MAN ON THE MOON!

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) -- Man landed and walked on the moon Sunday, July 20, 1969.

Two Americans, Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., 240,000 miles from their home on the planet Earth, settled to a dusty landing on the moon's alien soil at 3:18 p.m. EST and some six hours later Armstrong made the first footprint on that strange globe.

In a bulky suit that gave him the life-sustaining environment of his planet, Armstrong climbed laboriously down the nine steps on a ladder at the side of his spaceship.

Aldrin, his companion on this trek of history, waited inside the ship Eagle to watch Armstrong's progress before venturing down himself.

They had been impatient to be out--to complete man's ancient dream. They asked. and received permission, to make their walk early.

Eagle landed on the moon at 3:18 p.m. while Michael Collins--in the mother ship that brought them--continued to girdle the moon awaiting their reunion 22 hours later. "Houston," Armstrong's voice called out in the first human communication from the moon.

"Tranquility Base here. The Eagle has landed."

"Fantastic," said Collins on his lonely orbital perch some 69 miles above.

Later Aldrin sent a message "to ask every person listening, wherever they may be, to pause for a moment and contemplate the events of the past few hours and to give thanks in his or her own

The events that brought them here were already inventoried, and the hazards known.

As Eagle neared the surface of the moon, Armstrong saw that the computerized automatic pilot was sending the fragile ship toward a field scattered with rocks and boulders in the projected landing site on the moon's Sea of Tranquillity.

He grabbed control of his ship, sent it clear of the area where it would have met almost certain disaster and landed four miles beyond the original landing point.

It was a costly maneuver. It cut the available fuel short. When it landed Eagle had bareiv 49 seconds worth of hovering rocket fuel left, less than half of the 114 seconds worth it was supposed to have.

"The auto targeting was taking us right into a football field sized crater with a large number of big boulders and rocks," Armstrong said. "And it required us to fly manually over the rock field to find a reasonably good area.

They landed just north of the moon's equator. In the original landing site. Armstrong said there were "extremely rough craters and a large number of rocks. Many of them were larger than 10 feet."

The world thrilled to the moment. London's Trafalgar Square rang with cheers and screams of delight. Men and women, some carrying babies. jammed through the fountains and saw the news of his mother, Mrs. Stephen Armgiant screen.

nedy Airport, 2,500 clustered around television screens at the International Arrivals Building. And at Yankee Stadium, 35,000 fans watching the Yankees and Senators saw the news on the scoreboard: "They're on the moon." Everything stopped as the stadium filled with cheers. Then they fell silent for a moment of prayer, then sang "America the Beautiful."

Immediately after Eagle touched down. Mission Control dropped the radio call sign Eagle and referred to the Americans on the moon as Tranquillity Base.

The first hour was full of descriptions of sights noone

"From the surface." Aldrin reported. "we could not see was born and learned to fly, any stars out of the window

But out of the overhead hatch, I'm looking at the earth, big, round and beautiful.

Just after landing, mission control called up, "Be advised there are lots of smiling faces here and all around the world.

There are two up here also," Armstrong beamed back.

"Don't forget the third one up here," added Collins from the orbiting command ship.

Then he added his compliments. "Tranquillity Base, you guys did a fantastic job." he said.

"Just keep that orbiting base up there for us," said Armstrong on the moon.

New fee base OK'd despite Trustee's split

By MARILYN PATTERSON

State News Staff Writer The board of trustees voted in a new fee structure, a program of student aid grants and an increase in residence hall rates as its Friday meeting.

Trustees Warren Huff, D-Plymough, and Clair White, D-Bay City, opposed the new fee structure because of its "gross inequalities" to freshmen and sophomore Under the new structure resident students will pay $13 per credit hour and non-resident students will pay $31.

We have increased fees because the legislature won't fund our graduate programs," Huff said. "But we are assessing the freshman and sophomore to support the graduate's programs. We have to find out how to fund graduate programs so as not to take it out of the pocket of freshmen and sophomores."

To replace the sliding scale plan, an administrative committee composed of Acting President Adams, board chairman Don Stevens, presidential asst. Elliott Ballard, Oakland, and Chancelor Durward Verner and Secretary Jack Breslin, proposed a new program of student aid

Cubans welcome Soviet naval fleet

HAVANA (AP)--A task force of Soviet naval vessels glided into Havana harbor Sunday morning and was greeted by a 21-gun salute and a warm welcome from Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government.

Thousands of Cubans who lined the city's five-mile waterfront were generally quiet. Many of them had been standing more than two hours under a blazing sun.

'This visit is a marvelous thing, but I'm going home.' said one onlooker. "It's just too hot.

Cuban flags flew from many of the buildings facing the bay and miniature Soviet and Cuban flags were passed out to the crowds to greet the visitors.

The squadron of seven ships represented the largest show of Soviet power in the western hemisphere since the 1962 missile crisis.

The detachment, commanded by Rear Adm. Stepan Sokolan, consisted of a rocket cruiser, a rocket ship, an antisubmarine ship, two submarines, the mother ship Tobot and the tanker Lena.

They will remain in Havana a week. Their destination after leaving Havana has not been announced.

After the mother ship entered the harbor and steamed past Moro Castle, the rest of the squadron formed offshore in a long sweeping curve. Later all the ships entered the port to participate in welcoming ceremonies.

Bard lacks folksy touch

State News Reviewer

Angus Godwin was billed as folksinger and guitarist, graduate of the Julliard School of Music. If his Wednesday concert was exemplary. Godwin is more a singer of folk, and other songs, than a folksinger in the traditional sense.

A dispassionate rendering of Tom Lehrer's "Pollution" was the evening's most socially significant offering.

Songs such as the "Lass From the Low Country." "I Wish I Was a Red Rosy Bush,' and the lovely "Take off Your Thirsty Boots" and the songs
