PEOPLE'S CHURCH DEDICATES NEWLY COMPLETED HOME

All-College Night Is Feature Of Week's Program Which Ends With Concerts.

The first All-College banquet of the year held last night served a two fold purpose. Being attended by over 500 students and visitors to the campus, it turned out to be a "high light" in the dedication program of the new Peoples church of East Lansing, and a most fitting culmination for the Founders' Day celebration.

The banquet was held in the banquet hall of the church with an adjoining room in use to care for the large guests which attended. Making evident as it did, the existing desire on the part of the student body for cooperation in church activities, it accomplished an end not to be forgotten, when reflection is made to the 60th anniversary of the birth of Michigan State college.

Visiting college presidents from all over Michigan together with heads of various normal schools were guests of honor at last night's function, and President Butterfield of M.S.C. presided over the ceremonies, attending to the banquet. Other speakers in the program were Dr. W. G. Slichter, president of Hillsdale college; O. D. Foster, prominent New York exponent of student religious work; Thomas E. Johnson, state superintendent of public instruction, and representative of the University of Michigan; and Ben' Dohlin, prominent religious representative of the college student body.

Mr. Johnson was present at the banquet in the name of both the U. of M. and state, to make formal acknowledgement of last evening's part of the celebration. President Little of Michigan was unable to attend, either the banquet or the commemoration exercises of the college.

Before the 470 members and guests of the People's church Tuesday night at the Victory banquet, the

ARTILLERY GIVES DEMONSTRATION

Selfridge Field Aircraft and Roars of Big Guns Make Spectacle Realistic.

The most spectacular demonstration of the year was given by the artillery in one of the planes from Selfridge fields Wednesday. The whining field was punctuated by the roars of the 55mm anti-aircraft gun which was imagined entirely by students. Much of the work—that was done by the students was not obvious to the spectators. The manipulating of the R.A. corrector, which automatically figures the range and direction of the gun was done by students. This very complex instrument is worked by setting information gained from observation stations on the dial of the machine. It then automatically gives the information necessary for the firing of the gun. The only thing that was needed to make the affair any more real was the use of real charges of high explosive instead of paper wadding. The work which the anti-aircraft division does was portrayed very well however.

SENIORS MAKE FIRST APPEARANCE IN CAP AND GOWN

Three Hundred Members of Class of '26 Participate In Swingout.

Led by the Michigan State college military band, 300 members of the class of '26 participated in the annual senior swingout before an audience which assembled on the campus in front of the Union Memorial Building. The class numbers were formed before the photographer, and yell were lead by Larry Skelleng.

The procession of seniors was led by Allan Edmunds, chairman of the senior committee on swingout, David Stouffer, the president of the senior class, Millicent Clark, vice president, Mary Kirk McElroy, secretary, and Carl Bittner, treasurer.

Following the swingout, the State military band held a concert on the campus. This is the first of a number of open air concerts, which will be given by the band this spring. These concerts will mark the final appearance of eight seniors who have worn the State band uniform during their college careers. The men, who are finishing their service in the band, William Schudgen, Merwyn Wrench, Carlton W. Fisher, Claude Lykhouse, Vernon Mock, Frank Lyons, Howard Preston and L. T. Van Bassel.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS MADE ON CAMPUS

Much Being Done to Beautify Campus Along Boulevard.

Noteworthy improvements are being made at present to beautify the campus, especially in the vicinity of the Union building, and along Grand River avenue, at the north boundary of the campus.

Shrubbery is being placed at the boulevard entrance of the Union, near the music center, and along the Grand River side of the edifice. Complete grading is being done in the previously untouched area from the boulevard to the Home Economics building, and it is hoped that a new sidewalk from the avenue to the main entrance of the latter will be constructed soon.

The contemplated improvements will add considerable to the beauty of the campus at the junction most visible to the tourist.

A thing of added distinction on the campus is the new entrance sign placed at the front of the boulevard entrance to the Union. The sign bears the inscription, "Michigan State College of Agriculture and Applied Science." The lettering is done in large gold letters on a plate background, making a very impressive and dignified announcement of the college name and purpose of the college.

This boulevard highway will be later beautified with shrubs.

GROUND SUPERINTENDENT ATTENDS NAT. CONVENTION

A. H. Lavers, superintendent of buildings and grounds, returned Wednesday from a national convention of college and university superintendents of buildings and grounds held in Ann Arbor Tuesday. One of the chief discussions pertained to the problem of student parking on the campus. The convention will be held at the University of Minnesota next year.

SENIOR CHEM ENGINEERS GIRLS' RIDING CLASS ATTEND EXPOSITION IS MOST SUCCESSFUL

Nine Seniors Attend Four Day Present Class Doing Better Than Chemical Equipment Exposition.

Nine senior chemical engineers, Dr. D. E. Ewing, Professor Reed and R. D. Lamie left last Tuesday morning for Cleveland, Ohio, to attend the chemical equipment exposition class. All members, including those who began this spring, can now ride comfortably at all gaits, and many have started jumping the hurdles. Some of the bravest ones have even ridden down the gravel pit.

There is much enthusiasm over this class, and it is well attended, although scheduled at 8 o'clock. The following girls are enrolled: Victoria Adams, Ester Carnes, Nina Crites, Josephine Collins, Mary Ella Edmirey, Margaret Hager, Lois Harwood, Harriet Holden, Elvira Kies, Julia King, Meribel McKnight, Lucille Norris, Arla Pankhorn, Marian Pulver, Pauline Scott, Katherine Smith, Dorothy Sprague, Phoebe Taft, Elaine Walker, Ethelene Wallace, Elizabeth Woodworth, Thelma Bowes.

The party returned last night to auto.

Leads Symphony Orchestra

FREDERICK STOCK

Frederick Stock, head conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, which will appear at East Lansing May 18 to give two concerts. Mr. Stock has had one of the most remarkable careers of modern musicians and like most men of exceptional success, he has a very pleasing personality and wins the friendship and support of all those with whom he comes in contact. He is a composer of international reputation.

CHICAGO SYMPHONY TO APPEAR IN TWO PROGRAMS TUESDAY

The Chicago Symphony orchestra, which will appear at East Lansing May 18 for two programs, afternoon and evening, in the New Peoples church auditorium, is credited with having two of the best directors in the United States. Frederick Stock, head conductor, has had one of the most remarkable careers of modern musicians, and Eric DeLamarter, assistant conductor, is making a name for himself in the composing field.

The symphony, which is the third oldest of its kind in the country, will come to East Lansing 75 strong, and will offer one of the most pleasing programs that has been heard of late in the college city. Mr. DeLamarter's most recent symphony, "After Walt Whitman," will be the feature of the evening concert while the popular selections from Mendelssohn's suite, including "To a Water Lily," and "To a Wild Rose," will lend a pleasing touch to the afternoon entertainment.

CO-EDS SET JUNE 8 AS DATE FOR FIRST LANTERN CEREMONY

First Event of Its Kind to Be Held On Campus; To Be Traditional.

Lantern night, the first event of its kind to be held on the campus, and the first time that all the girls of the school will appear in a body, will be held June 8, the evening preceding Cap night. The ceremony is under the sponsorship of Sparty, campus activity honorary for women, which together with Excalibur is attempting to inaugurate a number of future traditions.

Annie Laurie Walls is chairman of the committee in charge working with her are Marie Vanburen, Martha Griswold, Reva Hantoon and Margaret Fouts of the senior class. Committees representing other classes will be appointed at meetings of the girls of the various classes to be held in the near future.

The affair may be compared with the Daisy Chain at Vassar. It will be impressive but not necessarily so serious that the departing seniors will be left with a feeling of depression. The senior girls will wear their caps and gowns, and the entire group, composed of the four classes, will meet at the new library building. The line of march is not definitely decided but will probably extend toward the old library and around the campus, ending in the Forest of Arden. Spirited songs during the procession will enliven matters and the ceremony will conclude with the singing of songs and a short talk by President Butterfield, who will probably light the first lantern. All the girls except the members of the freshman class will have lanterns, the hue designating the class. The members of the sophomore class will hand theirs to the freshmen and receive those of the juniors, who in turn will take the lanterns of the seniors, who thus leave without any

INTER-FRAT COUNCIL DISCUSSES RUSHING

Eligibility of Players in Inter-Fraternity Games Defined More Definitely.

The Inter-Fraternity council held a meeting in the Union Tuesday evening. Several minor changes were made in the constitution. One of the more important was the defining of eligibility of players in inter-fraternity games. There has been a section covering this but it was indefinite. According to the constitution as changed, members are eligible immediately upon being initiated. Each society must turn in a list of each group of initiates to the director of athletics.

The 10-day rushing rule was also discussed. Fred Alderman, who represented the Michigan State council at the national convention, brought out the idea that the practice of having a rushing period is not followed in eastern colleges. The point was also brought up that the 10 day rushing period interferes seriously with studies, and gives many freshmen a wrong start to say nothing of taking up the time of upperclassmen.

WALDO ATTENDS DRAMATIC CONVENTION IN NEW YORK

Professor L. P. Waldo, of the English department returned Wednesday from a convention held in New York City for the purpose of reviewing and discussing dramatic productions. While in the east Prof. Waldo also attended several stage presentations for the purpose of making a review to be discussed in the college drama classes, of which he has charge.

FOUNDERS' DAY PROGRAM IS IMPRESSIVE

Charles Garfield, '70, Addresses Students at Afternoon Celebration in Gym.

Founders' Day, celebrating, in the words of President Kenyon L. Butterfield, a double anniversary both of the old college M. A. C. and the new college M. S. C., was ushered in Thursday morning by a general "Bolshevik" day declared by the students of Michigan State college, and featured by an impressive and memorable program in the afternoon at which Charles W. Garfield, class of '70, gave the principal address, "Looking Both Ways."

At 1:30 the long line of fraternities, sororities, and independents, stretching in a double file from the gym to faculty row marched into the auditorium led by Schwartz Creek band. The gym was beautifully decorated with society banners, pennants and coats of arms and the stage where sat the presidents of six college of Michigan, and 15 of the prominent alumni of Michigan State, was banked with ferns. The program was ushered in by selections by the college orchestra.

"It is well to look back at times," said Mr. Garfield in addressing the large assembly of students and faculty, "to the days when our predecessors were laying the foundations for our success today, when men sought to have work of hands glorified by work in intellect, to have science grasp hands with agriculture."

Back in the old days at M. A. C. I remember how the faculty carried inspiration to the students, how they stimulated confidential relations and made the college of 82 students a family affair. Dr. R. C. Kedzie was the students' counselor, kind and self-sacrificing. I remember also Hezekiah Wells as chairman of the State Board of Agriculture how tolerant he was and how he knew how to adapt himself to changing circumstances."

Recalling his first visit to the college in 1867, Mr. Garfield told a number of stories of the old days when the college had been rounded "square" ten years.

The maximum salary for a professor was then $2,000 a year, and this wage was once reduced to $1,800. When we bought a college organ to have music at our chapel exercises the

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS DR. FISHER

California and Western United States Called "Ultimate America".

California and western United States is the "Ultimate America" according to Dr. Fisher, who spoke at the special number of the Liberal Arts program last Wednesday night.

A large gathering of people were present to hear a very pleasant talk on the beauties of America, and see many magnificent views of our continent, especially United States.

The slides Dr. Fisher presented were taken upon his many trips around America and are of the most majestic and awe inspiring of nature's corners.

Something new in philosophy of life was presented by Dr. Fisher when he stated his as being of four parts: the wonderfulness of human life, the wonderfulness of future life, the wonderfulness of humanity, and the wonderfulness of nature. He gave his audience some of his thoughts on each in very eloquent language. However, it was quite evident that everyone enjoyed the pictures.

From the Yellowstone through Arizona, Utah, Mexico, Panama Canal, Yosemite, and California the pictures, carrying the theme of travel, held the people with the beauties of nature's scenes that were marvelous to the extreme.

COLLEGE GENTLEMEN

Among all the sacred cows which man a gentleman if he gives them a graze the undergraduate pasture we chance. Probably most college graduate think of none to be more tenderly regarded nor more respectfully revered than the belief that all college graduates are gentlemen. Some people even fondly think that college graduates diploma the exception does not prove are cultured. Of course that's too far the rule, much even for the college men to believe.

We should like to examine the symptoms of gentleness and attempt to discover wherein the college graduate taken in the large is entitled to that gentleness is a man of some social distinction. Let us suppose that a charm a man who can carry on any intelligent conversation in presentable English, who can discuss the trend in politics, in sports, who is acquainted with the broad outlines of international affairs, who treats women with a certain respect, and finally, if it is not asking too much who enjoys good music and good plays, although not to the exclusion of lower comedy of life and stage.

There are very few men in the school who can carry on a conversation on any subject in even reasonably English for two hours fifteen minutes. More are conversant in state and national affairs, but with a view ready made and hand me down from their particular newspapers or others. Few can discuss the fall of French France or the Riff trouble or the place of Mussolini in Italian history. (Now, we don't claim that we can, though we say this very, very sadly.)

The appreciation of good books and good music and good plays is much higher than most students realize. Among our students it is low enough, but as usual the unintelligent portions of the institution make a great deal of noise, and their noise like the braying of other asses drowns out the sound but not the reading of those who really do enjoy the better things of life.

Men who use double negatives, men who speak with profanity and liquor men who never heard of Christopher Morley, these are the gentlemen whom many colleges are propelling out to the amused world. We hope State isn't but are our hopes of any direct benefit.

W. F. Snyder, T. C. Williams, J. R. McFall, and Dean E. S. Kedzie himself who was presented with a bouquet at the order of the master of ceremonies for the occasion.

President Butterfield after giving a few remarks on the significance of Founders' Day introduced the visiting college presidents. President J. P. McNichols of Detroit University; President W. G. Spencer of Hillsdale college; Dean Niper of Hope; Prof. John Everett of Western State Normal and President Charles McKinney of Michigan State Normal college were greeted with loud applause by the student body.

Sphinx, honorary campus society for women, swung out just before the program opened. Now members elected to the organization are Ruth Ketcham, Oiga Bird, Dorothy Goodson, Erva Prescott, Ruth Norton and Katherine Merrifield.

PEOPLE'S CHURCH DEDICATES NEWLY COMPLETED HOME

Professor Blasdell was the main speaker on the program for the banquet, having formerly been a member of the English department of Michigan State college, and having made the first suggestion in the way of an inter-denominational church. Dr. Blasdell was reminiscent of the early attempts along this line and of the small schoolroom which served as a church 19 years ago in the selfsame community. He continued to trace the growth of the idea, which was culminated in the assemblage to which he spoke, gathered to honor the completion of the new structure.

Dr. W. H. Phelps, editor of the Michigan Christian Advocate, was another important speaker on the program, and termed the accomplishment of the People's church a "miracle." Dean E. H. Ryder long actively associated with the church, paid tribute to Rev. N. A. McCamey.

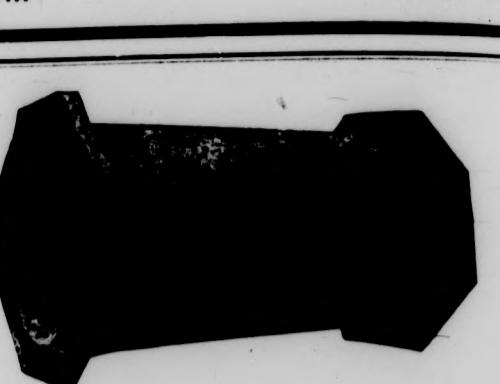

Community singing was led by L. G. Morse, along with vocal selections, while the invocation was delivered by J. G. Biery. Mrs. D. A. Seeley spoke on the part which the women were playing in the accomplishment of the ends sought.

Still in Service after 250 Years

A HUNDRED years before Napoleon was born, before his wars scourged Europe, before the French Revolution raged, this Cast Iron Pipe was laid, in the reign of Louis XIV, to supply water to the fountains of Versailles.

A report from the Director of the Water Service says: "From their actual state of preservation, which is excellent, excepting the assembly iron bolts, these conduits seem to be able to furnish service for a very considerable time longer."

The high resistance of this Cast Iron Pipe to corrosion may be judged from the clearness of the fine "parting line" produced by the old horizontal method of casting.

To mountain climbers about to cross a plateau

THIS is a thought for seniors about to set forth on the world's biggest climb—their careers.

Educators tell us that mental growth, if diagrammed, would show a succession of mountains and plateaus. Progress in industry, too, has its plateaus—the periods when you seem merely to be marking time.

But is it time lost? Older graduates, now executives in industry, say "No." They recall this as really a chance to find one's self, to get one's second wind for the next climb ahead.

And they recall the fact that this whole journey, up the mountain and across the plain, is a great adventure with each man blazing his own trail, working out his own individuality in the various technical and commercial activities of modern business.

DIRKS NEW PRESIDENT OF STUDENT COUNCIL

George Dirks was elected president of the student council for the coming year at a meeting of the council held Tuesday night. Clyde Olin was elected secretary.

The council passed a resolution to make a recommendation to the faculty that athletes and those students who work be given preference at registration time in the desirable laboratory sections which would be either in the morning or from 1:00 to 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Previously preference has been given only in the order in which students enrolled.

was a nice long easy riding affair in the Forest of Arden. It was labeled "For the use of Eunomian seniors and Abbot hall," but the label did not designate whether that "use" was to be alternate or simultaneous. A few evidently thought it meant the latter.

There were several fine points in the art of swing hanging brought out during the meeting. The boys from up along the road were of the opinion that it makes the best swing if the main loop is allowed to hang down toward the ground. The boys from down toward Detroit, on the other hand, were sure that the best effect is attained if the loop is allowed to extend skyward. They claim that it would leave a more lasting impression of those who watched the seniors swing out. That heels-over-head condition often develops a very thrilling scene according to their statements.

One of the earliest swings to appear, for there must have been a dozen hanging about the campus, was the one at the Sigma Chi house. Thelma Willys, Mildred Gagnon, Katherine Boenstra, Ruth Marsh, Alice Windes, Helen German, Helen Peck and Alberta Bates.

Woman's Building

The spring term informal will be held in the Woman's building Friday evening.

Phylean

George Dirks, C. P. Salisbury, Gerrit Arnold and J. D. Medill spent Wednesday in Ann Arbor.

Exterior decorating will be started soon.

Lawrence Heydrick of Saginaw was the guest of his brother Ray last Sunday, while Earl VanBuren was at the house Saturday.

An open house will be staged May 21.

Olympic

The fraternity will hold its spring term party Saturday evening with the Jackson DeMolay orchestra furnishing the music. Dean and Mrs. W. H. Bissell of Pratt and Mrs. J. E. Cox will be the patrons for the affair.

Alpha Phi

The society held a tea for its alumnae Wednesday afternoon.

Thursday afternoon, phlegm services were held for Helen Teel of Lansing.

Delphic

R. S. Blatchford visited in Brighton over the weekend, Keith Baldwin in Richmond, Edward Jerome in Detroit, Horace Chase in Ashby, Milton Grams in Saginaw and Clyde Kutto and Earl Coulter in Detroit. Neil Morrison and Mr. Gordon both of Detroit were guests of the fraterity for the weekend.

Alpha Gamma Delta

Marie Jay from the Alpha Gamma Delta chapter at Norman, Okla., visited the local chapter over the weekend.

Violet Plague and Esther Christensen of Lansing, Elaine Graham of Niles and Rose Christensen of Elkhart were guests for the weekend.

That the members of the class of '29 make a long and unrelenting appeal to the officials of the college for the introduction of a compulsory course in tree climbing was the final action taken by the Smoke House gang, the official organ of the freshmen class. The action was taken after a long and tedious discussion by the yearlings from the fraternity houses on the easiest manner to ascend trees and attach the rope ends of the swings to be used in senior swingout. It was brought out in the yearlings' discussion that if every student was taught the proper and easiest manner of tree ascension they could hang out their own swings when they get to be seniors.

There were several fine points in the art of swing hanging brought out during the meeting. The boys from up along the road were of the opinion that it makes the best swing if the main loop is allowed to hang down toward the ground. STATE BUNCHES HITS AGAINST HOPE AND BEAT DUTCHMEN, SIX TO TWO

TOLLES GOES ROUTE, ALLOWING SEVEN HITS; FLESER HITS HOMER; HASKINS HEAVY WITH STICK.

With the aid of some good hitting of the crooked armed port sider "Lefty" Tolles and the timely hitting of Baynes, Fleser and Haskins, State outscored the Hope college nine to six at College field yesterday afternoon, 6-2. Both teams went scoreless until the sixth when State first dented the plate with a quartet of markers through three hits, three passes and a passed ball. The Spartans concluded the day's scoring in the eighth with a brace of runs scored on Fleser's home run, a wounded batter, a sacrifice and a safe bingle by Perry Fremont. Hope's lone scoring was done in the seventh when with two away, a free ticket to first, an error and three hits provided the needed constituents for a pair of runs. Aside from this inning Tolles was invincible.

In the sixth after Captain Kiebler had bined to DeGroot, Tolles drew a walk and stole second. Spiekerman also drew a pass, his third of the afternoon and they both advanced on Rowley's infield out. Baynes singled to right scoring Tolles and Spiekerman. Baynes took second on the throw in and Fleser singled him to third. Baynes took second on the throw in and Fleser singled him to third. Baynes scored on a passed ball. Fleser taking second—and scoring from the midway on Don Haskins' one base blow to left. Zimmerman walked but Fremont lifted to Steketee to end the inning.

Baynes rolled out to Albers to initiate the eighth but Fleser drove one between Poppen and Steketee for a home run. The ball traveled on a line over the fielders heads, striking the base of the center field bleachers and rolling down the straightaway. Haskins persuaded "hisumps" that it was his elbow and not his willow that sent one careening against the backstop and reached first. He was sacrificed to second by Zimmerman and scored on Fremont's single. Perry was out at second. Japenga to DeGroot.

Hope's counters were more or less along the line of gifts, two being out before Tolles' misplay let the Dutch men into the scoring role. Kiebler threw out Poppen to start the inning but Ellendous singled to right. Japenga retired on strikes and Albers hit an easy roller down the first base line. Spiekerman handled the ball but Tolles was slow in covering the bag.
