Miss Michigan Crowns Coed

By SUSAN J. FILSON State News Staff Writer

Sally Jane Noble, the blonde beauty who will represent Michigan n the Miss America pageant next month, turned over her "Miss ansing" crown to a Michigan State coed Monday.

Suzanne Poursine, who was the first runnerup in the Miss Lansng contest, will take over all the local personal appearances which Sally would have made if she had not won the Miss Michigan title. Sue, who lives in Lansing, is a sophomore majoring in art. She a member of Orchesis, a dance honorary. Her talent in the Miss ansing pageant was modern dance.

Sally crowned Sue at a reception at the Lansing Press Club sponsored by the Greater Lansing Junior Chamber of Commerce. Among the officials attending the reception were East Lansing Mayor Gordon L. Thomas and Lansing Mayor Willard I. Bowerman Jr. said the new Miss Michigan. "When my real boyfriend showed up studying here this summer under The new Miss Michigan planned to enter MSU as a freshman this Friday night, everyone, including my chaperone, was surprised fall, but she may have to delay her education for a year due to her

Her coach is MSU gymnastics coach George Szypula, who says that Sally has a good chance to make the Olympic team if she develops a wide repetoire of gymnastic tricks to match her form. Sally credits her ceach with much of her success at gymnastics.

For her talent in the Miss Michigan pageant, Sally combined her ballet and gymnastics training in a free exercise.

Sally has had little chance to relax. "I sat around most of the day Sunday," she said. "People were coming in all day, but I was just sitting around in bermudas, a at the Mozarteum Academy in sloppy shirt and bare feet. It was just me."

There is only one disadvantage to being Miss Michigan for Sally-the strict restrictions on male companionship.

During the Miss Michigan pageant, Sally could not speak to men unless her official chaperone was present. Her choreography coach, chestra is compo Barry Christy, was one of the few men she could talk to.

Forced To Decide, U.S. Fights

The time for the United States to fight or get out of South Viet Nam finally arrived this week, and President Johnson has apparently decided to fight.

The vacillating U.S. policy in the Far East crystallized Wednesday with retaliatory air strikes on gunboats and supporting naval installations in North Viet Nam. The U.S. air action resulted in the destruction or crippling of 25 Communist PT boats, 4 torpedo boat bases and 1 oil dump.

President Johnson's order for the air strike should set the pattern for the future U.S. military posture in Viet Nam. He could hardly have chosen any other course of action.

North Vietnamese PT boats made their first attack on a U.S. ship, the USS Maddox, Sunday in the international waters of the Tonkin Gulf. The Maddox retaliated by crippling the three attacking boats with torpedoes.

President Johnson then issued an order for U.S. ships to sink any attacking vessel and warned North Viet Nam that any further attacks would have "the gravest consequences."

The grave consequences Negro came Tuesday after the Maddox and the USS Joy were attacked again by communist

Our announced intentions to defend southeast Asia from To the Editor: communist aggression would have rung pitifully false if we response to Mrs. Filson's had patted North Vietnam's leaders on the head for launching an unprovoked attack on our discrimination as an intellectual

The United States accepts the principle that it is desirable to prevent the spread of Communism throughout the world. We will betray that principle if we in civilian clothes last January ignore naval attacks and stand helplessly by as the Communists extend their control throughout Asia.

Letters

Protests North Viet Nam's naval forces. Essential

This letter is being written in column of August 4th.

It is obvious that Mrs. Filson is white and seems only to know exercise. I would suggest she get down into the streets to see what the problem is like in all its dirty glory.

She talks of voting registration as more sensible than demonstrations. How do you tell a to vote when she is bleary eyed trying to prevent her daughter from getting bitten by rats? The only exterminate rats in the streets, not in private buildings

How do you tell a man that he should go and vote when he was just beaten up by a couple of white guardians of the law and then arrested for public intoxication as he is walking home?

For that majority of whites that doubt such things can happen, it happened to a Negro marine in Syracuse, New York. When he complained that he was beaten by a "fuzz," the D. A. filed second degree perjury charges

At his trial the judge would only permit medical testimony from the "fuzz" that beat him up and an ambulance driver who only spent a year in medical school. Testimony from a neurosurgeon and hospital records could not be admitted as evidence.

For whom can a Negro graduate student vote when he is arrested by the police for taking notes and badges numbers of officers questioning another person in an Albany, N.Y. bus terminal? He is arrested on disorderly conduct charges, then denied his right to be released on bail by being held for a sanity hear-

For whom can a Negro vote, another white politician who is as lily white as the next? A white man who insists that we must maintain law and order to permit the white society to ignore the problem of equal rights for non-whites so that it can preserve its own lily white status

I would suggest that it is not a moratorium we need on peaceful demonstrations, but more massive ones. If whites are afraid of racial riots let them remove the problems that cause

How can one draw the attention of whites in the North to the acuteness of the problem when peaceful demonstrations produce no results?

As a member of CORE I abhor violence and condemn those that use it, but yet I can understand its causes. Must one create a massive 200,000 person sit in, in New York City to block all transportation and food arrival in the city? Perhaps only then the whites of New York and other Northern areas will realize the acuteness of the problem. It might be interesting to see how one could arrest 200,000

I shall do my best to prevent such a situation from occurring, but it is a white responsibility to see that it doesn't occur. If it does you will find me in the streets.

As for my race, some Negroes are lighter, and some whites are

To the Editor:

Those who see the broad scene get the capability to evaluate, explain, and predict direction. I found, as an Arab, that I should project some light upon the history of Arab unity.

I believe that this will help the non-Arabs to understand this important part of the globe and strengthen and enhance interna-

AID assistance to engineering education began in 1953. Eleven colleges were selected for this purpose. Under the second phase, begun in 1957, five of them were chosen for intensive effort at reorganizing their post-graduate and teacher training programs. They are: the Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) at Kharagpur in the state of West Bengal, Bengal engineering College at Howrah, West Bengal, the University of Roorkee in the north Indian state of Madras, and Poona Engineering college in Maharatra State. The Government of India sets much store by these institutions to produce the muchneeded engineering teachers.

The five institutions are being assisted under AID-financed contracts with three leading American universities. The University of Illinois is developing the Warregour UT. The University of Wisconsin is helping Bengal Engineering College and the Uni-State University is assisting the

'S' Wrestling Clinic Attracts Top Talent

Presently under way at the men's intramural building sports arena and slated to run through August 15 is the second annual Spartan wrestling and coaching clinic.

Some 250-300 grapplers including some of the top prep talent in Michigan, will attend the clinic which is led by Michigan State wrestling coach Grady Peninger.

The clinic will be conducted in two sessions, the first running from August 2 to 8 and the second from August 9 to 15. Participants will receive instruction and drill for four hours each day.

Assisting Peninger will be Gale Mikles, director of physical education at MSU and former NCAA and NAAU champion Doug Blubaugh, 1960 Olympic welterweight champion; and

Ice, Not Icing All That's Needed

By SUSAN J. FILSON State News Staff Writer

Residents of the East Lansing area are missing an opportunity to view some of the nation's top figure skating talent when they ignore summer ice shows at the MSU arena. At the past two ice shows, we have observed countless empty seats. But thousands of residents pack the Civic Center in Lansing each year when the tinsely, professional "Holiday on Ice" revue session, which has drawn top competition or tests. Valuable skating. comes to town.

What these people at professional shows don't realize is the fact that they are seeing far less talent for a far larger price 15 years, used to be climaxed than they would at MSU. A show like "Holiday on Ice" merely by an elaborate three-night perprovides elaborate costumes and choreography.

Invariably they swiftly lose the peak form which earned them world and Olympic champion-

The second, and by far the most numerous, group of ice show skaters consists of those who just weren't good enough to make their mark in amateur competition. Top amateurs do not turn the description unless they are going downhill.

Many of the skaters at MSU, on the other hand, are well on their way to becoming championship material. Gary Visconti, from the Great Lakes Skating Club; Duane Maki, from the Skating Club of Detroit; and Robert Black, from the Skating Club of 5 Agnuts -- Lushwell A.C. Boston, all belong in this class. It is safe to say that at least two of these young men are far better skaters than any of the male stars in the major professional ice shows.

Even the skaters who are not champions themselves are better than most of the soloists in professional shows, not to mention the chorus members.

In the world of ice skating, the words "amateur" and "professional" have opposite meanings than usual. An amateur is someone who is too good to be a professional, and the few top professionals are those who used to be good amateurs.

Campus Previews HS Bands

The University campus will preview the sounds of this fall's pigskin parade, when the first Marching Band Clinic holds forth Aug. 24-29.

Six of the state's finest high school bands will sharpen their skills at the week-long event, a continuing education activity of the MSU Department of Music. Drilling and rehearsing for the coming football season will be some 555 high school bandsmen from Grand Haven, Hastings, Jackson Parkside, Lincoln Park, Muskegon and North Muskegon. String sections from several schools will also rehearse and improve techniques.

Helping to train the young musicians will be a number of MSU staff and faculty members, including Bill Moffitt, assistant director of bands and originator of MSU's famed "Patterns in Motion' precision marching shows, and Joel Leach, percussion instructor.

Climax of the clinic will take place Saturday morning Aug. 29, When the six bands will perform some of the formations learned during the week.

The Marching Band Clinic is one of a series of MSU events which are filling the air with music this summer. Others include a Church Music Workshop, Piano Teachers Clinic, Congress of Strings and Youth Music Conference.
