BOY SCOUTS ARE GUESTS AT FIRST STATE GRID FRAY

Display Prowess Between Halves; Scout Bands March; Support Green Eleven.

As a part of the ceremonies of the opening football game of the season with Adrian college, several hundred Boy Scouts were entertained during the day at the college and given a place of honor during the football game.

The heavy rains and accompanying cold weather frightened several aggregations away, but several hundred scouts assembled Friday night in the gymnasium for sleeping quarters, and took a plunge in the college pool Saturday morning. Much of the touring about the campus was prevented by the rains. Several troops arrived at the college Saturday morning to swell the rather reduced number of Boy Scouts when compared with the 2,000 which were expected.

Proceeding the game in the afternoon, the troops of scouts paraded about the field, displaying their clever formations as well as a good band of music from the Boy Scout bands on hand. Several outfits displayed exercises of military discipline in their formations. Between the halves, led by the Michigan State College military band, they again displayed their prowess before the assembled visitors. Each troop proudly followed in the wake of their troop colors, keenly testing their metal with the other aggregations on the north.

The scouts also received a big hand for the willing vocal support rendered the football team. Whenever called upon by the yellmaster, they readily responded with a cheer which resounded across the field to the student stands in a fashion that demanded recognition.

ANNOUNCE NEW STAFF MEMBERS

Wolverine Editor Picks Co-Editor, Humor Editors and Other Assistants.

Arthur J. Hannah, 27, editor-in-chief of the 1927 Wolverine year book of Michigan State college, has announced additions to the major staff of the publication and several assistantships since the last issue.

Miss Clara Walbridge, 28, is appointed co-ed of the annual and she will also serve as one of the co-ed assistant business managers in addition to her editorial work for the production. Miss Ruth Norton is named assistant co-ed editor.

J. Burden Brown is to be organization editor, having charge of the section arrangement. Miss Dorothy Burrell has been selected for feature editor and Miss Margaret Hubbard will be assistant feature editor. Henry Martindale is the first assistant sports editor to be named. James Brown of the St. Johns Military Academy, St. Johns, Wisconsin, will handle the military section of the book.

J. F. Trotter will have Hahn as his assistant in the producing of the humor section. William Sparling will handle circulation, being affiliated with the business manager.

The class appointments for the year are: Editor-in-Chief, Arthur J. Hannah; Co-Editor, Miss Clara Walbridge; Assistant Co-Editor, Miss Ruth Norton; Organization Editor, J. Burden Brown; Feature Editor, Miss Dorothy Burrell; Assistant Feature Editor, Miss Margaret Hubbard; Sports Editor, Henry Martindale; Humor Editor, J. F. Trotter; Assistant Humor Editor, Hahn; Circulation Editor, William Sparling; Business Manager, J. F. Trotter.

The Misses Fay and Beth Gillis will handle the freshman class editorship together. Miss Clifford Marks has been announced as assistant co-ed athletic editor, serving under Miss Sylvia A. Schimmel, who will not return from Merrill-Palmer school until winter term.

The complete staff of the Wolverine will be published soon. The college board of publications will convene Thursday night to award the engraving contract.

CHANGE CO-ED HOURS FOR WEEK NIGHTS

Freshmen Girls Lose Fifteen Minutes From Former Privileges.

Rules for co-eds this year remain practically the same with the exception of the freshman girls, who are required to be in at 8:45 week nights as compared to 9:15 of former years. The various members of the Women's Self Government Association organized the various freshman dormitories and other houses. Upperclasswomen and sophomores may remain out until 11 o'clock during the week and midnight for the weekend.

Members of the council this year include Olga Bird, president; Martha, Stella, Gladys Paeborn, Leah McCarty and Mattie Lucas.

Our Dumb "FROSH"

Introducing our "Dumb Frosh" who hasn't discovered as yet that "cuts" at Michigan State are not injuries.

TO HAVE ELABORATE DAIRY SHOW EXHIBIT

Display to Take Up 160 Feet of Space; Many Departments Included.

An educational exhibit, taking up 160 feet of space, with displays from the soils, dairy, crops, bacteriology and agricultural engineering departments is being organized for the National Dairy show, which will be held at the State Fair grounds in Detroit from October 6 to 14.

The exhibit will be located in the east of the front entrance in the museum, and through the medium of many various displays, will relate to the history, scientific dairy and its products. The educational exhibit will start the display with the exhibition of various pieces of farming apparatus, including a mowing machine and hay spreading equipment.

The soils department's displays will come next. This will emphasize the use of lime and fertilizers in the production of alfalfa and sweet clover sods, a soil testing method developed at the college will be the feature of this section. A display of alfalfa cultures will be entered by the bacteriology department. Thirty feet of space will be taken up by the farm crops exhibit showing increase in alfalfa average, methods of getting a stand of both alfalfa and sweet clover, and featuring the best means of "curving" the crops.

The most space given to any single exhibit will be occupied by the dairy department, which will take up 70 feet. Their display will feature the production of quality milk and efficiency in dairying. There will also be an exhibit of the use of alfalfa and sweet clover forage in the ration, showing alfalfa and sweet clover, and cents of efficiency.

CAMPAIGN TO GAIN READERS

Out Cartoon Series Daily Aids in Humorous Production.

"Our Dumb Frosh" is the title of a series of cartoons by J. F. Trotter which will appear in the Michigan State News starting with this issue.

Trotter's comic characters are well known to every student who has been on the campus previous to this year. Many of his contributions to the "Green Onion," the former humorous magazine, were reprinted in College Humor. On many occasions in the past he has contributed cartoons to the State News as well as various other student enterprises. His keen sense of humor, technique and ability to picture the really funny things that happen on the campus have made his work refreshing and enjoyable.

John Kelly will write the printed matter that appears with the cartoons. Kelly is Irish and is proud of it. The wit of his part of the work is assured.

Y. W. C. A. TO HOLD GET-TOGETHER

Activities in the Y. W. C. A. will start Thursday, October 14, with a get-together in the People's church. Later in the month vesper will be held and November 11 a patriotic party will be staged, followed November 25 with vesper at the Halladay home.

The annual children's part will be held late in December for the benefit of the underprivileged children of Lansing. A Christmas service will see the candle recognition service for the reception of new members December 11.

STATE MEN TO ENTER CONTESTS AT DAIRY SHOW

Six M. S. C. Men On Two Teams To Compete at National Event.

Michigan State College will be represented at the National Dairy show, to be held October 6 to 14, by student judging teams in both the dairy cattle judging and the dairy products judging contests. The dairy cattle judging team is coached by J. E. Burnett, associate professor of dairy husbandry, and the dairy products judging team is coached by P. S. Lucas, associate professor of dairy manufactures.

Gordon Whitburn, of Marquette; T. R. Knopf, of Blissfield, and H. J. Foster, of River Junction, are the members of the dairy cattle judging team. The members of the dairy products judging team are: A. D. Aekley, of Marshall, George Harma, of Atlantic Mine, and Oscar Hall, of Luauca.

The dairy judging team is now in Wisconsin, visiting some of the famous herds of the state, and it is expected that this experience will be of great benefit to them in the ring at Detroit. The dairy products team will spend a week in the commission houses of Chicago in practice scoring of dairy products.

Competition is expected to be keen in both contests, with 20 agricultural college teams entered in the dairy cattle judging, while 15 teams will compete in the products event. The dairy judging teams will be given the opportunity to judge groups of all the leading dairy breeds. Butter, cheese, milk and cream will be judged by the products teams. Ice cream is listed to be judged this year for the first time.

Former Michigan State College students have won high honors at two of the national dairy shows. Frank Williamson, who, with his brother, recently signed a contract to take over the operation of Senator James Citizens' farm, was high over all contestants at Milwaukee. He was specializing in animal husbandry and studying beef breeds. He also won high honors at the national dairy show, which was held at Syracuse, New York, in 1925. Flavor is the important quality in judging dairy products, and the scoring is done by tasting samples. Each contestant has to judge ten samples each of butter, cheese, milk and cream.

There will be a large representation of Michigan State College men in other activities in addition to the students on the judging teams. J. E. Reed, professor of dairy husbandry, is president of the Dairy Show association. A. C. Baltzer, who is in charge of cow testing association work for the college, is chairman of the committee on cow testing associations, and George Girbach, extension specialist in dairy husbandry, is chairman of the bull association. S. Lucas, associate professor of dairy husbandry, will deliver an address on "The Influence of the Creamer on the Run and Quality of the Cream."

Two of the members of the judging teams, the various business managers of student publications on the campus, Gordon Whitburn is business manager of the Michigan State News, the student newspaper, and George Harma is business manager of the Michigan Agriculturalist, an agricultural magazine published by the students of the agricultural division of the college.

Cups and medals will be awarded to the winners in the contests in dairy judging and products judging. The student judging contest for dairy cattle will be held Oct. 6 and the products team will judge Oct. 7.

Story of College Library is Interesting History

Editor's note: This is the second installment of the history of the history of the Michigan State college library which is the oldest library of its kind.

It was prepared by the college librarian and gives the story of the growth and development of the library from a few volumes deposited to the college to its present state as one of the most modern and complete institutions of its kind.

The first shelf list was made on Library Bureau shelf list sheets. The constant necessity for copying led the librarian to abandon the shelf list sheets, and a new shelf list on cards was made.

The library now has 51,288 volumes in the college library and 5,737 volumes in the library of the Agricultural Experiment station—a total of 57,025 volumes. The librarian of the college is also in charge of the library of the agricultural experiment station. In 1908 the so-called "Land Grant" colleges became by law U. S. depositories. Since that time the government documents have been received by this college. The volumes thus acquired are not included in the above. They bear the U. S. documents office classification, are listed on cards as checked, and are so filed as to be readily accessible to all who may desire to use them.

As the years went by and the library became more and more crowded, books were removed from shelves and placed in storage in various buildings on the campus. This rendered efficient service most difficult.

On May 18, 1921, the state legislature appropriated $150,000 for the erection and equipment of a new library, and the building for which the college had so many years waited, was to become a reality. In the spring of 1924 the building was completed, the library was moved into its new home during the summer and made ready for the opening of the college year in September.

The building was designed by the college architect, Mr. Edwin Bond, and is of English gothic architecture. It is most centrally located on the site of old "Williams Hall" had been destroyed by fire on Jan. 1, 1919.

On the first floor of the new building are rooms for assigned reading, a periodical room in which more than six hundred publications are placed, a cataloging room, a room for graduate study, coat rooms equipped with steel lockers, and the offices of the librarian. On the second floor are the main study and reading room, the circulation room, and the reading room.

No Freshmen in Society Houses is Probability

The probability that the housing of freshmen in fraternity and sorority houses at Michigan State College will be prohibited becomes evident in a report issued by President Kenyon L. Butterfield following a recent meeting of the State Board of Agriculture.

Due to inadequate housing facilities in college dormitories, however, it is not probable that such action will be taken for some time. The one dormitory for men, Wells Hall, will care for but a very small percentage of the men, while the increased enrollment has made it necessary each year for the past several years for the college to acquire new dormitory accommodations for women students.

Although it is not known when such a change will take place, the resolution of the board reserving the right to make the change was made known in order that societies in making plans for renting or building could take this into consideration. If no freshmen are to be allowed to live in the houses, large houses will be unnecessary and revenues for house maintenance will be greatly reduced.

The practice of not allowing first year students to live in society houses is becoming quite common among the larger colleges and universities. In some institutions the rule has been made by the organizations themselves. It is thought to give the individual a better opportunity of becoming better acquainted with a greater number of the student body and to be beneficial to the individual as well as the institution.

There are 26 fraternal organizations for men and women at Michigan State College with a membership which includes nearly half of the total number of students and most of the members live at their respective houses, except in instances where their homes are in Lansing or East Lansing.

The establishing of a fraternity row, which would specify group locations on the campus for both men's and women's organizations, is still being considered.

The report from the president's office reads as follows: "Nothing definite was done about the plans for Fraternity Row except that reports of Secretary H. H. Halladay indicate that terms of the lower end of the location would soon be worked out and reported to the board. However, the board passed a resolution reserving the right at any time in the future to indicate to fraternities and sororities having houses either on the grounds or off the grounds, that freshmen will not be permitted to room in such houses. This was done in order that fraternities and sororities in making plans for renting or building, could take into consideration the probability that sooner or later freshmen would not be allowed to room in these houses."

PRACTICE BEGINS FOR DRAMATICS

The Goose Hangs High to Be Initial Production; Expect Two Performances.

Practice for the first dramatic production of the year, "The Goose Hangs High" by Lewis Beach, was scheduled to commence this afternoon in the Little Theatre. The date of the presentation of the play has not yet been set but according to the report, E. S. King will be played in two acts. It is expected that the play, which was initiated last year of play for two nights will be continued this year.

More attention will be given this year to the large direction of the plays. A stage manager has been appointed this season with a number of assistants to handle arrangements for lighting effects and stage settings. It is expected that considerable research will be done on the subject and the facilities of the Little Theatre will be employed to the fullest extent.

John Kaiser has been appointed to handle the stage work. He will work in hand with Wayne Parkwell, who handles the business and advertising end of the production. Foster Mohardt will also assist in scenic work.

RELIGIOUS COUNCIL HOLDS FIRST ENTERTAINMENT

The first party of a bi-weekly series of entertainments for all M. S. C. students, sponsored by the religious council, took place last Saturday evening in the new People's church building.

The two student parties were thrown open to all students for large attendance. The student religious council, which is in charge of the program of entertainment, is composed of representatives of all student religious organizations.

LOST: On campus, half of old fashioned bracelet, engraved, gold and black. Reward. Return to Women's building.

STRICT RECORD OF ATTENDANCE TO BE KEPT

Supervisor of Attendance to Take Care of All Absences; Require Written Excuse.

Under regulations adopted this term, the attendance record of the entire student body will be kept by the supervisor of attendance, Prof. J. W. Steward, at his office in the old library. Students are expected to be present at all class periods, especially at the beginning of the term.

Absences previous to registration will be considered the same as absences later in the term, and are subject to excuse for similar reasons. As absences at the beginning of the term delay the entire class, excuses must show that absences were strictly unavoidable. Penalties of double cuts will be given in cases where excuses are not accepted.

Excuses must be presented in writing on blanks which will be furnished at Dean Phelan's office. As far as possible, these should be accompanied by vouchers, signed by parent, physician, house mother, or any other responsible person who has knowledge of absence.

Students should keep in mind that any absence unexplained after one week of absence shall stand as unexcused. This rule will be enforced beginning Monday, September 27. The supervisor of attendance will keep office hours from 1:30 to 5:00 p. m., and as far as possible excuses should be presented at these hours. If this is not possible, excuses may be left at Dean Phelan's office, subject to the approval of the supervisor.

GROWTH OF ENGLISH DEPARTMENT SHOWN

Growing Demand for Advanced Work Demonstrated; Add New Instructors.

The English department has shown remarkable growth in the last few years. It is now the largest department in the college, 28 instructors being required to handle the work.

An idea of the growth of this department may be had from the fact that more than twice as many courses were taken in English as in any other subject during the past year.

Registration shows a growing demand for advanced work in the languages. The classes in third and fourth year French are proving unexpectedly large and there is a demand so pressing for third year Spanish that efforts were made to meet the demand during the present term. The course in third year Spanish started Monday.

Five new members have been added to the staff. Mr. Blake, who taught at the University of Illinois until recently, will work with Mr. Wisk in the debating section. Mr. Fulkerson, from the University of Ohio, is to teach composition and some of the advanced work of the department.

In the department of modern languages, three new members have been added to the staff. Mr. Wilson, from Hood College, will teach French and Spanish. Mr. Rockwood, from the University of Wisconsin, will teach French and Mr. Watson will give instruction in German.

NEW PLAN UNDER WAY FOR SIGNING PARTIES

Full term parties are to be signed for with the faculty social committee during the third and fourth weeks of school, according to Prof. J. C. Emmons, chairman of the committee. No parties are to be signed for during the first two weeks of school however.

In the past the various organizations have had to sign with Prof. Emmons for their parties, but this year a new plan, the nature of which has not been announced yet, is being worked out by the committee. This accounts for the fact that parties are not to be signed for during the first two weeks.

Other regulations governing parties are to be the same this term as they have been during the past few terms.

REV. McCUNE BEGINS SERIES OF SERMONS

Rev. N. A. McCune of the People's church began a series of Sunday evening sermons entitled "Voices That Cannot Be Silenced," with a sermon on Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter."

Each sermon of this series is on a different book. Books which are taken for subjects are those which are in a way popular and which have stood the test of time. They are not book reviews in any sense of the word, but present lessons which may be drawn from the books, together with a little of Rev. McCune's own philosophy.

Rev. McCune is an authority on literature, being himself a very widely read man who has a deep understanding of the needs of the students and of people in general.

STATE HEADS TO ATTEND MEET

Seven Officials to Represent College at Meeting of Land Grant Association, Nov. 15.

Seven members of the college staff were named to represent Michigan State at the meeting of the Land Grant College Association to be held in Washington, D. C., the week of November 15.

The list of college representatives is as follows: President Kenyon L. Butterfield, Dean John Phelan, Dean Robert C. Shaw, Dean G. W. Russell, Dean Jean Kenner, Director R. J. Baldwin and Director Willard L. Whitney. Watkins, state commissioner of agriculture, was elected to represent the state Board of Agriculture at the meeting of the Association of Governing Boards of State Universities and Allied Institutions at Madison, Wisconsin, November 11, 12 and 13.

The following appointments were made to positions on the college staff. Miss Ruth M. Gienther, specialist in clothing and textiles; J. A. Patton, instructor in pharmacology; F. M. Thurn, instructor in economics; Charles G. Fulkerson, instructor in English; Ernest M. Hanzel, graduate assistant in sociology; M. B. Kurtz, graduate assistant in bacteriology; Elizabeth Abdell, graduate assistant in bacteriology.

At the Union

All students must register at the Union.

Student receipts are numbered and will be used throughout the year as Union cards.

Organizations wishing to use the ballroom or other rooms should sign up for them immediately since some of the dates have already been reserved.

Football scores will be posted in the lobby beginning September 25. World series results will be received by innings.

Your name is engraved free on pens and pencils purchased at the main desk.

SOCIETY HOUSING OF FRESHMEN

There is no college individual that will argue the value of social atmosphere and mixing with other students as a part of college training like the member of a fraternity or sorority and yet the freshman who enters a society house to live at the beginning of his college career is found to be deprived of a great deal of the fellowship of his classmates which he should be able to enjoy under favorable dormitory conditions.

The failure of the freshman society member to mix with his fellow students is not the fault of the society but it is often the fault of the individual. When he moves into a society house immediately upon entering college, his interests are at once settled with a comparatively small group of individuals which includes, at the most, only a few of his classmates.

Conditions at Michigan State are changing with the increased enrollment which is apt to lead to an increase in society group membership and also to an increase in the number of societies. There seems to be nothing against an increase in group membership but this, of course, is also somewhat governed by the size of the house. If such an increase could be brought about gradually by a gradual lessening of the number of freshmen at lowest fee five to houses, a ruling on the part of the state board of agriculture and the college officials prohibiting the housing of freshmen would not throw a fraternity or a sorority into financial difficulties as a result of a lack of income from freshman members.

While ruling against allowing freshmen to live in society houses is in effect, although probably several years distant, we will probably witness the erection of additional dormitory accommodations before such a rule will be put into effect.

The organizations which are planning on remodeling or the erection of new houses will, of course, have to take the probability of such a ruling into consideration.

This is a problem which the Pan-Hellenic and the Inter-Fraternity Council, might well consider. It must be thought about and provided for if the fraternities and sororities are to avoid the difficulties which it might inflict if the ruling were applied without notice.

Now that the library hours are changed, a lot of men will expect freshmen to study until 10 o'clock.

Those of us who registered late after rejoicing that we would receive no "cuts" until we started school, find now that we will have to explain late registration again. Extended vacations under the new system are apt to lose their popularity.

hate to find the library deserted between the hours of 9 and 10 under the new system after advocating later hours as we did in our editorial columns last spring.

There is one other thing that would add equally as much to the service which the library is able to render to the students, and that is the purchase of more duplicate copies of the books that are in the greatest demand.

ANN ARBOR PASTOR FEARS FOR YOUTH

Attributes Laxity in Morals To System In Educational Institutions.

A story in the Monday Lansing State Journal by Associated Press quotes Rev. Allyn K. Foster of Ann Arbor, pastor of the First Baptist church, as saying that "college students of the present generation are the finest that ever came down the pike, but they have more ways of going to hell than any of those who came before."

Dr. Foster attributes the alleged laxity of morals to the "flippant teaching which students receive in our educational institutions." He also indicated the professors' lack of personal contact with the student as a detriment to the younger persons' morals. "The curse of teaching is not that it is false, but that it is partial," he said, referring to a previous statement that education was too specialized, that teachers knew only the subjects which they taught.

PEOPLE'S CHURCH TO ORGANIZE MEN'S CLUB

Banquet At Church Thursday Evening Is First Step; Weaver Speaks.

A men's banquet, to be held in the East Lansing People's church Thursday evening, will be the first step toward the organization of a new association of all East Lansing men for religious and social purposes in the church and in the community.

R. Bennett Weaver, student pastor, will be the main speaker and will tell of his experiences in Europe during the past summer. Rev. S. A. McNamee will also appear on the program. All men in the city will be invited to attend and a special invitation is to be extended to newcomers. The proposed organization will be the first of its kind in East Lansing.

INCREASE CITY LIBRARY FUND

$936 Now In Treasury for New East Lansing Community Library.

Members of the East Lansing library committee, which has been sponsoring the drive for funds for supporting and expanding the new East Lansing community library, announced Monday that they had received a total of $936 to carry on their work.

Books are now being ordered, but members of the club declare that they will go slowly on buying until they have determined what the community and the patrons of the library want. Most of the books ordered are for juveniles, but a few books for adults are also being ordered.

The library, which is now located in the new People's church, is open Tuesday and Friday afternoons from 3 to 5 o'clock. It contains fiction and educational material for both children and adults. Later in the year it is planned to have the library open one more afternoon in the week and possibly one evening for the benefit of all residents of the city. Members of the club are in charge.

Mayor Luther Baker issued a statement Saturday congratulating citizens of East Lansing on the success of the Tag Day and declaring that officers and members of the club, who by their energy and foresight, have accomplished this task, have earned the gratitude of the entire community.

The library project, when it was announced about two weeks before the Tag Day was held, received the immediate support of a number of the city's organizations and individuals.

Of the total amount, about $500 was turned in from the Tag Day which was held last Tuesday by members of the club. The remainder came from voluntary contributions.

STORY OF COLLEGE LIBRARY IS INTERESTING HISTORY

The department and five seminar rooms, three of which are temporarily used by the president of the college for office purposes. In the basement are a receiving room, store room equipped with steel cases, and a nicely furnished staff room. A kitchen and dining room, well equipped, add to the comfort and pleasure of the staff.
The library is equipped with the "Speed" steel stacks which occupy the entire west end of the building and which will accommodate 250,000 volumes. An elevator and a book lift have been installed in the stacks, and greatly simplify the service. The furnishings throughout the building are of the best, and that the library is appreciated is evidenced by the constantly increasing use that is made of it.

The college library has grown slowly but steadily during the years. No attempt has been made to secure costly or rare books. Appropriations for library purposes have been small, and the controlling reason for the purchase of books has been the need of the faculty and students.

From very small beginnings the college has gradually collected one of the finest agricultural libraries in the country, and one of which it is justly proud. The staff has increased from one person to nine regularly employed for library work, and a number of students are also employed.

The library at Michigan State college is the oldest library of its kind in the country. It should have sufficient financial support to enable it to become what its founders hoped for it, a library of far reaching influence, "the best the country affords."

The Social Whirl

Edited by
IRVA PRESCOTT
Kappa Delta House

Rushing is still the center of attraction in the social activities on the campus. The first Union dance of the season held Friday night was unusually successful. The Delphes and Phylloans did their bit to enliven the week-end with open houses. The final rushing date for sororities will be Sunday, October 3.

Eunomian

Ralph Stingle, an alumnus from Jackson, was back for the week-end.

Columbian

William Hart and Lamburtes Rowles of the Rush Medical School in Chicago, and several Sigma Alpha Epsilon men from Adrian were guests for the week-end.

Delphic

Jack Ruhl and Charles Parrish spent the week-end at the house. They are as follows: M. Thomasma, Albert Sacks, William Handly, S. Bassford, L. Smith, and the Messrs. McCormick, Ritter, Fawn, Bruver, Valentine and Branch.

FRATERNITY BOWLING LEAGUE CARD STARTS

Inter-fraternity bowling contests will get underway tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock when the Trios, the Trimonia, and the Phylloans meet the Delta Sigma at the East Lansing Recreation alley.

This is the earliest starting of the leagues in the history of intramural athletics here. Director Fitzgerald has announced that the schedule continues through until January 12. On January 12 the semi-finals will be booked, and one week later the championship bow held by the Trios will be decided. The final grouping is as follows:

- Block No. 1: Delphic, Trimonia, Phi Kappa Tau, Ac Theon, Eunomian.
- Block No. 2: Phylean, Delta Sigma, Phi, Phi Kappa Phi, Olympic, Ac Theon.
- Block No. 3: Columbian, Phi Delta, Union Literary, Hermian, Cressian.
- Block No. 4: Lambda Chi Alpha, Alpha Gamma Rho, Phi, Chi Alpha, Delphic.

GLEE CLUB MAKES DEBUT TONIGHT

Valuable Additions Are Made to List of Faculty.

The M. S. C. Glee Club will make its first appearance September 28 at the Charlotte fair. This, being their third engagement at Charlotte within the year, proves the popularity of the organization in the state.

Two new instructors have been added to the staff of the music department this year. Miss Florence Birdwell, who will have charge of the violin department, and Mrs. Lester Mack, who will head the piano department.

Notwithstanding the fact that requirements for entrance in the department are more strict than in previous years, the enrollment is excellent and the season promises to be a prosperous one.

Since the Union Vadeville this year is to take the form of a musical comedy, the music department will lend some valuable assistance in the production of the show.

CONVOCATION NOT TO BE HELD REGULARLY THIS YEAR

Convocations, according to the new policy, will not be held regularly this year. There will be no convocation this week and no further convocations for several weeks. Plans have been made to bring several outstanding speakers here, but as yet definite dates have not been arranged.

RADIO STATION WKAR GETS NEW EQUIPMENT

Operating Staff for Season Is Announced; Station Remains On Old Wave Length.

Many additions in the way of new equipment were made during the summer months to WKAR, the college broadcasting station. A new Western Electric radio receiver was installed in the station. This new instrument is capable of tuning the powerful college station out even though it is but a few feet from the transmitter itself and being in other stations on different wave lengths. This new radio receiving set is only sold for commercial use and is not available for the broadcast listener.

The operating staff of the station this year is composed of F. I. Philippony, engineer; G. Rollins, R. L. Martin and L. D. Ball, all first class licensed commercial operators, and

A Pen You Can Lend without a Tremor

For its point yields to any hand yet resumes its original shape

Its "Permanite" barrel and cap will not break

THE Parker Duofold point combines what you get in no other point—durability and flexibility.

This point yields to any style of writing yet retains its original shape. It is guaranteed for 25 years not only for mechanical perfection but for wear.

And Parker Duofold's barrel and cap will not break, though you drop it a hundred times. For they are now made of Permanite—Parker's non-breakable material that has withstood such grueling tests as a 3,000 foot drop from an airplane.

This combination—the Parker Duofold Point and the Parker "Permanite" Barrel and Cap—makes the world's greatest writing instrument.

You cannot get such value in any other pen, at any price. Stop at the nearest pen counter today and try your size and point in a Parker Duofold.

"Permanite"—the new Non-Breakable Material of which all Parker Pens and Pencils are now made—is lustrous, light-weight, and does not break, fade or shrink.
