"With its present wording I would personally consider it to be a sericus erosion of the authority of the president . . as well as of the other administrative officers. I also find it rather significant that this kind of erosion seems to be a persistent tendency. I do not believe that it would be possible to function effectively and efficiently in terms of serving even the stated policies of the University with the adoption of this sentence."

Wharton noted that a "previous president" operated "rather efficiently policies at the whim and caprice of any with the existing bylaws without change."

"I personally feel that this kind of an erosion may very well be related to the particular president who happens to be the incumbent," he said. "I consider it to be an action which is totally unnecessary.

"The authority of the board is already stated very clearly within the existing bylaws, and the adoption of this particular sentence would . . . produce considerable ambiguity with regard to those actions involved and would seem to require a case - by - case examination of

President Wharton announced at the trustee meeting that the MSU administration will hold a public hearing at the beginning of fall term on the question of the proposed south campus rerouting of M - 43.

Trustees and administrators will be present to discuss the views of various groups both within and outside the University, he said.

The trustees have been criticized by officials of the Dept. of State Highways and East Lansing for rescinding their earlier approval of the plans for the highway. Trustee Don Stevens, D - Okemos, defended the board's action and said that "any inference that the Trowbridge Road highway exchange was built because of the 1969 trustee action (approving the highway plans) is erroneous because the exit was already under construction before our action."

Henrik E. Stafseth, director of the Dept. of State Highways, has stated in a letter to Wharton that the Trowbridge exchange, costing $1.7 million, would not have been necessary "if the cross campus route had not been agreed to and had not been part of the plan."

The trustee's rescinding the highway approval took place during a closed session of the June trustee meeting.

Trustee Patricia M. Carrigan said the criticism that the trustees have encountered for conducting this public business in a closed session has been well - deserved.

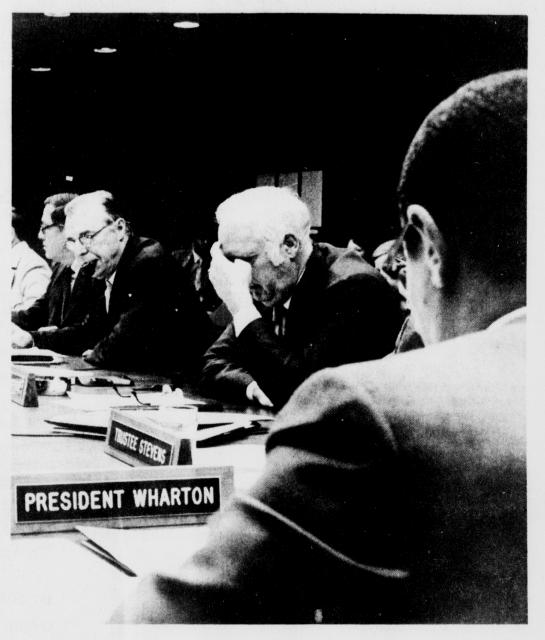

"I believe it is imperative that the board address itself to the question of the content of the closed finance committee meetings," Mrs. Carrigan said. "The current practice of formalizing actions taken in those meetings by subsequent approval of the minutes during open session is, in my view, ethically questionable and perhaps legally

The trustees rejected the motion by a 4 - 3 vote with one abstention.

JENISON: NEW FLOOR

Courts to get repairs

By STEVE WATERBURY State News Staff Writer

The board of trustees unanimously approved Friday proposals to repair the MSU tennis courts and to install a synthetic surface on the floor of Jenison Fieldhouse.

Executive Vice President Jack Breslin recommended the repair of the tennis courts following a personal inspection in which he said he discovered that the courts are in "terrible condition."

"There are cracks one to two inches wide running through almost all the courts," he said. "The surface of many of the courts is chipping and peeling and the nets are in terrible shape.'

The motion approving the tennis court improvements also prohibits the future use of the courts for parking.

The use of the courts to provide games for members of the Spartan Club and the Alumni Varsity Club has been cited as a factor contributing to their deterioration.

Breslin said the use of 10 of the 40 MSU tennis courts by the East Lansing Tennis Club will be investigated by the University administration, but he added that the repair of the available courts would probably reduce student complaints.

"If this (the use of the 10 courts by the East Lansing Tennis Club) prevents students from using the courts, we will have to take another look at it," he

President Wharton said the arrangements previding for the special use of the tennis courts and other athletic facilities were made during a period when MSU's athletic facilities were not heavily used due to a lower summer enrollment and said the whole question of special use will be investigated by the University administration.

Breslin roughly estimated the costs of the tennis court refurbishment at $90,000, with the funds provided from the Special Athletic Building Fund.

The synthetic surface which will be installed in Jenison Fieldhouse will cover the entire floor area and will have a permanently marked basketball court and 220 - yard track and sprint lanes, Breslin

In addition to track and basketball, the fieldhouse is used for football practice when the weather is bad, for physical education classes, intramural

The occasion for such a summit encounter, in Moscow or some other European capital, could be in their view an American - Soviet first - stage agreement on the limitation of strategic

But plainly a parallel purpose would be to dispel any Soviet impression that a normalization of Washington - Peking relations would take place at Moscow's expense.

The informants, who insisted on anonymity, stressed they have no evidence that Nixon has set about preparing for a meeting with the Russians.

"But we are very optimistic that, within the next eight months or so, there may well be a breakthrough in the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks," one official said. "If agreement does emerge there is no doubt that the President would want to sign it."

American and Soviet negotiators engaged in SALT at Helsinki at this time are focusing on a first - stage agreement that would:

Bind the two countries to build no new antiballistic missile systems which are tremendously costly.

• Rule out the construction of any new offensive nuclear weapons bases nuclear missile carrying submarines.

Informants said this would amount essentially to a Washington - Moscow undertaking to halt the nuclear arms

"If it were to come off," one informant said, "it would open the way to the next phase involving actual measures of nuclear weapons reductions."

Initial impressions of some administration officials with long diplomatic experience are that Nixon's coming visit to Peking will have disturbed the Soviet leadership.

For quite a while Soviet propaganda organs have, on and off, accused their Chinese Communist rivals of cozying up to the Americans at the expense of fellow socialists. The Chinese have leveled the same sort of charge against the Russians, citing such things as SALT which they have portrayed as a dialog desgined to perpetuate American - Soviet nuclear mastery of the world.

For his part Nixon has from time to time explicitly underlined the aim of his administration is not to play Peking and Moscow against each other.

N REPAYING DEBT

Players' officers must act today

By JOHN JUEL Editor - in - chief

three principal officers of the New Players, a student theater pany, have until 5:00 p.m. today submit a plan for repayment of a 000 deficit in their student ernment account, ASMSU Chairman old Buckner said Sunday.

the officers of the New Players do submit a repayment plan, ASMSU set a date for repayment of the Buckner said. If the officers use to make such a commitment repayment of the deficit, legal may follow.

he officers of the New Players are A. Klinsky, founder of the group and a June graduate; Penelope Zielinski, Detroit senior, and James T. Allen, Traverse City sophomore.

Last week Louis Hekhuis, director of student governance, revealed that the New Players had overdrawn their account by nearly $6,000. Though ASMSU backed the account, the three New Players officers who authorized expenditures of the group remain responsible for its debts. During the past several weeks, negotiations have been going on between the officers and ASMSU, though as of Sunday no settlement had been reached.

A meeting is scheduled for this morning at which the officers will sign over their remaining assets, $2,000 in bonds, to student government to cover part of the deficit. The remainder of the debt will then be $3,547.35.

"We have delayed action to give the three officers a chance to work something out, in deference to the fact that they are students and aren't able to come up with the money very easily," Buckner said. "But it has been several weeks and no settlement has been reached."

Buckner said that two alternatives were presented to the officers Sunday. They could either decide among themselves who should assume responsibility for the deficit and when it should be repaid - providing it was repaid by a Nov. 30 deadline - or ASMSU would decide who was responsible and by what date, it the debt should be repaid.

"If we have to set a date, it will be considerably sooner than Nov. 30," Buckner said. "We'd like to have the matter settled before the student board comes back in the fall." Buckner said that if the officers do not make a final commitment by 5 p.m. as to who will repay the deficit and by what date, some form of action would be taken, though he discounted using University procedures such as hold cards.

The bills of the New Players will be paid despite the deficit, since the account was guaranteed by ASMSU. Moneyto coverthe bills will come from the ASMSU contingency fund until such time as the debt is repaid by the officers of the New Players.

Britain to vote for China

Britain has advised the Nixon administration it will vote without reservation for Red China's admission to the United Nations next fall regardless of what the United States may do.

U.S. officials, who disclosed this Sunday, said the government of Prime Minister Edward Heath also has made clear it no longer will support any resolution, or device, designed to bar Peking from taking over China's seat in the Security Council and General Assembly.

Allende confrontation set

The left confronted its opposition Sunday in a special congressional election considered to be a popularity poll for Chile's Marxist President Salvador Allende.

There were only two candidates for the seat in Congress left vacant by a woman deputy who died six weeks ago.

A Socialist labor union leader was backed by Allende's Popular - Unity government. The other was the candidate of the Christian Democrat party and the right - wing National party.

The unusual support of a single candidate by the opposition parties set the stage for a confrontation.

Jewish emigration cut

The Soviet government has cut Jewish emigration to Israel by 85 per cent this month in an apparent attempt to assuage Arab criticism and to extract more money from the would - be emigrants.

The usually reliable sources said the authorities cut the Jewish exodus to a trickle because the Arab countries have complained that Russian Jews often become Israeli soldiers on the other side of the Middle East cease - fire line.

Guerrillas pinned down

The Jordanian army pinned down the battered remnants of the Palestinian guerrilla movement in the northern part of the country Sunday and claimed that 70 Israeli - trained infiltrators of the movement had crossed the Israeli border to "escape to their masters."

The surviving force of an estimated 500 guerrillas was herded into four new bases on exposed slopes between the cease - fire line with Israel and the rocky hieghts overlooking the Jordan Valley.

Hanoi scaling down war

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky heightened speculation Sunday that Hanoi may be deliberately scaling down the war in Vietnam, at the urging of Communist China, while a peaceful solution is sought.

Ky said he thought it was possible that Peking had put pressure on North Vietnam to change its policy.

U.S. military officers, however, said they had no firm evidence of any connection between the battlefield lull and peace moves now under way.

Soviets-U.S. trade above China

Latest U.N. figures on Soviet foreign trade show that Moscow does a great deal more business with the United States than it does with Communist China.

Last year the value of Soviet exports to the United States was more than twice that to China -58 - million rubles, against 22 million rubles. Soviet imports from the United States were more than five times those from China - 103 million rubles. against 20 million rubles. One ruble equals $1.11, at the official rate.

But the amount of commerce between Moscow and Washington was still relatively insignificant against the overall trading picture of the Soviet

Police describe purse robberies

By JIM SHELDON State News Staff Writer

Nearly 20 incidents of larcenies from purses have been investigated this month by MSU public safety officers. Police said five thefts occurred Monday when secretaries in the Computer Center, Biochemistry Building and Anthony Hall lost a total estimated $89.50 from their

In four thefts, wallets had been taken from purses left on or under a desk; the entire purse was stolen in the other theft. All offices had been empty and open the time of the incident.

Detective Harold Henderson of MSU police said the "rash of larcenies" from unattended purses usually have occurred during lunch or coffee breaks when the secretaries leave offices. Outer offices are hardest hit, he said. Theives in most cases removed the wallet and left the purse.

Reports of thefts are delayed this way, Henderson explained, because the victim usually does not miss the wallet until a long time after the theft occurred. He said the problem lies with purses left on shelves, desktops and in desk wells or hooks. A certain number of thefts during a certain period of time probably means the same person or persons were responsible, he continued. Police urge persons to note four precautions in avoiding

*Take your purse or lock it up when you leave the office; do not leave it unattended in an open and easily visible

*Note loitering strangers or persons who have no apparent business in the area.

*Keep a record of credit cards and account nimbers; notify the issuing company in the event of a theft.

* Report losses immediately to police.

Henderson encouraged secretaries and students to pay attention to descriptive details of strange persons and note their hair, build, clothing and direction of movement. Unfamiliar persons loitering in offices or other areas should be alerted to police, he added. Thefts of wallets from purses are "definitely not" committed on impulse, Henderson said. Thieves usually plan their attack by passing through the building and noting when secretaries leave together for lunch and coffee breaks, he explained.

Asked why he believed persons were so careless with arrested when an officer their belongings, Henderson said they do not realize the

EDITORIALS Opening China's gate: a Nixonian grand slam

By now the average Michigander must feel that American politics is not an undertaking for the faint of heart. In a staggering one-two punch, John O. Citizen has had his mind blown by the passage of the complete age of majority bill and, equally incredible, a flash thaw in Sino-American relations. That this Washington-Peking courtship was initiated at the behest of one of the original Cold Warriors serves only to make the scenario the more Carrollesque.

Yet for all its through-the-looking glass properties, the fact remains that President Nixon has quite possibly taken the biggest step in American foreign policy since the Marshall Plan. In so doing Mr.

Now, while any sort of monolithic Sino-American bloc is about as likely as George C. ## Misplaced Memo

To: Trustee Warren Huff Re: Verbal fencing matches Dear Dueler -

Don't shake your head. -Clifton W.

This represents a profound ploy on Mr. Nixon's part, since it is a kind of turn-about from the old American delusions about a Moscow-dominated encirclement. Unfortuantely, the act in this respect also resembles more than a little the dubious game of brinksmanship - a Nixon favorite in the old days. The administration hopes that the Soviets will feel compelled to soften their stance toward the particularly, in areas such as the SALT talks. The Kremlin, however, could as easily respond to the new world situation by freezing up, thereby undoing much of the glacier-slow progress made during the 60's.

POINT OF VIEW

Tennis editorial badly served

By JOHN H. SUEHR President, East Lansing Tennis Club

Freedom of the press, as we enjoy in the U.S.A., requires a great responsibility on the part of the press to print information in a factual manner. Your editorial regarding the use of the MSU tennis courts was, for the most part, neither factual nor rational. I hope this letter can do better.

First, let me say that I think the State News is an excellent paper and I usually find myself supporting its editorial contents. Second, I believe I am considered a faculty member who supports student rights; however, students, like any other group, can be wrong and so can editors and so can I.

Your emotional editorial, I think, was intended to appeal to students. It may have appealed to a few dissidents who lack a broader perspective about what is best for all students and tennis. Almost every paragraph of your editorial contained a factual error. Is that what students want?

I will try to correct your most flagrant distortions. The largest membership category in the East Lansing Tennis Club is "students." Yet, you say students may use only 30 of the 40 MSU courts.

You could use the power of the press in a responsible manner that would truly be for students and tennis if you addressed the questions:

1. Why are the 10 courts used by the varsity and the tennis club in better condition than the other 30?

2. Why, when tennis is experiencing an unprecendented boom, are all 40 tennis courts in a neglected condition?

3. Why weren't more tennis courts built as enrollment increased? 4. Why are $7,000 tennis courts used for parking at football games? 5. Where should funds come from to maintain, supervise and build tennis courts at MSU?

The East Lansing Tennis Club is, to my knowledge, an MSU sports club, and has been for 10 years. I understand that the majority of its members must be connected with MSU and the membership fee for students must be less than for faculty or outside members. This is the case. In fact, the student fee never has changed from $5 in 10 years. Membership also entitles one to three hours of instruction per day for four

"just" taxpayers.

Funds are not used for should patches. Profits from the Coke machine (available to anyone) go to the University general fund. The telephone a pay phone available to anyone w wishes to use it.

The club's policy is that when all outside courts are filled and courts and available in the club, that a nonmember may use the court. Up to this point, the 10 courts at the club are used mo intensively than the other 30 cou outside the club. I might also add the the 10 courts the club uses are amon the poorer varsity courts of main universities.

If the 10 worst courts were reserved for the club, in a short time they would be the best. Why? Because, the club members care and are willing to work order that they, and others, might have a decent place to play tennis. A recent copy of the club's newsletter contained a reference to what we as club member might do to make all 40 courts of to quality. How many of your self centered dissidents are willing to work weeks. That almost qualifies for the Free University.

Your reasons for why the Tennis Club rates the use of the 10 varsity courts are most erroneous. The tennis club primarily is for those students and faculty who have a strong interest in, and dedication to, the game of tennis. The club has, for nine years, donated a minimal amount to the Ralph Young Scholarship Fund. This year, the donation will be nothing because Mr. Munn was in full support of our using the funds to conduct a Junior Development Program.

Your references to "kids" and "kiddies" demonstrated an insensitivity to people younger than you. I also

You referred to the tennis club as get - rich - quick scheme. It is a plan a provide a meeting place for dedicate tennis enthusiasts. All are welcome for very minimum amount.

If you really are concerned about helping students and people, the Emiliary Lansing Tennis Club will support you with more than words. It has been good for MSU for 10 years.

Arab nations join to expand steel industry

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) The Arab states are in the process of forming their first federation of steel industries, Lebanese Economy Ministry sources reported Sunday.

Six Arab countries - Egypt Syria, Jordan, Morocco, Tunisia and Sudan - have signed the charter of the proposed federation which was drawn up early this year by the Arab League. Algeria, Libya, Iraq and Lebanon are expected to join before the end of this year, the sources

The federation is designed to help expand current steel industries in Arab countries, especially Egypt, Algeria and Tunisia, in an attempt to reduce the Arab world's dependence on foreign steel imports, one source explained
