The debate took place after an amendment sponsored by Romano and Carroll C. Newton, R-Delton, aimed at forcing the state-supported universities to cut down on their out-of-state student quotas.

"MSU and U of M have agreed that something has to be done," Romano said. "They have agreed to cut down over the 1963-64 Quotas."

"They have agreed that foreign students are taking up the place of our own Michigan students. I'm asking that we limit outstate students to 15 per cent."

Romano said that Hannah had indicated he would be willing to set the figure at 20 per cent--the present level is 20 per cent.

Rep. Gilbert E. Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, charged that the amendment was aimed as a last minute tactical device.

"The constitution provides for an Education Board which is to be elected for the first time this fall to handle and advise on questions of this nature," Bursley said.

MSU Gets Outlay For Building Wins 7.8 Million For Construction

Michigan State will receive $7.8 million for building construction as a result of the house of representatives approval Friday of the capital outlay budget.

Implementation of the budget depends on the result of a conference committee meeting on house amendments to the bill.

The money is slated for the construction of three buildings and the power plant addition.

Appropriations were:

- $2,750,000 for completion of the chemistry buildings,
- $1,500,000 to start construction on the conservation-forestry building,
- $1,500,000 to start construction on the food science buildings, and
- $2,000,000 for the power plant addition.

Included in the total was $80,000 for Oakland University for use in preliminary planning for a classroom-office building and an engineering building.

House action, however, deleted $190,000 for the proposed power tie-in with Lansing during the construction of the addition to the South Campus power plant.

The University of Michigan received $4,955,000 from the capital outlay budget.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY

Reject Bid For Cut Of 5 Per Cent

Governor's Bill Remains Intact

By OYARS BALCERS
State News Staff Writer

The house passed Governor Romney's higher education budget intact Friday night after beating down attempts by some representatives to slash appropriations if the three big universities did not limit the enrollment of out-of-state students.

The bill, providing a record $148 million for the 11 Michigan colleges and universities, passed by a 89-4 vote.

Michigan State received the $39,566,833 recommended by the governor. All other universities and colleges had the senate-passed appropriations restored.

The house ways and means committee had recommended a 5 per cent across-the-board appropriation cut in reporting the bill out of committee but reversed its position after a Republican caucus showed disapproval of the move Thursday.

Ways and means committee chairman Arnell Engstrom, R-Traverse City, headed the move to disagree with the committee recommendations and restore the appropriations to the level passed by the senate.

Rep. William Romano, D-Warren, and Carroll C. Newton, R-Delton, sought to add an amendment which would have decreased appropriations by $250,000 to state-supported universities which had over 15 per cent out-of-state students or those which did not decrease the out-of-state student ratio by 10 per cent in the next year.

The measure, after lengthy debate, failed on a deadlocked 46-46 vote.

"These foreign students are costing Michigan taxpayers millions of dollars a year," Romano said. "It's time we started making room for our own students."

The bill went into conference committee with the senate Saturday to iron out house amendments on the senate-approved bill.

Among the amendments in question is the house deletion of $250,000 slated for the Traffic Safety Research Center on campus as proposed by the governor.

Indications are that the bill will meet the approval of the conference committee and be sent for the governor's signature Monday.

Campuses Subject To Appeal

Coeds who think they were detained illegally by Shiawassee County police the night of April 25 may petition Associated Women Students (AWS) Judiciary for lighter penalties.

Circumstances which might constitute illegal detention include:

- Arrest of students who did not consume liquor.
- Arrest of students who were not at the "grassers" but were in the vicinity.
- Arrest of a student who was over 21 and whose date was over 21, even though they were consuming alcohol (if they had not supplied liquor to minors.)

Mother Arrested Parading

The mother of an MSU graduate student and wife of a faculty member has been arrested in North Carolina for participating in a civil rights demonstration.

Nancy Woolcott Smith was one of five white women from Martha's Vineyard, Mass., who were arrested Friday in Williamston, N.C., for "illegal parading" in front of a department store.

She is the mother of Woolcott K. Smith, East Lansing graduate student in statistics, and the wife of Henry C. Smith, professor of psychology who is on leave from MSU this year.

The Smith family has a long history of involvement in civil rights movements. Woolcott was one of the original "freedom riders" who led an onslaught on bus segregation in the South. He was jailed in Mississippi two years ago.

Woolcott said his mother has been released on $200 bond and that her trial is scheduled for next Monday.

"My mother and the other women from Martha's Vineyard were bringing food and clothing to people who had lost their jobs because of participation in the civil rights movement in Williamston," Woolcott said.

He said the women from Martha's Vineyard had joined two Negro women in Williamston in picketing the department store.

Harris Acts On Program For AUSG

Bob Harris is continuing to move rapidly on his plans for making All-University Student Government a more effective organization.

The new AUSG president has announced that the first meeting of the executive council will be held Monday. The council consists of the president of the major governing bodies and class presidents, and will serve as an advisory group to the AUSG president.

The council existed before but was seldom used, Harris said. He plans to take full advantage of what it has to offer.

Harris, Bryan, Ohio, junior also announced the first meeting of the student government re-evaluation committee will be held Tuesday. The chairman of the nine-member committee is Bruce Osterink, Grand Rapids junior.

State Official Checks Complaints On Arrests

An official of the state attorney general's office confirmed student reports that his staff will look into complaints against Shiawassee County police and judicial officials.

The students reported Thursday that they would inform the state attorney general about the manner of their arrest and the way their arraignments were handled last week. Some 111 MSU students were arrested following police raids on three "grassers" April 25.

They were arraigned before Justices of the Peace Robert Schultz and Homer Bush about 2:30 a.m. Sunday following arrests at 11:30 the night before.

Students complained that they were coerced into pleading guilty by threats that they would have to wait in jail until Monday for a later arraignment. This was denied by both Shiawassee County Sheriff Clifford Porter and the two justices.

"We always look into complaints by citizens regarding law enforcement," said Leo S. Cohan, deputy attorney general. "I would like to make it clear, however, that law enforcement is of local discretion."

If the attorney general decides to take up the case, the next step will be to interview Shiawassee County authorities.

One officer who declined to have his name used was quoted as saying,

"The arraignments were handled kind of funny, being in a jail and on Sunday."

He said none of the officers on the raid saw a student drinking and that he could not determine who was guilty or innocent.

'S' News Wins Top Award For Third Consecutive Year

The Michigan State News has received the American Newspaper Publisher's Association's top award for the third consecutive year.

The Pacemaker Award is given to the top five college and university papers in the country. The State News is the only college paper which has remained in the winner's circle for three years.

The State News was the only paper cited for its "professional journalistic approach."

In a letter from ANPA, Bruce Fabricant, editor of the State News was notified of the award.

Dear Sir:

Congratulations, The State News has won a "Pacemaker" award for excellence in the 1964 American Newspaper Publishers Association - Associated Collegiate Press Journalism Awards Contest.

SOUTH CAMPUS SWINGS OUT—Whether it was tug of war, up-sidedown coed beauty contests, togetherness competitions, greased pigs, pie eating contests, or unbeatable contestants the annual South Campus Weekend was judged a smashing success. Nearly 2,000 students, plus a smattering of parents and adults, turned out to take part in the competitions, view the ROTC Scots Highlanders and Sabre Drill Team, and dance under the stars. Legislators Boost Education

Michigan higher education was given a walloping boost last week as the legislature finally approved Governor Romney's requested budget appropriations. This is something unique, something we have not quite seen before. It obviously indicates a mounting awareness of the great problems and vital stake which pervade contemporary education.

The backers of full appropriations made concerted efforts to see the bill through. They had to contend with a committee move to institute a blanket 5 per cent cut in all appropriations. Such a cut would have continued what seemed a chronic process: that of continually curtailing and cutting back.

Others struggled to erase narrow stipulations on the use of funds, thus exhibiting a heartening confidence in university administrators.

It was an effort of many, with all, no doubt, realizing it would help many.

It also bids well for the future. The number of students and costs are rising these days and only the knowing grace of the legislature can insure Michigan citizens one of the nation's most extensive and sound systems of state supported education.

'Thou Shalt Not Steal'

"Thou shalt not steal."

No other moral dictate weighs heavier in our society. It is a belief which is pressed upon us all our lives and which pervades the whole of life. It is a simple, basic way of living.

But it has some weak adherents in the neighborhood. Here in East Lansing thefts from stores are mounting. The articles taken are small and money doesn't seem to be the problem. But still they steal.

For those apprehended there comes a permanent criminal record and a fine.

It is a steep price. But, then, they have committed a ridiculous act.

It merely remains for these sick clowns to cease their antics.

Strange Bedfellows

The continuing discussion of whether prayers in public schools are appropriate or constitutional reached a new height of absurdity Thursday. Two spokesmen for a return to the old ways came out in favor of reversing the Supreme Court's ban on school prayers.

The two spokesmen were Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, a respected Roman Catholic leader, and Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, a little-respected segregationist leader.

Sheen asked for the "perfect prayer"--In God We Trust--to be used in schools. Wallace called the court's decision "sweeping and deadly" and called for a Constitutional amendment invalidating it.

It just seems that no matter how nice either man's words may sound, and no matter how many religious sensitivities were offended by the prayer ban, such combinations of loyalties as are found here should be taken with a bit more than a grain of salt.

Red Cedar Report

By Jim DeForest

Devoted readers of this column might notice that I haven't written anything funny about the RA's. I don't need to.

Why is it that if you're a guy and are caught on a grasser you're fined $35, but if you're a girl the fine is only $25? Could it be for the same reason that the fine for molesting ducks is $25, while the fine for molesting co-ed's is $5?

In days of old, knights were bold. We've got some pretty bold nights today, eh, Sheriff Porter?

Letters To Editor

West's Concern

To the Editor: Rep. Daniel West's resolution creating a committee to check into the "drinking problem" at Michigan State and other state-supported schools is ridiculous.

The expense of such an investigation would be another waste of state tax funds--money that could replace the part of the MSU Appropriation Bill that was lopped off by the state legislature.

Unfortunately, a few poor planners have given MSU publicity. However, it is absurd for Rep. West to try to capitalize on this publicity by calling for an investigation which is neither necessary nor practical.

Mr. West should realize that thousands of college students drink at present and will continue to drink in the future regardless of whether any more restrictions are placed upon them.

Jim Klunzinger

... Liquor And Why

To the Editor: "I want to know who is behind all this. I want to know who is supplying the liquor and why."

Goodness, could this be a quote from the sub-committee investigating Mr. Valachi? Or perhaps from the lips of that God-send and savior of American freedom--Mr. McCarthy?

"I want to know what the students are trying to prove..." Could this be Carrie Nation, Sigmund Freud or perhaps U.S. Rep. Andrew J. Volstead... What? You don't remember Andrew J. Volstead, who in 1919 stood up in Congress and damned the vile stuff for the good of our beloved citizens. Of course this was done in the public interest, by popular demand... I think?

Personally I think that the Purple Gang is bringing the stuff in from Canada. Or maybe Al Capone isn't dead, but is living down in Cuba and sending the stuff in on rubber rafts. Or, maybe Elliot Ness has finally turned capitalist and is on the smart money end of the operation.

Mr. West has requested a committee to investigate violations of the Michigan Liquor Act among students of state-supported colleges and universities.

I think that the Michigan Liquor Act states that it is a violation to serve alcoholic beverages on the premises of any establishment situated within a 500 foot radius of any school or place of worship.

Of course if the legislators feel a need to change this law it's okay with me. Of course we wouldn't want to accuse anyone in our wonderful legislature of foul play or chicanery just because there is an establishment serving alcoholic beverages within 500 feet of four churches and a school playground. Legally, of course. And just because this establishment is located one block from the shining white dome of freedom on top of the Capitol building in downtown Lansing, and just because there are many legislators who reside in said establishment we wouldn't want to accuse anybody of anything--after all they know what is best.

I hope this talk of investigation is not idle chatter on Mr. West's part, and I hope he really does something about this scandalous situation.

Golly gee, Mr. West has got my vote. Yes sir, VOTE FOR WEST.

Rules Clamp Students

To the Editor: Will people ever stop to think what they are doing?

This is in regard to the "law enforcement" in this area. I know I represent the thoughts of other girls when I say that I am honestly afraid to go out this weekend. It seems that every escape from our academic world has been outlawed for one reason or another. For example, the clamp on grassers and almost every other kind of party that students enjoy. A show is nice, but how can anyone expect to fit the campus in a theatre? The authorities may be justified in their rules, but the crime is that the rules do not stop the people who abuse the privileges which are being denied. The kids who can accept responsibility and who can handle themselves reasonably are the ones who are punished.

I propose no remedy; that is up to the people who make and enforce the rules; but there are statistics which prove that when social functions are denied to the extremes that they seem to be here, the rates of illegitimate pregnancy, dope addiction, and other harmful ills rise considerably. Not to mention the fact that when something is denied which is not harmful in the first place, the temptation to go ahead and do the said thing is increased, if for no other reason, than to fight back at unreasonable restrictions. What is going to happen to Michigan State University?

Opinions Are Just That

To the Editor:

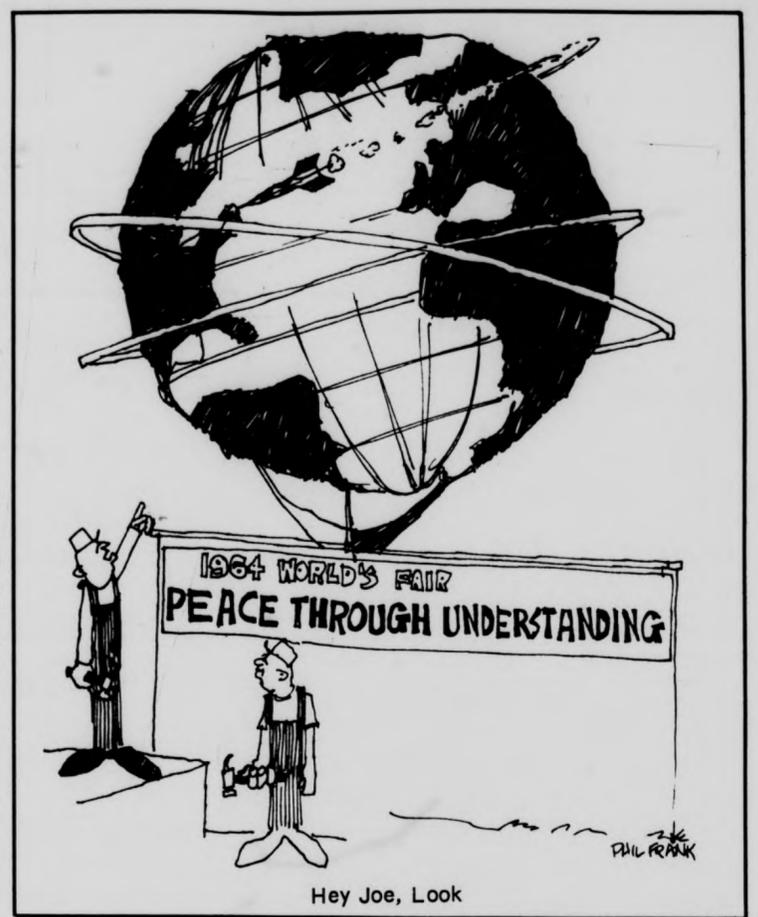

John P. Dellera, in his article "South Misrepresented," has fallen into the philosophical bag which holds most Americans--he lets someone else form his opinions for him. Sure, Walter Cronkite could be right about the South's new voting policies, but Mr. Dellera should know for himself before he editorializes, especially where civil rights are involved.

A few other all-American notables have issued statements regarding the Negro movement that Americans have hid behind, much like Mr. Dellera hides behind Walter Cronkite. Harry Truman has stated that Negroes have "lost him as a friend" because of the World's Fair incident. What kind of friend drops his support on such slight provocation? J. Edgar Hoover says "Communists are infiltrating the civil rights movement." Is he so old that he doesn't realize Communists infiltrate any American social movement? Shouldn't he be finding out that the Communists don't make Martin Luther King's decisions for him? And now Walter Cronkite shows us a new South.

Americans dodge the issue by thinking, "Well, the Negroes must be wrong if good-old Harry gives up" or "I always thought the NAACP was a pack of Communists... now I know!" The point is they don't know, not as long as they let someone else do their thinking for them. They've never been down South to smell the hate. What's worse is they don't even realize the same foul air blows from the North as well.

'Let The Heretics Burn'

To the Editor:

Anne Kapetan--I wish to congratulate you on your letter to the editor, in Tuesday's paper. It is refreshing to have such a lucid thinker determine what the moral standards of the entire campus should be.

Sex is of course "dirty nasty body stuff." God goofed--he didn't make it right. No one should smoke or drink. We should even prohibit candy bars and cokes, because they lead to harmful obesity. We must protect people from themselves. Never defy your parents. They are always right! We should always be "meek sheep."

Departure from religious tradition is "I believe" the worst sin we have committed. I say: "Let us return to the old time religion." Let us burn heretics again. Anne, I will bring the wood and matches, if you will get some good strong rope. We can ride with the Shiawassee sheriff on his next raid. The burning should be good.

The Fault Lies ...

To the Editor:

"The fault lies not within the stars dear Brutus..."

I think this quote rather appropriately sums up the drinking problem at M.S.U. The fault lies in an age-old law carried down from a Puritanical tradition. It is not only out of date, but a travesty of justice, because anyone can get beer as well as stronger intoxicating beverages quite easily. One need not consult the oracles to know this.

I wish to point out that being from a large eastern city, and being permitted to drink at eighteen, I have no desire and rather a distaste for drinking. I think that the reason for this is that I was permitted to drink at eighteen, and consequently drinking meant nothing to me. One always wants the things that are withheld from him, and perhaps the long postponement as well as the "kicks" behind breaking the law, may be the major cause of your problem.

I have attended many parties and observed that the correlation between drinking and mid-western is high. I've seen boys drinking themselves into stupors, and girls into insensibility, and I don't think this problem is typical of college students in general, but of mid-westerners in general.

'Pistol Porter'

To the Editor:

Darkness filled the big country that fateful night.

The men were wild, the women wilder.

Morals were beyond one's sight. It was a sodomy scene soon known by all.

The grass was green, their faces greener. The good people predicted man's downfall.

Tapping the sin filled keg of wine and song, The booze flowed fast, the blood rushed faster. It was a sight to appall those that know no wrong.

The trees were shaking with pagan dance. Spirits soared high, thrills moved on higher.

Heavens belched a mighty roar-- Brought forth the man, the champion of the true, dealer of right, crusher of wrong-- Pistol Porter, Sheriff of Shiawassee.

Protesters Serenade Campused Women

West Circle dormitories were serenaded Friday night by four men with two guitars, morocos, castanets, and a concertina.

Protesting the results of last weekend's grasser, the men serenaded the women who were campused for the late minutes they received.

Spending about 5 minutes at each side of the six dorms, the men sang "Scotch and Soda," "Frog Went a Courtin'," "When the Saints Go Marching In," and their own rendition of "A Teenager in Love."

The words were:
"Last night I had a date
"And we stayed out late
"We went to a grasser
"In Shiawassee County
"About midnight
"The Sheriff came into sight
"He stole our keg of beer
"But not without a fight
"Every night I ask the stars
"Why must I be a teenager in jail?"

Women in the dormitories clapped after the songs, and some sang along with the men.

Housemothers generally had no comments on the singing. "We feel sorry for the girls who got those campuses," one of the men said.

Museum Displays Picture Civil War

One hundred years ago, on May 4, 1864, Gen. Ulysses S. Grant rolled his 120,000 man army out of its winter quarters in Virginia and crossed the Rapidan River, where he met Gen. Robert E. Lee in the Battle of the Wilderness.

Lee had 62,000 men and, during a two-day battle amidst forest fires which cremated many of the wounded alive, he suffered 8,000 losses to Grant's 17,000 casualties.

Also on this day, 100 years ago, Gen. Joseph E. Johnson with 45,000 Confederate troops at Dalton, Ga., was instructed to assume the offensive northward to Nashville.

Johnson's army was smashed by Gen. William T. Sherman, who had started his "operation crusher." This was a prelude to Sherman's march to the sea and the realization of the concept of total warfare, total devastation.

White Role Confused In Rights Movement

The real dilemma of the white liberal involved in Negro movements, an MSU professor told the campus NAACP, is that "he may lose the confidence of white Americans and not gain the confidence of black Americans."

James R. Hooker, professor of history and Afridan studies, said Thursday night that the white associated with "black causes" is fulfilling the American imperative, but finds himself in a "dilemma."

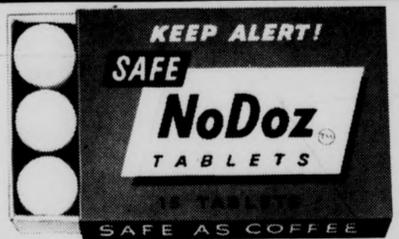

"By struggling very hard, he can almost make the grade with the Negro," he said. "But when he rises to a position in the Negro cause, there are suggestions that he is:

"--a captive or a front man,
"--a person using a vehicle to advance himself, or
"--one who belongs for the American image."

Hooker believes that the role of the white in Negro advancement is a fundamental question, not of race, but of the American Constitution.

"One can be involved without making it a race question," he said. "It's like arguing as a lawyer."

He also asked Negro students to continue to stress the morality of their acts and the immorality of their opponents.

meet Mrs. Schaefer, PHT wife

PHT, as you may know, stands for Putting Hubby Through. And that's precisely what Beverly Schaefer is helping to do—put her hubby through Hofstra University, Hempstead, N. Y. She's a part-time Tupperware dealer, demonstrating and selling those fine plastic food containers at home parties. It's profitable. It's enjoyable. It's easy. Whether you're a PHT wife yourself or a student, ask your campus Financial Aid Director about it, and call your local Tupperware distributor, listed in the Yellow Pages under Plastics or Housewares. Or send in this coupon...

State Downs Illini, Boilermakers

"And their off!" Familiar words to horse racing fans especially on Saturday. But the weekend of the Kentucky Derby also found Michigan State's baseball team off and running for its first Big Ten title since 1954.

The Spartans now 5-1 in league play (18-4 overall), won three conference games at Old College Field over a two day period giving every indication that they plan on capturing the league crown.

Friday the University of Illinois fell to the Green and White 5-2 and the Spartans came back the following day to humble Purdue 5-4 and 3-0.

Last place Illinois gave State a lot of trouble before Jerry Sutton, who appeared lost for the weekend with a back injury, stroked a two-run homer in the eighth inning to ice the contest.

The Illini opened the scoring in the first stanza with a single tally but the winners took a one run lead in their half of the inning on a bases loaded singles by catcher Bruce Look.

Joe Porrevecchio made it 3-1 in the sixth on his fourth home run of the year but losing pitcher Craig Mundt made it tight again with an identical blast in the seventh.

Sophomore John Krasnan scattered nine hits en route to his fifth win of the season, without a defeat, while loser Mundt allowed only five Spartans hits before Illinois coach Lee Ellbracht took him from the mound in favor of reliever John Peden.

Peden came in the eighth after Porrevecchio walked and Sutton hit his first pitch over the right field fence.

State's hard fought 5-4 victory over the Boilermakers Saturday could prove to be an expensive one. Frontliners John Ellward and Dennis Ketcham both suffered injuries.

Ellward, the starting pitcher for Coach Danny Litwiler in the opener, sprained his ankle while fielding a bunt in the second inning and Ketcham injured his knee in a collision at his second base spot in the fifth and had to be carried off the field.

Marston's 147 Total Leads Linksters To First Victories

By STEVE ELLIOTT
State News Sports Writer

The Spartan golf team, playing along the familiar fairways of Forest Akers Golf Course for the first and only time this season, won three of four dual meets and captured the number one spot in the tournament Saturday.

Lead by Phil Marston's 73-147, the Green and White lost only to Indiana, while stopping Northwestern, Wisconsin, and highly rated Michigan in dual competition.

The loss to the Hoosiers was a little odd in that competition was with seven man teams, instead of the conventional six. In addition, the Spartans would have beaten Indiana if the six man teams were used. The final was Indiana 1067, MSU 1072.

State also deviated from normal in the dual meet with Michigan. Both teams used nine man squads. The result, however, would have been the same as with six men, as the Spartans whipped the Wolverines, 1390 to 1407.

In other dual competition, the Green and White downed Northwestern, 912 to 926, and Wisconsin, 912 to 950.

In the five team tournament, MSU was first with 912. Indiana, Northwestern, Michigan and Wisconsin followed in that order with respective scores of 916, 926, 930 and 950. Scores for tournament play were computed by adding the 36-hole totals for the top six men on each squad.

On an individual basis, Spartan swingers are improving. Following Marston's 147 total, Bob Meyerand and Dick Marr had identical 77-75-152 scores. Right behind them were Shep Richard and Doug Swartz, with totals of 78-75-153.

Sophomore Ken Benson, making a determined bid for starting status on a regular basis, shot a 74-81-175 and showed that he will be an important figure in the future.

In other scores, Fred Mackey shot 82-76-158; Dave Miller, 82-78-160; and Ron Hartman, 79-81-160.

The best 18 hole total was turned in by Bill Iverson of Wisconsin, who shot a one under par 70 in the afternoon round.

Next Saturday, the Spartans take to the road again when they travel to Iowa City for an octagonal meet.

Wolves Big Ten Leaders

Michigan-Michigan State diamond rivalries, nothing more than a spoken-of nonentity in recent years, may take on added significance this season if the Big Ten bat race follows its early pattern.

The Wolverines, with a perfect 6-0 league record, hold a one-game advantage over the Spartans who are 5-1. Tied for second along with State is Minnesota.

Four teams, Ohio State, Wisconsin, Purdue and Indiana, share the fourth spot with 3-3 records. At the tail end are Iowa and Northwestern, both 1-5 and Illinois 0-6.

Next weekend, State and Michigan will travel to Iowa and Minnesota on alternate days, Indiana and Ohio State will each take a crack at Illinois and Purdue, and Northern will play a pair at Wisconsin.

Grid Workout Brings Smile

By RICHARD SCHWARTZ
State News Sports Writer

"Michigan State 38, Illinois 3." "The scoreboard never lies," quipped a grade-school youngster on hand for the fourth of five spring scrimmages in Spartan Stadium, Saturday.

But Coach Duffy Daugherty knew better.

"We've just been slow in changing things," Daugherty said after a 38-3 victory by the experienced Green team over the reserve White.

Might it be a subtle hint of things to come, a prophecy perhaps?

An affirmative "No" was Daugherty's answer.

"The reason we are using the scoreboard was so that we could try our hand at the new substitution rule."

"How did you fellows think we did?" Daugherty asked turning the interview around.

"Looked great from up in the stands," one reporter replied. "Didn't see a single foul-up," another chimed in. "Real fine," a third said.

Maybe it had something to do with the 72 degree weather. Maybe it was something somebody said. But it happened. Duffy Daugherty smiled.

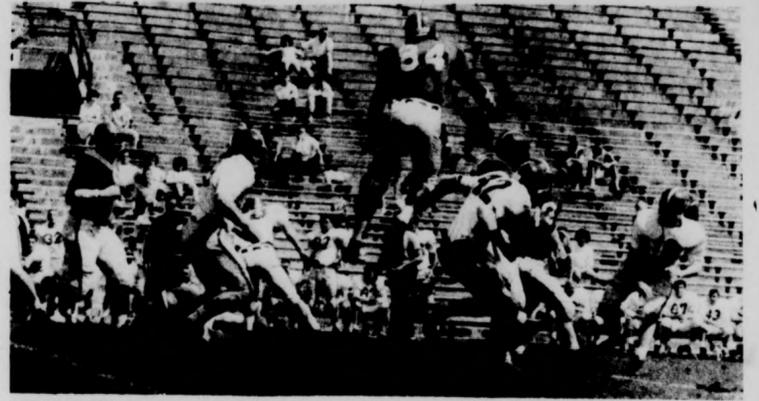

"Yes, I was quite happy myself with the way things went today," the Spartan head man admitted.

"The important thing was that we were able to go the length of a regulation game without being penalized," he said. "In this respect, I think it was a very beneficial scrimmage."

Nobody had to ask whether State might revert back to a platoon setup of sorts next fall. Even if you were chasing butterflies all afternoon, one look at Daugherty and it was a dead giveaway.

What about the playing itself?

It was the type of affair where if you blinked, chances were you missed a score. A yawn or

NBA Draft

The National Basketball Association (NBA) holds its annual college player draft in New York today starting at noon.

The nine teams will pick according to the reverse order of finish in the regular 1963-64 season. Last place New York will pick first, while perennial champion Boston will pick last.

Spartan Baseball

Joe Caggiano, starting pitcher for coach Joe Sexson, held the Spartans scoreless on only one hit until the fifth inning when he was tagged with two unearned runs.

State picked up another run in sixth on singles by Jerry Walker, Ketcham's replacement, and Bob Maniere. Bruce Look tied the score, and the Spartans' team season home run record, the following inning with his fourth round tripper of the season and State's 27th.

Neither team scored in the eighth inning and with two out in the bottom of the ninth, with men on first and third, John Beidenbach drilled a game-winning double to right center scoring Sutton.

Howard Miller, who turned in a brilliant relief job allowing only two hits and no runs in five innings, was awarded the victory, while Bob Purkhiser took the loss in relief for the Boiler-makers.

Bill Collins turned in one the best pitching performances of the year in the second game, blanking Purdue on two hits to record his third victory of the campaign.

The Spartans did all the scoring in the third inning when Porrevecchio walked and scored on a double to right by Sutton. Porrevecchio looked like a certain out at the plate as the throw arrived way ahead of the hustling leftfielder, but he slid under the tag for the game's first run.

Dick Billings followed with a long home run to left to wrap up the scoring and set a new team home run record for the Spartans.

Creighton Burns was charged with the loss going all the way and allowing seven hits.

Lacrossemen Lose

The lacrosse club, losers in a 10-8 overtime game to Notre Dame earlier this year, lost another squeaker to the Irish Saturday, this time 8-7.

Joe Heywood gave the Spartans a two goal lead in the opening period. Play was nip and tuck from then on as the lead changed hands several times.

WINNING WAY—Spartan golfer Phil Marston tees off with almost perfect form. Marston posted a 147 to lead State against Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin and Northwestern at Forrest Akers on Saturday.
