GOP Campaign Hits Philly; LBJ To Go Midwestward

Landlady Defeated By Senior

By LINDA MILLER
State News Staff Writer

From Our Wire Services

President Johnson stepped up his campaign Tuesday, making a quick trip into Raleigh, N.C., for a speech before heading into Iowa and Illinois.

Sen. Goldwater, meanwhile, was stumping Philadelphia suburbs, charging that minority groups with high-priced lobbyists "run this country" under the Democrats.

At the same time vice-presidential candidates Hubert Humphrey and William Miller and even Mrs. Johnson were on the campaign trail.

Johnson's stepped-up drive for a mighty election victory will carry him in the next week into more than a dozen states with more than 200 of the 270 electoral votes he needs to win.

From now on the people and the country are going to be seeing a lot of their campaigning President. He intends to report to them on what he calls the administration's proud record and try to sell it to Democrats and Republicans alike.

Johnson is heading into the busiest phase of the campaign, with the election just four weeks away, still hammering hard on the themes that the nation is prosperous, responsible and restraint in the White House are vital, and peace is the great goal.

The week's activity got under way this morning with a double effort by the President and Lady Bird Johnson. He joined the first lady's campaign train at Washington and rode as far as Alexandria, Va., a few miles down the Potomac, to see her off on a four-day whistlestop expedition.

They met again last night at Raleigh for dual politicking.

In a swing through sunny shopping centers in the Philadelphia suburbs of Warrington, Glenside and Ardmore, Goldwater aimed his appeal for votes at what he termed "the forgotten American."

"He's not a member of any minority group, he's a member of a majority group," Goldwater told about 2,500 people in Warrington. "...he's the man who pays taxes, he's the man who works, he's the man who stays out of trouble..."

"Now unfortunately in our government over the past 20 years, excepting the eight years of the Eisenhower administration, minority groups run this country," Goldwater said.

"...I'm speaking about all mi-

A Lansing Township Justice Court decision Aug. 24, in which an MSU senior was awarded $10, remains a valid one although the court acted in a matter outside its own jurisdiction, Court Clerk Evelyn McGann said Tuesday.

Miss Sandra Feldman, New York City senior, won a $10 suit after she said an East Lansing landlady illegally refused to return a breakage deposit earlier this summer.

Miss Feldman agreed to rent a room on June 22 from Mrs. Harold J. Fuller, 418 M.A.C. Ave., for $9 a week. She said she was charged a $10 deposit for breakage.

The following day, Miss Feldman returned and told Mrs. Fuller she did not want the room. She said she didn't expect to get the $9 rent back, but she did ask for the breakage deposit back.

Mrs. Fuller allegedly refused to return the deposit so Miss Feldman contacted the Lansing Legal Aid Society and was assigned a lawyer.

Mrs. Fuller testified at the trial that the deposit was just for holding the room, not breakage. But she lost the case and was required to pay court costs and a lawyer's fee, as well as the $10 deposit.

Morris G. Huck, Nashville, Ill., graduate student, called to the attention of the State News at the beginning of this term that his map indicated that the Meridian Township line extends along Abbott St., and that the Lansing Township Justice Court acted in a case over which it had no jurisdiction.

"Since this case is a valid one," he said, "and since I agree with the decision which was made, it would be well to insure that the court's decision is valid in order to establish or maintain precedence."

Lansing Township Justice Court Clerk McGann said that the case is valid, jurisdiction is solely a defense.

"Mrs. Fuller would have had to enter a special court appearance and raised such a defense before the trial," she said.

Action was started by the Lansing Legal Aid Society and the case taken by the Lansing Township Court, "probably because it was closest," she added.

Merchants: 'Wait And See'

Parking Problems Possible

By JOAN SOLOMON
Student Services Writer

"Wait and see" seems to be the attitude of East Lansing officials regarding a possible flood of student cars on downtown parking lots.

"The ban on parking near classrooms on North Campus will probably have an effect on downtown parking, but it is too early yet to tell if this will develop into a real problem," A.T. Carney, acting city manager, said.

The community will have to absorb some of the cars, he added, but officials are waiting to see if some definite patterns develop.

"Several merchants have already complained about 'storage parking' by students who leave their cars all day in lots intended for shoppers," Carney said.

Downtown merchants, tepid on rapid turn-over in lots, and shoppers may have to compete for space with students leaving their cars all day.

"If 'storage parking' continues to be a problem," Carney said, "merchants may insist on higher rates for parking lots."

"Storage parking" is not the entire problem, however. A week before students returned for fall term downtown East Lansing parking lots were filled.

Busing might also provide opportunities for East Lansing

Young Republicans Schedule Canvass

The MSU Young Republican Club set a tentative date of Oct. 17 for a canvass of Lansing Township Ward 2, Precinct 21.

The precinct is located south and west of the MSU campus. It is bounded on the east by the Red Cedar River and follows Aurelius Road on the west. It extends north to Mifflin Avenue and south to the Red Cedar.

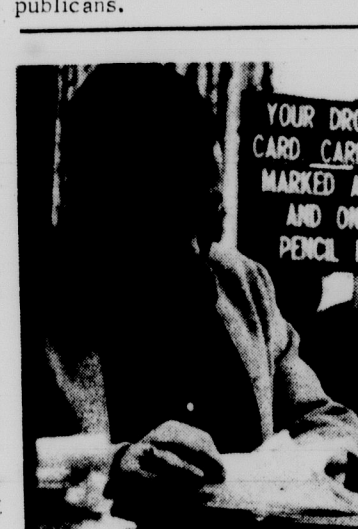

"The canvass is being made," said Al Harnisch, president of the Young Republicans, "because this ward was only recently annexed to Lansing and a complete canvass has not been made up to this time."

"The purpose of the canvass is to determine the number of GOP voters and potential GOP voters within a given precinct."

This gives the Republican State Central Committee some idea of their strengths and weaknesses within the various precincts, he added.

Ray Lucas, a graduate student at MSU, who is working for the Republican State Central Committee, will act as coordinator between the Young Republicans and the State Central Committee. A committee head was scheduled to be picked Tuesday night at a meeting of the Young Republicans.

Hope Fades For Strike Settlement

DETROIT (AP)—Chances for an early end of a nationwide United Auto Workers strike against General Motors dimmed Tuesday as negotiations on local plant demands moved at a slow pace. Some local UAW officials predicted it might take at least two weeks to settle their problems and get workers back on assembly lines.

production of GM's 1965 automobiles—Chevrolets, Buicks, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles and Cadillacs—was halted when the union pulled more than a quarter-million workers off their jobs Sept. 25.

City Council Honors Chief Of Police Pegg

In one of the shortest meetings on record, the East Lansing City Council recognized 25 years of service by Chief of Police Charles F. Pegg.

City Manager John M. Patriarche spent much of the 18 minute Monday session commending Chief Pegg for his accomplishments in the fields of law enforcement and crime prevention.

"Rising through the ranks to his present position after graduation from MSU's school of police administration, Pegg has always shown sincere interest and initiative in his job," Patriarche said.

The City Manager praised Pegg for his work with both the Michigan Police Chief's Association (a past president) and the International Police Chief's Association, and for his support of youth activities.

"I consider our police department the best in Michigan," Mayor Gordon L. Thomas added. "I agree with you," Pegg said. "Really, they've been twenty-five very enjoyable years. I want to thank you for your kind words," he said.

The Council acted on a request from the Board of Water and Light for permission to install a new underground electric duct line, a recommendation for approval of a sewer easement supplied by Consumers Power Company, and receipt of audits for the fiscal year 1963-64 from Ernst and Ernst. Each was approved unanimously.

City Manager Patriarche was appointed delegate and Chief Pegg alternate to the annual meeting of the Michigan Municipal Employees Retirement System.

Parking in the downtown area will be a subject at the first meeting in November, Patriarche said.

"Beat-UM" Is The Battle Cry

"Beat-UM," to be interpreted either as an Indian chant or beat the University of Michigan, is the theme of a pep rally, sponsored by Spartan Spirit to be held Friday night.

Louie Bender, holder of the "Ugliest Greek" title will be master of ceremonies at the rally, which will begin at the IM field at 7 p.m. At the conclusion of the pep-wow, Big Chief Duffy Daugherty, Spartan football coach, will "kill" a helium balloon Wolverine to send it to the happy hunting grounds.

Police estimated that 8,000 persons attended last week's pep rally.

Conferences Bar Tshombe

CAIRO (AP)—The Conference of Nonaligned Nations Tuesday officially barred Premier Moise Tshombe of the Congo, who has been virtually under house arrest since he arrived uninvited, from attendance.

Tshombe was told his participation would be inappropriate.

Leaders of the Nonaligned Nations sent a delegation to walled Aruba Palace in suburban Heliopolis to inform Tshombe he would not be admitted to the talks, but that President Joseph Kasavubu of the Congo would be welcome.

Tshombe watched the conference proceedings on a television set in the palace. A cordon of Egyptian police ringed the palace, apparently to make certain the imperturbable Congolese leader would remain on the receiving end of the television tube.

Whether the latest rebuff would convince Tshombe he should return home was uncertain. He had finally reached Cairo before dawn aboard a scheduled Ethiopian Airlines flight from Greece after his chartered jet had been denied permission to land Monday and was forced to proceed to Athens.

Teamsters Back Their President

Union Joins Hoffa In Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Teamsters Union says its treasury may be virtually drained fighting a suit by members to recover huge legal fees it spent to defend Teamster President James R. Hoffa and other union officials in criminal cases.

But the union is insisting that it be named a defendant along with Hoffa and 18 other top officials in the federal court civil suit filed by a group of rank and file teamsters.

The union filed papers saying the suit by six Philadelphia Teamsters, plus the request of about 500 others to join the suit, raises "the distinct probability that the funds of the international will be substantially depleted by such actions."

The union argued the plaintiffs could be awarded legal fees from union funds.

At the same time, Hoffa, Vice

Graduate Student Defies Library 'Check' Regulation

Like many doctoral students, Robert Willis of East Lansing carries a brief case to the library. But unlike most students, Willis objects to having it inspected before he leaves the library.

Willis told the State News Tuesday morning that he refused to allow the employee at the library check-out desk to inspect the inside of his brief case.

"I did this knowing it was a violation of University rules, but I felt the inspection is a violation of my rights as an individual."

Willis said he wasn't sure what the legal rights involved were, but he said he would probably secure an attorney to define them.

Richard E. Chapin, director of libraries, said he talked to Willis about the regulation but could not convince him of its validity.

Chapin said that other students had refused to have their brief cases inspected, but when he talked to them about the necessity of a major research library including such a rule in its system, they understood.

Not The Only Threat

Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater has made the comforting but ostrich-like discovery that Communism is "the only real threat to peace in the world today."

Goldwater made his startling statement to a crowd of 30,000 at Wheaton College in Illinois last weekend and hammered at the same theme throughout a three-day tour of the Midwest.

Now no one is denying that Communism, particularly the war-like brand of the Red Chinese, is a threat to world serenity.

But does Mr. Goldwater really mean that Communism is the only threat to peace on earth?

To regard Communism as the big-bad-wolf behind all of the world's problems is a soothing but unrealistic theory.

Racial prejudice is responsible for violence and strife in our own land as well as in other nations. Unreasoning ignorance which shackles men because of the color of their skin, national origin or form of worshipping God is as great an enemy to world peace as Communism.

Extreme poverty is another threat to peace which cannot be attributed to the evil masterminds of international Communism.

Because it offers simple ideological solutions to complex problems, Communism often finds a fertile breeding ground among the poor. But the original causes of violence in backward nations are the unspeakable economic and social conditions which allow Communism to flourish.

The Union of South Africa, where a policy of apartheid condemns the black majority of inhabitants to the status of near-beasts, is not a Communist nation. It seems doubtful that even Goldwater could blame violence in South Africa on the Communists.

What Goldwater really needs is a lesson in history, for history lists an endless number of causes for strife among men.

Most of them boil down to a tragic rejection of the dictum expressed by William Allen White, one of the most famous newspaper editors in American history.

"Liberty is the only thing you cannot have unless you are willing to give it to others."

An Editorial Policy

Throughout the remainder of the campaign, the State News will comment in this editorial column on local, state and national election issues and candidates.

The paper will not endorse any candidate. It will not urge students to vote for any particular person. However, the State News reserves the right to criticize or praise the statements of candidates of either party in editorials.

Signed columns by individual staff members may often take strong positions favoring one candidate, as do "Points of View" columns written by students who do not work for the State News. These are individual opinions only.

Students or faculty members who disagree with opinions expressed in either editorials or columns are urged to express their viewpoints in letters to the editor or "Points of View." A balance of political opinions is extremely desirable in a newspaper.

However, the State News will continue to express its own views on the positions of any candidate. Only a "milktoast" newspaper would fail to do so in an election year.

Public Accommodations Open

Editor's Note: This is part III of a series written by Jim Spaniolio, Cassopolis freshman, on the new civil rights law.

Title III, the desegregation of public facilities section of the civil rights law, empowers the attorney general to initiate or intervene in suits aimed at desegregating public facilities other than schools. Included are parks, libraries, hospitals and playgrounds.

The attorney general or the Justice Department is authorized to assist only when an individual or individuals are unable to pursue the remedy to the alleged discriminatory act.

The attorney general is also authorized to intervene in private actions brought by persons seeking relief from a denial of equal protection of the law, as stated in the fourteenth amendment, because of race, creed, color or national origin.

All cases under this title are to be heard in a district court with a jury if criminal contempt is involved. In any legal action where the Justice Department takes part or is involved in, the United States is responsible for court costs and attorney's fees. The law also states that there is nothing in the title to hinder the right of any person to sue or enact a civil action in any court against discrimination in any facility covered under the title.

Persons who are in opposition to this title claim that it gives the attorney general and the Justice Department an excess of powers. They say that also it leads to federal intervention in local and state proceedings. In addition, opponents assert that this section goes beyond the powers of Congress and moves Federal authority into new areas.

Supporters of the law say many people are financially unable to sue, and others face retaliation from hostile local officials and neighbors if they do so. In many states segregation is wholeheartedly supported by state and local laws. It is therefore necessary for someone to step in and assist these people and see that justice and equal treatment prevails. They also claim that this title merely provides an additional and needed remedy for the assurance of constitutional rights.

Though this title aroused less controversy than some of the others, it will, nonetheless, if implemented and enforced, bring about new changes in the makeup of the South. The facilities and establishments that have been closed to Negroes for so long are now open.

In other parts of the country the impact of this title as with most of the law will be apparently less. In the South officials certainly desire to keep the facilities segregated, but resent even more the manner in which they are made to desegregate them.

Letters To The Editor

No Exchange Of Ideas In Class Of Hundreds

To the Editor:

I would like to make a suggestion. Why should two hundred or more students attend a class, if all the instructor does is lecture and assign readings? It seems more reasonable to mimeograph the lectures and pass them out. This atmosphere, of a monster class, is not conducive to asking questions or having any form of discussion. Even the student that has an important question, fears to ask it because of lack of time.

I've always thought learning was the process of exchanging ideas. To where and to whom does today's student respond? Perhaps a tricky multiple choice test, will be the only communication the student has with his instructor. How can there be an exchange of ideas if an instructor can't even assign a term paper and read it, due to the lack of hours in a day?

We regurgitate. But do we learn? How can we learn when we're not taught but lectured? I'm assuming most of us want to learn. I may be wrong. Perhaps we're here to obtain our passports to success. If this is so then the college community is fooling itself into believing its still functioning to fulfill the needs of the intellect.

What is being done or will be done to bring education back to college? Does our society care? Someone must. I know I can't be alone in my dissatisfaction. What can I, as an individual, do about this? Or am I stopped at the letters to the Editor?

Fraternity Brotherhood Amusing

To the Editor:

There was a time when I could amuse myself by reading the offerings of "brotherhood" in the Rush advertisement of MSU fraternities—offerings of "brotherhood" in the face of the reality of a rather sharp division between WASP, Jewish and Negro fraternities. Beta Theta Pi threatens to usurp this pleasure by advertising nothing more than a cantilevered sun deck. My complaint is that there are fewer laughs in kitsch architecture than in fraternities without brotherhood.

Goldwater Against NDEA

To the Editor:

In a recent article in the State News Henry C. Dykema, the director of financial aids, stated that last year 1,256 MSU students received $483,108 under the National Defense Education Act (NDEA) loan program. This year 1,800 students have already applied for these loans. Undoubtedly many students could not attend MSU were it not for this program. After graduation these individuals will go on to provide valuable contributions to our society. In fact, it is for just this reason that our government has chosen to invest valuable tax money in our futures. In this election year it should be remembered that the Republican candidate for president voted AGAINST this bill. It should also be remembered that over 70 per cent of his Senate colleagues voted for it.

Thank you,

Campus Summary

Buildings In New Shape

By Mike Kindman

With the start of classes this term, many students have been required to adopt a pioneering spirit toward their schedules. Something like, "I'll get to class no matter what happens, even if I have to climb over four tractors and a construction crew to do it. In some cases, things aren't far from this."

The new, $6 million chemistry building is in use now, even though it is not yet completed, even on the two lower floors where classes are already being held. The chemistry department, previously confined to outdated facilities in Kedzie Chem Lab and in several quonset huts, appears relieved to get some of its classes into a partially-completed building.

Andrew Timnick, associate professor of chemistry, said, "There was a little confusion, we'll admit that," when general and organic chemistry classes were rescheduled at the last minute. The first and second floors of the building—where "a few things like window sills have to be put in" are still better, Timnick said, than remaining in the old facilities.

"It's not perfect and I think we who are teaching have to realize that," Timnick said.

The new biochemistry building, across a mud flat from the chemistry building, is no more complete than its neighbor, but is being used less, due to the lighter teaching load in biochem.

One floor and several lecture rooms, the areas needed for teaching, are complete and in use, according to N. Edward Tolbert, professor of biochemistry.

Biochemistry is primarily a research department, Tolbert said. The large research areas of the building will not be completed until December, in time for winter term, and cannot be used for research until they are entirely complete.

"We would like to be in our new building," he said, "but we can't complain any, because they just can't get it done any faster."

Fee and Akers Halls, the new east campus dormitories housing more than 2,400 students, and the nearby Conrad Hall library-auditorium annex, could not be quite so patient. They were set to be used fall term, and nothing was going to stop students, classes and books from moving in.

Harry H. Kimber, director of residence instruction, expressed great satisfaction with the success of the teaching program in Akers Hall, which is considered a classroom and office annex of the College of Arts and Letters.

Some 27 separate classes are being held in the dorms, 18 rooms lacking only a few finishing touches. "Our classes have developed over here better than we thought they would," Kimber said. "We had expected a rather lean term or two."

Kimber said that both he and Dean Paul Varg of Arts and Letters are extremely satisfied with what he termed the "amazing" reception of the teaching program in the far-off dorm.

Fee Hall, which is a College of Social Science annex as well as a 1,200-person dormitory, has met with similar success, despite the transportation problems of getting out to the far eastern end of campus for classes.

Conrad Hall, according to Peter J. Eckel Jr., manager of Fee Halls, will be completed perhaps by the middle of this month. Its auditorium wing was readied with temporary facilities in time for the start of classes. Its library wing will be one of the last facilities in the entire three-building complex to be completed.

Eckel said that only finishing touches are required on some facilities in the two large dorms, and that most of the work will be done within a week or two. The completion of all sidewalks and landscaping will follow within the year.

Pull up a seat, freshmen, while old Jim sings to you about a big event that happened last spring term: (Tune: MSU Shadows)

MSU, we love thy shadows, they're a handy place to hide
From the Shlawassee police when they scour the countryside.
Beneath the pines we'll gather and chug a case or two
Then we'll hide from Sheriff Porter in the safety of MSU.

AUGS has quite a fete planned for Homecoming. They seem to be following a "bread and circuses" program this year. If this goes on I can see it now—cheering crowds in Spartan Stadium with the Board of Trustees fighting for their lives against the University buses.

Did you know the IBM computer stopped three times during fall registration? They forgot to wind the rubber band.

My roommate has a different way of meeting girls. He'll go up to one and say, "Let me see your ID, I'm with the secret police." The girl replies, "But I didn't know we had a secret police." "I told you," he answers, "we're secret."

Peronists break up DeGaulle Motorcade

CORDOBA--A mob of 3,000 Peronist demonstrators broke up a motorcade carrying President Charles DeGaulle of France and Arturo Illia of Argentina through this industrial city Tuesday. Bullets, tear gas, clubs and rocks wounded 12 persons around the car as police fought back the demonstrators. The mob apparently sought DeGaulle's support for the return of ex-dictator Juan Peron, now living in Spain.

Russians Charge Attaches Were Spying

MOSCOW--The Russians charged that three U.S. military attaches and a British attaché searched by Russian authorities in the Khabarovsk incident were spying. It was officially hinted they may be barred from the Soviet Union.

Nixon Says NATO Has Nuclear Okay

APPLETON, Wis.--Former Vice-President Richard M. Nixon said both President Eisenhower and President Kennedy gave NATO commanders the right to use tactical nuclear weapons, and "if President Johnson has changed this policy he should inform the American people."

Ike Takes No Position on Johnson Policy

WASHINGTON--Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said he has taken no position pro or con on a Republican task force's report criticizing President Johnson's policy on control of tactical weapons.

The former president, in a statement issued from his Gettysburg, Pa., office, said that "certain press accounts" had misinterpreted his remarks at a New York press conference Monday.

Queen Cheered At First Canadian Stop

Spokesman Says Cong Shifts Emphasis

SAIGON, Viet Nam--A U.S. military spokesman said Tuesday the Communist Viet Cong apparently has switched the emphasis of its campaign from military to political means, especially since the August riots in Saigon.

"Obviously, the military activities during September were not decisive one way or the other," he said. "Ever since the riots in Saigon one gets the impression that the V.C. (Viet Cong) have not staked their future on the military side. They probably are active in many other fields."

Indonesia Signs Soviet Weapons Agreement

MOSCOW--Indonesia signed an agreement with the Soviet Union Tuesday to obtain more weapons, an Indonesian embassy spokesman said.

The agreement was signed by a mission headed by Gen. Abdul Harris Nasution, Indonesian defense minister. The mission has been here 11 days seeking military equipment for use in the confrontation with Malaysia.

Earthquakes Shake Northwestern Turkey

ISTANBUL, Turkey--A sharp series of earthquakes shook Istanbul and a wide area of northwestern Turkey Tuesday, killing at least 10 persons.

Istanbul Observatory placed the epicenter of the quake 80 miles southwest of Istanbul.

Musical Show To Ignite Homecoming's Merriment

A Friday night show in Jenison Field House will be among the new features in the 1964 Homecoming weekend Oct. 23-24, with the theme, "Morrills-Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow."

This year All-University Student Government (AUSG) is working closely with the Alumni Club in sponsoring the Saturday night dance, previously sponsored only by the alumni.

Friday's show, from 9 to 11:30 p.m. will bring to campus the Village Stompers, recorders of "Rockin' in the Rhythm" and "From Russia with Love," and the Gateway Trio, a folk singing group which has appeared on National Hootenanny three times.

"This is the first time such a show has ever been held in Jenison," said Warren Platt, general co-chairman and St. John's, Ariz., senior. "We're holding it there so there will be room for all students to attend."

Admission is $1 per person. A pep rally outside Jenison on Old College Field will precede the show, and a midnight carillon sing at Beaumont Tower will conclude the evening's activities.

Music at the Saturday night dance, to be held from 8:30 to 12:30 in the Auditorium, will be by Maynard Ferguson. The Gateway Trio will also stay to sing at intermission.

Also at intermission the Homecoming display trophies will be presented, the Homecoming Queen and her court will be introduced and four new members of Excalibur, senior men's honorary, will be named.

Tickets for the dance are $4 per couple. Tickets for both the dance and the show are on sale in all residence hall complexes, the Union and the International Center.

Representatives from all women's living units will enter the queen contest. A panel of student leaders will select finalists, from which the court will be selected by AUSG president Bob Harris, Bryan, Ohio, senior; Skip Scandirite, queen contest chairman and Mt. Clemens senior; and a group of three faculty members and local businessmen.

The 10 attendants and the queen will be presented at the halftime show of the MSU-Northwestern game here Oct. 24. The band will also present a program then. Bill Bremer, a display chairman for off-campus independent students and East Lansing senior, has asked that all groups planning to enter that contest contact him sometime this week at the Students' Off-Campus office, 313 Student Services, telephone 355-8300.

Council Petitions

Freshmen may petition for positions on Frash-Soph Council Thursday through next Wednesday.

Petitions are available at residence hall desks, the Union desk and in 317 Student Services from 1 to 5 p.m.

Teamsters

President Harold Gibbons and Secretary-Treasurer John F. English admitted authorizing payment of union funds for legal fees in criminal cases, but contended it was legal.

They did not specify how much money has been spent on legal fees, but attorneys for the rank and file group estimate it at at least $1 million.

Hoffa announced in the midst of his recent Chicago fraud trial that he would stop drawing on union money to pay his court and lawyers' costs. This was after the issue created a dispute within the union's ruling executive board.

Hoffa was convicted and sentenced to five years in the Chicago trial for conspiring to defraud the Teamsters' pension fund. He also faces an earlier jury tampering conviction.

Seymour J. Spelman, attorney for the rank and file group suing for recovery of the legal fees, is opposing the union's efforts to be named a defendant.

Spelman said this would put the union in the position of suing itself and compound the action complained of in the suit. He named the union as a plaintiff along with six rank and file Teamsters, and contends there is no danger of the union having to pay legal fees as a plaintiff.

Math Seminar Rescheduled

A seminar concerning the application of mathematics to space to be given by Ted Guinn has been rescheduled for today from 4 to 5 p.m. in the Auditorium of the Engineering Building. The title of the seminar is "First Order Necessary Conditions for Variational and Optimal Control Problems."

New ROTC Bill Not Retroactive

By PHYLLIS HELPER
State News Staff Writer

President Johnson has signed an ROTC bill to increase financial and scholastic benefits, but the bill itself will be meaningless for MSU students enrolled in the program at this time.

The bill is intended to induce students by offering both scholarship aid and briefer periods of duty. One program under consideration is that of a "two-year-course."

This training period would be held during the summer between the sophomore and junior year for six to eight weeks. In this way, the first two years of college training would be replaced, and the service obligation after school would also be reduced to two years.

Col. George Davies described the bill as "a briefer college requirement, and a briefer active duty requirement, at lesser public expense."

Although the bill has been signed by the President, it must still be sent to the Secretary of Defense, the individual branches of the services, and ultimately to the MSU Board of Trustees where it can either be accepted or rejected," he added.

This program pertains to freshmen entering in the fall of 1965 who would enter the program in the summer of 1967.

Traffic Appeals Must Sign Up

All persons who are appealing traffic tickets received on campus are requested to sign up for a court appearance date by the Student Traffic Appeal Court. Persons should go to Quonset 103 between 8 a.m. and 4:15 p.m. to fill out an appeal form and sign up for a court appearance.

Club To Meet

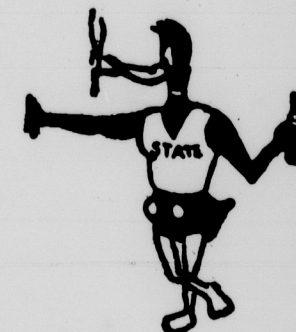

The MSU Amateur Radio Club will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in room 100 Engineering Building. The club's summer and future activities will be discussed, and Lawrence Von Teresh, the club's trustee, will be the main speaker.

Campus Rumors Clarified

Romney To See Game; Nixon Will Visit Area

By WILLIAM R. PRITCHARD
State News Political Writer

Rumors going around campus on who will and who will not be in this area before the Nov. 3 election were clarified Tuesday. It had been rumored that Gov. George W. Romney, Democratic Gubernatorial Candidate Neal Stabler, Richard M. Nixon, and Alabama Gov. George Wallace would address several MSU campus groups within the next several weeks.

Governor George Romney will be at the Michigan-Michigan State game Saturday.

Romney will sit for the first half on the State side of the field, then at halftime he and Mrs. Romney will be escorted across to the U-M side where he will watch the rest of the game.

Before the game, Romney will attend a brunch in Kellogg Center with legislators and government officials.

Neal Stabler, democratic gubernatorial candidate will not attend because he will be speaking before a machinists' group in Jackson on the day of the game.

Nixon will hold a press conference at 11:30 a.m. before the luncheon.

Governor George Wallace, D-Ala., originally scheduled to speak last spring term, Deller said, and, during the summer had accepted the invitation.

Deller said he then received a telegram in the fall saying Wallace had to cut his speaking schedule short and could not come here.

States rights and constitutionalism would have been Wallace's topics, Deller said.

Heads of the professed neutral states and governments met during the day, then issued a communique on a no-questions-asked basis. The statement never referred to the Congo leader as premier, only as Moise Tshombe.

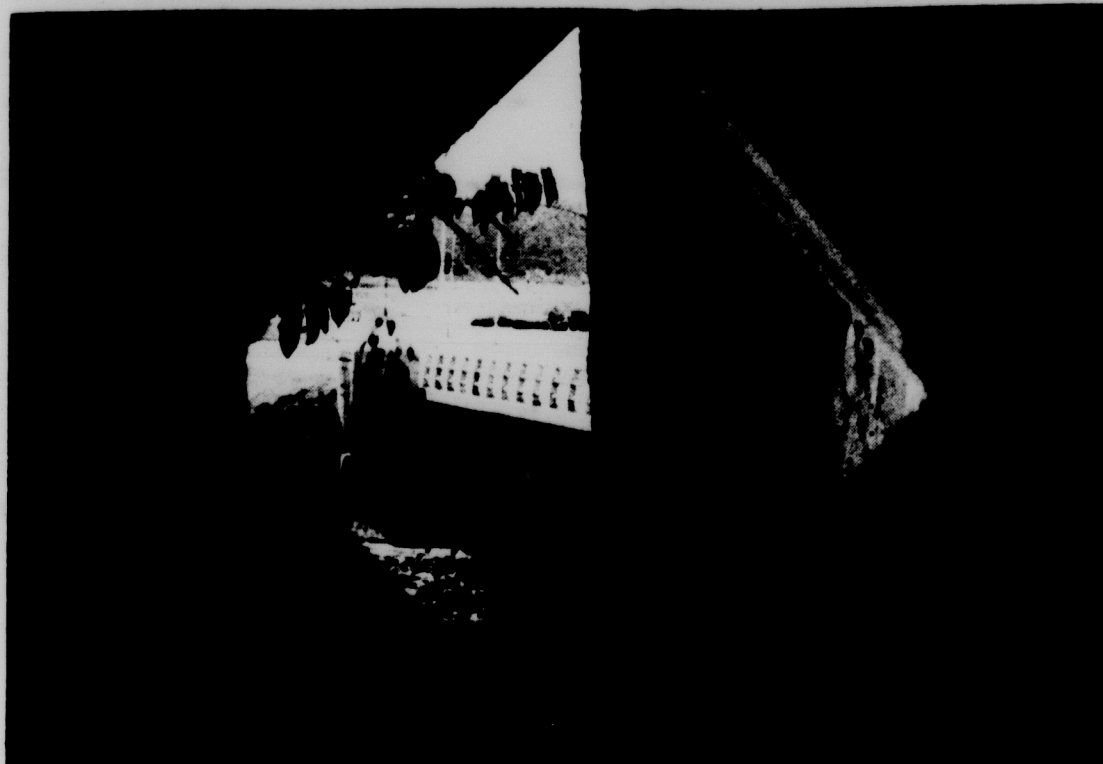

A portion of the communique said:

"Following deliberation of all aspects under consideration, the meeting decided that participation of Mr. Moise Tshombe would be inopportune as long as the Organization of African Unity's Congo ad hoc committee...has not fulfilled satisfactorily the mandate entrusted to it."

Haydn Work Disappointing

London Symphony Pleases A Near-Capacity Audience

By LEON WHEELER
State News Reviewer

A near-capacity audience heard the London Symphony Orchestra under the baton of George Solti open the 52nd season of the University Lecture-Concert Series Monday night in the Auditorium.

The program opened with Benjamin Britten's "Sinfonia da Requiem, Opus 20." The first movement "Lacrymosa" had a quiet pulsating plea of sadness.

Climaxing the Britten work were the repeated triplets of the trumpets and horns in the "Dies Irae," the second movement. You could sense a state of complete chaos of the day of wrath. One climax followed another until the third movement, the "Requiem Aeternam, give them eternal rest." A short climax was heard and the "Sinfonia" ended quietly and "triumphantly."

Solti's interpretation of Haydn's Symphony No. 104 in D

Major (London Symphony), was disappointing. The tempos gave the impression of "what will come next" even though you were familiar with the work.

The third movement the "Menuetto Allegro" was nevertheless delightful.

After the intermission, Solti lead the orchestra through Bartok's "Concerto for Orchestra." This is perhaps one of the composer's most famous works but the Concerto does not rank among his best artistic achievements. It does show however his undeniable skill as an orchestrator to convey less than great musical ideas and his heterogeneous style.

In the Bartok, the London Symphony Orchestra was able to show its virtuosity among it's young personnel. For it's encore the orchestra played the elegant military march "Pomp and Circumstance," by Edgar Elgar.

in-charge, Optical Maser

cations of Lasers (Optical nority groups, those who are able to put together an expensive lobby in Washington and make themselves heard," he said. "These are the ones that have been benefitting from government handouts financed by you."

Before some 6,000 people in the mainline town of Ardmore, Goldwater added "the issues are not what we call bread and butter issues."

"They are issues of the way of life we are going to live and it's as simple as that," he said.

Humphrey and Miller were both campaigning hard Tuesday.

Miller moved into the South for the first time...telling an audience at Asheville, N. C., that President Johnson is "a public relations politician instead of a leader."

Miller kicked off his Southern tour with a stop at Wilmington where he said a Republican administration would "keep the peace through strength."

Humphrey spoke before the National Conference of Catholic Charities in St. Louis. He jabbed at the Republican campaign theme that lawlessness in the streets must be stopped.

Humphrey said: "It's not how do we enforce the law but how do we make it just?"

Finding old friends, speaking to thousands and proclaiming her pride in the Southland, Texas-born Mrs. Johnson electioneered her way through Virginia and North Carolina.

She drew crowds at every one of her seven morning stops.
There were plenty of cheering-- and even squealing--youngsters.

The welcome seemed to get more exuberant as the train moved South. Local politicians, who rode along the route, left the red, white and blue Lady Bird hospitality car beaming.

Kirov Ballet To Perform

The 223-year-old Leningrad

Part of the Lecture-Concert series, the ballet will perform Monday, series "A," and Tuesday, series "B," both at 8:15 p.m., in the Auditorium.

A complete performance of "Swan Lake" will mark the Monday night program, Tuesday a "Gala Performance" of ballet scenes from both classical and modern dance will be presented.

The Series "B" program will include excerpts from "Bayaderka" by Ludwig Minkus;
"Fairy Doll" by Baier, "The Gossips" by Shiko Aranov; "The Swan Lake" and "The Nutcracker" by Tchaikovsky; and
"Prince Igor" by Borodin.

terms, only two new local-level working agreements were reported in the 24 hours following national settlement.

Another 115 still remained to be resolved at 130 GM plants around the nation, and workers are not expected to return until the bulk of these have been settled.

In 1961, after GM and the UAW reached agreement on national level issues, local strikes kept the No. 1 automaker shut another 11 days.

Following selective strike strategy, the union did not include in its strike call those workers employed at GM plants which sell parts and accessories to the firm's chief rivals--Ford and Chrysler.

A spot check of union locals around the country indicated the mood of the workers fit the UAW's slogan of "solidarity forever."

the Chicago White Sox snapped another string of Yankee flags in 1959.

Since that time, the Pittsburgh Pirates, Cincinnati Reds, San Francisco Giants, and Los Angeles Dodgers have paraded into the World Series against the "Bombers" and in 1958 it was the Milwaukee Braves.

While this is just the tenth championship for the Cards, and their first since 1946, about the only things new to New York are that it's Manager Yogi Berra's initial pennant as a pilot and the first for the Yanks in a year ending in "4."

Berra said Whitey Ford, an experienced man to World Series assignments, would pitch the opener while Cardinal Manager Johnny Keane will go with Ray Sadecki. Both are lefthanders. Keane says slugging third baseman Ken Boyer and second baseman Julian Javier are definite starters for the opener.

Boyer pulled a hamstring muscle and Javier is nursing a bruised hip but both are recovering.

"There is no question about Boyer," Keane said, "and Javier is all right, too." Shortstop Dick Groat has a bump on his knee but he's okay. I couldn't keep him out of the lineup if I wanted to."

Although the Cardinal infield is intact, it's virtually certain that Yankee shortstop Tony Kubek will watch the series from the sidelines.

Baseball commissioner Ford Frick is expected to approve the removal of Kubek from the series eligibility list because of a badly sprained wrist.

Rookie first baseman Mike Hegan probably will be activated and utility infielder Phil Linz is designated to start at short.

Frick and the Yankees have until one minute before game time to make a decision on Kubek.

The Yankees' probable batting order will have Linz at short, Bobby Richardson at second, Roger Maris in center, Mickey Mantle in right, Elston Howard, the catcher, Tom Tresh in left, Joe Pepitone at first, Clete Boyer at third, and Ford, pitching.

For the Cardinals, it will be Curt Flood in center, Lou Brock in left, Groat at short, Boyer at third, Bill White at first, Javier at second, Mike Shannon in right, Jim McCarver, catching, and Sadecki, the pitcher.

Rookie Mel Stottlemyre will start the second game for the Yankees Thursday against St. Louis' Bob Gibson.

SEEK THIRD WIN TODAY

Booters At Home With Calvin

Aiming for its second consecutive title in the Midwest Collegiate Soccer Conference, the Michigan State soccer squad plays its third league rival this afternoon.

Starting at 3:30 on MSU's soccer field, located south of Spartan stadium, State's boosters host the rough Calvin College squad from Grand Rapids.

In their first two games of the season, the Spartans breezed to victory, defeating Earlham 6-1 and walloping Purdue, 15-0.

Calvin goes into the game with one victory and one defeat, a 2-1 loss last Saturday to Wheaton--the Spartans' next opponent.

Students will be admitted to today's soccer match with Calvin College upon presenting their ID's. No tickets are required.

Calvin's assets include experience, spirit and a strong defense. Basically, Calvin has its same squad returning with a year's development behind it.

In six previous contests with Calvin, the Spartan boosters were victors each time, blanking the opponents five times and allowing only one Calvin goal in the other game.

Staying with his revamped defense except for the return of goalie Charlie Dedich, Coach Gene Kenney said, "If we play our regular game, everything should go all right."

All-American George Janes, who suffered a slight charley-horse in Saturday's game with Purdue, will be ready to go.

Against Purdue Janes tied a Spartan record of six goals in one game.

One doubtful starter for the Spartans is center halfback Manny Ruschelski who is recovering from tooth extraction.

Satellite To Relay Olympics

WASHINGTON (AP)—American hopes of seeing good television shots of the Olympic Games were boosted this week by the quality of test pictures relayed from Japan by Syncom 3.

The satellite is hovering 22,300 miles in space over the Pacific.

The Communications Satellite Corporation (COMSAT) promised even better pictures for the formal inauguration of the trans-Pacific TV space link on Oct. 6, with the installation of highly-refined specialized equipment flown from Tokyo to this country with a team of Japanese engineers.

The sharpest picture distributed by COMSAT shows Japanese runners at the starting line on the big oval where the Olympics will begin this Saturday.

I changed the color of my skin so it won't rub off. Now I know what it feels like to be black!

This is the story of a white man who chemically changed the color of his skin. He travelled through the South—a white man looking at other white men... through the eyes of a Negro! Based on the shocking book, "BLACK LIKE ME" by John Howard Griffin, it now becomes a distinguished motion picture of striking power... it will be one of the year's most controversial films!

State's Duffy Tabbed By UPI As Coach Of Week

COACH DUFFY DAUGHERTY

Spartan Head Coach Duffy Daugherty was named United Press International's Coach of the Week Tuesday for his team's startling 17-7 upset of Southern California.

But that's not enough to satisfy Duffy. He wants to be Coach of the Week next week too because that—at least in Michigan—would also make him Coach of the Year.

For MSU, the one-time stepchild of big time football in the Midwest, there are two big games a year.

One is the traditional encounter with Notre Dame but bigger still is the meeting with the University of Michigan.

This grudge battle, with the exception of two war years in the 1940s, has been going on annually since 1910 and according to Daugherty, "when we win that one we feel we've gone a long way towards 'making' our season."

This year, once again, the big game will draw a capacity crowd of at least 76,000 at Spartan stadium.

The largest crowd to see the game was the 103,234 in 1959 at Ann Arbor. This not only is Michigan's all-time record gathering but it's the best in the Big Ten.

Last week's victory against the Trojans, then ranked the No. 2 team in the nation, was good evidence of Daugherty's coaching ability. In preseason ratings, MSU had been picked to go nowhere and the evaluation seemed valid when in their opening game the Spartans were beaten 22-15 by North Carolina.

But now MSU is rated No. 12 in the nation and a victory over Michigan would almost certainly vault the Spartans into the Top Ten.

A year ago Daugherty also had a team no one regarded too highly before the season began. But a band of seniors who had shown little in preceding years suddenly blossomed forth as steady, high-grade players and MSU was in the running for the Big Ten title until the final game of the season, which they lost 13-0 to Illinois. To get anywhere this season Daugherty faced

Issues Warning

Words of caution were advanced Tuesday by MSU Ticket Manager Bill Beardsley concerning student identification cards which must be presented along with each ticket for Saturday's football game.

Persons presenting false I.D. cards with student tickets will have both confiscated and will be referred to the Dean of Students, Beardsley warned.

Tickets may be picked up by sophomores, juniors and seniors today, 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m., at the ticket window at Jenison. Tomorrow, the last day for activity book redemption, freshmen will be able to pick up their tickets.

an equally challenging task—he had to mold a group of untried sophomores into first stringers—Fast! And maybe he has.

Even Daugherty admits that at least four of his sophomores—Gene Washington, Charles (Bubba) Smith and George Webster and halfback Clinton Jones—have been coming through in stellar fashion.

"If they keep getting better, we'll keep getting better," Daugherty said. Then he cautioned, "You can't judge them on just one game. We have a long way to go before we can be an outstanding team."

Daugherty, who is in his 11th season as head coach and who was rewarded with a new five-year contract last season that carried a virtual lifetime extension guarantee, claimed in an interview he makes no special preparations to ready his teams mentally.

Going into the Southern Cal game, for instance, he said, "I just told them that you don't get many opportunities to play a team rated No. 2. I said if they were the type of young men I thought they were, they would accept the challenge and rise to the occasion."

Getting a team "up" for Michigan is no problem at all, Duffy said, particularly now, when Michigan is rated No. 4 nationally.

"This is the finest Michigan team in recent years. They have the size, speed and good ingredients of a good football team," Daugherty said.

However tough the Wolverines might be this year Duffy has one thing working in his favor. He has had more success against Michigan than any other coach in MSU history.

In 10 seasons Duffy's teams have won six, lost two and tied two. Even Biggie Munn, Duffy's predecessor who built the Spartans into a major gridiron power and who is now athletic director, won only four of seven encounters with Michigan.

Michigan holds the all-time edge, with 35 victories, to 16 for State, and there have been five ties.

Block 'S' Section Hopes To Flip To Brighter Side

By MIKE BROOKS
State News Sports Writer

Fans expecting to see a new and improved Block 'S' at Spartan Stadium last week end were in for a few surprises; the biggest being that until just before half-time it was very small.

In fact, only several hundred filled the 1,180 allotted seats. Bob Amsler, chairman of the Block 'S' committee, blamed the poor attendance and resulting performance on the fact that most freshmen did not know what the purpose of the block was. He also expressed hope that there won't be a torrent of flying cards following next week's show.

Not only did it create a safety hazard, but it also added to the already hundred-plus hour job of repacking the cards, according to Amsler.

Amsler said that his committee will continue to run Block 'S' on a club basis, and that he believes this week greater interest will be shown.

Students will be required to exchange their activity book coupons for tickets today at dinner at special desks set up in South Case, Butterfield, West Fee, East McDonell, West Landon, and Landon.

All those who receive tickets will be expected to come to the practice where Block 'S' membership cards will be distributed. Students need not reside in the hall where they obtain tickets.

Busy Week For Spartan Teams, Clubs

Athletes in a wide variety of sports will meet this week as Spartan sports spring into action. All interested students are invited to attend.

Green Splash, a synchronized swimming honorary for women, will hold practice tonight and every Wednesday at 7:30 in the Women's IM pool. Tryouts will be held Nov. 18.

Freshman hockey players must attend a meeting tonight at 7 p.m. in 223 Jenison.

Rowing is also on the calendar as all potential rowers meet in 217 Men's IM at 7 p.m.

The women's speed swimming team meets at 4:15, Monday through Thursday, in the Women's IM. No previous experience is required.

Potential student managers for the basketball team are requested to meet tomorrow at 4 p.m. in 209 Jenison.

Freshmen and transfer baseball players will meet tonight at 8:00 in 209 Jenison.

All weightlifters will meet Friday at 7:00 p.m. in 208 Men's IM. Films of the Olympic try-outs will be shown.

The deadline is Friday at 5 p.m. for all touch football, fraternity bowling, and independent volleyball rosters.

Building

Ready In December

The much needed Psychology Research Building will be completed in December, according to Clarence L. Winder, chairman of the psychology department.

The two-story, 30,000 square foot structure located near Kresge Art Center was first scheduled for completion in November, but strikes and other problems have put construction three weeks behind.

Winder explained that the building will handle the $350,000 in research contracts the Department has at any given time.

These come from such organizations as the National Science Foundation and the National Institute of Health. Students of psychological research will also make use of the buildings facilities.

Cost of the building is $890,000, with the National Science Foundation contributing $300,000 and the University contributing the rest.

In the basement will be 20 experimental rooms for animals, the other floors to be used for experiments on human subjects.

Three observation rooms will contain one-way mirrors, through which observers can watch their subjects. Other rooms will be shielded with iron or copper screens. Inside, electrical devices will detect current potentials or "brain waves" in the nervous system.

Sound-proof rooms will be used for experiments such as the effects of continuous loud sounds on the ear or brain.

U.K. Candidates Stand, Don't Run

LONDON 4—Sir Alec Douglas-Home will not be running for re-election as prime minister in Britain's election next week—he'll be "standing" for election as a member of Parliament (MP).

That's one of the differences between British and United States elections. A British politician "stands" for election as an MP—one of the 630 separate constituency (district) elections that are held throughout the country Oct. 15. When the election is over the party leader with the strongest support in the House of Commons becomes the Queen's prime minister and forms a government.

Thus people throughout Britain will not be voting directly for Douglas-Home or Harold Wilson, Labor party leader, as prime minister. They will be voting for just one man, or woman, to represent the district. In most cases, of course, they will in fact be voting for the party, and the leader, their man represents.

An elector cannot vote a ticket, in fact he is not told officially what political party he is voting for. If, for example, two men named Brown are standing for election in his district—one a Tory and the other a Communist—the voter must remember first names or he could put his "X" beside the wrong man on the ballot. The paper gives only surnames, first names, addresses and occupations of the candidates.

Let's take a quick run through the mechanics of electing the British House of Commons.

The Queen has dissolved the old Parliament and writs have gone out to the returning officers in the 630 districts to hold an election to select a man, or woman, to represent the district.

Any man or woman can stand for election, providing he is British, over 21 and not a civil servant, a clergyman, of the established church or the Roman Catholic church, a judge, a lord, a criminal in jail, a bankrupt or a lunatic.

He need not live in the district where he seeks election. All he needs is a nomination form, signed by 10 electors in the district, which must be handed in with a deposit of 150 pounds ($420). The deposit is designed to scare off screwball candidates and is returned after the election if the candidate pulls more than one eighth of total votes cast in the constituency.

It is not necessary to be a member of a political party to be a candidate, and there is always a sprinkling of independents in the House of Commons. But the scales are weighted heavily in favor of the men with the party organizations behind them to help out with the canvassing, envelope addressing and the multitude of chores that make up an election campaign.

Every British subject over 21 has a vote in the area where he usually lives—but lords, criminals in jail and lunatics are barred from voting. While other foreigners living in Britain may not vote, citizens of the wholly independent Republic of Ireland who live here do have a vote.
