CROSS COUNTRY TEAM REPEATS ICAAAA VICTORY

Students Jam State Theater to Witness Butterfield's Treat

"Big Hearted Herbert" is shown free to Michigan State Students in appreciation of cooperation shown by students following Michigan game.

A mammoth crowd of over 1,000 students filled the Butterfield State theater last evening to attend the free show offered by Manager W. W. Thompson in celebrating the victory over the University of Detroit. It marked the first time in two years that the theater had been thrown open to students in celebration of a football victory, and the size of the crowd was evidence enough of the success of the offering.

Coach Lauren Brown's Spartan barriers captured the national championship for the second time in as many years at Van Cortlandt park Monday against the class of the east. Capt. Tom Ottey, blonde Olympic distance runner from M. S. C., placed first for the second consecutive year and became the first man in the history of this annual classic to do this feat. Nelson Gardner, sophomore flash, surprised many local fans with his brilliant running and placed third in this field of outstanding runners to give State more valuable points on the team championship.

Varsity Club will hold its annual initiation next week, according to word received from Ed Pongrace, president of the Varsity Club. Only team members who have won a major award in their sport are eligible for membership and the group to be initiated will be selected from those who have won their major S since the last initiation. The large S is the coveted prize for all students engaged in competitive sports here at State. The Varsity Club is their organization and open only to them.

Continuing one of the few traditions remaining in State's sports, the class of 1937 will entertain the freshmen at the annual Sophomore barbecue on Wednesday night, beginning at 7:30 p. m. Following the barbecue, there will be a pep meeting and send-off for the team, which leaves on Thursday for Lawrence, Kansas. 40-30 permission has been granted to co-eds by A. W. S. Glen O. Stewart, alumni secretary, will again be master of ceremonies as in years past. Appearing upon the program will be Prof. A. J. Clark, athletic council head, Coach Charles Bachman, Tom King and Miles Castrol, and various members of the team, who will comment briefly on the coming game with Kansas University.

THE CLEANED AND PRESSED --- TWICHELL'S

Tom Ottey

The Spartans have turned in a very fine record since they began competing in this National run in 1928. Brown, now coach of the Spartans, took a record in the run during that year. The following year the Spartans had a completely new record, which was second place with 57 team score of 81 points. Clark Chamberlain, another previous distance runner for State, finished third this year. In 1932 another Spartan team took fourth place with 120 points and Tom Ottey, instead of a long line of famous Spartan distance men, took a third in that year's run.

Tom Ottey, who last year ran the course in 30:51, ran the new course, used this year for the first time, in 31:54.6, which is considered fine time for this new layout. Following Gardner, in third position, was a large field of the best runners of the east. Johnny Hammer was the third Spartan to cross the finish line in 32nd place. He was followed by Eddie Bechtold in 28th place and Charley Dennis in 31st to complete the team score for the run. Unofficial returns of the race, wired back by Coach Brown, gave State 85 points in the meet. This is figured on the total points for all places held by Spartans and the official score may be lowered when each individual state's scores are dropped from the list when arriving on the official team score. John Gardner, sixth runner of State in this meet, finished in 38th place, bringing all the Spartan starters home within the first 40.

John Paul Jones, of Syracuse, early in the history of this meet won his first place three times in a row. He was followed by Cox, of Penn. State, who won first in 1926 and 1927. Now comes Tom Ottey of Michigan State, with firsts in 1932 and 1934. Ottey now ranks as the foremost barrier of Michigan State history with two firsts and a third in this meet. Clark Chamberlain is a close second with one first, one second and one third.

An interesting feature of this race was the fact that of the first ten men to finish, nine were contenders against Ottey in the run held last year. The field seemed much faster this year as the team (Continued on page 2)

State Society Celebrates Detroit Victory With Several Dances; Two Fraternities Sponsor Open Houses

Having had an ideal week-end for a football game as far as weather and crowds were concerned, State students turned to social activities to celebrate their victory in the last home game of the year.

Only one sorority ventured to hold a party this week-end. The Zeta Tau Alphas held their fall term party at the Masonic temple on Friday night. Other centers of attraction were the Harvesters' Ball, Installation dance, and a Union party.

Saturday night, the Hermians held their fall term party at the Union, and the Alpha Epsilon PIs held theirs at the Little Theatre, The Tics, Lambda Chi, Phi Kappas, and Theta Nus held open houses at their chapter houses.

Judging from the crowd, the rest of the college must have patronized Coral Gables where Emilio Caceres and his Aquila Club orchestra are now playing.

Alpha Gamma Delta

Alpha Gamma Delta entertained Mr. and Mrs. Laughlin and Mr. and Mrs. Osterhouse at dinner Saturday evening.

Week-end guests of the house were Eleanor Ritter, Millicent Thompson, Lois Woodard, Mrs. Frank Norton and Mrs. Deibert.

There was a buffet supper for visiting guests at the house Thursday evening.

GIRL COLONELS ARE INSTALLED

Pep Meeting and Dance Follow Installation Ceremonies at Armory.

Five co-eds were honored last Friday evening at the installation of corps sponsors in Demonstration Hall with honor guards of cavalry, infantry, artillery and with the band furnishing music for the affair.

Following the awarding of the insignia in their order to the sponsors, a pep meeting was held in the field beside the armory. The installation dance was held in the armory afterwards with Bill Porter's orchestra. This was open to all students in military uniforms.

With Col. Dorsey R. Rodney, commandant of the military department, presiding, the five girls chosen by the Officers' club received their appointments. Miss Mary VanHalteren, Kappa Alpha of East Lansing, was made honorary colonel of the corps at the opening ceremonies. Positions of honorary lieutenant-general were given to Miss Lorraine Snot, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Detroit, who will sponsor the cavalry; Miss Louise Collins, Chicago, sponsor of the infantry; and Miss Barbara Stone, East Lansing, sponsor of the band. These girls will be guests of honor at one of the spring parades, the military ball, and the inaugural review.

The installation procedure was conducted like a regular army ceremony under the direction of Capt. E. B. Cahill. Each sponsor was led into the hall, which was decorated with bunting and flags, by an escort selected by the Officers' club. John R. Randall, chaplain, Miss VanHalteren, followed by Edward Kepp and Miss Butler, Kenneth McLeod and Miss Snot, Robert Armstrong and Miss Collins, and William J. Gibson and Miss Stone.

A large crowd in attendance, Fraternity and sorority parties that evening ended the gala week-end. Monday evening an overflow "house" at a free show tendered the college folk due to the success of its football team during the present season.

The sophomore barbecue, ending class-enmity between the freshman and sophomore classes, will take place on Wednesday evening with a free dance to be held in the armory after the feed.

East Mary Mayo beat the Sigma Kappa soccer team last Friday.

On Friday, November 23, the Michigan State alumni of Detroit will hold a special Thanksgiving party in the intercollegiate alumni clubrooms. G. O. Stewart, alumni secretary, will be the speaker.

Helen McQuil, Marjorie Hughes, Dorothea Adams, Jean Orr, Cecilia Moody, and Miss Pharis were week-end guests at the Alpha Chi Omega house.

The members of the chapter entertained at an informal coffee after the U. of D. game.

GLOBE ACTORS STRESS STAGE PROPERTIES

"Our goal is to adhere to the progress that has been made in the rediscovery of the Elizabethan method of production and a more authentic treatment of Shakespeare," Stevens declared. "Throughout the 19th century Shakespeare's great plays were merely vehicles for stars. But now we are exhibiting our plays strictly along the lines of the discoveries made by William Poel, director of the Elizabethan Stage Society.

"We are not giving individual scenes or acts as one might suppose, but instead have prepared abbreviated versions so constructed that they preserve the highlights and motifs of the essential characters presented. Our joy this summer has been to view the enthusiasm with which our productions have been received by all classes of persons, young and old. We have known persons to attend 50 and even 60 performances. Numbers of high schools have reserved as many as 500 seats at a time, and literally hundreds of people have waited in line. The speed and zest of the Elizabethan method have appealed to the audiences of today. Our abbreviated versions have the brevity and swift continuity of the modern drama."

Another unusual feature of the Globe Theatre productions will be the rendering of Elizabethan music. Helene Rahn, a gifted concert artist who was the leading soprano of the Madrigal Singers at Merrie England at the World's Fair this summer, will sing such delightful songs of Old England as "Who is Silvia," "Passing By," "My Lovely Celia," and "Sing No More Ladies," to the accompaniment of old fashioned flutes, strings and a virginal, a replica of the instrument played by Queen Elizabeth.

Miss Rahn has appeared on the concert platform from coast to coast and is noted for her limpid voice, which has often been likened to that of Melba. Her voice was one of the notable features at the Village of Merrie England this summer when the Madrigal Singers appeared at sundown to sing on the village green facing the

COLLEGE BULLETIN

The life-saving classes, held under the auspices of Green Splash, will not be held this week because of the sophomore barbecue, but will meet next Tuesday night, November 27.

The traditional sophomore-freshman barbecue will be held Wednesday night in front of Demonstration hall at 7:30. Eats and speeches will be a feature of the evening and a pep meeting for the Kansas game and an all-college mixer will follow. The barbecue is open to all men and women of the two classes.

Sigma Xi, national chemistry fraternity, will sponsor a lecture by Prof. W. C. Hoar of the University of Michigan, in the chemistry lecture room, Thursday night at 8 o'clock. His subject will be "Public Water Supply, Recent Advances and Directions of Improvement." The public is invited.

Pershing Rifles club will hold a meeting of Demonstration hall at 7 p. m. tomorrow. It is important that all members attend.

The second Ladies' Night party of the year will be held tonight at the faculty clubrooms at the Union. Cards, refreshments, and dancing to Naté Fry's music will supply the entertainment.

Freshman convocation dinner and sophomore convocations will meet in the sun porch of the Union next Tuesday night at 7:30 with Virginia Kamps to make plans for the convocation. Members of the convocations are: Marion Andrews, Wilma Waggoner, Dorothy Langsdon, Betty Lou Ziegler, Edith Johnson, Ruth Martin, Nan Traylor, Virginia Lyons, Mary Ballard, and Ariene Richardson.

Camera club will elect officers at their meeting tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the private dining room on the second floor of the Union. Any student interested is invited to attend.

Benj. Watson, Ingham county assistant prosecuting attorney, will be the speaker at the meeting of the M. S. C. Young Republican club Wednesday at 7:30 o'clock at the Union faculty dining room. Mr. Watson is recognized as a student of constitutional problems. He will discuss the constitution as to the present attitudes and feelings prevalent among people of the state of Michigan. All students are invited.

The Globe Players have a fare for the unusual, and this delightful interlude between the perished versions of their two plays will be an eventful occasion.

Marc T. Nielsen, general manager of the organization, has announced that the entire original company will be brought direct from their triumphant engagement at the World's Fair, where they appeared in 1,100 performances under the direction of Thomas Wood Stevens. Critics acclaimed these performances of abbreviated versions of Shakespeare as the outstanding sensational hit of the Fair.

Tickets for the presentation may be obtained from Knapp's Store at 25c general admission and 50c reserved section for the matinee, and 50c and $1.00 for reserved seats for the evening performances. Each admission includes two plays.

The Monogram Club of De-quesne university has put a ban on students wearing letters or insignia of other schools on the campus or at athletic events.

JACKSON BANQUET ROAST SPONSORED WILL HONOR M. S. C. BY TOWER GUARDS

Bachman, Young and Stewart to Girls Hike to W. A. A. Cabin for Victory Feed.

The annual banquet for the football teams of Jackson will be held on November 26 in the Masonic Temple in Jackson. This banquet is sponsored by the alumni of State, the University of Michigan, and the employees of the Consumers Power company.

In the past it has been the policy of State to be the underdog at the banquet but this year the tables have been turned due to State's triumphing Michigan. The University is due for some great visiting at this time. It has been the policy to spot the supporters of State two or three touch-downs in their annual struggle with Michigan and the losers would be hosts at the annual banquet for the Jackson team.

The speakers at this time will be Ralph Young, athletic director at State, Charles Bachman, head football coach, and Glen O. Stewart, alumni secretary. The representatives of Michigan will be Fighting the Yon, director of athletics, Harry Kipke, head football coach, and T. Howley Tapping, University alumni secretary.

YWCA TO MEET THIS THURSDAY

World Fellowship Interest Group Will Sponsor Program in Church.

The monthly meeting of the Y. W. C. A. will take place at Peoples church on Thursday night at 7:15 o'clock. The World Fellowship interest group is sponsoring the program, with Claudia Ireland as chairman, and Jean Ballard, vice-chairman. Chairmen of the various committees include June Lyons, hostess committee; Nadine Sparks, membership publicity; Sue Hayworth, refreshments; and Eleanor Blain, general arrangements and decorations.

Invitations have been sent to all foreign students listed on campus. These include Mr. and Mrs. Jack T. Chao, Alan and George Li, Fredrick Ma, noted for his performance on Chinese wind instruments, and Tso Yung Hsueh, graduate student in the chemistry department, from China, and Ali Gull, hostess from Persia.

Interest group meetings got under way week before last with a gathering of the World Fellowship students to discuss one of their projects, the Detroit World Acquaintance Fair of November 9. An interesting comment in this connection is the fact that State had the largest delegation at the annual event. At the social service meeting of last week, dolls were given out to group members in dress for the underprivileged children to be given at Christmas. Other projects considered were: a plan to visit the Community Welfare institutions of Lansing, and offers to read to unfortunate shut-ins.

Wolverine Proofs

Wolverine picture proofs may be called for and returned to the Vestibule Studio on the fourth floor of the Union until 4:00 Wednesday, after which time it will be necessary for students to go to the Lansing studio after the Strand Arcade for proofs. After Saturday evening which no proofs have been returned will not appear in the annual. Seniors especially are urged to take care of this matter.

Ray Vickerstaff and his orchestra will give a special Open House Party at the Lansing studio on Friday night.

Harvesters' Ball Proves a Success

Ag. Council Affair Draws Good Crowd in Spite of Two Other Parties.

Because there were two other campus parties at the same time, did not prevent the Annual Harvesters' Ball, sponsored by the Ag students, from being a complete success. The boys' efforts were rewarded by a record-breaking attendance. Corn-husking and doughnut eating contests provided the entertainment during intermission. Between dancing and other drinking the evening as a whole seemed entirely too short. Costumes were not worn by all, but those that did not have the usual garb deserved much favorable comment. The unique decorative trimmings also gained attention.

State Evens Series With Detroit Titans By Victory Saturday

Spartans Grab Early Breaks to Score on Second Play of Game and Then Play Defensive Ball to Win 7-6.

A fighting Michigan State eleven, on the defensive most of the afternoon, eked out a 7 to 6 victory over the University of Detroit on Saturday and gained possession of the mythical state football title. The victory Saturday evens the 13 game series between the two teams, each having won six with one game a scoreless tie.

Both teams scored in the early part of the first quarter. Edwards, who started for State in place of Warmben, booted the ball to the Detroit 25-yard line. For some mysterious reason the Titan players made no move to run the ball back, and Wagner recovered for Michigan State. On the next play Warmben was stopped at the line for no gain, but a Detroit penalty placed the ball on their own 20-yard line. From there Warmben ran hard to his right, and aided by beautiful interference led by Reynolds scored standing up.

A fumbled punt a few plays later put Detroit in State territory, where the Spartan line held the Titans, but after punting out, State was again put on the defensive in their own half of the field, and Weizorek plunged over full a touchdown from the one yard line. The pass from the center was bad, and Nott missed the placekick.

From there on the game was a defensive struggle, with the Spartans doing most of the defending. Detroit was in a scoring position at least three times, and only two Detroit place-kicks prevented the Spartans from scoring. State was in a far different form from the one which took the field in its first four games. The Spartans were far off standard with their faulty blocking and at times poor blocking. At many times they were completely out-played, and six times had to kick from behind their own goal line.

State can base their victory on their defensive game, and that only. Detroit gave up the ball four times inside the State 21-yard line. Doug Nott, Titan center, tried to field goals both of which failed, and the Spartans held for downs twice, once on the 2-yard line, and again on the 5-yard stripe.

By TOMMY WARNER

However, the best team lost Saturday. How many times we read that while perusing accounts of the State-Detroit fracas of last Saturday. After reading the rest of the copy we began to wonder. First off, we must admit that the Spartans did not play their usual type of football last Saturday. Somehow we wonder if they even remember what a forward pass is. True, they didn't have many chances last week-end but we thought this was a gambling team. They played very football in fact. As we recall the game, the Spartans had two definite scoring chances. They clicked on one and made the point after touchdown. Detroit had seven... they made one and failed on the attempt at goal and also failed on two attempted place kicks... now, we ask you, did the best team lose? We think not for the following reasons.

Michigan's offense almost 60 minutes of the regulation kicked out of bounds on the State 2 yard line once... knocked two other punts on or inside the 5 yard line... recovered 7 out of 8 fumbles made by both teams... recovered State fumbles near the State goal line... tried everything in an attempt to score and failed... a team which has the ball the major portion of the afternoon, which is down in scoring territory time and again, and which seems to get the major share of the breaks, officially and otherwise, the better team? We think not.

A salute to Art Brandstatter... and to Al Agett two sophomores who played like veterans in Saturday's game. Brandstatter for turning in the longest run of the day... for his fine work behind the line... for the cool punting which he produced almost the minute he went into the game... kicked that traveled out from behind his own goal line to mid field... high driving boots or low twisters which had Karpus dizzy. And Al did some nice ball carrying in that game also.

Brandstatter kicked what proved to be the winning punt... other men should get a good deal of credit for this kick... Reynolds held the ball an even longer time... Joe Brandstatter put it right down the groove by Russ... Brandstatter slipped his leg against it and the game was won. Detroit tried three... Nott had the drive on all three one, and might have had on that... the man holding it for him did it a little sloppily once that we noted.

the center was bad one other time... an don those acts of players who are never credited with the actual win depended the actual winning or losing of the game. A guard Wagner by name, playing tackle part of the day, paved the way for State's touchdown. While the U of D. boys suffered a momentary mental lapse Sid dashed through the Titans and fell on the kickoff on the U. of D. 25 yard line... and on those acts of players in the game and galloped possibly 20 yards for that same touchdown if Detroit had gained possession of that ball originally. Better give a little more credit to the Seven Silent Scourgers of the Spartan forward wall when byzantine are passed off for winning or losing games... in the brilliant running of a flashy back people often lose sight of the men doing the heavy work. Ye writer even thinks he might be able to run just as flashily... but not unless he is certain that Gordie Debiggen, Sid Wagner, Joe Buzolits, Buck Reavely and Howdy Zindel, Ed and Lou are mashing down the would-be tacklers for him... and no back could get much farther than I could without their help either.

Don't forget the pep meeting in conjunction with the barbecue this Wednesday... The team leaves for Kansas to meet a team which has been finding itself slowly but surely during this season... State will be ready for them... but it's harder to lose a game when you know the folks back home are expecting a lot of you than when you think they just don't give a damn... so get out a couple sandwiches and some cider, and turn loose the old larynx and windpipe and give all you've got at this big demonstration to be held tomorrow.

who was tackled on State's 24 by Zindel. Nott fumbled on attempted pass, but fumbled on State's 7, Detroit 6.

SPARTAN VICTORY INTER-FRAT BALL NETS SMEAD CUP STARTS TONIGHT

Trophy is Monument to Harold Smead, Crippled 1930 Captain.

When Michigan State defeated Detroit University in the final number of their famous 13-year grid rivalry last Saturday, they retained permanent possession of the Harold Smead Trophy, a 26-inch silver cup dedicated to the captain of State's 1930 team and donated to the University of Detroit by the X chapter of Alpha Epsilon Pi at the Detroit school.

The annual interfraternity indoor baseball season will get under way tonight with the Phi Chi Alphas playing the Delphics in the opening game. They will start at 7:30 p. m. followed by Eclectics and Lambda Chi Alphas. The games will be played under the same rules as existed last year, with a few new regulations added. All games shall consist of five innings except in the semi-finals and finals. These games shall be no full time innings.

Freshman or varsity baseball letters will not be members of competition in this tournament. All games must begin on scheduled time so that the teams following will have the full time to play their games. Tuesday Night, Nov. 20: 7:00 - Phi Chi Alpha vs. Delphics; 8:00 - Eclectic vs. Lambda Chi Alpha; 9:00 - Herman vs. Hesperian.

Brandstatter kicked what proved to be the winning punt... other men should get a good deal of credit for this kick... Reynolds held the ball an even longer time... Joe Brandstatter put it right down the groove by Russ... Brandstatter slipped his leg against it and the game was won. Detroit tried three... Nott had the drive on all three one, and might have had on that... the man holding it for him did it a little sloppily once that we noted.

NATIONAL SPORT SUMMARY By JACK WARNER

STARS FELL ON ALABAMA We take it all back. In picking Princeton to play the Rose Bowl game, we now realize that we made an awful mistake. Either that or else we had a fast one pulled on us. Anyway, thanks for the bird, my fair weather friends. We at least said that the invitation would go to either Princeton or Alabama, and now that things look favorable for Alabama we'll call it a moral victory.

Everything was just fine until Yale beat Princeton and pushed them off the undefeated list and now Alabama is the main contender for the honor of meeting the chosen team of the west. Not that Princeton is out for good. A lot of people say that Princeton will not refuse an invitation, and then there are those who say that they are definitely out of consideration. We read somewhere that Crisler, coach of Princeton, also said that he would not play a post season game... but we have a sneaking suspicion that it is not so sure to be offered the chance he'd like to accept willingly.

Last year Princeton turned down the offer, afraid of losing their prestige, they say. Now that they have already lost one game they've got nothing like a good name at stake. But everything looks like for the southern team... if they continue on the list of those who are undefeated.

Eleven more teams joined the ranks of the defeated last Saturday. Princeton, Illinois, Syracuse, Navy and Santa Clara were the major teams which were struck off the list. Stanford to date has won eight games and tied one, and stands first in line for those who will make the trip to California. If the Cardinals win their game next week they are almost certain of making the trip, and the betting is heavy in favor of them.

Only one more game for the University of Michigan and their worst season will be over. The long hoped for last game will be with Northwestern, and if they lose as expected they will finish the season with a grand total of one (1) game won this season. The Wolverines have already set a new all-time record for losing five consecutive games and most points have been scored against them this year than in any year since 1922.
