

Trustees Approve Recommendations To Ease Campus Driving Problems

Provisions Include Staff, Student Fee

Ban Established For Cars Between 7 A.M.-6 P.M.

The Board of Trustees formally approved administration recommendations designed to solve parking and driving problems here.

To be instituted beginning fall term, one of the main provisions would ban student driving on campus between 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. on classdays. Fully disabled students certified as such by the health service will be allowed to drive but must obey the same regulations as University employees and pay the same fee.

Another major provision would establish a parking fee for all employees. President John A. Hannah has maintained that employees cannot expect the Board of Trustees to pay for them to park their cars.

Parking Restrictions

The student driving ban will include the area bounded by Michigan and Grand River Avenues on the north, Hagadorn Road on the east, Harrison Road on the west, and the Grand Trunk Western railroad tracks on the south. Students will be allowed to drive on access routes to their parking areas anytime, however.

Resident and commuter student parking west of Farm Lane between West Circle Drive and the Red Cedar River will be restricted at all times.

Graduate assistants, graduate research assistants, special graduate research assistants, departmental graduate assistants, predoctoral fellows, assistant instructors enrolled for 10 or less credits, resident hall assistants and spouses of students who are full-time employees may park in any legal parking space south of the Red Cedar.

They may also drive on north campus, but may not park there. The report also indicated that added parking facilities may eventually be provided on north campus so that spouses of students employed full time can park nearer their place of work.

They will park in gated lots in the south campus area or the parking ramp and will receive key cards to open the gates. These students will pay a basic fee of $12 per year to drive on campus.

Faculty, Student Fees

Student fees for registration of their cars will be $6 per year. Students in University residence halls except freshmen and first year short course students will continue to register their cars.

Faculty and full-time employees will pay $18 per year beginning July 1. This can be paid through payroll deductions of $2 per month October through June. The fee for those wanting to park Jan. 1 to June 30 is $12. These fees will enable them to park in any gated lot facility with key cards.

Faculty and other employees not wanting to pay the basic fee or use the commuter lot may still use metered and gated areas without registering their cars.

Those employees wanting an individually reserved parking space with their name on it in a designated area may do so by paying $48 per year. Space is reserved from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 7 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

Parking fees in gated lots will be increased to 25 cents instead of the present charge of 10 cents.

Accommodations For Commuters

Any student not living on campus may register his cars as a commuter student. Married students living in married housing apartments are also considered commuter students. They will park in lot "Y," a new commuter lot to be built at Farm Lane and Mt. Hope Road, and planned for accommodation of between 1,500 and 2,000 cars.

Some 3,400 cars were registered winter term, but administrators believe that schedule variations will reduce the number parked at any one time. Some of the total were registered only for evening classes when the parking regulations will not be in effect.

Visitors to campus will be able to park in metered or gated parking areas from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. Some 92 meters will be installed at seven campus locations.

Students and staff receiving summons for violation of the parking regulations will have an on-campus adjudicating body for appeal. In the report issued from the Board of Trustees meeting Friday, no mention was made about the University operated bus service now being planned.

An express type bus service is tentatively planned from the commuter lot near Mt. Hope Road to the center of campus, possibly the auditorium, every five minutes at peak periods.

An east-west route on Shaw Lane is tentatively planned to increase the coverage of the present campus bus routes and to serve the new Fee-Akers complex.

$6 Million Coed Dorm Approved By Trustees

The MSU Board of Trustees approved Friday construction of a $6,650,000 coed dormitory with three laboratories located on Shaw Lane near Hagadorn Road.

Two, six-story wings will be built with a dining area on the north side and classroom and recreation facilities in connecting wings.

The unnamed dormitory is scheduled for completion in September, 1965.

The Board cut back the original cost by $200,000 by trimming the laboratory facilities.

Johnson Asks Nation To Fight Poverty, Bias

By GERRY HINKLEY
State News Campus Editor

In a semi-political graduation speech, President Lyndon B. Johnson attacked poverty, racial prejudice and ignorance and may have coined the catch-phrase of his administration.

It seemed to some of the 90,000 who filled the University of Michigan stadium Friday that Johnson was christening his administration "The Great Society" following the tradition of Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal and John F. Kennedy's New Frontier.

Johnson called upon the best minds in the country to help win the fight for the Great Society.

"The solution to these problems does not rest on a massive program in Washington, nor can it rely solely on the strained resources of local authority," he said.

"They require us to create new concepts of cooperation—a creative federalism—between the national capitol and the leaders of local communities."

While the stadium audience showed their approval with vigorous applause, a dozen dissenters marched outside the cement saucer.

The crowd inside, however, enthusiastically received Johnson's four-point challenge to build a better America.

"Will you join in the battle to give every citizen the full equality which God enjoins and the law requires—whatever his belief, or race, or the color of his skin?"

"Will you join in the battle to give every citizen an escape from the crushing weight of poverty?"

"Will you join in the battle to make it possible for all nations to live in enduring peace—as neighbors and not as mortal enemies?"

"Will you join in the battle to build the Great Society—to prove that our material progress is only the foundation on which we build a richer life of mind and spirit?"

Speaking directly to the graduates, Johnson tossed the major burden in their laps.

"For better or worse, your generation has been appointed by history to deal with those problems and lead America toward a new age," he said.

O Phi Psi Wins '500'

Ingredients for a Junior 500 winner: take a crack relay team of track stars, give them a cart to push and set them loose on Circle Drive.

Omega Phi Psi fraternity used this combination for a record-smashing victory in Saturday's Lambda Chi Alpha Junior 500 before 3,000 spectators.

Their record time of 2 min. 58.7 sec. was almost three seconds faster than the previous record set by Sigma Alpha Epsilon last year.

Runners-up in the men's final Alpha Tau Omega, Delta Tau Delta was third. Last year's winner, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, had their cart fall apart in the final heat.

Delta Delta Delta sorority won of fraternity queens through East Lansing, along Circle Drive and ending at the stands by the finish line. The queens took turns riding in the lead car before each of the heats.

The afternoon's events started with a convertible parade

President Speaks To Excited Crowd

By BARBARA BRADLEY
State News Staff Writer

The nation's quarter-back was everyone's All-American Friday.

A crowd of 90,000 in the University of Michigan stadium greeted President Lyndon B. Johnson like a football hero who had just licked MSU for the Big Ten title.

The intoxicating fever could not be restrained by the solemn atmosphere of the U-M's 120th commencement.

The shirt-sleeved crowd, sat buzzing in 80 degree morning temperatures.

Outside, traffic jams complete with dozens of yellow school buses from all over the state, streamed toward the stadium to fill 3/4 of the seats an hour before ceremonies began.

Police from Ann Arbor, two counties and the state troopers joined secret service men on watchful guard—some undoubtedly remembering why Johnson became President another Friday, six months before, to the day.

A solemn procession led by 19 flag bearers emerged from the dark tunnel onto the bright green turf on the 50-yr line.

Then the crowd spotted Mr. Johnson, his mortar-board bobbing above all the others in the procession. They applauded and cheered as the loud speakers blared out "Hail to the Chief."

Mr. Johnson sat between Governor George Romney and U-M president Harlan Hatcher during an hour's ceremony before his speech.

After he delivered the commencement speech—coached by two teleprompters in front of the podium—the President led the procession back towards the tunnel.

Smiling, the President walked slowly past the crowd through a path held clear by police. As he neared the tunnel he looked up into the crowd packed around the exit, waved and smiled.

The crowd roared and hands and arms shot through the railing toward the President. He shook hands with a young man and a graduating coed, then moved into the tunnel and outside to four green Marine helicopters.

The neutralist premier summoned newsmen to spell out his position as the big powers appeared to be moving toward reopening the 1962 Geneva conference which guaranteed neutrality for this troubled southeast Asian kingdom.

ROTC Cadets To Receive Commissions

The annual spring commissioning ceremonies for Army and Air Force ROTC cadets will be held Tuesday.

Maj. Gen. John R. Pugh, commander of the Sixth Army Corps in Battle Creek, will deliver the commissioning address. Ceremonies will begin at 4:30 p.m. on Demonstration Hall Field. In case of bad weather, they will be held in Jenison Field House.

Second lieutenant commissions will be awarded to 71 Army and 20 Air Force cadets. Commissions to 30 other cadets will become effective upon completion of summer school or summer military training.

Included in the program will be presentation of the President's Cups to this year's outstanding cadets in the Air Force and Army ROTC units.

President John A. Hannah will present the awards to Air Force Cadet Col. Charles D. Dobias, Scottville, Army Cadet Brig. Gen. Richard V. Lowe, Birmingham.

Student Leaders Advise Committee

Student government on campus can only be as strong as the administration allows, a group of past and present student leaders told the All-University Student Government re-evaluation committee Friday.

All seemed to feel that students should have more voice in policy which directly affects students, except Gary Wright, president of Men's Halls Association.

Wright, Pontiac junior, said he thought students should have a way to make their opinions clearly known rather than having an actual say in matters.

The group met with the committee as part of the committee's program of getting opinions from many sources concerning student government.

The committee hopes to collect and evaluate these opinions to help establish an effective student government next year.

Bob Hencken, former speaker of congress, said he thought student government should effectively represent students and provide services which "cannot, are not, or should not be provided" by the administration or non-government student groups.

"They ought to have a voice," he said. "They never will, but they ought to."

Kerr added that he thought student governing groups usually reflected the opinions of the students themselves.

Hencken, who along with former AUSG Bob Kerr, Washington, N.J., senior, dominated the discussion, said he thought such organizations as MHA, Women's Inter-Residence Hall Council, and Associated Women Students were doomed.

He said that it is no longer feasible to divide student government by sex.

"For example," he explained, "South Case has more in common with North Case than with Bailey."

He said he foresees either a merger of these organizations or a division into complex governments such as Brody Board,

8 To Be Honored In June

Four distinguished alumni awards and four honorary doctorates of law degrees will be presented to outstanding persons in education, government and industry at commencement June 14.

The award winners were named Friday by the Board of Trustees. An honorary doctorate degree will be presented to John W. Gardner, president of the Carnegie Corporation and principal commencement speaker.

Doctoral degrees will also be presented to Ralph J. Bunche, U.N. under-secretary for special affairs; Maurice J. Day, senior vice president of Crucible Steel Co. of America; and Jay L. Lush, a member of the Iowa State University department of animal science.

Distinguished alumni awards will be received by J. Joseph Cranmore, president of Crompton and Knowles Corp., a 1935 graduate; Doretta Hoffman, dean of the Kansas State University School of home economics, a 1943 graduate.

Thomas W. Kittler, Sr., senior vice president of R. R. Donnelley and Sons Co., a 1935 graduate; and Clarence H. Shaver, board chairman of the U.S. Gypsum Co., a 1920 graduate.

Primary Campus Style

The first mock presidential primary election in MSU's history will be held Wednesday, with students choosing between leading candidates from both major parties. The election will be an introduction to election issues and procedures as well as an indication of student opinion.

All major candidates who have been considered in the various state primaries will be entered, either with a formal campaign and campaign manager or tacitly through write-in endorsements. Even this aspect of the election will mirror the actual procedure. Gov. George Wallace of Alabama has been entered in the presidential race against President Johnson. The primary vote total which he gets is likely to indicate how much support "the devil's advocate" of integration has on campus.

A Democratic vice-presidential contest will indicate campus opinion regarding a running-mate for Johnson, who will surely be nominated by his party in July.

The election if it comes off well, will be a worthwhile project and an answer to charges of student apathy. If students consider the issues and the candidates, and make intelligent judgments with the same conviction they would were this an actual election. Horizons '64 can be a success and a model for the future.

Strike's End Assures Home

The 21-day bricklayers strike has been settled, and local construction workers are now back on a full work schedule on campus construction projects.

The strike was averted in time to avert a delay in the opening of the most essential buildings under construction, notably the new Fee-Akers dormitory complex. Barring further complications, the new buildings will be able to open on time in September.

The workers' 42-cent-an-hour increase was a compromise between the demands of the union and the contractor's offer, necessarily limited due to the University's inability to pay more than was originally agreed.

The dispute was settled outside the realm of University affairs, and we have no way of knowing whether the needs of the University prompted the settlement. But fortunately for the University and for the more than 2,000 people expected to live in the new dorms the strike is over, and facilities here can continue to expand at the campus' startlingly fast growth rate.

AUSG—Right Direction

All University Government has revamped its rules of voting procedure. The action follows in the wake of a hectic, and in many ways, miserable ordeal by the ballot.

Such prompt action on the part of Student Congress warrants strong approval and appreciation; it is the type of efficient and pointed action which is sorely needed if AUSG is to establish any sort of respect amongst the student body.

Last month's student election clearly pointed to faults and oversights in the old voting regulations. These failed to provide for a sharply defined and efficient position of responsibility for the overall procedure. There was also a lack of clarity on the question of write-in ballots and an inflexible attitude to the unpredictable role of campaign tactics.

Now the rules of procedure for campus votes will be able to account for all forms of campaigning, and an election commissioner will personally explain to the members of Congress the mechanics of the contest prior to any election.

Henceforth the matter of writings for Student Government president will find such ballots legal in the primaries but illegal in the final run-off. In this way, the obtaining of a clear majority by one candidate (two running) of all votes cast will be assured.

Still, all this is only one small act. Much more of the same will be needed if students, long content to view AUSG as a farce, are to change their song.

Letters To The Editor

Hate For Entire Race

To the Editor: Mr. Panyard, you have the right to hate anyone you want, but I seriously doubt that your motives are justifiable for inferring that Negroes are an inferior race.

You say that the Negro, as a group, has contributed little or nothing to society. It seems that in reality it is individuals within the group who really move the society ahead. Have you ever heard of George Washington Carver, or Ralph Bunche? Of course you will say that these men are a result of western civilization and that the Negroes have done nothing to develop themselves. You say that other primitive groups (races other than Negroid) have raised themselves above their primitive states, and so the Negroes should have done likewise, were they not possibly inferior.

Perhaps the same superstitions that kept "civilized" men from entering the "dark continent" kept the Africans from venturing from their jungles. In any case, I hardly think you can sweepingly blame this lack of development upon a supposed inferiority of the Negro.

And so to you, Mr. Panyard, I say that you can hate anyone you care to hate, but to hate an entire race seems senseless. I personally prefer to love or hate an individual rather than a group. Hate or love of an individual comes from personal contact, whereas hate of a whole group is more likely based on mere prejudices and half-truths.

Sure, I'll admit that many Negroes are really no great asset to society, but the same could be said of many people of other races. Strange things happen when people take it upon themselves to hate an entire race. There was a man just twenty-five years ago who hated and murdered countless members of what he considered an inferior race.

which I cannot here explain, limited as I am to 300 words, Mr. Panyard's Hate Doctrine establishes a philosophy not at all part of "civilization," of which he makes such noise, but of a primitive nature, far surpassed by the mythical Negroes he has imagined.

Finally, I accuse Mr. Panyard of two blatant lies. The first is that his bias has a basis; the second that the basis he presents is not really his at all.

Onward— It's Fun To Hate

To the Editor: Hooray for Joe Panyard and his "point of view"! I nominate him to run for vice president on Governor Wallace's ticket. Let's get this country moving again—right back to 1861. On with that unfinished war! Isn't it fun to hate, hate, hate?

The Challenge Of Pursuing'

To the Editor: Bored--The article in Wednesday's paper gave this as my reason for going to college. This was my reason for starting, but I attempted and apparently failed to get across the fact that long ago this reason was replaced by a much better one. It was through a terrific program at the University of Chicago called "The Basic Program for a Liberal Education" that I discovered the challenge and excitement of pursuing an education.

While learning for its own sake is fun and worthwhile, I also believe that some depth of understanding is important and have now embarked on a more formal course of study. This not only

Historic Africa Had Civilizations

To the Editor: I would like to present a few facts for the record;

1. The African Negro did indeed build up an advanced civilization on the African continent. I refer those who think otherwise to Immanuel Wallerstein's "Africa: The Politics of Independence."
2. Africans did indeed have a written language; again, I make reference to Wallerstein's work.
3. The Jews were united by a single faith; the Africans were more eclectic as a group; this explains certain differences in reaction to oppression and later by these two groups.
4. Few intelligent anthropologists would make a convenient trichotomy of mankind into three neat, pure groups, regardless of the names one gives to each.
5. Through Socratic methods,

Point Of View.

One May Hate, But Not Impose

By Richard Ogar

I hope this won't come as too great a shock, Mr. Panyard, but (ssssh! is anyone coming?)—no one really cares whether or not you hate Negroes. No, Mr. Panyard, you are perfectly free to love, like, dislike, strongly dislike, or, yes, maybe even hate the Negro.

But there is one right which you do not have, Mr. Panyard: you do not have the right to put your personal biases into practice. The Civil Rights Movement is not a popularity pitch; the Negro is not saying "Love me, mister, or I'll picket." Just as you have the right to hate, the Negro has the right to be free from the consequences of that hate—and this is what all the fuss is about. You may maintain—in the face of all evidence to the contrary—that the Negro is inferior to you; this is unimportant, even if regrettable. But you may not enforce your notion of Negro inferiority by denying to any Negro the free and easy access to public instruction which is presented gratis—who can deny it?—to even the most dull-witted of whites. You may personally feel that the Negro is most properly considered as a drum-beating cannibal, but you cannot therefore deny him his right to eat at Joe's Greasy Spoon if he so desires. In short, you may feel that the Negro is lowlier-than-thou, but you may not treat him as though he were.

No, Mr. Panyard, no one cares about your biases; no one wants to abrogate your right to hate. Let's face it—you're not that important. But there are people who are going to insist that the Negro's rights are as important and as binding as your own. No one is trying to legislate public or personal taste, nor brotherhood, nor intermarriage, but legislation is being utilized to secure for the Negro those basic rights which he, as a member of the human race (you will grant me that, will you not, Mr. Panyard?) if for no other reason, has full title.

You may rest easy in your historic sleep, for when that morning comes when the Negro has the full freedom to seek employment where he chooses, at a living wage; when he is able to educate himself as much or as little as he pleases, through public facilities; when he is granted social mobility and allowed to eat, shop and live where he pleases; on that morning, Mr. Panyard, you will wake to find yourself as free as ever to hate them and their children, unto the third and fourth generation. You can even hate their family dog, if it pleases you.

R. Neal Band, assistant professor of zoology, will continue study of the means by which parasitic amoebae might have evolved from free-living forms.

A $39,361 grant from the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases will support the research. He is studying how a living cell is able to lose its respiratory machinery and still survive, and the surface interactions of living cells in close association.

An Atomic Energy Commission grant of $39,000 will be used by S.H. Wittwer and M.J. Bukovac of the horticulture department to continue research on absorption and redistribution of various minerals in plants.

Another NIH grant, $36,660, will support research of the messenger RNH (ribonucleic acid) from bacillus subtilis. John A. Boezi, assistant professor of biochemistry, is the chief investigator.

The board approved a memorandum of agreement with Earl Enterprises, Inc., of Hillsdale to provide $36,000 for a study of artificial insemination of swine.

Jacob A. Hoefler will direct the project. A $31,300 grant was accepted from the American Federation of Musicians to support the annual Congress of Strings at MSU this summer. The grant will be utilized by Wilson B. Paul, director of the Lecture-Concert Series.

Also accepted was $13,692 in scholarship grants, including $263 for Oakland University.

The board approved a memorandum of agreement with Earl Enterprises, Inc., of Hillsdale to provide $36,000 for a study of artificial insemination of swine. Jacob A. Hoefler will direct the project.

A $31,300 grant was accepted from the American Federation of Musicians to support the annual Congress of Strings at MSU this summer. The grant will be utilized by Wilson B. Paul, director of the Lecture-Concert Series.

A gift of $25,037.50 was presented by MSU's Class of 1914. The funds, donated by 136 members of the class, will be used to provide reception room and office furnishings for the department of alumni relations and the Development Fund when both departments move to the Union.

Also accepted was $13,692 in scholarship grants, including $263 for Oakland University.

M. McInnis, Kreke Named Top Seniors

Seniors of the Week Mary McInnis and Henning Kreke share an interest in learning about people in all parts of the world.

A Spanish major from Cedar Springs with a 3.7 point average, Miss McInnis, has spent two summers in Mexico. She spent last summer studying in Switzerland and then touring the rest of Europe for three weeks.

Kreke is an economics major from Colon, Germany. He has been studying in the United States for the past four and a half years. He was vice-president and then president of the Campus United Nations.

Miss McInnis is vice-president and president of her dorm, a member of President's Council and WIC, for which she was co-chairman of Inter-Resident Sing. She was president of Mortar Board, historian of Tower Guard and a member of Alpha Lambda Delta and Circle Honorary.

Kreke worked on the AUSG Elections Review Board. With his 3.6 point average he is in Honors College, Excalibur, Blue Key and Omicron Delta Kappa honoraries. He also received an Outstanding Junior Award.

Both Miss McInnis and Kreke plan to earn masters degrees at Harvard University.

Director Of Nursing To Leave Post

Florence C. Kempf, nationally prominent nursing educator and director of the School of Nursing, will retire September 1.

She has also held positions with the nursing schools at Western Reserve University, Vanderbilt University and the University of Michigan.

She has served as chairman of the Michigan Board of Nursing and as president of the Michigan State Nurses Association and the Massachusetts League of Nursing Education.

Big Ten Championships

Golfers 7th; Trackmen, Netters 4th

A year may make a difference in lots of things, but for Michigan State teams in Big Ten Championship competition it didn't change things a bit.

All three spring sports squads finished in the same places as they did last season, in weekend action in their respective championships.

The State golfers were seventh, the trackmen and the tennis team were fourth.

Favored Purdue placed five of its six contestants in the top 15 to take its eighth conference golf title since 1950 at Minneapolis.

The Boiler-makers had to overcome Michigan, which lead at the half-way point, and highly rated Indiana, which finished second. The Wolverines finished third.

State's Phil Marston broke out of the slump that had plagued him for the past two weeks to pace the Spartans. Marston fired a four round total of 298, good enough for a sixth place tie. Last year he finished tied for 21st.

Other Spartan scores were: Bob Meyer and Ken Benson, both with 305; Shep Richard, 310; Doug Swartz, 318, and Dick Marr, 323.

Individual honors in the tournament went to Indian's Byron Comstock who shot a 290.

This marked the third straight year that the Green and White has finished in the second division. The finish was a disappointment to Coach John Brotzmann, who felt earlier this year that the team could manage a first division finish.

Final team scores in the 45th annual affair were Purdue 1487, Indiana 1505, Michigan 1517, host team Minnesota 1524, Wisconsin 1527, Ohio State 1530, MSU 1534, Northwestern 1553, Illinois 1568 and Iowa 1594.

Wisconsin chalked up 64 points to capture the track title at Evanston, with Michigan placing second with 52 and Illinois scoring 33 for third.

The Spartans finishing fourth, were unable to win any individual championships, but they came close in three categories.

Broad jumper Jim Garrett, 660 man Ron Horning, and 880 runner Mike Martens all earned places in their events. Horning is a senior, but sophomores Garret and Martens still have two more chances to move up a notch in their specialties.

Jan Bowen went into the meet as defending mile champion, but finished fifth in Saturday's race.

Fred McKay was the only MSU athlete to place in two events. The Plainfield, N.J., sophomore finished fourth in the high hurdles and fifth in the high jump.

Ayo Azkewe placed third in the intermediate hurdles, and Eric Zemper came in fourth in the two-mile run to round out the Spartan scoring.

MSU's showing was six points better than fifth-place Northwestern who tallied 16 points. The Wildcats were followed by defending champion Iowa (12), Indiana (11), Minnesota (2), Ohio State (2), and Purdue (2).

The Spartans continue their outdoor schedule this weekend with an appearance at the IC4A meet at Villanova, Pa.

The Spartans tennis squad finished with 25 1/2 points to put them right behind the Northwestern who tallied 43 1/2 in the championships at Champaign, Indiana was the surprise winner and Michigan was second.

The Green and White were represented in the finals by the doubles team of Tony O'Donnell and Dwight Shelton who were ripped in number two action by Alan Graham and Charles Kane of Indiana 6-3, 8-6.

Tom Jamieson scored for the Spartans Saturday when he bested Purdue's Bob Powless 1-6, 6-0, 6-4 in the number one singles consolation match.

Latrd Warner and Mike Youngs also scored when they topped Tom Benson and John Svarups of Iowa 4-6, 6-2, 6-4 in number three doubles consolation.

State Ends League Season, Plays At Municipal Tonight

Back to back night games conclude the 1964 Spartan baseball season as Coach Danny Litwhiler becomes the first night pilot in Michigan State baseball history.

State meets Western Michigan under the lights of Municipal Park in Lansing in a make-up of an earlier rained out contest. Tuesday night the Spartans travel to Kalamazoo to meet the Bronchos in the season finale.

Monday's game start at 8 p.m.

The perennially tough Bronchos were seeking their fourth straight Mid-American diamond crown before bowing to new champion Kent State last week and will be out to take their revenge on the Spartans.

The Spartans finished the Big Ten season this weekend at Old College Field taking a Friday slugfest from Indiana 16-11 and splitting a twin bill, State bowed 8-7 in the first game and taking the nightcap 3-1, with Ohio State Saturday, to boost their overall mark to 21-11 and their Big Ten final to 8-7.

The Spartans had trailed 7-0 in the ball game and battled to cut the lead to 8-4 going into the final inning. State's first two hitters got on and came home on Bruce Look's double before Billings drove in Look.

It was their first loss at home this season.

Bill Collins took the loss for the Spartans, while Buckeye hurler Bill Gable got the victory.

In the night cap, Doug Dobrei pitched a six hitter and hit a home run for good measure to knock the Buckeyes from a possible Big Ten title.

Friday John Krasnan and Bob Maniere led the Spartans to their rout over the Hoosiers. Krasnan won his sixth game of the season as Maniere went four for four to pace a 21 hit attack.

Outstanding senior awards were presented at the Green Splash annual spring picnic Wednesday to Joan TenHoor, Grand Rapids senior, and Dianne Westheuser, Hazel Park senior.

Cathy Markland, Flint junior, and Cara Cushing, Gibraltar junior, received Red Cross National Aquatic School scholarships. The picnic was held in the Women's I.M. lounge.

Lacrossmen Finish Up 1-9

The Spartan lacrosse club ended the season on a dismal note losing to Bowling Green 14-1 Saturday afternoon. The loss dropped State's record to 1-9.

MSU finished the game with only 11 men able to play. The situation was such that defenseman Bruce Goodwin had to play the attack position, while goalie Chet Grabowski played defense.

Attackman Joe Heywood and midfielder Al Norwood were both injured in the game and could not finish.

Heywood scored the only goal for the Green and White.

Next season will be a rebuilding year for the stick club. A lot of veterans will be returning, but the club hopes that freshmen and sophomores will develop into seasoned performers.
