Pi Kappa Phi Society Suffers $6,000 Loss In Thursday's Blaze

Fire Which Originates in Basement Routs 22 as Flames Spread Rapidly; Fraternity Plans Temporary Lodgings in Old Trimoira House.

Fire broke out at the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity house, and 22 students living at the house out of their beds awoke yesterday morning. The loss was estimated at $6,000. All of the occupants escaped without injury.

After Strickler, 25, was the first to awaken and discover smoke was coming up the stairs and into the dormitory, the students left the dormitory, the stairs leading up to the third floor were engulfed in flames.

The fire started in the basement and slowly made its way up to the third floor where it was temporarily stopped by the composition shingle roof. After the East Lansing fire department had fought the blaze for almost an hour, they called for aid from the Lansing fire stations.

After the fire was under control, it was necessary to play three hoses on the fire. The blaze was extinguished after being held by fire-resistant roof. After firemen had brought the blaze under control, most of the damage made their way back into the house to rescue what clothing they could find. Some lost all their clothes. One of them carried four pairs of shoes, and another carried four pairs of shoes in the outside discovered that they were made.

Many of the fraternities offered rooms to the students. A number of the group are staying at the Trimoira house until their temporary house at the corner of Grand and M. A. C. avenue is ready for occupation next week. The Theta Chi Alpha and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternities houses are accommodating several of the boys until next week.

Following is a list of the students who escaped from the house: E. J. Jenson, Ronald Heath, James J. Jenson, James Sterling, John Jenson, Gerald Owen, Dan Keenan, Sam Carp, Kirwan Jennings, Dick Schell, Guy Culbert, Andy Lester, Strickler, Hunter, Roy Sprague, Frank W. E. Jenson, Russell Hudgins, Bowman, Rowell Green, and McNaughton, and Donald

Students Must See Advisors Before Pre-registering for Winter Term.

All students who expect to attend school winter term are required to see their advisors, department heads or classifying officers at the time announced in the last issue of the Michigan State News, to see their envelopes containing necessary information for registration.

Although most students have a few days in which to consult their advisors, special attention should be called to the fact all sophomore and agricultural students must see their advisors in room 212 of the building today, any time between 8 o'clock and tomorrow between the hours of 9 and 12. All students who are in doubt as to the time of their appointments should consult last Tuesday's News or call the offices of their advisor.

Students who are receiving failing grades in any of their courses should pre-register in the following courses as usual, but in case of failure will be required to re-register to the campus on January 2 to make necessary changes.

Sixty-two Westminster college students residing in six cooperative houses run by the college get room and board for $3 a week. They wash dishes, clean house themselves.

SCHWARTZ AND DONDERO LEAD IN PLAY TONITE

Veterans Act in Performance of Sheridan's "School for Scandal."

EARLY TIME FEATURED
Curtain Will Rise at 8:00 in Deference to Other Parties Here.

Theta Alpha Phi, honorary dramatic society, will offer its first presentation on the campus this term when the curtain of the Little theater rises tonight on Richard Brinsley Sheridan's 150 year old play, "The School for Scandal."

Tickets may be purchased at the door for 25 cents, and the play will begin promptly at 8 o'clock to enable students to attend other campus activities. The cast will be made up of a number of veterans and newcomers and will be under the direction of Prof. S. K. King. Elaborate stage settings, true to the original, have been arranged by the class in play production.

The play was first presented at the Drury Lane theater in London in the year 1777 and was the fifth play written by the talented Sheridan. The fame of this clever political satire was instantaneous and it soon was produced in America where it was witnessed by George Washington in 1791.

The leading role, that of Sir Peter Teazle, will be played by a veteran campus performer, Philip Schwartz, an Alpha Epsilon Pi, who will also play a major part in "Enter Madam," the second play of the term which has been tentatively planned for the Friday preceding exam week. Marion Dondero, an Alpha Chi Omega, and a newcomer, will play the part of his wife, Lady Teazle.

Painted scenery resembling as closely as possible that of 1777 has been provided and will form the major portion of the setting since furniture and other physical properties were minimized in the old days. Prof. Cecil Nickle has supervised this work, and together with his play production class, has again achieved the proper atmosphere for the play. The class consists of Katherine Campbell, John Yale, Norma Newark, Virginia Malewetz, Ethel LaFontaine, Philip Schwartz and Helen McClaren.

The cast for tonight's production will be as follows: Sir Peter Teazle, Philip Schwartz; Lady Teazle, Marion Dondero; Sir Oliver Surface, Joseph Surface, James Cogrove; Charles Surface, Leon Meriam; Rowley, Ira Murray; Soak, Harry Grambow; Lady Sneerwell, Margaret Johnson; Sir Benjamin Bunkle, John Yale; Crabtree, John Brattin; Moses, Otto Butler; Careless, Earl Brown; Maria, Alice Whigglesworth; Mrs. Candour, Phyllis Weeks.

of the English department, who saw the Globe Players at "Merrie England" at the World's fair. But, as Dr. Johnston told us, the company is really good, and the plays roll along so much in the style and technique of Shakespeare's day that they are most enjoyable.

"Plays," according to Dr. Johnston, "are written for the theater of the day. The Greek plays were written for the big open-air theaters of the Greeks, and Shakespeare's plays were conceived for the theater as it was in the time of Queen Elizabeth. One catches the spirit of the plays much more truly, therefore, to see them performed in the way they were written to be performed."

In Shakespeare's day there was no pause while the scenery was being shifted. The actors walked off the stage from one scene and immediately a curtain at the back of the stage rose and the action went on there. The Shakespearean stage, Dr. Johnston told us, had no front curtain, so the play began when the actors walked out on the stage and began to talk. Shakespeare's plays were written to make this perfectly natural. There was an inner curtain about

1 Cow + 7,000 Buns + 300 Gal. Cider = Frosh-Soph Barbecue

By FREDERICK C. OLDS

One cow divided into 7,000 hamburger buns makes a good many sandwiches and that's no baloney either. This cow after being anointed and duly burned, or perhaps merely roasted, was rendered as a sacrificial offering to the halting of enmities between the sophomore and freshman classes, an event celebrated at the annual barbecue which took place in the demonstration hall Wednesday evening. Then being split up into infinitely small pieces, this poor animal was served with 300 gallons of cider to provide the good cheer upon this happy occasion.

Now, of course, there are those campus cynics who insist that the public is being slyped each year to be a strictly beef barbecue, into thinking the soph celebration whereas "those who are in the know" contend that what in reality happens is, the cavalry department, shortly before the great feast, kindly condescends to donate one of its ancient war-worn nags to serve as barbecue meat instead of beef, thus saving a piece of easy money for the soph while padding themselves of some useless horseflesh. Admitting that it sounds rather "horsey" and not daring to act as judge for the authenticity of the tale, we would say that should it happen to be true, why then, it was damn good horse meat they shoved out Wednesday night.

The hash-joints along Michigan avenue appeared bare and desolate during the supper hour on that same evening, foretelling the approaching hour of the barbecue. Students stayed home in droves, merely tightened their belts around their necks and refused to partake of any nourishment, determined to miss a meal, save some money and then make up for it later at the gastronomic orgy that was soon to take place in the armory.

And they were not to be disappointed. Early comers began arriving shortly after 6:30 in order to gain the choice seats. Hopes of their gaining an early meal were dealt a severe blow, however, as the program was scheduled before the food, which is as it should be, unless one is extremely hungry.

No one was heard to protest and

MAYO PARTY TO GO "POLITICAL" FOODS EXPERT TALKS TO CLUB

Republican and Democrat Ball-lyho Included Although G. O. P. Now Applies to Dorm.

The East Mary Mayo "Fall Term" being held this evening at East Mary Mayo hall, will be carried out as a political rally. To avoid slighting any of the guests it will be an inter-party rally. The rooms will be decorated with the abandon characteristic of such an affair, stews of draped bunting and flags, placards of the party platforms (hold your breath and try that last phrase), the traditional elephant and donkey, posters of the party leaders headed of course by our esteemed President Franklin D. Roosevelt, lobbying at eleven with a beverage on tap, and most important, the East Mary Mayo platform letters, G. O. P. (Grand Old Party), all to the snappy tunes of Nate Fry and orchestra.

Margaret Konop, social chairman, with her usual charm and efficiency, has directed the work. The committees in turn have cooperated with their chairmen, namely: Hester Green, decorations; Jane Allen, programs; June Laughlin, house; Patricia Riordan, tickets; Nonie Smith, refreshments; Margaret Myer, check room; and Lorraine DeWaele, chaperons.

President and Mrs. Chaw, Secretary and Mrs. H. H. Halladay, Dean Elisabeth Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Linton, and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mallman are to be the patrons, or as they will be termed on the very track programs, "Grand Electors."

Japanese Prints to Be Shown in Home Economics Building

Japanese prints made in Tokio by a house established over 200 years ago will be shown in room 305 of the home economics building Friday and Saturday morning.

The prints are entirely hand-blacked on mulberry bark paper from cherrywood blocks, and the beautiful colors used in making them are from vegetable dyes. Some of the prints are reproductions of famous old Japanese masterpieces, and a number are designed by leading contemporary

KANSAS IS NEXT STOP-OVER FOR GRIDIRON TRAIN

Warmber, Klewicki and Zindel Still on Casualty List as Team Leaves on Trip.

BAKER LATEST INJURY
Jayhawkers Present Formidable Defense With Spartan Offense in Coma.

By TOMMY WARNER

Having won the mythical State of Michigan championship by the narrowest of margins, that of one point, the Spartan Foreign Legion took to the road on its third thrust into enemy territory this year when 29 of Bachman's boys boarded the Grand Trunk yesterday at 4:30 p. m. en route to their battle with the University of Kansas at Lawrence tomorrow at 2 p. m. The team will stop over in Kansas City, Mo., Friday and will engage in a practice session on Southwest field. Weather reports from Lawrence indicate that the Spartans will play on a wet field and in some of the coldest weather they have encountered this season. Some parts of Kansas are reporting three inches of snow.

In the three days of real practice here this week, Bachman has been trying to instill some of the old fighting spirit and pep in the Spartan offense which, during the last three games, has been way below the form displayed by the Spartans in their early games this season. The State offense, coached by Manhattan and has been slowly bogging down since then. Coupled with this have been the sharp increase in injuries suffered by the Spartans regulars, Warmber, Klewicki, and Zindel, received further bumps in the same way Detroit but will be able to play against Kansas this Saturday. The most recent addition to the Spartans' crop of injured is Ed Klewicki, who injured his ankle in a practice session Monday.

Alban Lindsay, coach of the Kansas Jayhawkers, has been swanking on his boys during the last few weeks and after starting the season rather magnificently, they have slumped into the upgrade, holding a powerful Nebraska eleven by the close score of 2-0 in last Saturday's battle. Lindsay has some powerful backs in Stuckler and Haggard and while the offense of the Kansas team has not been of any spectacular quality (Continued on page 4)

Foreign Language Books Offered in Library

One of the features on the recreational reading shelf, next to the main circulation desk, are quite a few novels and light reading matter in two foreign languages, Spanish and French. These have been put there for the enjoyment of the students using the library who would like to read in a foreign language. They include some novels by authors who have had some of their works already translated into English.

Pi Kappas Grab Nighties, Drop Books in Dawn Fire

Boys Went to Bed With a Fire in the Furnace, But Somehow the Fire Got Out, so the Boys Did, Too; And Are They Burned?

There is grief in the heart of every Pi Kappa Phi today, grief that was caused by a fire early Thursday morning which completely destroyed the interior of the twenty-year old fraternity house.

The former interior of the house is just a mass of charred wood-work and fire-swept ruins. To the twenty-five active Pi Kaps it was once a home, now it is gone, and they have to find other shelter.

The Pi Kappa Phi house was one of the most progressive outfits on the campus. The twenty-five men that were pledged this term insured their future prosperity. Thursday morning their efforts and plans burst in a crescendo of pick axes and shattered windows. When the firemen walked away yesterday the Pi Kappa Phi's labors disappeared skyward in the still smoldering ruins.

The cause of the fire is not known. There was a fire in the furnace when everyone went to bed. Les Stuckler awoke at 5:30 and smelling smoke, he went to the cellar to investigate. A wall of flame greeted him there and immediately he aroused the house-

Mortar Board to Be Formally Installed Tomorrow in Church

Miss Katherine Kuhlman, Expansion Director of National Honorary, From Dayton, Ohio, Will Install Spinz at 5:15 in Student Parlors of Peoples Church.

Sphinx, honorary service society for senior women at Michigan State, will be formally installed into Mortar Board, national senior women's honorary fraternity, at services in the student parlors of Peoples church at 5:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon, with Miss Katherine Kuhlman, expansion director of Mortar Board from Dayton, Ohio, as the installing officer.

Sphinx was founded at Michigan State college in 1916 by a group of junior girls, with the aim of establishing a finer fellowship between the five local sororities existing on the campus at that time and non-sorority girls. In 1924, Sphinx first petitioned Mortar Board, and now, ten years later, has attained that goal, guided by faculty women who are members of Mortar Board. The basis for the election of members to Sphinx has always been the three principles of scholarship, character and leadership, and the new members are tapped at the traditional Lantern night ceremony during Senior week. Some of the more important services which Sphinx has rendered to the campus are the establishment of Lantern night, constitution of the first Fraternity week at this college, founding of Tower Guard, sophomore girls' honorary, and the establishment of a loan fund for needy students. The group has also aided in the collection and publishing of college songs, provided a point system, established the annual Panhellenic scholarship dinner, and started a social training course for men and women at State.

MILITARY MEN INITIATE EIGHT

Scabbar and Blade to Hold Formal Pledging at Friday Party.

The formal initiation, the informal, and the formal pledging dance will constitute one of the most colorful week-ends in the fall term when K company, 1st regiment, local chapter of Scabbar and Blade, national honorary military fraternity, inducts eight men. The candidates to be initiated are: Don, Bruce, Merle, Finch, Bruce Kutta, Charles Jackson, Victor Darling, Lloyd Jameson, Matt Weer, and Clarence Boy.

The most picturesque of these ceremonies will be the formal pledging which will take place at the dance held this Friday at the Union. The pledging will march down through an arch of sashes formed in two columns by the active members. At the end of this march they will be formally initiated and pledged by Captain Robert Weber. This ceremony will take place during the intermission of the dance. Fergie and his band will furnish the dance tunes for this occasion.

The formal initiation will be held in the Armory at 5 o'clock next Monday, November 26, after which the entire group will adjourn to the Union for the formal banquet.

The informal initiation will start Wednesday and will continue throughout the week ending Sunday. Active members of Sphinx who will be initiated into Mortar Board tomorrow afternoon are: June Francis, East Lansing, president; Carolyn Lamb, Chicago, vice president; Estlin Leisner, Grand Rapids, secretary-treasurer; Virginia Kamps, Zeeland, Elizabeth Johnson, East Lansing, and Barbara Aldrich, East Lansing, Lansing, and East Lansing, alumnae who will be initiated are: Luella Morris, Athena, Andros, Henriette Scovel, Beatrice O'Brien, Herminia, Martha Summers, Marie Lucas, and Mrs. Glen Stewart. Other alumnae of Sphinx to be initiated into Mortar Board at this time are: Elva Covell, Macon, Georgia; Charlotte Berkhart, Augusta, Georgia; Lucile Becker, Hesperia, Elizabeth Baker, Chicago; Marion Lee, Benton Harbor; Mrs. Harold Husick, Flint; Mrs. Carl Hansler, Saginaw; Mrs. Elizabeth Boyer, Holland; Emma Hyde, Royal Oak; Norma Francis, Saginaw; Alice Bender, Flint; Elizabeth Taylor, Battle Creek; Paula Brief, Highland Park; Helen Abbott, Three Rivers; Estelle Masse, Stockbridge; Adella Bewick, Ann Arbor. TESTS INDICATE VALUE OF I. Q.

Study by Emmors Proves That Intelligence Exams Have Bearing on Classroom Work.

Dean Emmors of the Liberal Arts division has been making a study during the last four years, of freshman intelligence tests. This experiment which has now been completed, is seen to have some very interesting results. Four years ago Mr. Emmors took two groups of students numbering 93 in the first group and 92 in the second. The first group were those who showed a relatively high I. Q. when entering Michigan State as freshmen, while the second group was somewhat lower. The results that he obtained after following these persons through their four college years would seemingly indicate that the I. Q. exam is a fairly good standard.

At the end of the fourth year it was noted that while only thirteen of the second group were still in college, there were still 44 of the first. Only five out of the second group received diplomas. In the first group 29 received A's while only 45 were given out in the second. Likewise 122 F's were given to the second group while the first received only 18.

It is very noticeable in this study that those of a low I. Q. had a tendency to drop college after the first or second year, while a much greater percentage of those with high exams remained throughout the four years. Also that there seems to be a direct proportion as to the caliber of one's work in regards to their I. Q.

The Spartan Spoofer

X-COUNTRY

The bill and dale men from Spartan-on-Red-Cedar sort of did themselves proud at Van Cortlandt park this Monday when they took individual and team firsts for the second consecutive time. Tom Otley, the blond captain who usually carries a stop-watch and drives himself over set distances like an automaton, proved that he has what it takes after a couple recent defeats by stepping away from the speediest company in the east. Nelson Gardner, former national interscholastic champion, seems to be following by getting a third, just as Clark Chamberlain and Otley did as sophomores. And the pacing of Hammer, Bechtold and Dennis was marked by the same consistent quality. At any rate, we'll be out there Saturday to see them compete against the team of the middle west.

THE MENTOR

To Lauren Brown, barrier coach, goes a lion's share of the credit for the team's supremacy. The present football program editor, publications official and college photographer, he had a more stride in the form of the Union parties. In 1922, Brown took a second at the national meet and if we remember rightly, followed Chamberlain closely for a fourth the next season. At present he rates among the top few in his line and promises to be heads enough to stay there.

BREADLINE WITH BEER

A motley mob of appreciators morbidly curious and local critics sternly the riding hall the other night to get the free show, to hear the speakers' orches, and to get the free show. Glenn C. Steiner, alumni secretary, held the thing in check for a remark, always long time, and by "Spartan House," Spence. Then Harry H. Warner, sports prexy and reason for the famous quotation, "We look on the Grant took Warner, appeared, dressed becomingly in an S. A. E. ensemble of brown coat and gray trousers and quelled C. C. Penny shoes, and antagonized the crowd for some time. He was followed by Bill Vivyan, yearling guide, who accepted the buffet graciously because of the former attendance and let it go at that. We were so intent on watching Quells taking sand-wiches away from the little kids to give to Mary Butler that we didn't get the most out of the speaker, but we still think that the accuracy took the most out of them. Still the affair known as the sports barbeque was a big success, the largely to the effect of its politeness and general manner. Harry Warner, "Thanks for the Bird," Warner, we really mean it, H.

BLUE KEY

The Azure Frinketers didn't seem to get any credit this week for spending their own shekels on crepe paper with which to form a big white "S" in the Fresh cheering section at the Detroit game. Likewise, the service honorary was given no credit for the same project at the Homecoming game, nor for their organization of a reception for the team after the Syracuse game. Blue Key probably feels that the student body doesn't have to have school spirit pounded into them—they have it already, and so continues to offer work rather than balldish. As we see it, the organization's weakness right now seems to be its lack of a means for publicity—at least that is evidently the criterion for judging campus groups. And by the way, Blue Key is planning another party for December 7, so start getting your dates now—especially you, Bentley; if you were turned down three times for the barbeque, you'll have a still tougher time preparing for a high-class party.

PROS

We have a bunch that most of you class a prof at scholastic, dex and effete. For your enlightenment, John Clark, English propagator, played four years' varsity football at Missouri Wesleyan, the best field state records in the history of the game. Dean Huston is another footballer from Chicago and has officiated at many big games since. W. W. Johnston, English department head, once homesteaded some in Indian Territory out Oklahoma way. Economist Paulin was at the front throughout the war with the crack Canadian regiment, the Princess Pals. President Shaw was varsity in football, basketball, baseball while in college up in Canada, and the military instructors have a good many brilliant records, though you won't hear about anything from them.

Now You Know-- Students Pick Greatest Americans

Lincoln, Edison, Washington, Head List of Noted Dead as Jesse James Trails; Famous Brewer and Senior. Class Prexy Also Honored by Scholars.

 The last list of these with a box office attraction of three ball or less were more educational than the rest. We learned that Charles Darwin, Blaise Pascal, Michael Faraday, Christopher Columbus, Gregor Mendel, and Robert Browning were considered illustrious Americans. These might have been some question about Christopher's naturalization papers, but we are certain that the remainder are ringers. Patrick Henry, who said "Give me Liberty, or give me Death," got only one vote. So that crack, along with the generals Grant and Lee, the poet Longfellow, Whittier and Whitman, and the statesman Clay, Cleveland, and Jackson, inventor of the first New Deal Sport System, John McGraw of baseball, Jack Johnson of boxing and Tex Rickard, likewise of the latter, were right there, too. Re-Scmidt, famous brewer, got vote from the one T. in class. Paul Revere, the original broad-caster, Jesse James, man of the people, and Charles G. Dawes (still alive) of square pipe fame trailed. Finally came some famous American usually considered still alive: Eugene O'Neill, Ruth S. Dennis, and last but not least, Tom Otley.

TO THE STUDENT LETTER BOX
 If Mr. Verhagen wants more kicks on his archery vending machine I'll chip in my bit. Last year I was shown an old-colored picture in the team and told that I would get one free if I ordered a half dozen pictures of a certain pair, which I now forget.

When Earl Stump was correct for once, Sarce Fields asked mockingly "Who told you?" At which the dope pointed naively over his shoulder and chirped "He did." Louise Noble comparing inebriating with the New York "ride" system. Lynching is a mob proposition whereas up north we just take one man for a ride. And it was June Svaboda who admitted an absence after Thoden admitted not taking roll call the day before.

TSK TSK

According to all the reference works we've ever consulted, the health of the nation depends not on the climate, not on the chamber of commerce, not on the transportation facilities, but on our restaurants. It is then needless to say that things have come to what is called a pretty pass when Nern Stomer, one-time wrestling flash and present culinary artist at the $2.50 per week East Lansing's most sophisticated cafe that remains open after 1 o'clock, commences to dissipate all over Lansing activity. If this inebriating activity doesn't come to a rapid demise, Stomer, my friend, you will lose the valuable charge account of the State News staff, who frown distinctly on such nefarious carryings-on.

THE LITTLE BIRD SAYS
 The S. A. We suppose that last is for their protection. Still, the S. A. E.-Chi Omega combine was quite a success, so you never can tell.

PLAN CONTEST FOR SPEAKERS HERE TUESDAY

State Extemporaneous Meet Will be Held in Little Theater Next Week.

14 COLLEGES ENTERED

Harlan Clark and Ruth Virginia Martin Will Represent Michigan State.

According to the latest announcement from the speech department, the Michigan extempore speech contest will be held in the Little Theater on this campus next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. In this contest the following colleges will compete for awards of gold and silver medals in both the women's and men's contests: Adrian, Battle Creek, Calvin, Central State, Teachers, Wayne University, Hope, Hillsdale, Kalamazoo, Michigan State, Northern Michigan State College, Olivet, Western State Teachers College and the University of Detroit.

 halfway back from the front of the stage of that time, little scenery, and the inevitable balloons. The Globe Theatre players will make the stage of Eastern auditorium as nearly like the Globe theater of Shakespeare as possible.

The Globe Players have cut the program down to about 40 minutes each in order that the audience may see how several Shakespearean dramas appear when given in the Elizabethan manner, instead of spending the entire evening seeing only one play. For example, "Julius Caesar" is cut by shortening the first part of the play and leaving out the part after Mark Anthony's speech when the audience knows which side is going to win anyway.

A feature of the Globe Players' presentation in Lansing will be Hejere Rahm's singing old English songs to the accompaniment of a virginal which is a replica of the instrument played by Queen Elizabeth, and flutes and stringed instruments.

 Mrs. George I. Miller, Eaton Rapids; Mrs. Bert Cooper, Mason; Fern E. Luoma, Royal Oak; Mrs. Jennings, Westwood; Detroit; Dorothy MacWood, Detroit; and Pauline Melius, Detroit. Mrs. H. H. Halliday, secretary member, will also be initiated at this time.

Several social affairs concurrent with the initiation have been planned for the week-end. Miss Elizabeth Daniels and Miss Irene Stubbins, faculty members of Mortar Board, are entertaining Mrs. Kathleen at a breakfast Saturday morning. Miss Elizabeth Conrad, dean of women, will entertain at a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Kathleen in the women's building Saturday noon. Before the initiation in the afternoon, active members of Sphinx will greet returning alumnae in the women's lounge in the Union. Following the initiation services, a banquet for all Mortar Board members will be held at the Hunt Food shop, with President and Mrs. Robert S. Shaw, Dean and Mrs. R. C. Hanson, Dean and Mrs. L. C. Emmons, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Burney, and Dean Marie Dye as guests.

The active members of Mortar Board and their faculty advisers will entertain Mrs. Kathleen at breakfast Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at Hunt's. The breakfast will be followed by an informal discussion of the requirements and policies of Mortar Board. The activities will be culminated Sunday afternoon by a tea at the home of Mrs. H. H. Halliday, who has been a patroness of Sphinx for the last several years.

Freshmen design students in the Home Economics course are having an opportunity this fall to exercise their judgment of good and poor design and color harmonies on a collection of materials which the related art department is making. This collection will include a variety of articles such as bath towels, lamp shades, purses, handkerchiefs, dishes and china, pottery, gloves, and other items.

It is that to bring major elevens to this city a larger stadium must be had. The guarantees asked by some of the biggest guns is exorbitant, and under the present set-up they could not be met. This fact I would say is one of the paramount reasons that major teams refrain from playing on our soil. To fill in the south end of the present stadium would give to the students one of the finest horse-show bowls in the mid-west and would also aid State in their rapid climb to fame.

Halliday, who has been a patroness of Sphinx for the last several years.

Freshmen design students in the Home Economics course are having an opportunity this fall to exercise their judgment of good and poor design and color harmonies on a collection of materials which the related art department is making. This collection will include a variety of articles such as bath towels, lamp shades, purses, handkerchiefs, dishes and china, pottery, gloves, and other items.

It is that to bring major elevens to this city a larger stadium must be had. The guarantees asked by some of the biggest guns is exorbitant, and under the present set-up they could not be met. This fact I would say is one of the paramount reasons that major teams refrain from playing on our soil. To fill in the south end of the present stadium would give to the students one of the finest horse-show bowls in the mid-west and would also aid State in their rapid climb to fame.

the same day. Subjects for the speaking will be drawn by each speaker one hour before the time of speaking. These subjects have been submitted by Dr. David Henry of the state department of public instruction and Prof. James McBurney of the University of Michigan speech department. The time of the preliminary speeches will be six to eight minutes and the final speeches will be eight to ten minutes in length. In the final contest Dean Lloyd C. Emmons of the liberal arts division will serve as chairman. The judges will be the coaches of the various schools, each coach voting for every contestant except his own.

A dinner will be given in the Union at 5:30 p. m. on the day of the contest for all the visiting participants and coaches.

The subjects to be discussed are will be free to the public and it is urged that as many as possible attend.

The subjects to be discussed are four in number, as follows: Industrial Democracy; Limitations of Incomes and Inheritances; Socialized Medicine; and Contemporary European Politics.

GROUP PICTURES

Tomorrow evening is the deadline for the return of individual picture proofs at the Vershulst studio over the Strand Arcade in Lansing. After this time, pictures for which proofs have not been returned may not appear in the Wolverine. All upperclassmen, especially seniors, are urged to cooperate in making the class sections of the yearbook a success as well as assuring themselves recognition in the publication. As the situation appears at present, more students have brought books than will have their pictures in the Wolverine, a condition which will hardly prove satisfactory to many when they begin to think of the investment they have made.

AeTheons Travel to Kansas Dance; Hesperian Pledges to Entertain Kappa Alpha Theta in Joint Party

Theta Alpha Phi Will Furnish Entertainment Tonight by Going Back into Eighteenth Century and Reviving Sheridan's "School for Scandal."

AeTheons are traveling to Kansas university to attend a party that the Delta Chis are giving in their honor Saturday night. This may explain the fact that no parties of any particular importance are planned here for the week-end. Hesperian and Theta pledges are getting together at the Hesperian house for a radio party Saturday night, opening a series of fraternity-sorority parties planned for the year.

Tonight, Theta Alpha Phi will furnish entertainment by going back into the 18th century and reviving Sheridan's "School for Scandal." The curtain will rise promptly at 8 o'clock.

Alpha Chi Omega
The Alpha Chi Omega fall term is being held in the Union ballroom Saturday evening, November 24. Music will be furnished by Harold Ferguson and his orchestra. Dean and Mrs. N. B. Dicks, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Patton and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Nickle are to be the patrons.

SWL FEATURES SHOE RESEARCH

Investigators on High Heel Wearing Will Also Aid Red Cross Drive.

The research group is the center of Spartan Women's League activities this week. Since the attention of the social service group is now focused on the Thanksgiving project, the research group offered to handle the Red Cross drive. Mr. Emmons sent letters to all of the faculty informing them of the drive and the league girls collected donations from them on November 22 and 23. Jean VanBrocklin and Isabel Blythe directed the work, and were assisted by the following committees: Thelma Strong, Donna Messenger, Adeline Olds, Elsie McCurdy, Ruth Foley and Dorothy Grill.

SPEECH GROUP HAS INCREASE

Lambda Sigma invites All Interested in Improving Their Speech to Join.

Those who have difficulty in expressing themselves through the art of speech will be glad to know that there is an organization on campus through which they may develop their speaking ability.

In 1926, a group of men students, realizing the need for development of public speaking ability set up an organization to eliminate "er-ah's," stuttering, stammering, and vibration of the knees. Since that time the organization has had its ups and downs, and this year has been pulling itself out of a "down" through which it passed during spring term of last year. The group was small at the first three or four meetings this fall. There is one advantage, however, in that all of those present were elected to office. A steady increase in attendance has brought the group almost to the proper size for maximum advantages to all members.

The name of the group is Lambda Sigma. Any male student, graduate or undergraduate, who is sufficiently interested in speech to attend three meetings in succession and who delivers, at one of these meetings, a prepared speech, automatically becomes a pledge of the organization. Three more meetings in succession make one eligible for membership. His name is brought to vote before the active members of the organization, and if accepted the pledge is initiated into active membership and asked to pay the meager sum of twenty-five cents per term in return for the advantages he gets from the group.

The meetings are held every Wednesday evening from 7:30 to 8:30 in library seminar B, adjournment at 8:30 regardless of any tardiness in starting the meeting. One, two and occasionally even three prepared speeches, and three or four impromptu speeches are given. After each speech the rest of the group are offered the opportunity to criticize, constructively the organization and method of delivery of the speech, and the posture and voice of the speaker. Occasionally a meeting or a part of a meeting is devoted to a drill in parliamentary law.

The officers for the present term are: president, Dick Haas; vice-president, Edward Nowalk; secretary, Gray Palm; treasurer, Lynford Wickerham; and advisor, J. D. Menchhofer. Roy Donahue of the soils department has also been assisting the group greatly in its rebuilding program this year.

The November 13th meeting was held at the Boy Scout cabin about seven miles east of Lansing. Speeches were made and chili con carne, crackers, and cider partially satisfied the appetites whetted by the out-of-door air. Several visitors were present on this trip.

Since the meetings are held in the library it is quite convenient for those who are studying there, and it is also centrally located for those who may come from their rooming houses and fraternities. Any men students interested in this work are invited to drop in for any of the meetings.

OFFICERS CHOSEN FOR CAMERA CLUB

Don Appling Elected President, Ruth Frank, V.-President.

Don Appling, '36, was elected president of the M. S. C. Camera club at their meeting in the Union building last Tuesday.

Other officers of the club are: Ruth Frank, vice-president; Mary Jane Wilcox, secretary; and Robert Gardner, treasurer. Pictures were taken at the meeting with photo flood lamps, in order to gain experience in taking time exposures indoors. The snap shots which were taken by the members on architecture were compared and discussed.

The project for next meeting, which will be held Tuesday evening, December 4, at 7:30 in the Union building, will be personality pictures on the campus. The members intend to take informal snap shots of the students. Anyone interested in photography is invited to attend the next meeting.

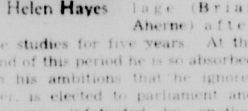

State Theatre Previews

"The Count of Monte Cristo" State Theater—Today and Saturday. Starring—Robert Donat and Elissa Landi.

Alexander Dumas' stirring and highly imaginative story, "The Count of Monte Cristo," has now been screened in one of the most stirring and adventurous romances. Robert Donat, famous English actor, has the role opposite Miss Landi. As the young man who is unjustly imprisoned by his enemies and is finally shown an avenue of escape by an old prisoner, he is superb. The old man dies, but reveals the location of fabulous riches before his death. The thrilling adventures of Donat when seeking the treasure and his ultimate use of it to crush his enemies, and the love interest make the picture one that should not be missed.

"What Every Woman Knows" State Theater—Sunday and Monday. Starring—Helen Hayes, Brian Aherne, Madge Evans.

This Scotch play from the pen of Sir James Barrie presents Helen Hayes in the role of Maggie Wylie. After she has been overlooked by the young men of her town, her family gets her to sign a contract to marry a politically minded millionaire. Brian Aherne after he studies for five years. At the end of this period he is so absorbed in his ambitions that he ignores her, is elected to parliament and becomes infatuated by another woman. Eventually he sees his error and upon returning home finds that he is acclaimed the savior of the country, but only through the efforts of Maggie. They are then happily united.

TOWER GUARDS TO ENTERTAIN CO-EDS

Society Will Give Party Wednesday Evening Before Thanksgiving.

At the last meeting of Tower Guard, held Tuesday evening, November 20, the members decided to give a Salamagundi party for all the co-eds who intend to remain in East Lansing during Thanksgiving vacation. It will be given Wednesday, November 28, from 8 to 10 o'clock. The place where the affair will be held will be announced later.

It is important that all co-eds who are planning to attend sign up before Monday noon. Notices for this purpose will be placed on bulletin boards in the various buildings on the campus.

FURNISS TO SPEAK BEFORE ECON MEN

Will Discuss Insurance at Open Meeting on November 27.

Sigma Epsilon, honorary fraternity for business administration students, will sponsor a special meeting open to everyone to be held Tuesday, November 27, in room 101 of the Home Economics building.

L. C. Furniss, an expert in the insurance business, will address the assembly on the subject of "Laymen's Views of Life Insurance and Its Possibilities." Furniss is a graduate of the University of Michigan, and has done special graduate work at the University of Southern California.

There will be no admission charge, and students are invited by Sigma Epsilon to attend. Robert Nole, president of the organization, will preside. Following the talk, Furniss will answer any questions on his subject which listeners may desire to ask.

HOME EC STAFF HEARD ON AIR

WKAR Carries Broadcasts Prepared by Department Every Week Day.

WKAR, Michigan State college radio station, is carrying a series of broadcasts prepared by the home economics department this year. These programs are on the air every weekday at 2:15 p. m., and have been planned as a series of groups, different subjects under each head being discussed every week.

On Monday and Tuesday, the subjects taken up will be the value of different foods, and the ways of preparing tasty and healthful dishes. Miss Margaret Olson, Miss Beatrice Grant, Mrs. Mabel Ehlers and Miss Jean Hawks have charge of these programs.

The Wednesday programs will take up the matter of clothing, and talks will be given on stylish fabrics, choosing ready-to-wear garments, smart accessories, and other topics. Miss Geraldine Cooke, Miss Ethel Webb and Miss Marjorie Hillhouse will discuss these subjects.

On Thursday, some phase of family relations will be dealt with. Miss Catherine Miller and Mrs. Lydia A. Lynde will take up topics on the history of the family, child guidance, and the management of the home.

On Friday, Miss Julia Tear and Miss Winifred Gettemy will have charge of programs on home furnishing. This subject will be discussed in relation to color schemes and furniture arrangement, as well as to the buying of blankets, stable linen, towels, etc.

Beta Alpha Sigma Elects Officers at Meeting Last Week

Beta Alpha Sigma, local honorary for students majoring in landscape architecture, art, or floriculture, elected officers at a meeting held last week. J. O. Simon was elected president of the group for the coming year. Other officers are: Marian Tobey, vice-president; Mary Burns, secretary; and Emory Wellman, treasurer.

A meeting was held last Tuesday to present candidates for membership. But will be issued within the next two weeks.

The purpose of the organization is to sponsor a better patronage of art, landscape art, architecture, and floriculture.

Members of Soils Dept in Meeting at Washington

Several members of the soils department staff are attending the annual meeting of the American Society of Agronomy, held this year at Washington, D. C., November 20 to 23. Papers will be presented dealing with results of research on soils problems of interest to agriculturists and soil scientists.

Prof. J. O. Veatch will discuss Soil and Land Types in Relation to Fruit Growing in Michigan. Dr. C. E. Millar and Dr. L. M. Turk will present a paper on Organic Matter Accumulation as Related to Kind of Material Incorporated, Nitrogen Fertilizers and Lime.

Mu Phi Honorary Meets and Dines

Mu Phi Epsilon, music honorary for women students, met Sunday, November 18, at the apartment of Ruth Mathews for a potluck supper.

Marjorie Hoyt, president, gave an interesting report of her trip to the national convention of Mu Phi Epsilon, held at Atlantic City, N. J., last June.

The musical program was given by four pianists of the active chapter, Ruth Mathews, Thelma Plow, Gwendolyn Miller, and Betty Dorothy Mack.

State Harriers Face Tough Opposition in Meet Here Saturday

Central Intercollegiate Will Feature Stars of Mid-west as Otley, Lash, Sears, and Zepp Lead Teams in Annual Classic; Start at 10 o'Clock.

Tomorrow Michigan State College will be the host for the ninth annual Central Intercollegiate cross country meet which will be run over the college five-mile course beginning at 10 a. m. The Spartan harriers, fresh from their victory in the national meet in New York, will meet five of the classic teams in the midwest in this feature. Probably the greatest single attraction of the meet will be the battle for first place position. Tom Otley, who captained the title winning team at Van Clontark park last week, will be pitted against Bill Zepp of Michigan Normal, Don Lash of Indiana and Ray Sears of Butler in this meet. Last year Sears was national A. A. U. champion and also defeated Otley twice, in the dual meet with Butler and also in the Central I. C. However, Tom outran Sears in this year's dual meet held here as the opener of the current cross country season.

DAUBERT NAMES STARTING TEAM

Arrangements Being Made to Send State Tankmen to Nationals.

The same performers still hold out as the best prospects for this year's tank team, and Coach Daubert has begun to line up what will probably be his starting squad. While repeating the prediction that this season's team will be one of the strongest ever to represent State in the pool, Daubert also wants it known that there is still plenty of material in school not represented on the varsity. Anyone who thinks he can swim at all is asked to put in an appearance at the natatorium at 5 o'clock any day of the week.

A varsity, captained by Tom Morris, is strong in all events, with Morris and Brown leading the back-stroke performers; Green, Trapp, Mochring and Sanders taking care of the distances; Calvary, MacNamara, Dinsmore and Darrin making the short swims strong. After football season, Ziesel and Loms will strengthen these divisions.

Bell, Craft, Pilkington and Kanrowski are entered in the breast stroke, and still figure to be as good as any of their opponents. The diving is ably fortified with Blackmore, Clark, Winslow and Herber. Herner is the state high school champion of two years ago and will be eligible for varsity this winter.

Spartan swimmers haven't been sent to the national meet in recent years, but this season arrangements are being made to enable Daubert to send a squad to this event. The schedule will be announced as soon as it is filled and approved by the faculty.

Matmen Prepare For Annual Fall All-College Meet

In preparation for the all-college wrestling matches to be held one week before exams, 20 varsity men and 15 freshmen are now reporting to Coach Collins for their nightly workouts.

The date for the match is as yet tentative, but will be announced by the end of the week. The all-college match is an unusual affair, and anyone may enter. The contestants are requested to sign up in the gym office as soon as possible so that a final schedule may be drawn up.

Demarest, Mike Wilson, centers; Joe Baculski and Vince Vandenberg, quarterbacks; Russ Reynolds and Red Neumann, halfbacks; Kurt Warmben, Dick Collins, Steve Seba, Al Agett, Bob Armstrong, Dick Edwards and Mill Lettner, fullbacks; Art Brandstatter, Don Wiseman and Paul Deakin, line; Although he will be unable to play in this game, Jim McCarty, the powerhouse fullback of the Spartan squad, is also making the trip.

The biggest problem before Bachman now is how to snap the Spartans out of their offensive coma. All practice was called off last Wednesday in an effort to put the State attack back on its feet. The offensive power of the Spartans has dropped off to about three plays per game since the famous shattering they handed out to the Manhattan team. Injuries to some of the outstanding players have in some measure affected the offensive strength of the Spartans but more than this is lacking now. Warmben, Kiewicki and Zindel, while nursing injuries, are still in good enough shape to click if the old spark can be put back into the Spartans.

STATE TRAVELS WEST TO MEET JAYHAWKERS

This season, they have shown a remarkable and versatile defense. On occasion this team has shown a very strong pass defense as well as a ground defense, something not always achieved by one team during one game.

The Spartans arrived in Kansas City, Mo., at 8:30 today and made their headquarters at the Muehlebach hotel. They were scheduled for a practice session at Southwestern field this afternoon. Tomorrow morning they will make the 40-mile trip from Kansas City to Lawrence by bus. The team is scheduled to leave Lawrence at 9 p. m. Saturday and will return directly to East Lansing. They will arrive at the Grand Trunk station in Lansing at about 2:47 p. m. Sunday.

Bachman named 29 members of this year's squad for the trip to Lawrence. Those on the list were: Ruds, Kiewicki, Lou Zarza, Bob Allan, Al Baker, Hank Kutchnick, tackles; Buck Reveley, Howard Zindel, Abe Katz, Jim Brakeman, Julius Sieder, guards; Gordon Dahlgren, Sid Wagner, Ben

By TOMMY WARNER

Tomorrow, Kansas—a mighty tough outfit for a team which is in the pink of condition to stack up against... how will the Spartans, with several injuries to nurse and an offensive which has folded up like a blanket in the last few weeks, manage against the Jayhawkers? ... On top of this, the Jayhawkers have been known to possess a first rate pass defense at times and also show quite a bit of fire and pep on their offense.

which is a modified form of the Michigan punt, pass and pray system... they use the short punt formation quite a bit and really make it go places offensively... possess three very good backs in Stokely, Harris and Hanson and have a line which will again be one that will outweigh the Spartans about 15 pounds to the man.

Another sport is getting under way here about now—basketball—and Ben VanAlstine's boys open their current season against the well known Universal Car Leaders from Grand Rapids in a charity game down at the vocational school field house tonight. Van's boys have been working out regularly during the past few weeks and we are of the opinion that they have a plenty tough team to tackle for an opener. The boss around here tells us that the captain of this Furniture City outfit is none other than Skippy Byrum, famous tennis player in state circles, also an outstanding tennis player at West-eta State.

Lieutenant Drake's polo players have been showing some mighty good polo in recent practice sessions from all the reports we've been getting... seems that the cavalrymen gave their own coach, Captain Voorhes, Lieutenant Peterson and Joe Lee quite a bit of a workout the other day during practice... Polo is slowly becoming a popular sport in collegiate circles out here in the midwest and it is truly an exciting game to watch... whether played indoors or out... it is known to be the fastest game played by man.

hockey being about the fastest game played by man on his own legs... don't forget that the horse does the heavy running around in polo... nevertheless, a man has to be more than just a good rider to play polo... he has to have some sense and team work seen to a higher degree than a well-coordinated football team, no football.

We suggest that fans of the faster sports turn some of their attention to this game if they are looking for evenings packed with thrills and brilliant teamwork during the coming season.

Last Monday the Spartan harrier team repeated in their national championship title out in the east... More than that, Tom Otley took first for the second consecutive time and in so doing placed himself in the cross country immortals, being one of four men who have been able to do this feat... and these same boys must lock horns and match stride for stride with some of the finest competition in the Central Intercollegiate. Such men as Lash, Sears, Zepp, et al will be fresh while the Spartans must go into this meet right on the heels of that grueling six mile run which they turned so magnificently last Monday... we hope they can also take the C. I. C. but it looks like the competition is going to be plenty stiff... even if they do Tom Otley may not be able to amass first place in this meet... he failed to do so last year under almost the same circumstances, and this year has even stronger competition in the CIC than he had last... still, we're hoping.

Looking back over the season as it has shaped up to date we find a few forgotten thoughts... at the first of the season it looked like State would be lucky to win five out of her nine games... to date they have won six and lost one... with two to go... normally we would say to go... but now we're afraid to do even that... The Manhattan game took something out of the boys that they have never really recovered... possibly it was injuries, yet Kurt, Ed, Howdy, and Sid were all in the game Saturday... since the Manhattan game the Spartan aerial attack has completely folded up... State has thrown hardly a round dozen passes in the last three games... One wonders how they managed to win from Marquette even now... at Syracuse they were driven into a hole by smart football and a couple bad breaks from which they never got even back to the brim... against Detroit they seemed to play a waiting game... but they are far from back into the form they had during the first of the season... we feel that maybe it was a good

Hermians, Sigma Nus and Sae's Win Bowling Meets

Grambau Sets Three Game Record; Gentner Rolls High Score for Evening.

Six more fraternities met in the annual interfraternity bowling league matches this Thursday and the S. A. E.'s Hermians and Sigma Nu's emerged victors over the Trimoras, Alpha Gamma Rho's and Phylans. The Sigma Nu's played the closest match, winning three straight in games but only winning by the close margin of 2,163 to 2,031 in total pins. The Hermians finally put their match on ice by taking the third game from the A. G. R.'s.

High game for the evening was rolled by Bill Gentner of the Hermians, who turned in a total of 215 pins in the second game. Grambau of the S. A. E.'s turned in a score of 267 in the second game and held the three game record for the night with 584 pins.

NATIONAL SPORT SUMMARY

By JACK WARNER

A few weeks ago, I sat me down, polished off with several "Now is the time for all good men," and then proceeded to pick the Sons of Old Nassau for the Rose Bowl brawl. I have been told 137,000 times that I have made unforgettable mistake, and that I could never redeem myself. The following week I apologized, but just couldn't resist another attempt at prognosticating. This time I succumbed to the relative merits of one Alabama. And now of all things, cometh the ill report that if Minnesota can surround the fans of the Big Ten committee they will be open to any bids by a post season game on the coast.

This time I'm going to be firm. None of you guys can make me change my mind. In the first place, there is little hope that the Big Ten committee will allow Minnesota to make the trip. Only twice before have they suspended their anti-post season rule. In 1931 a series of post season charity games was arranged, and Minnesota played Ohio State. Again, in 1920, Ohio State was allowed to play in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena. Personally, we would very much enjoy seeing Minnesota go to the Rose Bowl, for it is a little argued point that they would deal very roughly with the challengers. In fact, it would be what is commonly known as a "dream game" to those ardent eastern football fans.

And then there's another point to be considered. Purdue would more than likely but up a resounding smack. They, too, are undefeated, and if everything goes right they will still be on the unbeaten list at the end of this season. They would probably object to Minnesota going to the coast for a game if they had as much right to the honor.

The challenging team from the coast for the game to be played on January 1, 1935, will be named by the Pacific Coast conference on Monday. The probable outfit will be Stanford. The power of selecting the team from the south, east or middle west lies in the hands of the institution selected by the Pacific Coast committee, and is independent of the coast conference.

But you can never tell what these committees on selection will do. From now I'm remaining strictly neutral. If we say "Alabama," then they'll pick Minnesota. If we say "Minnesota," then they'll pick Alabama. And if we say "Well, it's all hard between those two," then they'll pick Michigan and Knox.

STATE POLOISTS TO PLAY ALUMNI

Lieut. Drake's Men Will Engage Group of Former Stars in Near Future.

The Spartan polo team, their first meeting with the alumni less than four weeks away, are rapidly working into a smooth working trio. A varsity of four men, with a reserve of about eight juniors, are working out every night in the armory. Spectators are invited to attend these practice games, which are held from 3:30 to 4:30 daily.

Pikington, Humphrey, Weber and Clark form the varsity of this year's squad, and this quartet has begun to show results of the training they received last spring term. The work at that time was devoted to basic horsemanship, and Lieutenant Drake, in charge of the local equestrians, is pleased with the work the men are doing.

The first engagement is scheduled for December 15 in conjunction with the annual fall horse show which is held at that time. Opposition will be furnished either by the State alumni or by a team from the Detroit district, and the Spartans should be working together in fine shape by that time.

WAA Holds First Party of Season

The Women's Athletic Association held its first party of the term on Thursday evening. The party was in the form of a swimming party with ping pong or badminton for those who did not wish to swim the entire time. Elizabeth Johnson, president of the association, gave a short talk to the girls present on the requirements for membership in the organization, announcing also the date for the fall term banquet as December 15. Other plans for the banquet have not been made. Some of the managers of the winter term sports spoke on their sport, telling the girls to plan on trying out.

Badminton, the game played by a large part of Detroit society, is becoming more and more popular on the Michigan State campus. It is one of the best liked games among the co-eds and the increasing interest in it leads to its inclusion on the sports list of the women's physical education department.

A Dope Chart on Michigan State's Opponents

GAMES LAST WEEK

Grinnell 6, Coe 29; Michigan 6, Ohio State 34; Carnegie Tech 3, Duquesne 9; Manhattan 9, Villanova 29; Marquette 39, Creighton 9; Syracuse 2, Colgate 13; Kansas 6, Nebraska 3; Texas A. & M. 6, Rice 26.

GAMES SATURDAY

Grinnell vs. Cornell College; Michigan vs. Northwestern; Marquette vs. Detroit; Syracuse vs. Columbia. The current gridiron season is rapidly drawing to a close, with one team already finished and two more closing their schedules with their next game. While State was finding Detroit lots tougher than expected, Marquette and Carnegie Tech were registering victories over their opponents. All the other schools on State's schedule met with reversals.

Syracuse came to the climax of their year and though running up a margin between the 29 yard lines, could not match the cunning of Colgate fell from the undefeated 13-2. The Red Raiders struck twice in the form of long runs and did not resort to their highly publicized lateral attack. The Orange should have little or no trouble with Lou Little's Columbia production in their engagement this week.

In another of the many upsets that marked the day's play, Carnegie Tech turned on a powerful Duquesne eleven and won a 3-0 victory. The Tartans were considered far inferior to the high-scoring Dukes, and not only stopped Art Straff, leading national scorer, but scored an early field goal and protected that margin for the remainder of the game. They also used a hybrid single wing-back formation... which seems to look both the wing back and the true ball-receiver. Staged a fine pass defense demonstration against St. Louis U.

The backs seem to have the knack of running good interference for their ball carriers also... In general, during the past few games, they have been playing a brand of heads-up football which will prove a tartar to State unless State can come out of the almost legatible state in to which they seem to have fallen...

Spartan Cagemen to Open Season Against Strong G. R. Quintet

Coach Ben VanAlstyne to Send Charges Against Powerful Car Leaders Team From Furniture City in Charity Game at Vocational School Tonight.

Coach Ben VanAlstyne's 1934 edition of Spartan basketball opens the current season tonight when they meet the Universal Carloaders of Grand Rapids in a charity game for the benefit of the Lansing Red Stocking club. Van has been working his charges both in the field house at the Vocational school and out here in the college gym during the last few weeks. This game will be played at the Vocational school field house and will begin promptly at 8 p. m.

DETROIT SIDELIGHTS

By HARRY WISMER

Gus Dorais, the mentor of the Titans and Charlie Bachman, famed coach of the Spartans, put two good, well-coached football teams on the field last Saturday for the championship of Michigan State. Again, in 1920, Ohio State was allowed to play in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena. Personally, we would very much enjoy seeing Minnesota go to the Rose Bowl, for it is a little argued point that they would deal very roughly with the challengers. In fact, it would be what is commonly known as a "dream game" to those ardent eastern football fans.

And then there's another point to be considered. Purdue would more than likely but up a resounding smack. They, too, are undefeated, and if everything goes right they will still be on the unbeaten list at the end of this season. They would probably object to Minnesota going to the coast for a game if they had as much right to the honor.

The challenging team from the coast for the game to be played on January 1, 1935, will be named by the Pacific Coast conference on Monday. The probable outfit will be Stanford. The power of selecting the team from the south, east or middle west lies in the hands of the institution selected by the Pacific Coast committee, and is independent of the coast conference.

But you can never tell what these committees on selection will do. From now I'm remaining strictly neutral. If we say "Alabama," then they'll pick Minnesota. If we say "Minnesota," then they'll pick Alabama. And if we say "Well, it's all hard between those two," then they'll pick Michigan and Knox.

Act Brandstatter started his first game for State and put up a great game. His post after touchdown being the deciding factor in the Spartans' victory. This by the way was the first time that Brandstatter has been called upon to kick a point team placement this year. At Algett the sophomore sensation, who has been handicapped by an inferiorly replica to date, but who actually possesses more natural football ability than any other ten men at the mid-west, finally found himself and demonstrated that from now on he will aid State plenty in years to come. His punting was beautiful and his defensive play a revelation.

Now we have the report that after playing 13 games with Detroit—winning 6, losing 6 and tying 1—that all athletic relations are about to be cancelled. Games have already been dropped in some sports. Others are bound to follow. Seems that U. of D. isn't in the North-Central Athletic association, or simply still.

The injury has been sustained by Bob Herrick, an outstanding guard from last season, who injured an ankle in a practice game last week and has been favoring it during recent workouts. Herrick, along with Mike Rouse, will be remembered for the superb teamwork they displayed during last year's games.

One of the outstanding losses suffered by VanAlstyne in the Baysse elevator basketball snafu of the Spartan last year and the center, Baysse was the last to come through several times this season with that peculiar goal eye back-hand shot of his to close games on ice for the Spartans. Coach VanAlstyne is at present searching for a suitable replacement for him.

that U. of D.-State battle is beginning to take on the signs of a classic... much as a year's engagement with Syracuse was able to develop into a national-sportsman game.
